Now to the Von Fritsch demise. This high ranking aristocrat was an idol of the army, a member of one of Germany's oldest families, and the one man in the Reich who never refused to talk back to der fuehrer. Once when Von Fritsch's "insolence" to the Nazi potentate went out of bounds, Hitler forced his resignation from the army. However, the man's popularity and military knowledge was so great, that the German leader was forced to reinstate him when it came time for the Polish invasion. Insolent or not, Von Fritsch was the only militarist in the Reich whom Hitler could entrust with so important a mission. If Poland had been able to hold off the Nazi attack for any great length of time, an early triumph for the Allies on the Western front might have resulted. But, due to the brilliant "pincer" military tactics of Von Fritsch, the Polish campaign has resulted in complete success; already men and arms are being removed from Poland to the Western front where they are so sorely needed.

Reward for this remarkable military chore by Herr Von Fritsch has been an untimely and mysterious death.

Most experts agree that Von Fritsch would have been the man to lead an inevitable revolt against Hitler, had he lived. Being an aristocrat and remnant of the old German nobility, Von Fritsch would have admirably fitted the British conception of a "responsible German government."

The propaganda bombings staged on such mass scales by English flyers perhaps has convinced Hitler that he must remove any potential fuehrers who might double-cross National Socialism and himself.

At best, the two murders prove once again that Nazism is an unscrupulous and heartless creed.

Mussolini

This week Mussolini broke his long silence that puzzled European commentators for so many months. He broke it in the most disappointing way possible—from the Allied viewpoint. It seems that the Italian dictator is content to continue in his role as International Stooge No. 1 for his Northern compatriot.

Mussolini called upon Britain and France to end the war, since "the Polish question has been liquidated." This, of course, is the dream of Hitler—a quick grab in Poland and subsequent forgiveness from the Allied forces. Front Man Mussolini further stated, "Europe has not yet really entered into war.'

"Armies have not yet met. A clash can be avoided by realizing that it is vain to attempt to maintain or reconstruct that which history and the natural dynamism of peoples already has condemned."

However, it is noted here and there that Mussolini did not commit himself until he was quite certain that the Polish campaign was successful. In fact, Mussolini would do well to watch all Hitler's moves much more closely than in the past few months. Catholic Italy, which never loved Hitler's anti-religious doctrines, is aghast at the new Russo-German pact—which practically recognizes communism. As news spreads that Russia has already commenced a "communizing" campaign in its slice Polish territory, the Italian people become increasingly timorous. This was evident in Mussolini's extreme concern in wooing his people's favor in the latter portion of Saturday's speech.

Stalin

For the past several years, Hitler has been considered Europe's most astute politician. It develops, however, that this was a case of mistaken identity. Possbily the most adroit piece of political wrangling in modern history was the recent performance of Russia's Iron Man, Joseph Stalin.

Witness: for years, Stalin has kept the world in doubt concerning his position. Suddenly, last month, he signed a non-aggression pact with Hitler. A few weeks later, Hitler staged his conquest of Poland, bringing down upon himself the condemnation of the democratic world and declarations of war from Britain and France. However,—there is no declaration of war upon Russia, very little condemnation,—only tacit admission throughout the world that Stalin has pulled one of the fastest plays in the history of modern statesmanship.

Neutrality--A Practical Necessity

Now that Europe is again at war, the question in the minds of every American is, Can America stay out? Or must she join in the chaotic debacle as she did in 1917? Some feel that this country should enter wholeheurtedly in a united effort to maintain tolerance and freedom the world over, even if such a course leads to war. They believe that saving the world for Democracy on foreign shores will forestall possible attack in the Western Hemisphere But actually we have reached the point where American neutrality is a practical as well as an idealistic necessity.

If this nation goes to war, freedom and representative government will automatically end, perhaps permanently.

ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

The big news of the week is the return of Clifford E. Clinton. Mr. Clinton says he is back to finish house cleaning the city government. This time he proposes a change in the City Charter. The pie maker has faith in Mr. Clinton's sincerity; but we, the black folk of Los Angeles, must be duly vigilant when it comes to changing the Charter.

Just when we thought the AFL and CIO would close their fight show and enjoy the battle between Grmany and ex-Poland, there they are at it again. Latest AFL threat to the CIO is "You can't raid our organization and get away with it!"

Handbill Ruling

Quoting Judge Leon R. Yankwich--"The right to speak freely does not imply the right to force one's speech on another's private premises."

"A man's home still is his castle. By the Common law of England, the humblest cottage may bid defiance tc all the forces of the crown, and our constitution guarantees that right here."

Some of our holier than thou neighbors who circulate petition to restrict cerain districts, and still others who demand that some people should not live in houses they have legally purchased should read these paragraphs and think on them. "For as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

All this talk about the embargo means little to the rank and file. What they want is food and a chance to work for it. Taxpayers are getting pretty tired sending folk to Washington to use big words they cannot understand.

Supervisor Roger W. Jessup, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said something, when he suggested a study of the present local taxation system with a view toward lifting the cost of government from the shoulders of home-owners. "We truly hope that some relief is in sight!"

The Republican Assembly meeting Monday in San Diego moved toward selection of delegates to the National Convention in 1940. It is said that new regulations adopted by the body will insure one of the most representative and democratic delegations ever sent to a National confab from California. Which means, we hope, that ample attention will be paid the vast number of Negro Republican voters in the state.

Ham and Eggs

Last Day! Just one more day to register so that you will be able to vote against Ham and Eggs!

Few voters realize the great importance of this impending legislation. For, take it as you will, the Ham and Eggs scheme is simply a plan to pollute monetary exchange in Calfiornia. If the plan is passed, we will find two kinds of currency in the state--one bona fide U. S. currency, the other an imitation California script which is not really money, but everybody is supposed to think it is.

The tampering with a nation's currency is one of the most serious and disastrous things that a people can attempt. This problem is as old as organized government; as old as the first coinage machine ever constructed. It is strange that the world has not yet learned its lesson. More than eight hundred years ago an obscure Polish King faced an identical problem. The "science" of alchemy was then a popular fallacy, an alchemists had pursuaded poor King Sigismund that he could successfully tamper with his gold coinage. Let us read the Elbert Hubbard account of this affair:

"They (the alchemists) had shown the King how he could cheapen his coinage age-half, and "it was just as good!" The King could not tell the difference when the coins were new, but alas! when they went belond the borders of Poland (or of California) they could only be passed at one-half their face-value; travelers refused to accept them; and even the merchants at home were getting afraid.'

"Copernicus, the great Polish scientist, analyzed some of this money made for the King by his alchemist friends and found a large alloy of tin, copper, and zinc. He explained to the King that by mixing the metal they did not change their nature nor value. Gold was gold, and copper (U. S. currency is U. S. currency, and California Script is California Script)-God had made these things and hid them in the earth and men might deceive some men--a part of the time—bu there was always a retribution. Debase your currency, and soon it will cease to pass current. No Law can long uphold a fictitious value.'

"'Money is character,' said Copernicus, and if you pretend it is one thing, and it turns out to be another, you lose your reputation and your own self-respect. No government can afford to deceive the governed. If the people lose confidence in their rulers, a new government will spring into being, built upon the ruins of the old. Government and commerce are built on con...

"Then he went on to show that German gold was valuable everywhere, because it was pure; but Polish gold and Russian gold were below par, because the money had been tampered with, and as no secrets could be kept long, the result was the matter exactly equalized itself, save that the Russians and Poles had in a large degree lost their characters through belief in miracles."

Well, here's the wall, and there's the handwriting; the question is, Can we read?

BUSINESS AS USUAL

OTHER PAPERS SAY:

Where Are Our Sympathies in This Present War?

By LUCIUS HARPER, from The Chicago Defender.

How does the black man stand in point of consideration with the three big nations now at war -England, Germany and France? We are a race generally stationed on the sidelines of big national events, especially is this true in international happenings such as the present European debacle, yet we are somewhat important, though unnoticed at the outset.

At the beginning of the last world conflict, Dr. DuBois wrote in Everybody's Magazine, now suspended, about "African Roots of War," showing that the warring nations would eventually have to depend on black manpower to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. Needless to say, his predictions have come true. France has her Senegalese; Britain her Moroccans that they send in the front line fighting trenches Germany employed Moors to aid Franco in capturing Spain. That is why Mussolini wanted Ethiopia with the hope that he could draw soldiers from a black continent, and safeguard white flesh to rebuild a Roman empire.

Let's take England first. there is no such thing as a "black Englishman" though this nation has millions of black people in its empire. England considers a black man on par with an animal —the only difference is one brays and barks and the other talks. Newspapers of England profusely use the word "nigger" whenever referring to our people. Englishmen do not even prefer us as house servants. It's the motto of the British empire that black people must be exploited in the interest of Caucasian porgress.

General Jan Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa on his first trip to America in 1924 gave a public address in New York. He said: Next to the ass, the African is the most docile of animals." Smuts succeeded General Herzog in South Africa who held similar views and was as cruel and bppressive.

England keeps black India divided by agitating color caste among the natives. East Africa, taken from the Germans during the last war, drifted almost into slavery again under British rule. In Johannesburg today it is a crime punishable by imprisonment, for an African native—in his own home town—to be caught on the streets after 9 o'clock at night. General Smuts rtcently sajd that in this present conflict he preferred to aid the English with provisions rather than manpower because he did not wish to "pit African Zulus against white citizens under any circumstances."

In the Transvall, under British rule, an African today cannot secure passage on a train if one white passenger objects to his presence in the coach. Sol Plataage, noted African educator told me from his own lips how a lion devoured his own daughter when she was ejected from a train one night and left at a way-station in the woods because of this discriminatory practice. He found her arm, torn clothing and a suitcase when he went to get her.

England regards the British West Indies as its "poor house". Some Englishmen refer to it as the "pest house". It greeted one black scholar—many,many years ago—Dr. Wilmot Blyden, then "pulled down the ladder upon which he ascended." England only draws our sympathy in this conflict because of Hitler and because of France.

What about France This country has been liberal on the so-called race question. It has, however committed certain errors in its colonial possessions. The right to vote there is carefully restricted, bordering on our plan in the Southland. It does permit black representatives in its Chambers of Deputies. It does have black and whites in its Foreign Legion; it does open its colleges and universities to black and whites alike. The same is true of its hotels, cafes and other public places. . .very much unlike England. It has, however, a "social register" class that only Roland Hayes and Paul Robeson from this side have been able to invade. But Frenchmen are polite and cordial to black folk, wheras Englishmen are haughty, indifferent and insulting. There are "black Frenchmen." Our wholehearted sympathy is with France. . .pure and unadulterated. What she stands for we would hate to see destroyed.

Now for Germany. Before the coming of Hitler, Germany knew no color line. Its black population has always been small, but what was there and what came in Germany treated with greatest respect and deferenc.

Our best scholars flocked to Germany because of its liberal attitude. Berlin was the same as Paris. . .not so of London. Our physicians journeyed to its shores to gain superior training and came away singing its praises. In fact, the German of yesterday was the regular fellow of the world, insofar as we are concerned. Hitler changed all this with his colorphobia drive. We want him destroyed, and likewise would enjoy seeing England turned inside out and reformed. This war may yet render us great service.

POTENTIAL ANNOUNCER

Dear Editor:

Welcome back to the West Coast after your four-month vacation and best wishes for your continued success with the West's oldest weekly.

I am writing in behalf of the young fellow Neile Adams, who served so splendidly and capably as news commentator during your absence. You should have heard him, if you did not hear him, for he was indeed a credit to the California Eagle and to the people for whom he represented. Knowing Neile's possibilities, I sincerely hope that you will allow him every opportunity to further his training via KGFJ, as I think he is a potential radio announcer.

Sincerely yours,
Virgil O. Smith.

FOR SIGNIFICANT WORK

Dear Editor:

Please accept my sincere appreciation for the very splendid cooperation you have given the organized Negro church and Religion among Negroes during the recent National Baptist Convention in generous space allowance in the California Eagle. As Negro Baptists who know the struggles and problems of the Negro Press we are deeply grateful.

Also I would like to add my personal thanks for your fine cooperation in helping Baptists publicize the breaking of the color line in the Atlanta Sessions of the World Baptist Alliance in July.

With all good wishes for you and the significant work you are doing, I am,

Sincerely,
H. M. SMITH

MORE L. A. RAILWAY

Dear Editor:

Recently a letter was written to L. A. Reeves, director of public service of the L. A. Railway company with a copy of the California Eagle of Aug. 24 which continued a letter written by me in regards to employment of Negroes on yellow street cars.

We received a reply to our letter and an appointment was made to discuss the matter. On Thursday, Sept. 21, a committee, appointed by the L. A. County Negro Democratic club, met in the office of Mr. Reeves. The committee was composed of Gilbert Lindsey, George P. Lockwood, Paul M. Jackson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson. The head of the personnel department was also present at the interview.

We found Mr. Reeves quite human and a friend to the Negroes, rather than to the contrary.

The committee presented its case and Mr. Reeves, in turn, presented his. Each side put his cards on the table and "called a spade a spade."

Mr. Lindsey presented a very constructive case. His personality won for the committee serious consideration.

We attribute the results obtained to a statement by Mr. Reeves that we were the first group of Negroes to interview him which did not ask anything for ourselves personally.

The director of public service and the personnel manager spoke highly of the late "Pop" Saunders, who was employed by them for 20 years. They also paid tribute to our own Gus Hawkins and Bert McDonald.

The interview lasted two hours and the committee is thankful for that opportunity, which we are told, will bring us serious attention.

Yours very truly,
PAUL M. JACKSON

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

INVEST IN AMERICA!

The final scene in all large-scale modern wars has not been armistice. It has been depression, climaxing the feverish boom of the war period.

"Shall we buy ourselves into another depression?" is an issue that needs answering now, as war clouds again inch ominously over the horizon.

The World War cost the United States $41, 765,000,000, states the U. S. Treasury Dept. Rather than squander another 41 billion dollars in a European conflict, why not invest it in America? We, too, have important battles to fight, but the victories would be written not in sorrow and bloodshed but in higher living standards, more jobs, better health and homes for the nation.

We need new industries and better machines, creating work and eliminating drudgery. The conservation and development of our priceless natural resources is a far from finished task. The nation's health problems still press for solution on many fronts, and the war on cancer, diabetes, and other diseases has only reached its opening round. Housing is still a challenge to action with the nation in need of 5 million new homes according to conservative estimates, and 15 per cent of its 23 million dwellings in need of major repairs. In serving agriculture, industry, and 130 million consumers, transportation has only begun to show what it can do. Motor transportation is still held back by many obstacles. It faces the cut-rate wars of older services who, protected by a firm hold on the nation's transcontinental routes, can afford to slash prices on the short, competitive routes, and make up the loss through higher tariffs on the long runs. Fair competition and removal of crippling fees are needed so young members of the nation's transport family can provide economical service to all.

There are, in fact, many battles to be fought and won on the home front to add to the health, wealth, and happiness of this nation. Let us put our investments in America's future, not in Europe's past!

DONT' SINK THE SHIP

An SOS flashed to Governor Olson by the supervisors of California's 58 counties, appealing to increased State aid to lessen counties' share of the cost of old age assistance, gave a warning signal to all Californians that even the most generously minded State in the Union has a limit to the load it can carry.

The good ship California has weathered the depression's tempests so well it has been able to provide the most liberal old-age pensions of any state in the nation, but not without some sacrifice. Nevertheless, many of the passengers—but by no means all of them—are kicking up a fuss. They don't like the meals, or the size of the pension checks, even though at present it is the very utmost California can provide without imperiling herself.

Today California finds itself pressed to provide the 55 million dollars yearly for the 135,000 now receiving old age pensions. Yet if only two-thirds of the persons now over 60 applied, and qualified, for 30 Thursday pensions, more than one million persons would receive warrants, at a cost, in actual money, of $1,560,000,000 yearly! That staggering sum would have to be borne by the wage earners of California. It cannot be created by magic. And according to Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Federal Social Security Board, the cost of this cruelly deceptive scheme to every employed worker in California would average $625 a year. Can you afford it?

The counties of California—in other words, the people of those counties—as evidenced by supervisors' urgent appeal, are nearing the limit of their capacity to pay. To crush them under a $1,560,000,000 yearly burden is to jeopardize the present pension system in its entirety!. The good ship California is carrying a near maximum load now. Why risk capsizing it?

NEW LAWS ARE HERE

Motorists, take note! Effective September 19, state law officially sanctioned changes in your driving habits.

Henceforth, on highways of four or more traffic lanes it will be legally permissible to pass on the right of other cars moving in the same direction. This formerly was allowed only on certain city streets.

Throwing needed light on traffic light conditions, the use of red, yellow, and green lights in traffic is officially standardized, and by reason of another measure John Law is now willing to agree that a flashing red signal means "Stop!" only when used with a stop sign.

Now if there could only be more uniformity of signals and regulations between cities The placement of electric traffic signs varies from town to town, often to the confusion of the distraught motorist. And a maze of traffic regulations, varying from state to state, often with little rhyme or reason, adds to the mental, and safety, hazards of driving.

But there is one thing to comfort the motorist encountering these problems of modern day travel. He need only compare his plight with the difficulties confronting the man at the wheel of a highway carrier, and he'll see how lucky he is. For about the heaviest cargo the commercial carrier totes is the tremendous load of regulations stacked on it by virtually every state. There are varying, and often arbitary weight and size requirements, and on these is piled a massive heap of measures dealing with lights, fenders, steering gear, tool kits, fire extinguishers, locks, keys, windshields ports of entry fees, and licensing fees—a hodge-podge of measures sadly in need of moderation, simplification, and streamlining.

In the interests of free—and easier—travel the nation's motorists would like the same serving of more uniform but reasonable ways.

The LAUNDRYMAN

Hello, folks! Went down to Long Beach for a fishing trip on last Saturday. I didn't catch very many fish, but unexpectedly I got a lesson which I will long remember.

All the week long my ears had been subjected to such a constant barrage of propaganda, from both radio and press concerning the European war, that I was somewhat groggy from the impact, plus the terrific heat. It was while fishing in a quiet corner on the ancient fishing barge that I got my lesson.

It came from the various flocks of birds that circled incessantly around the boat, and upon the surface of the ocean, also engaged in fishing. There were great numbers of long-beaked, ungainly pelicans, of small nervous, long-necked, brownish-colored birds called Hell divers, and graceful, white-bosomed sea gulls. All of these various species swarmed around engaged upon the same errand, that of fishing for their daily sustenance.

Yet I noticed that they did not exhibit the slightest animosity towards one another. Often, several of the different species would rest upon the same piece of driftwood in perfect harmony. All day they alternately swooped, and dived and fished in practically the same area, with not a single instance of resentment at each others presence.

And as I watched them, I thought how Man, with all his boasted superiority and intelligence could learn from these humble birds about living in harmony with his bretheren. There is more than enough of land, of minerals, of raw materials on this earth-globe to serve all of the inhabitants of the world. Yet Mankind is still warring and killing one another in a fierce struggle for individual dominion over the earth's goods. I wonder how many more centuries will elapse before Man will have learned his lesson.

CHICKEN VERSUS BAPTISTISM

Fried chicken and Baptism clashed in finish fight in Philadelphia last week, during the National Baptist Convention which was held there. Chicken—tried a la Father Divine— apparently won. According to the Pittsburg Courier, while Dr. L. K. Williams, president of the convention was lambasting Father Divine as a bread and butter cultist, scores of the Baptist brothers and sisters were swarming into Fathers' eating houses, filling up on delicious fried chicken at fifteen cents per plate. The price of the same type of dinner at the Municipal auditorium, served by Baptist chefs was fifty cents. It seems therefore that the primary thing about fried chicken is THE PRICE, and not the religious connections of those who pull it.

Nine Jersey Mobbists Get Suspended Sentences

by c. a. b.

BEFORE LEAVING Washington, and ending my visit with Theodocia Jones, I was happy indeed to be presented to Dr. William J. Thompkins, Recorder of Deeds.

As I entered the sanctum sanctorum of this big man of affairs at Washington, even though busy at his desk with many perplexing problems incumbent upon his office, he stopped and, after a very pleasant greeting, explained many points of interest connected with the Department over which he presides.

The building that houses the Recorder of Deeds and his staff of some 192 helpers is one of the older buildings, but there is plenty of activity about it. Among the nearly two hundred at work in this Department, I noticed that the percentage of Negro employees represented about 95%. A. Roberta Smootz, ranking Republican, is listed among the higher bracket members of Dr. Thompkins' staff.

I understand, from observation and echoes, that Dr. Thompkins has lifted the standard of this Department of government to the highest plane in all its long history.

It was my pleasant experience also to be in time to secure here a copy of the annual report of the Recorder of Deeds.

I had noticed that the great staff of workers was poring over old volumes gone yellow with age and learned that these were land records of the District of Columbia. They comprise the history of the District's early land transactions and had almost been lost because they had not been written in duplicate and naturally suffered from wear and tear of time and use.

I found so much to engage my attention and desire for investigation at Washington that when the time came for leave-taking, I turned for a regretful last look on the immense, towering stone monuments which contain the documents that, when assembled, make up what we call "Practical Democracy" or the invisible machinery that turns the wheels of government.

I must confess that there is something intriguing about Washington. The great white buildings seem to speak, to inspire you with a peculiar pride that swells inevitably within every American citizen favored with such a view.

But the time had come when we should be on the next lap of our journey. However, I could not leave the seat of government without reminiscing upon the past glories of our achievement. The fulfillment of the aims and ambitions of Americans who ascended to the pinnacle of fame by way of statesmanship. The blasted hopes of others who served their nation with greater zeal then they served their God; but who, like the great Negro militarist, Colonel Chas. Young, received as their reward banishment and indifference.

As our car spun down the massive highways out of the capitol, my mind turned slowly from thoughts of pride to equally stirring thoughts of shame. In one minute, my heart had swelled with the glories of America; its proud governing city; its masterful headquarters in Washington; its beautiful statues in memory of past great men; all the myriad symbols of a great free people.

In the next moment, I was conscious that there must be a hollow ring to my pride. I realized,—and the thought had a stunning impact—that, despite the immensity and splendor of its architecture, America is not yet big enough to lay claim to the title, "Democracy". I know in such times as these, when foreign horrors attract our attention, it is the habit of people to forget their own difficulties at home. But, nevertheless, difficulties and problems exist. They cannot be neglected, for with neglect they grow doubly fast.

Of course, it is an uncomfortable thought to most 100% Americans that his democracy, so loudly touted on Fourth of July and other patriotic holidays, really is not what it pretends to be. Unpleasant but true.

A dictionary definition of the word "democracy" reads: "Government by the people; a form of government in which the supreme power is lodged in the people collectively. Equality as regards political and legal rights." On this basis, is the United States a democracy?

In the very capitol city, legal rights fluctuate with skin pigmentation. Negroes may not be served in the restaurants and are openly discriminated against in all public places. Does this sound as though it were "equality of legal rights"?

Then there is the all important matter of equality of political rights. Latest authoritative estimates place the Negro population of America at fifteen million. According to a solemn amendment to the United States Constitution, these are all citizens with the right of franchise; yet annually eight million are flatly refused the privilege of voting.

Thus, American civilization indicts itself for what is taken from one citizen may be taken

He recalled the opening of the hall in 1891 and some of the notables he served were Caruso, David Belasco and many others, now dead.

SUICIDE EFFORTS SUCCEED

Jailed Man Makes Appeal

MAN HELD ON BATTERY CHARGE PLEAS FOR HELP FROM WITNESSES

Scheduled to stand trial Oct. 11 on battery charges, Archie Jones, 1807 Stanford avenue, appealed to the EAGLE this week to aid him in locating persons aboard a South bound S car on September 26 who witnessed the altercation which landed him in jail.

Jones was taken off the car at Washington and San Pedro by Central police and booked on the battery charge. Hailed before Judge Newcomb Condee, trial was set for next Wednesday and he was released. David W. Williams, attorney, is defending him.

Jones' version of the story places the battery blame on the S car conductor, whom he says struck him twice with an iron bar. Exhibiting a bandage on his head, Jones said he only grabbed the conductor to protect himself.

He said he boarded the car at Main street on a transfer which the conductor refused to accept. At his stated intention to ride to Washington and San Pedro, the motorman got off at 7th and Maple and phoned police.

Before the car reached his stop, Jones said the conductor admitted his mistake and accepted the transfer. In the play of words that preceded his alighting Jones said he told the conductor, whose number was 76, that 'he should know his business better'. It was then, he claims, that the conductor struck him.

The arresting officers refusing to allow him to get the names of witnesses, Jones claimed he was taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital, treated for his wounds and held three and a half hours, incommunicado, before booking.

Mary G. Arnaud to Divorce Mate

Shocking local social circles, announcement was made this week of divorce proceedings filed by Mrs. Mary Garrott Arnaud, 21-year old daughter of retired acting captain of detectives Homer L. Garrott, against her husband of two years, Reginald Arnaud.

Charging physical and mental cruelty, Mrs. Arnaud, second daughter of the socially prominent Garrotts, filed early this week through Thomas L. Griffith local attorney. The Garrotts liye at 420 W. 59th place.

Parents of a 17 months old daughter, Carol, the couple married in January of 1937 at Ventura. Both were students at Los Angeles City College at the time and their romance, of long standing throughout high school and freshman college.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Arnaud, 1239 E. 43rd place, young Arnaud is a postal employee. Active in YMCA work, he is well known as a basketball player.

Release Program for U. P. Dining Car Waiters Meet

Announcement of the complete program for the meeting of the Second Biennial General Convention of Union Pacific Dining Car Waiters Union, in Los Angeles, Oct. 24 to 27, was released this week by William Greer, head of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Elder G. Scott from Omaha, Nebraska, president of the Union, will be the keynote speaker for the opening (public) session at First AME church, E. 8th street and Towne avenue, on Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 8 p. m.

Discussions of wide public interest on subjects related to the the railroad industry will be featured at morning sessions of the Convention, at Masonic Temple, 1050 E. 50th street, Wednesday through Friday, Oct. 25-27.

A major interest of the Convention will be the election of general officers in sessions of Thursday, Oct. 26. Most contested office will be that of president, for which George W. Halsey, district chairman of Denver, Colorado, is running against Elder G. Scott, incumbent. Other general officers to be elected are secretary and treasurer.

Varied social affairs slated include a closed banquet for visiting delegates and local union members, at the Clark Hotel, (Washington and Central) on Wednesday, Oct. 25.

Banish — One Pair of Pink Drawers — Or Else

That the aesthetic sensibilities of school children, passing along Central avenue, might not be offended, John Joseph, clothing store proprietor this week was forced to remove from his showcase window, one pink and billowy pair of rayon "drawers," contrived for the female of the species.

The above bit of facetious blather was prompted by a Newton Street police report, entitled "Threstennig Note!" describing the quandry of Jones over dire circumstances which prompted plucking from said window at 2321 Central avenue, said "drawers."

Jones hurriedly reported to Newton Street police last Friday morning that upon opening up that morning, he found the following inscribed note:

"To whom it may concern:

"We, the crowd of Central

Judge Orders 8 N.J. Mobbists Placed on Parole for 3 Years

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5—The 8 white mobbists who brutally assaulted 7 Negro potato pickers, including a woman, near Cranbury, N. J., last Aug. 11, received suspended sentences of from two to three years in prison and were ordered placed on parole for three years by Judge Adrian Lyon in the Middlesex County courthouse here last Friday.

All of the 8 defendants, the 9th, a youth, was turned over to Juvenile Court authorities, were present. A packed courtroom included representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from various parts of New Jersey and New York who heard the sentence in stunned silence. The hearing lasted for fifteen minutes.

QUIZ PROSECUTOR

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has been leading the fight to have members of the mob punished, sent the following telegram to New Jersey's State prosecutor, Charles Morris:

"In view of suspended sentences for Cranbury mobbists, may we inquire whether you intend to present to grand jury other crimes committed by mob, whether you will seek additional indictments and whether you will request grand jury investigation of background of these crimes?"

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, issued the following statement shortly after the sentencing of the mobbists:

"We are shocked that mob rule has been practically given the green light by the law enforcement agencies of New Jersey. Here were 8 members of a mob who had ruthlessly kidnapped 7 defenseless farm workers, and defied all decency inherent in good citizenship. The members of the mob were guilty of the same sort of criminal act-

Drink Paint Remover, 5 Dead

Victims Tried to Make Cocktails Out of Remover

Craving for strong drink took a toll of six lives on the Eastside this week, with five dead as result of a foolhardy experiment with the cocktail potentialities of paint remover.

Drinking paint and varnish remover after the supply of 'legitimate' liquor had run out, four Negroes and one white woman, died in agonizing pain as the fluid, containing a generous percentage of denatured alcohol, ate up red blood cells avidly.

The sixth death, unassociated with the five ghastly experimenters, was laid to acute alcoholism, the victim, Louis Johnson, 45, of 1520 Hooper avenue.

One of the paint thinner victims was a 56-year old mail carrier, Buck Boggs, who had lived in California 53 years and had been employed by the Post Office department 32 years. Boggs was the first of the group which had been party-ing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Witherspoon, also dead, to succumb. He died at his home, 704 E. 43rd street, at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday.

WHITE WOMAN NEXT

The white woman, Mrs. Doris Owens, 37, was the second of the quintet to die. The Witherspoons, with whom she made her home at 1430½ E. Adams, believed her asleep on a mattress on the floor of their home until prompted by a friend's inquiry, they shook her, to find her dead.

Third to die was Witherspoon, 49-year old laborer. Arrested and booked for manslaughter in connection with Mrs. Owens' death, he died in a cell at Central jail less than an hour afterward.

Beginnig by then to put two and two together, police and the Newton ambulance sped back to the Witherspoon home to find their late prisoner's wife, Abbie, 45, and Andrew Forward, 40, one of the party, writhing in pain from the voracious poison. Both died en route to Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

From mute evidence in the disordered Witherspoon home, police today sought tto piece to-

30-YEAR OLD SOCIALITE DEAD AFTER SEVERAL TRIES TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Mrs. Anita Brazley Succumbs From Effects of Attempted Suicide 3 Months Previous

Suicide, attempted three months and 13 days previous, proved fatal Saturday to Mrs. Anita Brazley, 30-year old socialite, to whom death came from periostitis resulting from gunshot wounds, inflicted June 17.

After reportedly numerous attempts to take her life, Mrs. Brazley, wife of city fireman Roselle Brazley, achieved success, dying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benton, at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Despondent over ill health and tortured by insomnia, the young matron, a native Californian, shot herself on the morning of June 17. Earlier that day, she had sought death by gas, attaching a hose to the kitchen stove, turning the jet on full blast and inhaling the poisonous fumes.

Found by her husband, writhing in pain from the wounds in her upper abdomen, Mrs. Brazely complained that the gas had been "too slow" and said she had sought to hasten death by shooting herself.

SAD PRECEDENT

Both suicide attempts occurred within a week after the death by suicide in New York City of Mrs. Constance W. Campbell, wife of E. Simms Campbell, famed cartoonist. The California Eagle had carried the story two days previous, on Jun 15, and friends of Mrs. Brazley hinted she had "taken leaf' from the New York socialite's "book" in ending her life

Removed to the General hospital after the shooting, Mrs Brazley was released two weeks later. The attempted suicide h occurred at the couple's residence, 1362½ E. 18th street, b the young woman died at h parents home, 143 E. 18 street, where she had been li ing in order to receive her mot ers care. Dr. F. R. Whitem was the attending physici Brazley, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Brazley, also socially pro inent, was living with his p ents at 1147 S. Kingsley.

Mrs. Brazley was the sist of Russell Benton, one-time EAGLE columnist. The coup have an 8-year old child. Fune ral services will be held at o'clock today (Thursday), fro Hamilton Methodist churc with the pastor, Rev. S. B Beane, officiating. "Smitty" (Not the Funny Paper Character) Sought By Newton Cops

Has anybody seen Smitty? Smitty, not the funny-paper character, but a quick-tempered knife wielder, of whom no other identification could be furnished, is being hunted this week by Newton Street police, following the serious cutting last week of Thomas Banks, 1109 E. 29th street.

Banks, suffering from three wide gashes across his shoulders and back, told police that Smitty and a group of men, among them a postal clerk, known only as Duncan, were playing cards in the rear of his bootblack stand at 2706 S. Central avenue.

When an argument arose between Banks and Duncan, Banks said he got up to go to the front to avoid a fight. Then up jumped Smitty and started cutting him. The attack was witnessed by Willie Johnson, 1141 E. Adams, Banks' partner in the bootblack establishment.

DONALD TAITT WINS DIVORCE

Donald J. Taitt, carpenter and plasterer, was awarded a divorce last Thursday in Dept. 17 of the Superior Court from his wife, Mrs. Lenore Taitt, because he claimed his wife "ran away all of his business at his rooming house."

75 Clinic Sessions Held

Seventy-five clinic sessions, at which 328 persons have been examined, have been held during the four months that the East Area Health program has been in operation, it was announced recently by Theresa V. Dixon, R. N., Supervisor of the project. The 328 persons have made a total of 616 visits to the clinic.

"One of the things that has hampered the program somewhat," Miss Dixon reported, "is the failure of some people to keep their clinic appointments. Inasmuch as the program cannot be extended to other sections until this first area is thoroughly covered, it is very important to the community as a whole that clinic appointments be kept. Failure to come to the clinic at the time set keeps others who wish to be examined from being checked up immediately, and slows up the work."

Those who wish to make appointments for examination may call Miss Dixon at ADams 2700.

AREA SERVICED

The area now being serviced by the program is bounded by McKinley boulevard, Jefferson boulevard, Central avenue, 33rd street, Hooper avenue, Adams boulevard, Compton avenue, and 41st street.

More than 300 tuberculin tests have been made during the four months the program has been in operation, of which 53 per cent were positive, showing that the Russian Tries Suicide on Eastside

A Russian emigrant, homesick for his native land, was a near-suicide on the Eastside last week-end, his death averted by the quick action of the man chosen as his agent of death.

Treated for heat prostration a few hours earlier at Georgia Street Receiving hospital, V. L. Rositsin, 42, 1314 S. Myrtle street, shortly after five o'clock last Thursday, threw himself in the path of a truck driven by Eugene H. Hamilton, 1238 E. Santa Barbara avenue.

Hamilton said he was approaching the intersection of 14th and San Pedro when Rositsin, who had been standing on the curb, flung himself to his hands and knees in front of the truck. Hamilton said he swerved to the right, whereupon the Russian rolled over and thrust his left leg under the machine's front wheel.

Treated for a fractured leg at Georgia Street and removed to the General hospital, Rositsin said his life had been "one hell after another" and, he had become lonely for his family and friends in Russia.

PRIDE OF RACE is a fundamental virtu of any people. I still find that we hav proud Negroes all over the world. Recentl I ment a Doctor Gordon from the We Indies, who was visiting the City of An gels. When I listened to him talk just fi minutes, I realized that he was prou of being a British Subject and eve prouder of being a Negro. He is a su cessful man in his home and could ap preciate other successful men in a foreig land. Sitting around a festive board wi American members of his native land an many American colored citizens he wa thrilled over the fact that we are all bl under the skin. And that is as it shoul be. Do you know that when the Jews cel brate their Day of Atonement (Yom Kip pur) the first line of the first prayer cal together Jews from all parts of the earth not Jews from Egypt to this land of freedom. That is the spirit caught from Doctor Gordon of Jamaica. We are beginning to thin beyond slavery in the United States. We are beginning to unde stand that the African is still our brother. And it is that beginnin in my opinion, which makes progress. Progress in thought, idea and economics. The black man wherever he is needs a "Day o ATONEMENT," a day to call the brothers together, to look ove our common cause. Marcus Garvey came nearer to being the su preme 'rabbi,' than any other black man of this century. He ha at least millions of black men hoping, together. I am glad to s this awakening and I am sorry more is not made of it. It is thi kind of thinking that will give the young Negro courage and hop To belong to a group, international in scope is far greater than a localized bunch that thinks only of self. We have a great deal t offer the world wherever we are, and if EACH and EVERY one of us cultivated a fine love for some foreign Negro, we will begi to grow. We will soon forget about slavery and it's bad features. Our heads would move upward and our eyes would concentrate o a noble goal. Prejudice, we imagine is our greatest obstacle, would soon fade away, and a New Negro Giant would take it's place, leadi ing men, White and Black, to an era of peace and quiet. The scholarships were the gift of an anonymous donor who expressed a special interest in the development of better interracial relations through the cooperative movement.

Martin L. Harvey at Independent Sunday Night

Los Angeles will have a rare opportunity to hear one of the most eloquent young orators of the Race, and one of the most distinguished youth leaders in the nation when Martin L. Harvey, Jr., appears as guest speaker at the twilight devotional period of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, Sunday night at 6:30.

As director of national youth work for the AME Church, Harvey is considered by religious leaders of all races and denominations to be an authority on youth problems and conditions of the nation. He was a member of the delegation from the United States with which Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of Independent, went to Amsterdam, Holland last summer to attend the World Conference of Christian Youth, and was the only American youth to be on the Planning Board of the World Conference.

Harvey's appearance is the first of a series of talks on Europe by those who have recently returned from there to be heard at People's Independent church within the coming months.

A dynamic, forceful and compelling speaker, the world-traveled young religious leader is expected to be heard by a capacity audience of mixed races Sunday night.

Kentucky Jury's Error Frees Murder Suspect

BREENUP, Ky., Oct. 5, (CNA)—Frank Taylor, 51, charged with murder was free this week because a Circuit Court jury erred in reporting its verdict.

When Judge Harvey Parker read a verdict of acquittal for Taylor several members of the jury of 8 women and four men protested that they had intended to convict the defendant of manslaughter, a charge carrying two to 21 years' imprisonment.

It developed that the juror assigned to sign the verdict had placed her signature on the verdict blank opposite "acquittal" instead of "convicted of manslaughter."

Judge Parker ruled that the verdict was binding, and ordered Taylor released.

EMINENT SURGEON ILL IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Dr. Louis T. Wright, eminent Harlem hospital surgeon, has been confined to a hospital bed since Sept. 18, it was reported here today. Doctors described his condition as good, although, they said, it will be some time before he completely regains his health.

Last Sunday night, Allen's youthful ctorus was awarded a loving cup for being the "finest choir in Southern California.

Business College Opening is Announced

The opening of the city's only business college, owned and operated by Negroes was announced this week. Courses in shorthand, typing, business arithmetic and calculation are offered.

Founders of the college stated the school was founded because of discrimination against Negroes in most of the city's business schools. They promise qualified instructors and a direct association with private industry which will enable students to obtain employment when courses are finished. Civil service coaching is also featured.

For complete information concerning the opening, tuition and courses, interested persons may write the Apex Beauty school, Post Office Box 217, Station K.

Atlantic City Lawyer's 2nd Suicide Attempt Successful

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 5—The second attempt in two days of Walter Comer, attorney, one-time wealthy pawn broker and real estate owner, to commit suicide was successful here last Tuesday morning.

A bullet hole through his head, Comer's body was found on Albany boulevard in this resort city.

His wealth swept away in Atlantic City bank failures several years ago, Comer was despondent over recent financial difficulties. Friends said he had never recovered from the shock produced by his financial loses in the "Crash."

TUSKEGEE NATIVE

A native of Tuskegee, Comer came here from Macon, Ga., in 1900, opening a pawnshop on Atlantic avenue in competition with the largest pawn broker. He amassed a fortune, passed the bar and began the practice of law in 1912. He also engaged in real estate on the side.

Comer weathered the Depression until the bank crash of 1933 when his cash reserves were swept away and bank receivers cashed in on his realty holdings for defaulted notes he had endorsed.

Porter Leaves $57,000 Estate

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 5—An estate of $57,000, unencumbered by debts, including more than $15,000 in cash, was left by John L. Foreman, retired Pullman Porter, to his daughter, it was revealed in District court Monday.

The estate contains $18,000 in real estate and $19,000 in real estate notes. The daughter is Mrs. Bernice Lamond, a Washington resident. Foreman retired from the Pullman service a year prior to his death in August.

Child Attends Health Meet, Life Saved

On the last regular third Sunday program of the Community Health Association, Sept. 17, among those who came to the Center was a woman with her two children. When Drs. Curtis G. Carr and E. I. Robinson examined one of the boys, they discovered a very suspicious looking throat. A culture was taken and upon the insistence of Dr. Carr and Dr. Robinson, the child, who had no funds for private care, was rushed to the General hospital.

The next morning when the culture report came back, positive for diphtheria, it was very pleasing to Drs. Carr, Robinson and other doctors of the educational staff of the Community Health Association to know that this child who came to the Community Health Day, without funds, was given service that possibly saved his life.

Health day is held on the third Sunday of each month. All are cordially invited to attend.

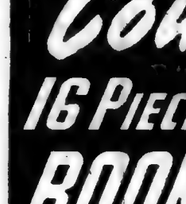
LARY Covers 114,000 Mi. per Day

There are about 250,000 miles of steam railroads in the United States of which some 8300 miles are in the State of California. The Los Angeles Railway in today's advertisement states that its streetcars and coaches run approximately 114,000 miles every day.

Comparing these figures is interesting. They mean that Los Angeles Railway cars and coaches, if they could be placed on the tracks of all the steam roads, would cover every inch of that track about three times a week and would have been in every state and every city in the [illegible three times during the week.



Taking the California estimate of 8300 miles, it is found that if the Los Angeles Railway daily mileage were placed on the tracks of the steam roads in California, one of the Los Angeles railway streetcars or coaches would have been in every city in the state 96 times.

To really grasp the vastness of these figures it is necessary to imagine oneself passing thru every city in California 14 times every day.

The figures of 114,000 miles a day is an average figure and, according to Los Angeles Railway statistics, there are many days when this mileage is closer to 200,000.

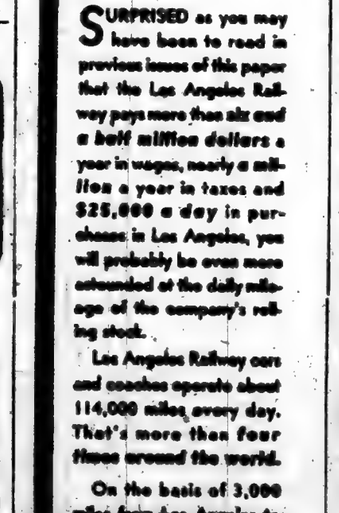
FOUR TIMES around



SURPRISED as you may have been to read in previous issues of this paper that the Los Angeles Railway pays more than six and a half million dollars a year in wages, nearly a million a year in taxes and $25,000 a day in purchases in Los Angeles, you will probably be even more astounded at the daily mileage of the company's rolling stock.

Los Angeles Railway cars and coaches operate about 114,000 miles every day. That's more than four times around the world.

On the basis of 3,000 miles from Los Angeles to New York, this daily mileage of the Los Angeles Railway would mean nineteen full return trips across the continent.

Quite an asset to any city to have a local transportation company running 114,000 miles daily to serve properly those who must go from point to point quickly, safely and cheaply.

All-Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently.

Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative."

This ingredient enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. And it is the main reason for the punctual, thorough relief from constipation that most often follows next morning after you take BLACK-DRAUGHT. The millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

Councilman Airs Views on Low-Cost Housing Projects

Recently returned to the city from Northern California, the Seventh District's councilman, Carl C. Rasmussen, issued the following statement today:

During the week of excessive heat, while residents of this portion of the State were sweltering in the inferno of 107 degrees, a delegation of members of the City Council were toiling, in spite of torrid temperatures, as participants in a convention of the League of California Municipalities, held in Oakland, from Sept. 18 to 21. As the name indicates, this league consists of officials from a great many municipalities within the State who feel the desirability of an exchange of ideas and experience in guiding municipal affairs. The greater number of delegates consisted of mayors and councilmen, but there were also present quite a goodly number of heads of various departments from the entire length and breadth of the state. Without going into too much detail in reporting on the activities of the convention, we shall mention only that such matters as traffic and parking problems, sewage and garbage disposal methods, civil service regime, law enforcement and similar problems were on the calendar. Considerable new information was brought to light, animated discussions took place, and some of the authoritative leaders, in the various fields of civic improvement, made excellent addresses. Altogether the information was very educational and I was happy to be able to participate.

SLUM CLEARANCE

Coming back to our own beloved city, we find ourselves confronted with a mass of pending legislation. One of the important issues was that of slum clearance and low-rent housing. It affords me a great deal of pleasure to be able to announce, at this time, that the Council went on record Sept. 27th, as favoring the development of the Federal Housing program in this city by an eight to seven majority, resulting from a long and bitter fight on this issue. We are now in a position to utilize the $25,000,000 for low-cost housing projects, which has been earmarked for us by the United States Housing Authority. It is our firm conviction that the program is economically sound and will have a far reaching sociological significance in eliminating, to a great extent, the blighted housing areas which are so prolific of junior delinquency and crime, as well as low health standards generally. It will afford considerable employment and relieve the taxpayers of large expenditures by alleviating the factors just mentioned. Altogether, we believe it is a decided step in the gradual development and progress of our city.

I pray thee, O God, that I may be beautiful within.—Socrates.

STATE WARRANTS

Dear Editor:

Over 65% of the Negro population in the Central Avenue area is dependent on SRA or PWA or BIR for a living. This means that most of the trade in this vicinity originates from that source.

At the present time, Gianini, head of the Bank of America, is deliberately trying to undermine the whole structure of our State economy, by refusing to buy "State Warrants" at a reasonable interest, and the State has been unable to find a buyer for these warrants, to date.

This means that the unemployed will be obliged to accept these state warrants in lieu of cash. Not only will this create havoc among the small business men in the Central Avenue District, but will also be the cause of additional misery among a large part of our local population, who are dependent on the various relief agencies for a living.

If the relief clients are compelled to take these State Warrants individually, it will mean a further cut of from 10% to 15% in their already too inadequate incomes, because it will cost them that to exchange these warrants for cash, and incidentally that much of a loss to your business.

Very truly yours,
ALBERT CURTIS,
Fin. Secy.
Workers Alliance of Calif.

OTHER SIDE OF THE EGG

Dear Editor:

In the current issue of the California Eagle, you attack the Ham and Egg plan, and say it is "legislative bilge." I am sure you are fair enough to allow your readers to hear both sides of this, the most important issue that has been before the voters of California in recent years.

I am sorry you failed to give any facts to substantiate your contentions. I feel sure that if you had ever read the Act, you would know that it is a Constitutional and not a legislative issue. Hence, it is not "legislative bilge" as you suggest. The further fact that you say, "It boasts no economic sanity or practicability" convinces me that however honest in your intentions you may be, you have either never read the Act or you have sadly misconstrued its meaning.

You say, "The merchants will not be able to buy anything from out-of-State suppliers because they have all announced that California script will not be acceptable to them." You are wrong on both counts there. In the first place, merchants will be able to buy everything with these warrants, for they will be convertable in U. S. currency in the States' own bank, and in the second place, thousands of merchants, large and small, have already signed up a willingness to accept warrants.

If you had read the new Act of Life Payments Retirement Association you would have seen another provision that will lift a heavy burden off the backs of those least able to bear them. The Act provides that after it is adopted at the election, November 7, all property under the assessed value of $3,000.00 will be exempt from taxation. That is, those owning and occupying such homes, won't have to pay any taxes in December.

With the increased volume of business done through $115,000,000 per week of new purchasing power, it is estimated that a three per cent gross, tax will produce $550,000.00 per year.

I feel sure that if you should give some serious study of this Amendment, you would agree that it not only will give economic emancipation to thousands of senior citizens, but will cause the door of opportunity to swing open for the younger men and women. I believe that this added purchasing power is the only thing that will take California out of its present financial chaos.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN W. FOWLER.

BY M. L. MILLIGAN

Hello Bridgers, I've been so busy I had to neglect you in the past two weeks. Thanks for the many calls. Here are a few of the unusual hands that have passed the boards since the last edition.

Mr. Maddox, president of the Contract Bridge Club, sitting North, held this hand in response to my opening bid of one Diamond.

MILLIGAN South	MADDOX North

Jersey Negro Town Wins County Support for Jobs

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 5. (CNA)—Responsibility for ending discrimination against Lawnside Borough, 90 per cent Negro township near Camden, was recognized by the Camden County Board of Freeholders this week.

The board appointed a committee to confer with Mayor Ephraim J. Still and the Lawnside Borough Council and to bring in a report on the possibility of county-sponsored Federal projects to solve the borough's unemployment problem.

Lawside is the only incorporated community in the East with a Negro Mayor and Council.

PERMANENT INSECURITY

Mayor Still, heading a delegation of 25 Lawnside townspeople, told the Freeholders his borough is subjected to a 'vicious cycle of permanent insecurity brought revenue, increase of tax rates decreed by the State Tax Board, inability of citizens to pay taxes, loss of homes and cessation of relief at a time when it is most needed."

"This general unemployment problem," the Mayor said, "has been aggravated by the recent WPA layoffs, but it has always been sharp in the case of the citizens of our borough, because of the employment discrimination against Negro people practiced by some large corporations operating in Camden County."

Women: "Build-Up" Way To Relieve Those Pains

A weak, run-down, undernourished condition calls for attention!

Such a condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get its foothold. That's one thing which leads to much of women's suffering from headaches, nervousness, those cramp-like pains. A good way to relieve such pains, women by thousands have found, is by the proper use of CARDUI. It stimulates a lagging appetite, assists digestion and assimilation; thus helps build physical resistance to periodic pain. Taken just before and during "the time," many women also report that CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

FRESNO CHURCH HAS REV. L. S. McNEIL RETURNED

FRESNO, (By Ethel Garner) —Rev. L. S. McNeil was returned to Carter Memorial A. M. E. church for another Conference year. A reception was given Monday, Zella Mansfield and Mrs. Minnie Howard were in charge.

The Missionary society of the Church received the First Banner at General Conference, for their splendid report and great accomplishments, with a small membership. As the Banner was presented to the W. M.M.S., the Pastor urged the members to work even harder this year, in order to keep it in Fresno.

The Sunday School held election of officers last Sunday. New officers are:

Supt., Mr. Walter Edmondson; Asst. Supt., Mrs. Ethel Garner; Sec'y., Ezra Mae Morse, Treas., Mrs. Minnie Lopez; Librarian, Dewey Bertrand.

The Courtesy club, which is the newest organization elected officers Friday night, as follows: President, Mrs. Ethel Garner; Vice Pres., Mrs. Florence Hutchinson; Secy., Mrs. Jewel Rhem, Treas., Mrs. Daisy Bernard; Devotional leader, Mrs. Olabee Siles; Dramatic Director, Mrs. Beatrice Cooley and Flower Chmn., Mrs. Idell Reid. This club was organized by the Pastor 8 months ago. Its objectives are: to furnish the church with flowers, visitors cards and other useful items; to study dramatics, and be prepared at all times to present a program; and to act as ushers in the church. The first affair this conference year was the Kiddie Party which was given at the home of Mrs. Reed. Newly elected officers will be installed by the pastor, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Rhem, 1861 G street.

The membership of the Fresno Branch of the NAACP honored Dean Wm. Pickens with a banquet before the mass meeting at Carter AME church last Monday night. Among those present were Dr. H. Phillips and Dr. Mason of Fresno State College.

While here Mr. Pickens was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Wallace. A short program was rendered before the guest speaker was presented by the president, Rev. L. S. McNeil. Numbers on program were: vocal solo, Mrs. Agnes McNeil; readings, Mrs. E. Garner, Mrs. Florence Hutchinson was mistress of ceremonies.

Pres. and Sec'y Rest After 15 years of service

Mrs. Emma Brashear, past president, and Mrs. Minnie Lopez, past secretary of the Willing Workers Club was highly praised by the members for serving in these offices for fifteen years.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Brashear, this club has done very constructive work in the church and in the community. The new officers are: Mr. McNeil, pres.; Mr. Walter Edmondson, vice-pres.; Mrs. Bowman, sec'y; and Mrs. Edmondson, treas.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Vossa E. Wysinger was the scene of a beautifully appointed birthday dinner last Thursday evening, given for their charming daughter, Venette. Preceeding dinner. The evening was spent in dancing. Those present were Misses Hannah Barber, Naomi Young, Marian Hinds, and Mary Abernathy; Messrs Henry King, John Oliver, Loge Price, Vossa Wysinger and William Abernathy.

Miss Marian Hinds was hostess to a lovely dinner and theatre party, Sunday afternoon, given for Mr. Henry King, former Fresno State College student, who is enrolling at a Los Angeles law school this semister. Those present were: Messrs Wm. Abernathy, Loge Price and Henry King.

Another lovely affair was the suhprize birthday party, given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edmondson for the latter's aunt. Mrs. Opehlia Pilkington. Among those present were Mesdames Martha Morse, Minnie Smith, Gilbert Cobbs, Anna Gray, Lena Dawson, Pearl Lacy, Lottie Mallory, Henrietta Moore, Louella Watson, Mary King, Nora Clark, Jeanette Cowings, Tiny Dejoie, Lula McClendon, Alice Hammond, Lillie Greer, Florence Sutton, Mandy Maroney, Cora Patrick, Laura Simpson, Matilda Peacock, Agnes McNeil and Asa Black. Many useful gifts were received by the honoree.

Dedicate to the WPSC

The Marian Anderson Unit of the WPSC held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Ruth Wallace with first vice-president, Ethel Garner presiding. The club decided to have a series of breakfasts meetings, which will be open to the public. The date of first breakfast will be announced later. We are all looking forward to the return of our president, Mrs. Hazel Marshall, who has been in Salt Lake City and Oakland since July. The club members extend their deepest sympathy to the financial secresary, Mrs. Beatrice Cooley, at the loss of her father, Mr. J. Gray. Mrs. Cooley returned from Brookhaven, Miss., her former home where she went to bury her father. Friends in the community take this opportunity to extend their deepest sympathy to her, and mother, Mrs. A. Gray and sister, Mrs. Octavia Collins.

Lincoln U. (Mo.) Freshmen From 20 States

Grouped in front of Bennett Hall, new girls' dormitory, are members of the 1939 freshman class of Lincoln University of Missouri, one of the largest in the history of the school. The more than 150 members of the class come largely from middle western and western areas. Such states as the Dakotas, Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma, as well as Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Minnesota, are represented. In the picture may be seen, on extreme left, Dr. Sherman D. Scruggs, president of Lincoln, and W. B. Jason, dean of the college; and on the extreme right, second row, Mrs. Ina Bolton, dean of women, and Dr. Walter R. Talbot, dean of men.

ST. LOUIS CELEBRATES ISSUANCE OF EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

Emmett Scott Makes Plea for Pure Democracy in America

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5—The Emancipation Celebration Committee of this city staged the largest and most enthusiastic celebration ever held here Friday evening, September 22, in celebration of the 77th anniversary of the issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation by Abraham Lincoln, in the Municipal Park, Sarah and West Belle streets.

Five thousand persons, colored and white, gathered two nights, September 21st and 22nd, to give voice to their recognition of the event which signalized the freedom of a people long held in the bondage of slavery.

The visiting orator this year was Dr. Emmett J. Scott, of Washington, D. C. His presence and the message he brought greatly stirred the civic pride of the organizations—the local Negro business league, secret societies, including the Elks, Masons, Pythians and others; church groups, the NAACP, and the members of Tom Powell Post American Legion, that participated.

Dr. Scott declared the Emancipation Proclamation was not an event of sudden impulse. He sketched the gloomy, dismal period of controversy which preceded it, and, also, Lincoln's declared abhorrence of slavery made thirty years and more before.

He made an impassioned plea for a democracy in America which shall include every element of our cititznship within its sacred folds. He claimed that "wherever there is denial of the full and untrammeled citizenship rights of colored men and women in any part of the country, by that token and in that measure, boasted democracy in America is a hypocritical thing, a fraud, a delusion."

Continuing his remarks, Doctor Scott said:

THE NEGRO THE TEST OF DEMOCRACY

'The Negro is the test of democracy in America,' was tht recent remark of a publicist. I believe this, in large measure, is true.

"Denial of the citizenship rights of tht humblest citizen of our country is a wrong and an injustice perpetrated upon the whole electorate of our nation.

"Under God, the problems of the future as was true of the problems of the past are to be worked out in the crucible of struggle to the glory of His great name.

A PLEA FOR PEACE

"I have referred to the fact that war drums are beating in Europe, that armies are marching, and that men, women and children are suffering and dying.

"Should that war come to America—and may God forbid—the Negro stands ready now as ever he has stood ready, by pledged allegiance to respond to any call that may come for the preservation of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness on this continent.

"I say this, keeping in mind our horror of war. I say this feeling that we, in every way possible, should resist every effort that may be made to get us into this European struggle.

"I say this because I know, and you know, that when war does come it always falls heaviest upon the lower strata of our citizenship, and because that great lower and middle class has everything to lose, and nothing to gain. Public opinion among us should be marshalled in opposition to entering a war which is not of our making, and from which we shall emerge battered, torn, and disadvantaged almost beyond repair.

OPPOSES ALIEN CREED

"With a common language a common religion, and a common faith in the American scheme of Government, the Negro stands, with other loyal citizens of the Republic against Communism, Fascism, National Socialism as examplified in Naziism, and every other alien ideology.

"He desires for himself no consideration of justice, or gratitude that he is not willing to have vouchsafed to every other citizen of the Republic.

"He knows he has made great progress in America; he knows he has struggled upward after terrible battles with poverty; ignorance and primitive passions; he, better than anyone else, knows that while Lincoln offered him the sacred privilege of helping to fight for his freedom that it could never have been achieved except for the mighty hosts of the North, and that loyal part of the South, who went forward to preserve the Union and thereby brought about the liberation of the slave.

THE NEGRO WILL NOT FORGET

"He has not forgotten, and he should never forget that, under the banners of liberty and freedom, self-sacrificeing men and women made sacred contributions and sacrifices in his behalf.

"He has not, forgotten, and he should never forget, that Abraham Lincoln and the political party he represented, and the loyal men who supported him, stood for the basic principles of American democracy.

"He has not forgotten, and he should never forget, that the party of Abraham Lincoln, in no part of our country can be held responsible for a single discriminatory, repressive or disfranchising law.

"He has not forgotten, and he should never forget, that not a single Jim Crow law has ever been passed by a single state, the dominance of which was, or is, in the hands of men who belonged to the party of which Lincoln belonged. The basic principles of government for which Lincoln stood are the foundations upon which our freedom has been builded.

IDEALS OF JUSTICE, FREEDOM AND FAIR PLAY

"They have not forgotten, and they should never forget, that not a single peonage law, not a single Government regulation setting up regional wage differentials, has ever been passed by any state dominated by the ideals for which Lincoln stood, or by Republican administration at Washington, dominated by these same ideals of justice, freedom and fair play.

"The Negro people know, and should never forget, that the progress of their race in this country from slavery to self-reliant self-respecting citizenship could never have been made except for the exorable forces set in motion by Lincoln, who early recognized the fact that industry, culture, and continuous spiritual development could not be brought about and preserved in a nation half free and half slave.

THE WAR AMENDMENTS

"They will not forget, they cannot forget, they should never forget, that the historic Three War Amendments were implemented into the Federal Constitution by that party whose nominee Abraham Lincoln was in 1860 and 1864."

With reference to the problems of the present hour Doctor Scott said:

THE NEGRO'S HOUR

"In this, our hour, we need courageous hearts, undaunted spirits, clear thinking that we may resist every encroachment upon our civil liberties.

"We need a determination to battle for the defeat of every alien concept of government.

"We need no paternalistic, philosophy that does not integrate us into the structure of American civilization.

"We must do our full and ungrudging part in the struggle against any and every perversion of administrative, or executive authority that, in this country, at least, 'government of the people by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'"

RESIDENTS OF VAL VERDE WELCOME NEW MINISTER

VAL VERDE, (By Clara Taylor)—The residents of Val Verde extend a welcome to the new pastor of the AME church, Rev. E. Judge Wiley.

Mrs. Dockes Tyrus, 89-years old, Santa Barbara citizen, spent two weeks quietly, with her friends, Mrs. Carrie Bean. Other weekend guests were Mrs. Florence Ward and Mrs. Roscoe from L. A.

Mrs. Gladys Turner, Chicago, spent several days in South Val Verde, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sellers. Mrs. Sellars has been quite ill the past week.

Mrs. Frances Pitt of Riverside, spent a day at the Taylor Ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Smith spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Lillian Watkins, with a party of friends, spent several days last week at the San Francisco Fair.

Mrs. Brown, mother of James Carter, is spending some time here with her son. Mr. V. Crater has returned from his vacation.

Mrs. Emily Portwig, with her mother, Mrs. Hannah Brown, were recent visitors. Other registered guests: Mrs. Theo. A. Banks, Seattle; Mrs. E. V. Johnson, San Diego; Mrs. Mary Davis and Mrs. Florence Brown, New York City; Mrs. Mary Golden, Mrs. Florence Holiday, E. O. South and Mrs. Clara Odelle, Chicago.

Val Verde is true to its name, since the heavy rain last week. It is surely a green valley, beautiful and looks as though the Spring season was with us.

NORTHERN PIONEER COMMITS SUICIDE

SAN JOSE, Oct. 5—James "Bud" Howard, pioneer citizen of Oakland and San Francisco, committed suicide here last week in the midst of the hot spell, after failing in an attempt to kill his wife with an ice pick.

Howard was well known in racing circles as a horse-shoer and blacksmith. On polo grounds and race tracks of the Peninsula, he drove a motorized forge about, servicing famous horses.

The couple had recently moved to San Jose. In the midst of a domestic argument, Howard stabbed his wife with the pick, then slashed his own throat and wrists. Mrs. Howard is improving at the local hospital.

A.C. BILBREW APPEARS IN OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Oct. 5—Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, director of the Independent Church choir and radio artist with the Gold Hour in Los Angeles, appeared as guest conductor of the choir of First AME church here last Sunday.

SEATTLE MINISTER TENDERED FAREWELL BANQUET

SEATTLE, Oct. 5—Rev. Fred A. Hughes was honored at a farewell banquet Tuesday night by his First AME church congregation. Pastor here for three years, Dr. Hughes was transferred to the Missouri conference by order of the Puget Sound Annual conference, held in Portland, Ore., last August.

Dr. Hughes came to Seattle from California. Outstanding accomplishment of his pastorate here was the clearing of the church and its property of debt.

Sharing honors at the banquet with Dr. Hughes and his wife was Presiding Elder George S. Allen, transferred also to the Missouri conference.

Professor Says Negroes at Butler Should Be Thankful

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5—Colored students of Butler university should be "thankful and grateful for being included in the student body," a professor at the university, John S. Lloyd, told a meeting of the 42 students here last Wednesday.

The meeting had been called to discuss a recreational lounge, proposed by the Butler university board of directors for Negroes only. The lounge proposal grew out of protests by the colored students of being barred from the general students lounge.

MAGNANIMOUS BUTLER

"You know you're not allowed on many of the campuses in t is section and I think its magnanimous of Butler that you are permitted to come here and enjoy the freedom and considerations that you do enjoy," Lloyd told the students.

A wave of indignation followed Lloyd's remarks. Freely speaking their minds in the open discussion following the professor's address, only two of the 42 voted to accept the separate accomodations.

Philly Man Goes Berserk; Kills Wife, Her Lover

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5—With the police, summoned by him, almost on his heels Joseph Murphy, 29, went beserk Wednesday night, shot and killed his estranged wife and her lover.

The sight of his wife, with whom he had been negotiating for a reconciliation, clad in her nightgown and sitting on the knee of his pajama-clad rival, was too much for Murphy, authorities, who ordered a sanity test for him, declared.

Murphy had asked a police scout car to follow him to an apartment building where he suspected his wife and her lover, Joseph Taylor, were hiding. As the officers drove up to the door, Murphy ran up the steps and dashed into a third floor bedroom. He shot Taylor as he leaped to his feet, and his wife as she walked toward him, her hands in the air. Reloading his gun, he fired another volley into their bodies, as the officers rushed in.

West Indies Put on War Basis

(By Crusader News Agency)

Persistent reports that German submarines are operating in the Caribbean Sea have served to turn the British and French West Indies into virtually another war front. Practically all the capital cities of the islands have nightly blackouts, while soldiers patrol the coasts 24 hours daily. Plans and warships are in constant patrol of the coast lines.

The Islands have been placed under a state of emergency, with strict censorship of mail and printed matter and curtailment of meetings and free speech.

In all of the French and British colonies man power is being mobilized, and in Jamaica, B. W. I., the National People's Party, an opposition party, has stopped its agitation. The labor unions have pledged support to the government.

The Paramount Chief of Basutoland, South Africa, and the Queen of Tonga in the Friendly Islands have placed the resources of their countries at the disposal of Great Britain to prosecute the war on Nazism.

Businesswoman at S. F. Fair

Here's the No. 1 businesswoman of Gay Paree, the newest and one of the most elaborate concessions on Treasure Island. She is none other than the glamorous showgirl, she of the fan, the bubble and the peacock plumes, Jelly Rand. Here she's pictured as she makes out her payroll at her dressing table just before she goes out to swish and sway before the throngs who enter the good Ship Gay Paree for a whirl of splendor at the California World's Fair.

RUSSELL SAYS HE'S "RESIGNED" TO THE WILL OF GOD

'MY RESIGNATION A SPIRITUAL ONE', YOUNG MINISTER STATES

"I am Not a Quitter" Says Independent Pastor as Sermon Topic Draws Throng

By ALMENA DAVIS

The most colorful figure in local church circles, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, 29-year old pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ, decisively put a silencer on reports of his resignation in a sensational sermon last Sunday morning which was followed by 32 additions to the church's membership of 5,000.

In a strategic move which followed rumors of dissension in the governing body of the church, Rev. Russell, who succeeded the late Rev. N. P. Greggs to the Independent pastorate three years and 8 months ago, had announced in his church advertisement in last Thursday's EAGLE, that his Sunday morning subject would be "My Resignation Sermon."

By that coup, the young prelate attracted a record crowd to the church at 18th and Paloma streets, many of whom by his own frank statement, "came because you thought I was going to quit."

"I am not a quitter!" Rev. Russell, wearing a white robe with a high collar accentuating his boyishness, thundered.

Chiding those to whom his excoriation applied, he reminded his listeners of the several meanings of the word, resignation: one "an act of withdrawal," another, "a state of being patient, submissive, acquiescent."

SPIRITUAL RESIGNATION

"My resignation is a spiritual resignation to the will of God, not to please you or me, but God," he stated dramatically. Significantly, he had chosen the start of the church's fiscal year, Oct. 1, for his sensational move.

Selected with a showman's instinct, the text of "My Resignation Sermon" was the 39th verse of the 26th chapter of St. Matthew, "O, my Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt". As he intoned the words, a fremor of expectation was perceptible over the audience, which had overflowed to extra chairs along the wall, the choir loft and finally standing room only.

Building up to the point of his sermon, the Reverend dwelt at length on the factor of dominance in human relationships, pointing out the succession of types of dominance throughout the ages. Commenting on the European War, the birth of which he had missed by a few weeks, having summered in Europe, he said, "England and France find themselves contesting Commu-Nazism, or the threat of German-Russo dominance.

"We need seek dominance of no agency but God", he said.

"Religion is an expression of the need for extra-human aid of everyone but the intellectually blase or the most stupid. The exigencies of life are too terrible without God."

After dropping the bomb containing his determination to stick with Independent, the prelate pointed to the church's progress since he became pastor. He recalled the confusion which followed the death of Rev. Greggs, founder of the church, and commented on the spirit of cooperation which possessed members in rebuilding.

"Everything went fine until we got on our feet and got a few hundred dollars in the treasury," he stated caustically.

"Then everybody wanted to be a big shot, to run the church and the pastor."

TOP-RANKING

Independent admittedly is tops among the Negro colony's churches. Under Rev. Russell's administration it has instituted a Sunday morning radio worship service for the sick and shut-in. This summer it led the community in establishing a Boys' Home. It maintains a free clinic, employment office, commissary, social service department and several college scholarships.

Charges, of an undetermined source, made against the young preacher mainly concerned extravagance. One of the highest paid of the local ministers, he reportedly receives a monthly stipend of $300.00.

At the conclusion to "My Resignation Sermon," with choir soloist William Gillespie passionately pleading "Take Another Stand", and Rev. Russell energetically striding up and down the aisle, by twos and threes the XI accessions, five converts, several recruits from local churches and the majority out-of-towners, came humbly out of the fervently singing audience.

The Seventh Day Adventist church invites all to its special service Sunday night at 8 p. m., when the subject "The sounding of the seventh trumpet," will be presented in pictures by Elder P. G. Rogers, pastor.

The Sabbath school conducted every Saturday at 9:25 a. m. grows weekly, present membership being over 528. 11 o'clock devotional service attracts hundreds of visitors each week.

"The Strait Gate and Narrow Way" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered Sunday morning by Rev. E. W. Rakestraw at the services of Wesley Methodist church, 8th and San Julian. The evening service will be in charge of the senior choir which will present the regular monthly musical.

Dr. Yaeger to Speak Here Sunday

"Technique in Love and Marriage" will be the subject used by Dr. C. Elliott Yaeger of Philadelphia, at the 8 o'clock services of Zion Hill Baptist church, 22nd street near Central, Sunday.

Dr. Yaeger will illustrate his message with real life stories taken from the official files of the National Bureau of Marriage Relations of which he is the Executive Director.

The pastor, Rev. Grant Harris, urged every man and woman, married or single, to hear this message.

Dr. Yaeger will also be guest speaker Friday night at the Young Men's Advancement League, 4418½ S. Central avenue.

Unity Truth Center

1195 E. 53rd St., B. June Cobb, Leader, Sunday School, 9:45 a. m. Sermon Services. 11 a. m.

Miss B. June Cobb will render the opening sermon of the Center, beautifully assisted by Sister Compassion; and our Mother Jackson. We wish to thank all who so beautifully assisted us in making the breakfast given by Mrs. Ruby Barbee Wilson a great success. Beautiful services are always held in this Center and Sister Compassion will soon add to their beauty by teaching a class in "The Impersonal Life".

The Opening Tea will be held Sunday, October 8 all churches and friends are cordially invited to attend the opening of our Temple which has been built by men who through their great love of truth have each donated their labor freely and lovingly. So many beautiful gifts have been given our inspired leader; we would like for you too to come and bless them that we may ever know prosperity and love. Come and join us in giving thanks to God for His many blessings.

A beautiful program has been arranged by our own Mrs. Vernal Lewis, and we know you shall be blest for your attendance.

Southwest Rocky Mountain Conference to End Sunday

The 19th Annual session of the Southwest Rocky Mountain conference of the AME Zion Church, opened Wednesday morning at First church, Pico and Paloma, with Bishop William C. Brown, presiding. The gathering was fraught with unusual interest due to the fact this is the last session of the Conference prior to the General Conference at Washington, D. C. next May. The election of delegates to this meet will be held on Friday.

Visitors to the Conference from the East include: Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Wallace, of Washington, D. C. Dr. Wallace is Secretary of Home Missions, Brotherhood and Ministerial Relief. Martin L. Harvey, Jr., of New York, Director of Christian Education of Youth of the AME Zion Church, and former National President of the Christian Youth Council of North America and Mrs. Ola M. Martin, of Chicago, Missionary Supervisor of the 6th Episcopal District, dho former ETAOI H H H HH who formerly resided in Los Angeles are other distinguished guests. Mrs. Martin is the guez of Bishop and Mrs. Brown, c E. Jefferson blvd.

THRU SUNDAY

The Conference will be in session through Sunday, with Bishop Brown speaking Sunda morning, Dr. H. Philbert Lankford in the afternoon and Dr. W. J. J. Byers, Sunday night. Following this service, appointments will be read by Bishop

BISHOP CHARLES HENRY PHILLIPS., to be heard Sunday

CME Church Senior Bishop at Phillips Temple Sunday

Bishop Charles Henry Phillips, Senior Bishop of the CME Church, eminent scholar and frequent tourist of Europe, is touring the Coast and arrived here last Wednesday evening, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Ella Cheek Phillips from Phoenix, Arizona.

Bishop Phillips has made several trips to Europe and to the Holy Land, representing his Church at the Ecumenical Confernces of World Methodism.

Last Sunday at 11:00 a. m., he preached at Calvary CME church in Pasadena, pastored by the Rev. George L. Hayes, and the evening hour at Santa Monica for Rev. S. A. Rhea.

Sunday, he will preach at Phillips Temple at 43rd and Wadsworth, featuring the last roundup of the Conference year.

Two years ago he assigned Rev. Lane C. Cleaves to Phillips Temple succeeding Rev. N. H. Humphreys.

The church has made progress under the leadership of the present pastor, who accompanied by the Bishop and his wife, will leave Tuesday for the Annual Conference at Berkeley. Sessions begin Wednesday. Friends of Bishop and Mrs. Phillips may contact them at the residence of Rev. L. C. Cleaves, 912 E. 43rd street and hear him Sunday at Phillips Temple.

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" This question is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases."

A citation from the Bible presents these verses about Jesus from Luke: "After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place whither he himself would come. Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest." These words from Mark are also included: "And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; . . . they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are also presented: "The words of divine Science find their immortality in deeds, for their Principle heals the sick and spiritualizes humanity." "It is possible,—yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman,—to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

Hamilton S. S. Shows Renewed Interest in Work

With the opening of the fiscal year last Sunday at Hamilton Methodist church, renewed interest was manifest in the Sunday School, under the leadership of the superintendent, Prof. C.L. Eason. New officers of the senior class, sponsored by Sylvester Davy, were elected as follows: George Harpole, president; Velma Slayton, vice president; Glorya Johnson, secretary; Leonard Grimes, treasurer; Harold Carter, literary chairman; Imogene Woods, social chairman; Anita Clifton, sunshine chairman.

The opening of the fiscal year was climaxed with a Fall Style tea at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Green Zanders, 1052 E. 49th street, for benefit of the Church School scholarship fund. Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman, hostess, will award prizes to contestants Carmen Dabis, Imogene Woods and Dorothy Coleman Sunday morning. LaFrance Brown was selected for the 1940 Scholarship fund.

It is a profound mistake to think that everything has been discovered; as well think the hurison the boundary of the world.—Lemierre.

Dr. Morris to Be Second Baptist Speaker

Hundreds assembled at First AME Zion church, corner of Pico boulevard and Paloma street, last Sunday morning to participate in the annual celebration of Men'h Day and to hear Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, professor of English, on leave, at Tennessee State College, Nashville. Special music for the occasion was furnished by a large male chorus.

Dr. Morris will be the guest preacher at both regular worship services of Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith avenue, Sunday morning and evening.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, he will address a community mass meeting in the Second Baptist church at Long Beach of which Rev. Thurston Lomax is pastor.

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' operation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yurself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.
Elijah Cooper, Treasurer, 2504 S. Central Ave., ADams 9025.

DON'T WAIT TOO LONG

In a recent survey, statistics show that the most successful marriages are those, based upon short engagements.

These marriages appeared to be going along very well over a long period of years. Which goes to prove that a more deliberate and intelligent method was used, than that of "Love at first sight."

The other side of the question is the long engagement. It is a relic of the past, but still exists and causes a lot of heartaches, which often results in no marriage at all.

Oftimes, young people wait until they are financially able. But in most instances, a plan can be worked out, that will enable them to get married much sooner. The time to marry is when you have found the right person. Why put it off and delay the happiness and love that should be yours?

If you would like some expert advice along these lines, write Prof. Herman, whose knowledge of marital problems is unlimited.

G. B.—I am writing you to let you know how much I appreciate your help. I have obtained a position here and find it to be quite satisfactory. I am continuing to tell my friends about your advice and help. Thank you again for your much needed help.

K. H.—Will I be successful in what I am planning to do?

Ans.—It appears that you have thought the matter over from every angle, and have come to the conclusion that it is worth trying. I vision you being successful in your undertakings.

E. K.—Will I ever get the boy I love? Why does he break dates? Should I take vocal lessons?

Ans.—I regret to inform you that only one question is answered in the column. If you will write in for a private reply a prompt answer will be sent you.

A. W.—Who took my pocketbook?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that your pocketbook was not stolen. It was accidentally misplaced. You will find it within the next few days.

C. T.—When will I see my boy friend again?

Ans.—It comes to me that your boyfriend had been away on a business trip, but is planning to return soon. Upon his arrival, he will call to see you.

A. S. S.—Is my husband after any woman?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your question indicates that you believe your husband is out with other women when he is late coming home. I find that your husband loves you and is true to you so it would be wise to dismiss your unfair suspicions of him.

E. D. A.—Dear Prof. Herman: I have been a constant follower of your advice. And as you suggested, I purchased a Hindu Charm Bag. I am overwhelmed with the decided change it has brought. Anything as wonderful as it should certainly be made known, and I am taking this opportunity, with your permission to do so.

J. E.—Who will I marry?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that you are going to marry the fellow whom you have been steadily keeping company with for quite sometime. Your marriage will be a happy one.

M. L. T.—Will I be successful in obtaining work.

Ans.—It comes to me that you should have little trouble in obtaining a job as you are recommended highly by the college from which you graduated. I vision them placing you within the next few months.

B. E. B.—Will our plans ever develop?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your problem, I find that your wedding has been postponed once too often and it is time for you to forget this fellow. You will meet someone soon whom you will marry and live happily with.

L. E. B.—When will my luck change?

Ans.—According to your Zodiacal sign, this period is one that will prove very helpful to you. Your luck is destined to change, and your utmost wishes and desires will come true.

Jeff Evening Hi Opens New Classes

Miscellaneous subjects, eagerly awaited by Jefferson Evening High students, are now available, according to announcement by Edwin L. Martin, principal.

Two courses of outstanding interest in the light of modern political and scientific developments are, "Problems in Democracy," and "Popular Science."

The first will make surveys of leading controversial subjects of the day. The second will discuss the new industrial manufacturing methods, the significance of various scientific data.

Other courses included in the miscellaneous group are: arithmetic, business arithmetic, algebra, geometry and advanced mathematics.

Virgil Murray, new teacher at Jefferson, will offer a class in modern arrangements of popular and classical orchestrations in addition to the usual orchestra class.

Community Chest Leaders Hold Rally Meet at Hospital

An emergency rally meeting of Community Chest leaders was held at the Children's Hospital last Friday with more than 150 men and women from every section of the city gathered to make plans for completion of the army of 10,000 needed in the coming humanitarian appeal. A Chest goal of at least $3,221,720 has been asked to provide service for more than 523,500 adults and children who yearly seek assistance from 88 Chest agencies.

The Exposition-Adams district was represented by Mmes. C. D. Frederick, George Grimm, Lawrence Gundrum, Dorothy C. Guinn, S. M. Herzig, Clarence R. Hinton, Bernice F. Kimball, A. J. Hartman, Abraham Lehr, Howard S. McKay, John Rigdon Moore, Miss Rosanna Stockley, and A. H. Seib.

NO DISCRIMINATION

It was emphasized at the meeting that workers this year have an unparalled opportunity to demonstrate the ideals of American democracy in their highest form, in that the voluntary service being given is for the benefit of all who seek assistance regardless of race, creed or political affiliation.

Local headquarters are located at 515 W. 27th street and district leaders urge that all who have served in previous Chest campaigns, and any others who will volunteer a portion of their time register at this address. Campaign service can be given in terms of half-days.

Attention is called to the special broadcast of national networks to be held at 7 p. m., PST, Monday. The President of the United States will make his personal appeal on behalf of the millions who annually are served through 500 Community Chests in the country. Internationally famous orchestras and artists will also contribute to the program.

The Perfect Editor

"A good editor is one who has never made a mistake; who never has offended anyone; who is always right; who can ride two horses at the same time or is astraddle a fence with both ears to the ground; who always says right thing at the right time; who always picks the right politician to win; who never has to apologize; who has no enemies; all classes, creeds and races. There has NEVER been a good editor."

Former Angeleno Dead in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5—With only relatives and a few intimate friends attending, funeral services were held here Tuesday for Mrs. Frankye B. Horne, wife of Dr. Frank S. Horne, Assistant Adviser on Racial Relations, United States Housing Authority, Washington, D. C. Services preceded cremation of the body.

After a year's illness, Mrs. Horne died Sunday night in the Tuberculosis League hospital hereto which she was removed two months ago. Previously she had been hospitalized in Brooklyn.

Born 30 years ago in Albany, Georgia, Mrs. Horne was reared in Philadelphia and was graduated in 1927 from the Cheney (Pennsylvania) Teacher Training School. She was married to Dr. Horne in 1930 while teaching at the Fort Valley Normal and Industrial School, Fort Valley, Georgia. She resided in Los Angeles in 1931-32 while her husband was studying at the University of Southern California.

In 1936, she moved to Washington where her husband had accepted a position with the National Youth Administration.

Get Joyful Relief From BACKACHE

Caused by Sluggish Kidneys

Stop Getting Up Nights And Feel Younger

Here's one good way to flush excess harmful waste from the kidneys and relieve bladder irritation that often causes scanty, burning and smarting passage.

Ask your druggist for a 35 cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—a splendid safe and harmless diuretic and stimulant for weak kidneys and irritated bladder.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble may be backaches, puffy eyes, leg cramps, and moist palms. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—its a genuine medicine for weak kidneys—right from Haarlem in Holland.

"My Silhouette" Dress Form Easily Moulded

No woman ever sewed for herself, or for anyone else for that matter; or no woman ever stood tedious hours "trying on", who at some time didn't wish for a perfect dress form, to stand as a robot, always acquiescent to fittings no matter how prolonged.

A fmaous designer of note, who has worked with Marhce in Paris, with Lindholm in Vienna and who has had designing schools in Chicago and New York, has just such a proxy, a made to form model, appropriately called "My Silhouette".

Put up in a handy kit are all the materials for making this dress form, each accurately labeled with explicit instructions so that any woman can actually reproduce for her use orr that of her dressmaker a mould of her own body, just as she is when she's ready to dress.

First there is a Modeling Form, an elastic tubing which conforms to any size figure. This is put on over a well fitting foundation garmen or a shapely girdle and brassiere with the model standing erect to give the perfect posture all women desire. Around the neck is placed a special collar band of knit fabric to insure a well fitting neckband.

Then strips of "Modeling Tape" are wrapped around mummy fashion, following instructions carefully reinforcing the silhouette form by criss cross, lengthwise and cross wise strips.

After the form is completed "My Silhouette" is slit down the back and carefully removed, then retaped down the back to complete the dress form. And presto: Milady has once and for all her own "My Silhouette."

This ress form, when completed, is firm and well constructed. It can be mounted on a stand to an individual's exact height and looks for all the world like a dress form costing 20 times as much or more.

This sensational dress form has swept the country, declares the manufacturer, being appoved by designers, dressmakers, and clever women who saw for themselves.

Now our women readers, by special arrangements with the manufacturer, will have a chance to get "My Silhouette" for many times less than what anyone would expect it to cost. Readers of The California Eagle have only to fill in the coupon below, enclosing in cash or by money order only $1.26 (plus four cents tax) and all the makings of this perfect dress form, together with complete and simple directions, will be sent within a few days. Here is the coupon. Fill it in. Send it in today.

151,000 Get Tuberculosis Facts in 8-Months Period

More than 151,000 persons were reached with the facts about tuberculosis during the first 8 months of 1939 by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association, it was announced Tuesday at a meeting of the Association's Board of Directors. The work is financed by Christmas Seals.

Talks and motion pictures on how to protect one's self against tuberculosis were given before 127 groups, totaling more than 33,000 persons. Printed matter distributed amounted to more than 114,000 pieces and 8 exhibits reached 6,000 people. Detaile information was supplied to 765 persons who requested special data.

During the first 8 months of the year the Association's two public health nurses made 2,694 home calls in following up the cases of shcool children who reacted to the tuberculin test. The purpose of such calls is to determine, if possible, where the children received their infection.

A total of 323 persons have been examined by the East Area Health Program, a project financed by the Association in the Negro area, which by the end of August had been in operation four months.

DR. AND MRS. GORDON ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF COUSINS

A banquet was given by Dr. and Mrs. G. D. B. Gordon in honour of their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. S. R. M. Gordon, of Ja., B. W. I., on Friday Eve at Camille Den, 848 E. Adams.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and flags of the United States and Great Britain. After a very appetizing repast delicately served, toasts were given for the President of the United States and the King of England respectively. Enthusiasm ran so high that, although the toasts were only meant to be drunk while the anthems were played, the company sang heartily.

Master of ceremonies, Dr. Somerville, who was introduced by Dr. G. D. B. Gordon, gracefully accepted the position and remarked on the unity of Old Glory and the Union Jack, indicating the cordiality of the guesth in contrast to the hatred among the warring nations of Europe.

Toasts were given for Absent Friends by Dr. McPherson; The Ladies by Dr. E. I. Robinson; The Gentlemen by Mrs. Walter Gordon Sr.; The Professions by Dr. Wilbur Gordon; and the Press by Attorney Loren Miller.

The unique feature of the evening was the introduction of all the guests individually to the guests of honor and vice versa.

In response, Dr. S. R. M. Gordon, on behalf of himself and wife, commented enthusiastically on the beauty of California, the hospitality of their newly formed acquaintances, and the elegantly attired ladies present. This he declared was his best vacation, topping several others spent in England and on the Continent. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne. Throughout the evening Miss Mayola Adams artfully entertained with soft classical muhic.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. S. R. M. Gordon, Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gordon, Dr. and Mrs. E. I. Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. H. McPhersen, Dr. and Mrs. Stovall, Dr. S. Cotterell, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Sommerville, Rev. and Mrs. Lightner, Rev. and Mrs. L. G. Robinson and Attorney and Mrh. Loren Miller, Mr. H. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hunigan, Miss Lena McGilchrist of Ja. B. W. I., Mr. and Mrs. A. Bass, Mr. and Mrs. G. and Miss Naida McCullough, Mr. Jas. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gordon, Mrs. M. L. Jones and Dr. and Mrs. G. D. B. Gordon.

SOJOURNER TRUTH HOME FETES FRIENDS

Sojourner Truth Home on East Adams was host to its many friends at the fall opening Sunday morning at breakfast. Mrs. A. Armand was mistress of ceremonies. The program was opened with the Negro National Anthem and invocation by Rev. Baxtor Carol Duke. Mrs. Carter rendered a solo, followed by greetings from Mrs. Ardelia Anglin, president of the California Association of Colored Women in behalf of the Association. Mrs. Eliza Warner greeted the group in behalf of C. A. C. W. C. An inspirational talk was given by Mrs. Marg D. Scott. Mrs. E. A. Johnson, out going president, was presented an Orchid after which the dramatic soprano, Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke, rendered a song. Mrs. Gertrude Reece Hicks, the in-coming president, gave an interesting address. The Advisory and Executive Boards were introduced as well as the visitors.

Hotel Owner Entertains Guests in 'Blue Room'

Mrs. Horace P. Clark of the Clark Hotel entertained last Tuesday evening with dinner in their beautiful new 'Blue Room', just opened. Guests of honor were Mesdames Gonzelle Mott and Clara Odell of Chicago. The ladies were attired in evening gowns of fall hues adorned with gardenias in their hair. Guests included Mesdames Z. Brown, Ethelyne Browne, Pearl Smith, June Hawkins, C. Mathew, N. Whitemant, Naomi Booker, Della McDonald, Alice Harvey, Gwendolyn Gordon, Hilda Allen, Ruth Towles, Billy King and D. Duncan of New York. The group extended their congratulations to the Clarks on the beauty of the dining room.

Trinity Observes "Christian Education" Day

"Christian Education" Day will be observed this Sunday at Trinity Baptist church, W. 36th and Normandie, Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor, announced. During this past summer, the church experimented with the "Unified Service" which virtually made the whole church a "School in Christian Living," Dr. Caston stated.

The Board of Christian Education will continue this emphasis this year and Sunday will give opportunity for the statement of its objective for the year. The board consists of the pastor, Mrs. Myrtle Hughes, Mrs. Amanda Jennings, Mrs. Elinorraine Smith, and Miss Willie Jones.

Mrs. Hughes is the general superintendent of the Triinty Church school and will be the general chairman of the day. She will be assisted by the superintendent of the church school departments and their teachers.

swing hi has floor show, dancing

There'll be a swinging a plenty from now on, at the popular Swing Hi cafe, located in the heart of the "swing street," 4259 Central avenue, as that spot now goes in for floor show revues and dancing. Miss Orel Beavers, proprietress of the Swing Hi cafe, has long felt the need of a return of the cabaret idea to the Eastside, and this Friday, Oct. 6, marks the passing of the popular dine and cocktail emporium merely as such, and the birth of a gay cabaret at the spot.

The change has been physical as well as otherwise. Several hundred square feet of building has been added to the already ample spaced place, to accomodate a 400 square foot dance floor. This additional space will provide ample room to accomodate any large-sized banquet, party or private cabaret dance party.

Bill Heflin, manager of the new Swing Hi cafe-cabaret, states that a "return to flesh shows and band," is a reality, and no longer will people patronizing the Central Avenue nite spots have to be content to "listen to canned music" from scores of automatic machines. The Swing Hi will feature a 5-piece orchestra, for dancing and chorus line of 4 red hot dancing girls.

Katherine LaMarr, beautiful songstress, stars the array of principal entertainers, which includes Annabelle Gammage, shake dance artist, and Mr. Howell of Chicago in song. Reservations can be made by phoning CEntury 25451 or ADams 9486. The "Joint is Jumping."

Lone Wolf Club Guests of Willie B. Walker

The Lone Wolf Social club was guest of Willie D. Waters, active member, when Waters entertained recently at a surprise birthday party for his wife. Other guests included Mr. H. N. Williams of Shreveport, La., and Mrs. Waters, mother of the host.

The club is making preparations for its "Big Howl," according to announcement by President Alden Cooper, recently returned from his vacation. Other club members who are active again after vacation trips, are: Tommy Thompson and Mr. Mosey. The club warmly congratulated member Lampkins, huntsman, who recently bagged a deer. Members are urged to attend the next meeting as business of importance will be taken up.

Six Students Barred By U. of Tennessee

NAACP to File Mandamus Action in School Case

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—On Tuesday six students who have applied for admission to graduate schools of the University of Tennessee, in Knoxville, made a final attempt to register, only to be told again that they could not do so, because the trustee board had not yet acted upon their applications.

In the group were: Homer L. Saunders, Clinton M. Marsh, Walter S. E. Hardy, and Ezra Totton, all of whom were applying for graduate work in the arts and sciences; and P. L. Smith and Joseph M. Michael, both law school applicants.

NAACP REFUSES PRESIDENT'S OFFER

In reply to an appeal made last week by President Hoskins, of the University, that the N. A. A. C. P. instruct the students to withdraw their applications and accept out-of-state scholarships pending action on the part of the Tennessee legislature to set up separate facilities within the state, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the association made public the following telegram which was sent to Attorney Cowan, counsel for the youths.

"National Association for Advancement of Colored People will not accept appeal to prevent admitting qualified Negroes to University of Tennessee. Scholorships for out of state work outlawed by U. S. Supreme Court in Gaines decision and not acceptable to Negroes. Proceed with filing of cases of qualified men who refuse scholarships and have been refused admission to University of Tennessee.

The following story of what took place on the University by Cowan:

"We were fortunate in seeing Dean Smith in his office soon after we arrived. Secretary Hess came in within a few seconds. I introduced the men, stating what department or school each man had made application. I also stated that each man desired a permit to register. He then asked if they were the same men who made written applications; all replied 'yes'. He asked each their names, and then passed a card for each to sign. I don't know whether he did this to compare signatures of not. The conference in substance was this: 'Dean Smith asked which one of the applicants was spokesman; I replied, none; that the men were in front of him and he could ask any one of them or all of them anything he wanted to know concerning their applications. Fortunately, he picked out Homer L. Saunders, and asked him why he wanted to come to the University of Tennessee. Saunders replied that he was a citizen of the State of Tennessee; that he wanted to do more work in physical and health education; that Tennessee A and I College could not provide him the work, and the University of Tennessee could. Dean Smith then asked him if he would be willing to go to some other school comparable to U. T., within or without the State, if the University would pay the difference in cost. Saunders replied that since he was a citizen of Tennessee, he would not be willing to go out of the State. Dean Smith then asked would he be willing to go to some other school in the State—say A. & I., it is a good school. Saunders replied 'No' to A. & I. because they did not offer the same facilities that U. T. did. Dean Smith then wanted to know would he be willing to go to Fisk if the same facilities were provided there that are provided at U. T. Saunders hesitated and then said, I am a Knoxville boy and I could live cheaper here at home than I could at Nashville. Dean Smith replied, 'assuming that we would pay the difference in expenses, including cost of living, and pay transportation, etc.' Saunders replied that he would like to think it over, but on the spur of the moment, he did not see any reason why he would not go to Fisk if equal facilities were provided and the University or the State pay the difference in expenses.

Curtailment at Jeff Evening Hi Told

Reason for the curtailment of the Adult Evening Emergency Educational program at Jefferson Evening High school was explained this week in a letter to John H. Owens, vice-president of the Southern California District, International Workers Order, by George C. Mann, Chief of the Division of Adult and Continuation Education of the State Department of Education. The letter was written at the suggestion of the Works Progress Administration for Southern California, Herbert C. Legg.

Although curtailment was due directly to the recent act of Congress which made it necessary to reduce classes and personnel, Legg, together with the State Department of Education, stated he is working on procedures which might obtain qualified teachers to continue the work at Jefefrson to its fullest capacity. Owens had pointed out that since Jefferson served such a large and congested territory, it was "highly inadvisable to curtail an educational program in such a community."

Noted Architect Tells of Being Lost at Sea in Yacht

While the rest of the world held its eyes on reports of torpedoed ships in foreign waters, three prominent men in a palatial yacht, raced peril while "lost at sea" close to home in a tropical storm.

One of the trio told the story rather belatedly this week. The man is Paul R. Williams, noted architect. Williams said he had been invited by William the yacht "Billydick" to accomof the yacht "Billydick," to accompany him on a fishing trip to escape the heat wave off the coast of lower California adjacent to the Santa Catalina Island group.

Making the cruise also was Clifford Schoen, landscape architect, he boat, powered by a dual motored Chrysler plant, rode out the Newport harbor equipped with shore telephone and two-way radio. As the heatwave abated, suddenly Saturday, Sept. 23, a storm came up, late Sunday afternon, sending mountainous waves crashing down on the craft. Warmington, at the wheel, attempted to obey the warning of Cast Guardsmen and put into port.

While yet a long way from Avalon, radio and telephonic connections went out of commission. The trio had already been apprised of the loss of scores of fishing craft. Without contact with shore, the three were hard put to make port.

As the hour for the boat's docking grew one, two and three hours overdue, Mrs. Williams impressed her husband's close friend, John L. Hill, to "keep trying to locate him." Anxious relatives of the remaining members of the trio were making as insistent inquiries. Williams stated, " if it wasn't that Warmington was such a good navigator, and those two motors held up so beautifully, I don't know what would have happened to us".

The firm of Paul R. Williams, architects, has just completed the new home on the estate of the Tyrone Powers Jr. Williams is listed as one of the two architects for the $2,000,000 motion picture resort-hotel at Arrowhead Springs.

ACTS BEST SELLERS

John Howard is rapidly becoming a best-seller star. Having just finished playing the lead in Lloyd C. Douglas' "Disputed Passage" at Paramount, he has been loaned to Universal to portray the principal role in "Green Hell", which led the book list six years ago.

GAVE UP

Preston Foster featured in Paramount's "Geronimo", studied to be a singer. It took months before he landed his first professional engagement—the role of a deaf and dumb Chinese character in a Broadway play. Foster has never sung professionally in his life.

HE COLLECTS, TOO

Robert Florey, director of "Parole Fixer", third drama in Paramount's series of J. Edgar Hoover crime exposes, has one of the country's most valuable collections of Napoleonic antiques. It is assessed for insurance at almost half a million dollars, he disclosed today.

ALLEN U. RANKS HIGH IN AFRICAN METHODISM

COLUMBIA (S. C.) Oct. 5. (Calvin Service)—When Dr. S. Higgins assumed the Presidency of Allan University a few months ago, he began his duties with much vim and vigor. The able executive, who previously headed another South Carolina institution, is well fitted for the herculean task he is performing. A graduate of Howard University and the Union Theological Seminary, President Higgins also studied at Columbia University.

His faculty consists of well qualified instructors and members of theadministrative staff. The bookkeeping department of Allan University is the very latest as used in modern business methods. Among those who have rendered much service to the University, is Professor R. S. Peguese, an alumnus of Allan and Registrar. He did studied at Boston and Indiana universities and for 14 years had served in various capacities.

ZETA PHI BETA SORORS BREAKFAST FRESHMAN COLLEGE WOMEN

Sorors of Xi Alpha chapter of National Zeta Phi Beta Sorority were hostesses to a breakfast honoring freshman college women Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Edna McPherson, 3582 Budlong avenue.

Sessonal flowers and novelty favors marked the appointments for twenty young women. The program featured an informal discussion led by Mrs. Jocelyn Watkins on "Girls and Colleges" and supplemented by Mrs. M. Inez Laster. It climaxed in the singing of the national sorority hymn by Zeta representatives.

Guests were greeted by Dr. Lois J. Evans, dean of pledges, and welcomed by Mrs. Lola Beavers, neophyte, and Miss Helen F. Chappell, basileus. Mrs. Bessie Brown, program chairman, was mistress of ceremonies.

Entertain Louisiana Belle Here

Miss Hazel Marble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Marble, of Monroe, La., is enjoying a pleasant vacation here, houseguest of Roy Maddox, 3309 Compton avenue.

The visitor, graduate of social work from Southern U. at Baton Rouge, La., and Atlanta, was guest of Charles Moore, former Louisiana resident during an entertaining evening spent visiting popular Eastside places of amusement Sunday evening.

In the group were: Waldo Robinson, Eddie Brandon and Murphy O'Grady.

Emily Brown Portwig Hostesses Bridge Party

Mrs. Emily Brown Portwig was hostess at a bridge party Wednesday at her home "The Anchor" in honor of Mrs. Gonzolas Motts of Chicago and Mrs. Alma White, who with her son Teddy, have returned home from an extensive trip in New York, Asbury Park and Baltimore. Prizes were won by Mrs. Bernice Morrow, Dr. Alice Garrott, Mrs. Alma McKinney and Mrs. Naomi Booker.

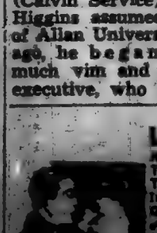
ENJOYED TRIP

Dear Editor:

I would like to make public the following article in your paper, of which I am a subscriber even though I am, at present, in arrears. It is by no means on purpose that I am in arrears and after this week, I shall begin to pay up. It has been sickness and unemployment that has sent me back. I am grateful to you for continuing the paper, regardless of my being in arrears.

I am unable to tell you how much joy I got out of reading your travel articles while on your vacation. As I read them, I traveled along with you in my mind. It was joy, sadness, inspiration and indeed a pleasure to read those inspiring activities.



Yours truly,

from all citizens. Just as five million white southerners have found, disfranchisement of the Negro leads inevitable to disfranchisement of his white comrade on an identical level. It was the white south which first conceived intimidation of qualified black voters. It was the white south which first denied a citizen his most fundamental right on any large scale. Conversely, it is the white south which itself is most thoroughly disfranchised today.

Bear these statistics in mind, —only sixteen percent of southern voters cast ballots in the last election. This fact cannot be too heavily stressed, for it proves a number of things. The bigotted and often ignorant members of Congress from the South do not represent their section justly, as it should be in a democracy. They do not even represent half the south. In fact, the total extent of their representation is exactly sixteen percent!

Is America a democracy?

Another instance: there are, as previously stated, fifteen million Negro citizens in the United States—more than one eighth the total population. Yet there is not a single black representative in the U. S. Senate, and only one in the House of Representatives. One, lone, unaided spokesman for fifteen million citizens with highly specialized problems; with a collective background unlike that of any other American group.

Is America really a democracy?

. . . Well, we leave that question with you—firm, however, in the belief that what America is not today, it can be tomorrow.

AFTER LEAVING the capitol city, our next overnight stop was at Hagerstown, Maryland, on the evening of September 6th. In this Maryland Jim Crow town, we were comfortable accomodated at the Harmon Hotel, owned and operated, appropriately enough, by Mrs. Harmon.

The next day at five A. M. we were moving toward Cleveland, and made it there, over four hundred miles, before nightfall. Upon reaching the chief city of Ohio, we inquired about accomodations for the night, and were directed to the "Majestic Hotel". The "Majestic" is an imposing structure from without, which makes the deception all the more cruel from within. You don't want to say, "I was mistaken; I really don't want to stop!", so you suffer yourself to engage a room, and the porter conducts you to a dark corner of the hall where an elevator jerkily transports you to the third floor. Lobby, halls and rooms of the massive Majestic, widely advertised as the finest colored hotel in the U. S. A., are dingy and unattractive. And about the only thing colored people own here is the opportunity to rent a room.

After a night's unrest at the Majestic, we again rose early, but paid a visit to the palatial home of Mrs. Lethia Fleming, national political and fraternal figure, before leaving the city. At Mrs. Fleming's we learned that our fellow citizen, the Hon. Frederick M. Roberts, whom we last had seen at the Elks' Convention in New York, had been the victim of a purse snatcher. The ex-assemblyman was relieved of all cash in his possession as well as his railroad tickets. In spite of his misfortune, Mr. Roberts is back on the job making every effort count for a 1940 Republican victory.

After we left Cleveland, our one thought was to get to Los Angeles as quickly as possible. Our other stops included a one night stand at Chicago's beautiful Vincennes Hotel, and a very charming stop-over at Sprinfield, Illinois, at the home of my dear friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua C. Douglas. For many years, Joshua has been High Priest of the Springfield Marriage License bureau.

From there, we pushed on to Kansas City, Missouri, where we spent the night at a smart little hostelry called the "Booker T.". By his time, the urge to see home again had become equally strong with myself and my driver. Bridging the vast Empire that is the state of Kansas, we landed next evening at Garden City, at the state's western tip.

Then, over the loop circling Texas and Oklahoma by way of southern Colorado and New Mexico. Santa Fe; Albuquerque; the border of Arizona; and we were next door to home.

So, our great adventure ended at 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Sept. 14th, in front of the California Eagle plant at 41st and Central Avenue, where it had started four months ago on a bright May morning.

ion which all thinking citizens have condemned in states like Mississippi. The State of New Jersey will have to answer for this weak gesture, which will certainly offer no deterrant to future outbreaks of mob violence in this state. Releasing these mobbists on probation brings into the light the real fight for citizenship rights that have to be won for Negro citizens, not only in New Jersey but throughout the country."

STORY TOLD

The story of the southern migratory workers who came to New Jersey to pick potatoes, was told to more than 800 persons in Newark, New Jersey, Sunday evening by Mrs. Jake Preston.

The only woman among the victims of the mob, gave a graphic picture of the terror of which these migratory workers were subjected.

"When they told me to take my clothes off," she said, "Preston said to me, 'Don't you do it honey,' and when they kicked him and told him to shut up, he told me, 'If they want your clothes off let them take themselves."

A few more words about the attacks, and Mrs. Preston's voice choked. She was unable to proceed, and had to be assisted back to her seat on the platform.

gether clues, giving the circumstance of the traagedy. Apparently the quintet ran out of the wine they had been drinking all morning and having no money, decided to make cocktails out of the paint remover found in Witherspoon's garage. In a home-made laboratory trick to make the fluid palatable, they strained it through a piece of white bread.

A witness, Frank Johns, 1430 E. Adams, said he came to the Witherspoon home after the party and noticed Mrs. Owens asleep. The Witherspoons, in reply to his questions, said she had gone to sleep on the rude bed between four and five that afternoon. It was at his advice that they tried to arouse her.

NO FAMILY FOUND

Police said no other address could be found for the white woman, although she reportedly had a father and a sister, who is a nurse, in Portland, Ore. Neighbors reported thew oman had been drinking heavliy for several days previous to her death.

Boggs, police reported, was brought home early Tuesday afternoon by a man, known only as Scott, and put to bed, ill, by his wife. Dr. E. I. Robinson, private physician, treated him, but to no avail.

Police puzzled also over the mysterious laceration on the face of Johnson, excessive alcohol victim. When found dead by David Woods, of the Hooper avenue address, Johnson had a blood clotted scar on his forehead and white spum was coming from his mouth. An auttopsy report gave the cause of death, however, as acute alcoholism.

Wood said his friend had been drinking heavily for a month and a half. His wife had left him because of drunkedness two months ago and is now living in Pasadena. Woods said he came to California 39 years ago with Johnson from Marshall, Texas.

WINTER LEAGUE BALL OPENS SUNDAY AT GILMORE

DOWN IN FRONT

With J. CULLEN FENTRESS

THOSE SURPRISING BRUINS

After watching the Bruins of UCLA outplay and outsmart the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university most of the game last Friday night in the Coliseum, to walk off the field with a 6 to 2 decision, two observations come to the fore.

(1) As long as Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson can team up in the backfield as they did last week, the Bruins are definite threats for the Pacific coast conference football title.

(2) This is all the more true because of the Bruin line, a line that boasts as much all-around football ability as can be found in the average forward wall. The Bruins don't have the reserves that some of the conference squads can boast, nor the individual stars, but that first string can hold its own, barring injuries, in any man's league.

And so, as long as that Bruin forward wall can hold until those reverses and fake reverses can get underway, watch the Bruins go.

Jack Connolly, writing in "Sports Weekly", says Robinson's ambition is to help make Washington an All-American. And now that some of the pressure is off Kenny, Jackie may realize his ambition.

Robinson was quoted as saying, "That boy Kenny is a really great player and if the rest of us in the backfield give him 100 per cent support he's going to get the honors he deserves".

Like the true sportsman he is, Jackie also praises other Bruins in the story, including "Chuck" Fenenbock and Bill Overlin.

The Bruins, all in all, seem to have what it takes and we wouldn't doubt but what every football fan, loyal as he may be to his favorite club, isn't pulling for the lads from the hills of Westwood.

PIRRONE TALKS ABOUT WINTER BALL

Joe Pirrone, the maestro of the Winter Baseball league, is looking forward to his most successful season which, by the way, opens here Sunday at Gilmore Field.

After 20 years, the "father of winter ball" believes that what with moving the loop to the home of the Hollywood Stars where the greats of the diamond can play in larger quarters and before larger crowds, his "brain child" is headed for a new lease on life. We are inclined to agree with him.

It is an admitted fact that Negro ballplayers SHOULD be permitted to play Major League ball but that right to date has been denied. It is thru such a channel as this coming winter loop campaign, however, that this right will finally be granted the colored ballplayer.

The fans, it appears, hold the key to the situation. That statement does not overlook the fact that Major League owners themselves can help the situation by taking a stand for admittance of Negroes in Major League ball. But the fans, by seeing for themselves the capabilities of the Negro ballplayer, can raise such a howl for their final inclusion in the national pastime that that right will have to be granted.

Gilmore Field, the home of the Philadelphia Royal Giants for the Winter, will offer baseball fans that opportunity.

Joe Pirrone deserves a "pat on the back" for his courage and vision in taking the league to a location where the fans may judge the type of ball as played by the Negro stars as against that played by Major Leaguers, under the best of conditions.

POOR HOUSES

For two weeks in succession, boys who fight for pay have displayed their wares, be they good or bad, before two of the smallest houses in the history of the Olympic auditorium.

To get the downtown svatatorium out of the doldrums is the job of Matchmaker Jimmy Murray. It is not an easy one, for one bad card can ruin four or five good ones. Having been disappointed once by a bad show the average fan won't attend again soon until the place shows a consistent, week-after-week average of standout attractions.

KENNY AND JACKIE SPARK BRUIN CLUB TO WIN OVER TCU

60,000 See UCLA Upset Texas Team 6-2 When Bruin Fullback Scores Tally

BULLETIN

Leaving the city last night, the UCLA Bruins are off to Seattle, Washington, and their engagement Saturday with the University of Washington Huskie. Accompanied by a big band of rooters, 38 players, including Woodrow Strode, Ray Bartlett, Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson, made the trip. UCLA are favored to tame the Huskie in his own backyard.

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

The UCLA Bruin has "grown up"!

In defeating the favored Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university, 6 to 2, last Friday night at the Memorial Coliseum before an estimated crowd of 60,000 thrill-drenched souls, University of California at Los Angeles has served a warning on the rest of her 1939 opponents that can't very well go unheeded.

From now in it's BIG BRUIN and cap that Mr. Lino Operator.

Both clubs had their individual stars but it was Bruin teamwork that was the stand-out feature. This Bruin club that made its debut under the tutelage of head coach Edwin "Babe" Horrell, coaches Jim Blewett and Ray Richards showed a line, at least two deep, that appears able to stack up favorably against any in the conference.

The strength of the Bruin forward wall was displayed early in the fourth quarter just after the Bruins had scored its one and only touchdown. The Horned Frogs worked the ball down to the UCLA five-yard line for a first down. Backfield aces, Jack Odle, Logan Ware and Connie Sparks, plus captain Don Looney at end, smacked the left side of the Bruin line. In a great defensive stand, the Bruins held and took the ball on the one-yard marker.

The Texans scored their deuce when Overlin attempted to boot from behind his goal line, fumbled, shovel-passed to Gilmore who was dumped in pay dirt.

KENNY AND JACKIE

A 71-yard offensive in the third quarter, featuring Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson mostly, paid off when fullback Bill Overlin took the ball on a fake reverse from Washington and ran 9 yards inside his own right tackle for the touchdown. Co-captain John Frawley's kick for the extra point was wide.

Sporting numbers "13" and "28" Kenny and Jackie had the stands in an uproar as they sparked this drive. Getting possession of the ball on their own 29 on a recovery by Jack Sommers, who played a whale of a game, the Bruins began their goal-bound push.

Kenny made a yard and then ran TCU's left end for 12 yards and a first down. Robinson, on a reverse, went to TCU's 43 for another first down. Overlin made 2. Washington cut over left tackle and raced 19 yards to the Texan's 22-yard line. Jackie cut back and was forced out of bounds on the 14-yard stripe. Kenny bucked left tackle for 9 and on a fake reverse, Overlin went over the last marker.

SHORT PASSES

Both clubs used the short, quick passes over the middle of the line to advantage. Those from Washington to Strode picked up many valuable yards for the Westowoders. One of the Bruins' best offensive weapons was the hidden ball play which Robinson and Washington worked to perfection. Often times the TCU'ers had no idea where the ball was until either of the touchdown twins had broken into the clear.

The slippery turf and wet ball hampered the aerial attacks of both teams. Most of the long tosses were either batted down or went way over the intended receiver.

Besides being the debut of coach Horrell and his assistants it was also the first appearance of Jackie Robinson in college football. One of the most publicized athletes in the nation, he acquited himself well in all departments. He is the man-in-motion in the new Bruin system.

Standouts in the Bruin line were Sommers, Frawley and Zarubica. Sherrod and Taylor were bulwarks of strength in the TCU forward wall.

Late in the fourth quarter as the Frogs were again knocking at the door of the promised land, Ned Mathews intercepted a pass on his own three-yard line and raced 60 yards before being downed. It relieved the Bruins and set the invaders back on their heels. A faster man than Mathews might have scored.

Texas College Steers Open Grid Race with Prairie View

TYLER (Tex.) Oct. 5—In what appears to be the major attraction in the Southwest, the Texas College Steers will open their conference race against the Prairie View Panthers here Saturday.

The Panthers, co-favorites with Southern to win the Southwestern Conference championship, will bring to Tyler the most powerful team ever to represent the colors of Prairie View. For five years the Panthers have been the victims of the Texas Steers. In '34 and '35 the Steers tripped the Panthers 17-0 and 7-0 respectively. A 0-0 stalemate were the results in '36 and '37 and '38 the Steers again triumphed 6-0 and 14-7.

Although dopesters and sport critics are hurling the championship down the throats of the Panthers, Coach Rettig and his Steers are shouting "Come and get it." Even though hit heavily by graduation, the Steers will be able to start 11 lettermen for their initial conference jaunt. Shouldering the brunt of the Steers attack will be their triple threat backfield ace, Louis Turner, playing his last year for the Steers.

Lincoln University Suffers Losses at Start of Season

JEFFERSON CITY Mo.) Oct. 5—Coach Ray Kemp's worries increased last week when two members of his 1939 football squad suddenly left school. Another promising candidate made his exit the previous week.

A group of 40 players is practicing daily on Lincoln Field in preparation for a schedule that opens with a strong team, Kentucky State College, on the latter's field, Oct. 14. With all but 10 lettermen lost through graduation, Kemp must depend to a large extent on the development of new material to form a team that will be capable of making a good showing against such aggregations as LeMoyne, Wilberforce, Tennessee State. All of the 1938 linemen, except Chester Cotharn, tackle, have reported, thus assuring the team of an experienced and fairly heavy forward wall. The backfield offers the challenging problem to the Tiger coach, who has only two lettermen on hand to do the running, kicking and passing. The Lincoln schedule for the current season follows:

Oct. 7: Western University at Jefferson iCty; Oct. 15: Kentucky State College at Frankfort, Ky.; Oct. 21: Open Date; Oct. 28: LeMoyne College (Home Coming) at Jefferson City; Nov. 4: Philander Smith College at Little Rock, Ark.; Nov. 11: Louisville Municipal College at Jefferson City; Nov. 18: Wilberforce University at Jefferson City; Nov. 30: Tennessee State College at Nashville, Tenn.

Bomber Will Defend Title in January

Nova and Manager Hold "Hot" Session in New York Hotel

ELLENVILLE (N. Y.) Oct. 5—It will be heavyweight champion Joe Louis against you Lou Nova of California at Madison Square Garden in January.

This was revealed last weekend at the Nevele Country club where Fred Apostoli, recognized in New York as middleweight champion of the world, was training for his defense last Monday night against Ceferino Garcia of Los Angeles.

Despite Nova's unexpectedly poor showing against Tony Galento three weekh ago when he was stopped in the 14th round in Philadelphia, he will be given the next shot at the Brown Bomber on the basis of confidence his manager, Ray Carlen and promoter Mike Jacobs have in him.

IN LOS ANGELES

Arriving here this week after recovering from the beating Galento gave him, Nova will rest a month before going to a camp in the Sierras to begin training for his championship bid.

It is said that manager Carlen accepted the Louis bout only after a hot session with Nova in a New York hotel. It is said that he threatened to sell Nova's contract unless the California boy hereafter followed instructions.

Should Clark duplicate his Aug. 29 win over Knox, he will meet Gus Lesnevitch, New Jersey Pole, contender for the championship vacated by John Henry Lewis.

Bray, Henry Get Pay for Olympic Go

The day following their nine-round no-decision fiasco at the Olympic auditorium Tuesday night of last week, Big Boy Bray and Yancey Henry received their pay "for services rendered."

Their heavyweight scrap was stopped in the ninth by referee Jack Kennedy when he announced to the small crowd in attendance that Henry was unable to continue because of an injured thumbnail on his right hand. He also announced that the fighters' purses would be held up pending an investigation by the State Athletic commission.

The commission released its findings the next day, substance of which was that "we find that the contest was staged, fought and officiated in a manner wholly free of suspicion of collusion, dishonesty, sham or neglect," and ordered that Bray and Henry be given their pay checks.

Bray is the holder of the State colored heavyweight championship, a title he won when he defeated Odell Polee several weeks ago at the Olympic.

Lettermen Make Up Varsity; Practice Game on Tomorrow

Jefferson High school's all-letterman varsity will do battle tomorrow afternoon with Loyola High in a practice game on Fulton Field. Entering his 9th year as a coach at the Eastside institution, Harry Edelson expects tomorrow's set-up to indicate strongly how his team will show against Fremont in the Southern League opener Oct. 20.

In the backfield, Jeff has several of the city's fastest prepsters. Both Thomas Pollard and Joe Black, the latter both star and goat of the 1938 squad, are fast, deceptive runners and fine pass snatchers.

Both Cook and Henry, ends, gave good accounts of themselves last year, and will be on the receiving end of passes, the Edelson specialty, this year.

Roscoe Wiley, veteran tackle, heaviest man on the Democrat squad, is anxiously awaiting his birth certificate to prove him under the 21-year age limit prescribed by city ruling.

Loyola Coach Makes Two Changes

In an effort to mold a lightning bolt striking punch before Loyola's gridders celebrate the 50th anniversary of football coaching with College of Pacific's Grand Old Man, Alonzo Stagg in Gilmore Stadium tomorrow night, Headman Mike Pecarovich is making two important changes in backfield and line this week.

ROYAL GIANTS OPEN SEASON AGAINST JOE PIRRONE'S ALL-STARS

Teams Play Doubleheader at Gilmore Field; Bob Feller Pitches Wednesday

With every indication pointing to the most successful season in its history, Winter League baseball will be ushered into the local sports picture Sunday afternoon at Gilmore Field when the Philadelphia Royal Giants play Joe Pirrone's Major League All-Stars in a doubleheader.

First game starts at 1:30.

Gilmore Field is the home park of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league. During the Winter League season it will serve as the home park of the Philadelphia Royal Giants.

SEES BEST YEAR

Joe Pirrone, organizer of the league, foresees the best season in the history of the loop. With the moving to larger quarters, better accommodations and parking facilities are to be had at the new park which was just completed at the inception of the just-closed coast league season.

Heretofore the home park of the Winter league has been at White Sox park on the Eastside. Larger seating space and better quarters prompted the move.

As always, the Philadelphia Royal Giants will be made up of top ranking colored stars in the Negro National and American leagues. A tentative line-up released by manager Tom Wilson to Pirrone includes such names as Mule Suttles, 'One-Wing' West, Bill Wright and Rocking-chair Bassett, all of whom are familiar to Winter league fans.

PIRRONE'S LINEUP

The major league roster will boast such names as Harry Danning and Frank Demaree of the New York Giants and Julio Bonetti of the Los Angeles Angels who is scheduled to go up to the Chicago Cubs next season.

Next Wednesday night, a special attraction at Gilmore will be the appearance of the sensational Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, on the mound for the All-Stars.

3-SHELL LIMIT

The three-shell limit on peating shotguns, either ha operated or auto-loading, is c tinued. It is unlawful to h water-fowl by means of bait the use of live duck or go decoys, regardless of the dista between the bait or decoys the hunter. It also is illegal use shotguns larger than gauge or to hunt with bow arrow.

While ducks are plentiful outing bureau scouts repo that few geese have been se so far this year. Limits these birds have been reduc from five to four per day, was announced.

Hogue Twins Win; Heavies Feature New Olympic Card

The Hogue twins of boxing made their first pro appearance at the Olympic auditorium, the place they got their start as amateurs, Tuesday night each winning six-round decisions.

Both bouts were dull and another small house looked on and yawned.

Sherty Hogue decisioned Chuey Vargas and Big Boy nodded Everett Simmington. There were no knockdowns.

Results of the remainder of the bouts, all of which were of the six-round varity but the curtain raiser, show Leon Zorrita stopping Lee Morris in the second head and looking good in doing so; Johnny Petry TKO'ed Steve Ludman in four; Memo Llamnes decisioned Gene Espinosa, and Terry Orchard stopped Ken Wren in the third heat.

SOME LUCK

Billboards in many of the town's vantage points were heralding this week the fact that Count Basie and his nationally known aggregation were headed for the Palomar "the West's largest and most beautiful dancing spot".

But, also, this week a fire razed the Palomar to the tune of an estimated $1,500.00 damage.

It was to be the Count's first appearance before Southern California dancers, but the fire beat him to it. And, that's some luck, in our book.

Nevertheless, the band goes on the Paramount stage for an engagement which will probably last two weeks — if we know our jitterbugs.

SETS RECORD

The local Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company enters its 15th consecutive year in California with the reputation of never having defaulted a just claim. So states the company's "News-Bulletin", which continues, "The records show that over $950,000 has been paid to policyholders and beneficiaries since the company's organization in 1925".

Deputy State Insurance commissioner Green of the claims department in addressing the National Negro Insurance association in session here in July, said "If all companies in the State of California were as well operated and treated their policyholders as fairly as the Golden State Mutual, there would be a lot of us out of jobs in the claim department of the insurance commissioner's office".

Such recognition speaks well for the business acumen of the company's guiding spirits, Messrs. Nickerson, Beavers and Houston and reflects the confidence the public has in this growing and progressive concern.

MORE PROGRESS

The press received recently a first-hand account of the vision, and fruits thereof, of another businessman, an hotel owner.

Advancing from a very small beginning, this visionary businessman invited the press to sit down with him and break bread in his hotel's new $5,000 dining room, called the "blue room".

And blue it is, with imported wallpaper, indirect lights, and other streamlined effects.

All the more remarkable, as was evidenced during the festivities, was the fact that serving as master of ceremonies was another hotel owner, George Ramsey, of San Diego, old friend of the host.

To our notion that was the point that we hope will always remain with us: To conduct our business in such a manner as to command the respect of others engaged in like pursuits as well as those we serve.

The host, by the way, was Horace P. Clark, owner of the Clark hotel here. His friends and his records say "he's a regular guy".

POTENT

Hereafter, the criminal-minded may run up against more forces for good than they care to compete with!

As a result of the authorization from the City Council to transfer $18,000 from the police salary account to the secret service fund, Chief of Police Arthur C. Hohmann came out with an announcement this week that "little guys" and "school-girl-type blondes will lead the city's newest drive against vice and crime.

Yep, hereafter, little guys who bear no resemblance whatsoever to the present typical copper, and blondes with school books who look every inch like girls who are pursuing an education will get information which may lead to arrests of suspects the regular force couldn't get next to.

MOTHERS AND SONS

The mothers of Springfield, Illinois began this week the organization of a body designed to keep youths between the ages of 18 and 21 out of war.

It appears to be a natural thing for mothers to do, but whether or not it would prove workable if Uncle Sam issued a call is another matter. It's like that old saying, "Everything goes when the wagon comes".

Dr. Liddell, Wife and Family in Val Verde

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Liddell and family spent Saturday and Sunday in their Val Verde mountain home, where they enjoyed the cool mountain air.

It is the intellect, not the presumptuous inquirer, who makes a real and safe progress in the discovery of divine truths—He follows God in his works and in His words. —Bolingbroke.

Sketch Subject: BRACY L. HESTER . . . Independent Milk Merchant.

By LELAND D. WHITNEY

Bracy L. Hester, independent milk merchant, was born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana in 1902. He was the sixth of 13 children born to Leanore Vernhouse and Charles Hester, and one of five boys. Longevity is characteristic of the Hester family. His mother is 71 and in excellent health and his grandmother is active at 94. Sports have no attraction for Hester. He enjoys the theatre and writes short stories as a hobby.

In the summer of 1913, the elder Hesters permitted young Bracy to spend a year in the country with Buddy Mile, a friend who operated a dairy farm. Seeing a dairy farm in operation was an interesting experience for a city lad of 11, and the herds had quite an attraction for him. So intense was his interest that he soon learned to milk and churn and had a fair knowledge of how to operate a dairy farm.

From childhood Bracy showed qualities of initiative and leadership. His dominant interests, however, were practical rather than scholarly. He cared very little for school and thought that raising milk-cows and dairy-farming was much more interestink than knowing who built the pyramids of Egypt. At that time schooling was not compulsory in Baton Rouge, and since he would rather work, Bracy had the privilege. However, there were no herds to be milked in the city, so Bracy had to temporarily abandon his desire to do dairy work.

J. D. Brown, an outstanding contractor and builder in Baton Rouge and an uncle of Bracy, observed his nephew and perceived his ability. There was need of just such a young man on his projects and at the age of 12, Bracy was given a job as water-boy. He eagerly cultivated the friendship of his uncle in whose achivements he found inspiration and guidanse. His practical bent, intensified by his activities, resulted in his early decision to earn his own way. He was conscientious and a successful apprentice. Uncle J. D. was impressed by his interest and they soon became real pals. Bracy grasped all of the knowledge his uncle poured out to him and in a few years he had mastered with skill the fundamentals of building construction. Through his own initiative he established himself as a master construction mechanic. The majority of the public buildings throughout Baton Rouge and neighboring cities were erected by the company for which Bracy L. Hester worked.

CAME WEST

Hester remained in his uncle's employ until 1917, then, with the pioneering spirit of his forefathers, encouraged by the stirring news that construction of a gigantic aircraft factory was soon to start, he embarked on a fortune seeking venture to the Far West, arriving in Los Angeles in the summer of 1917. The day after his arrival our sketch accepted a job as box-maker at the Ontario Box Co. The aircraft factory job never materialized. For 18 months Hester worked for the box company; he was then employed by the Northern Pacific Construction Company where he soon became foreman. From this time on his career was definitely concerned with building construction.

The next five years found our subject ably serving as foreman for the construction company which erected public buildings which today stand out because of their superior workmanship.

This success enabled Hester for the first time to contemplate a business of his own. He became engaged to Miss Lillian Dutrey, who he had known for four years, and in the summer of 1922, they were married. Hester established his own business as General Building Contractor, operating in Los Angeles and neighboring cities. Because of his ability and sound management, the business flourished. Hester planned wisely in anticipation of the growth he saw for the business and was never idle for a full day. Success in this enterprise was enjoyed for 8 years. Bracy built a house for himself every year he was contracting. During the Depression, he sold eight, leaving a total of five houses which he owns at the present time.

By then the population of Los Angeles had doubled and with conditions seemingly favorable, our subject's first ambition that had been temporarily discarded again came to the fore. That ambition was to own a dairy farm.

BECOMES MILK MERCHANT

In 1931 his career as an independent milk merchant began. He distributed only 60 quarts of milk that first day, but after the first year, he had 300 customers. Hester's skill in management and his resourcefulness in solving practical problems were alike demonstrated when he weathered the financial panic and then started a new business at the height of the depression. At present he has five men in his employ who drive his own trucks and cover three routes that supply 1500 customers with four grades of sweet milk, butter, cottage cheese, fruit juice, buttermilk and eggs. Their monthly milk output is 9000 gallons. Hester attributes his success to dealing fair with the public, handling only quality merchandise, and avoiding cutthroat competition.

Undoubtedly his early experience helped to develop the unusual ability he later showed to judge character and serve the public well. When Hester first started 8 years ago, he was the only Negro in business. Since that time approximately 150 men of other races have unsuccessfully attempted to establish independent milk routes. He uses Royal Dairy farm products, and incidentally is one of the stockholders. Hester has the respect and admiration of the competitor companies and often he and rival merchants exchange favors. Hester is modest and unassuming, possesses unusually keen powers of observation and is an interesting conversationalist. He has established himself as a successful business man.

● LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

BY MIRIAM MATTHEWS

Labor problems past and present, of various minority groups, receive a thorough appraisal in three recent volumes: "Black Workers in New Unions", by Horace R. Clayton and George S. Mitchell; "Factories in the Field," by Carey McWilliams; and "Black Folk—Then and Now," by W. E. B. DuBois.

"Black Workers and the New Unions," by Horace R. Clayton and George S. Mitchell is a study of the economic status and industrial position of Negroes as industrial laborers in the United States and of their participation in labor unions in three principal industries: iron and steel, meat packing, and railroad car shops. The authors point out the progress that is being made in surmounting racial barriers, indicating that to some extent the older division of labor along racial lines is being supplanted by a division into economic interest groups. The development in the three fields treated here are of paramount importance in determining the future of labor in general and of Negro laborers in particular.

The picture painted by Carey McWilliams of California's migratory farm labor in "Factories in the Field" is neither a pleasant nor an optimistic one. According to Mr. McWilliams, the history of agriculture in California is based on nearly seventy years' exploitation of minority racial and other groups by a powerful group of landowners. In his introduction he states: "In all America it would be difficult to find a parallel for this strange army in tatters. Sources of cheap labor in China, Japan, the Philippine Islands, Puerto Rico, Mexico, the Deep South, and Europe have been generously tapped to recruit its ever-expanding ranks. Time has merely tightened the system of land ownership and control and furthered the degradation of farm labor."

Although not intended primarily as a history of Negro labor, "Black Folk—Then and Now", by W. E. B. DuBois touches upon many of its important phases beginning with the African slave trade in the 15th century and continuing with the story of European imperialism in Africa and the exploitation of black workers in America after the emancipation of slavery in the 19th century. This brilliant and scholarly account of five centuries of industrial development throughout the world is clearly summarized in the following conclusion of Dr. DuBois:

"The proletariat of the world consists not simply of white European and American workers but overwhelmingly of the dark workers of Asia, Africa, the islands of the sea, and South and Central America. These are the ones who are supporting a superstructure of wealth, luxury and extravagance. It is the rise of these people that is the rise of the world. The problem of the twentieth century is the color line."

Through every rift of discovery some seeming anomaly drops out of the darkness, and falls, as a golden link, into the great chain of order.—E. H. Chapin.

Tabor's Officials Honored at Banquet

Honoring William L. Martin, Chief Grand Mentor of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, and Mrs. Lola Williams, Chief Recorder of Magnolia Tabernacle No. 27, a banquet was given last Thursday by Mrs. True L. Appleton, Chief Preceptress of Magnolia Tabernacle, at her home, 912 E. 46th street.

The two honored guests had recently returned from Eastern trips that took them to the National Grand Lodge. In his after dinner speech, Mr. Martin commented at length on the Grand Lodge. Mrs. Williams also spoke on her trip. Remarks were made by Rev. S. M. Beane, who paid tribute to Mrs. Appleton for her work in the tabernacle and her gesture in appreciation of the officers.

Mrs. Appleton's home was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. Turkey was the main piece de resistence. With Rosa Floyd at the piano, playing incidental music, Mrs. Tom P. Williams acted as mistress of ceremonies. Other guests included: Mmes. Nellie Williamson, Annie Jones, Josephine Nichols, Emma Almon, Frankie Mack, Ella White, Adele Ashford, Mable Woldridge, Margaret Pope, Josephine McClellan, Lullia Williams; Misses Jeanett Western, Leatha Steele, Leola Williams; Mr. and Mrs. A. Moles, Messrs. T. W. West, W. H. Ogletree, D. D. Holmes and company.

Mrs. S.P. Johnson Honors God-Son on Birthday

Mrs. S. P. Johnson, wife of one of the city's leading businessmen, was hostess to a number of youngsters Saturday, honoring her god-son, Benjamin Lee Nance, Jr. on his second birthday.

The garden of the Johnson home was the scene of the party, enjoyed long after the closing hour by the youngsters and their parents. Each little guest received a souvenir and delightful refreshments abounded.

Among the little visitors were Thomas Griffith III, Barbara Jean Crozier, Walter Preston Smith, Willard H. Penn, Reginald M. Dixson, Barbara Jean Ammons, Brenda M. Broshear, Samuel and Hattie Jean Johnson, Maria DeMan, Richard Bain, William C. Broady, Jackie Treadwell, Paul M. Martin, Walter Dickie Hall, David George, Gordon C. Grant, Jr., Malva Anna Webb, and Leon Otis Nixon, Jr. Present also were young Benjamin's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Nance, Sr., his grandmothers, Mrs. D. L. Funchess and Mrs. Fannie Pierce and an aunt, Mrs. Fannie Dean.

EXPLAINS SEA CODE

Captain George Schaltana, widely known master mariner and former commander of the famous yacht "Southern Cross," says the country would be better off when all motorists adopt the courtesy code of the sea. The a code as now advocated by the Shell "Share-The-Road" Club, he believes will help prevent crowding on streets and highways, speed up traffic and make driving more pleasant.

2 Urban League Fellowships in Social Work Go to Wome

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Dorothy B. Fassit of Philadelphia, Pa. and Ruth G. Hamlin of Indianapolis, Indiana, were named this week by the National Urban League as recipients of fellowships for study in the field of social work.

Mrs. Fassit was assigned to study at the New York School of Social Work on a fellowship of $1,200 given annually in memory of Anthony Benezet. She is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1924, and received her B. S. in social service work at Simmons College, Boston, in 1933.

$1,000 FELLOWSHIP

Miss Hamlin was assigned to the School of Applied Sciences of the University of Pittsburgh on a fellowship of $1,000 maintained jointly by the National and Pittsburgh Urban Leagues. She is a graduate, magna cum laude, of Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana, class of 1932. 1932.

Since the National Urban League was organized in 1910, it has awarded 90 fellowships to students, all of whom are now engaged in some phase of social work among Negroes. This year's fellows were selected from a total of more than 100 candidates.

UNITY CENTER SETS FORMAL OPENING

The Unity Center at 1195 East 55th street will greet its friends from 3 to 7 Sunday afternoon at the opening tea of their beautiful new Temple. Miss June Cobb, leader of the Center, left two weeks ago with destination unknown for a rest arter a strenuous Spring program. She will return in time to be the gracious hostess as usual.

Negro Issue Liability Insurance

Hundreds of Negro Car Owners Will Benefit in North

SEATTLE, Oct. 5—Precedent was established this week when 10 insurance companies announced that liability insurance would be issued Negroes heretofore denied protection because of color. End to the discriminatory practice came Wednesday as result of negotiations between Bernard E. Squires, executive secretary of Seattle's Urban League, and Deputy State Insurance Commissioner John Sullivan.

The negotiations, resulting which will benefit hundreds of Negro automobile owners in the state, began Aug. 14. Sullivan explained that Negroes had been refused liability insurance because they were considered poor risks. He said lawyers agree that a Negro stands as good a chance of winning damage claims in Washington courts as in most Southern states.

Sullivan further stated that there would be no discriminatory clauses in insurance policies issued to Negroes. They are, he said, subject no more or less to risk than other policy holders. Membership in the state's branch of the American Automobile association is also made available.

If I have ever made any valuable discoveries, it has been owing more to patient attention, than to any other talent.—Sir Isaac Newton.

A report reaches this Dept. that five members of Floyd Ray's celebrated orchestra, along with seven other residents of Oakland, were jailed for smoking marihuana cigarettes during a dance held at Sweet's ballroom, where the orchestra was engaged to play. It certainly means that either the band leaders, themselves, must take steps to weed out members who use the narcotic, or those self-contained hep cats, must get wise to themselves and 'tone down' on the weed.

Happy crimes are returning to El Capitan theater in Hollywood, tonight when the rip-roaring fun feast "The Mikado—In Swing" returns for a limited engagement, to continue its long record-breaking engagement.

This pixiliated version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, with a dusky cast of fast-stepping and swing-swaying songsters, will once again roar into the spotlight with its laugh-provoking bundle of humor and gayety.

The same popular cast will appear: Charles Holland, the silvery toned tenor as Nanki-Poo; Marguerite Chapman, as lovely as ever as Yum-Yum; Billy Mitchell, the old "debil" head "chopper-offer" as Ko-Ko; Jess Lee Brooks as haughty Poo-Bah, a "whole mess of people" by himself; Alonzo Thayer as tip toeing Pish-Tush and W. H. Gillespie, the "umpf" Emperor Mikado.

There are 7 distinct and individual hit tunes in "The Mikado—In Swing" which have been so arranged in a peppy new score, that audiences just can't seem to help but tap and hum them as the hot swing orchestra "gets in the groove."

The numbers are "I've Got a Little List," "Three Little Maids from School," "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," "Titwillow," "A Wandering Minstrel I," "A More Human Mikado, There Never Was," and "Taken from the County Jail."

During the return engagement regular bargain matinees will be given each Saturday, Wednesday and Sunday. In addition, two shows will be given on Saturday night, the first starting at 8:30 and the second at 11 p. m.

Members of the company who were brought over from the recent "Run Little Chillun" hit are Gertrude Saunders, Jesse Lee Brooks, Florence O' Brien, Eugene Henderson, Janet Collins, Alfred Grant and Ruby Elzy.

'dead end' kids also on para stage

Count Basie and his orchestra and the "Dead End" Kids in person will head the stageshow opening today at the Paramount Theatre. This inaugural program should prove to be one of the most unusual stage programs offered in Los Angeles in a long time.

On the screen will be Paramount's hilarious comedy hit "What A Life" which brings to the screen Henry Aldrich, radio's hard-luck kid, and the Aldrich Family for the first time. Jay Theodore Reed produced and directed this film for Paramount.

"What A life" was originally a Broadway stage success, then it became one of radio's top programs with the Aldrich Family becoming increasingly important. High school students will be particularly interested in this picture for many of them are in it and it was filmed at Los Angeles High school.

Jackie Cooper plays the leading role of Henry Aldrich, the typical kid with good intentions but who somehow or other never does anything right. Others in the cast include John Howard, Janice Logan, Hedda Hopper, Vaughan Glaser, Lionel Standee and many others.

Count Basie and his orchestra previously scheduled to open at the Palomar, opens today at the Paramount theatre instead. Hailed as one of the finest swing bands in the country, this Count of Swing brings with him his own show. Their initial Coast appearance should prove to be quite a sensation. The "Dead End" Kids in person on the stage will be a riot in their novel act "Hold That Tiger." Appearing with them will be Sam "Schlepperman" Hearn. "The Kids," stars of many outstanding screen attractions, will play on the stage the same type of roles as they play in pictures.

Two top orchestras . . . Les Hite's band and George Brown's Ebony Collegians. "4" Big Studio stages. Benefit for the Eastside Boys Home. . .Vernon Avenue Nursery School and the California Welfare Association.

For the benefit of you that are not acquainted with the work of these worthy organizations, here are a few facts.

The Eastside Boy's Home is sponsored by the Independent Church of Christ of which Rev. Clayton Russell is the pastor. The home is located at 1001 E. 49th street and is always open for inspection. This home cares for the destitute boys of Los Angeles. Help these boys by attending the Studio Carnival.

The Vernon Ave. Nursery School takes care of the underprivileged children on the Eastside, from the ages of 2 to 5 years. The school gives the children cod-liver oil and tomato juice on arriving in the morning, at noon a well balanced hot lunch, an afternoon nap of two hours and milk on departing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Each child is given a complete medical examination by the Nursery School doctor. Any child of low income family may attend the Nursery School. The School is under the direction of Dr. Elizabeth Wood, Director of Child Guidance for the Board of Education of Los Angeles. The staff at the Nursery School is one of the best in the city. There are 35 little boys and girls in attendance at the Nursery School.

The California Welfare Association has undertaken the reponsibility of all the colored families in Los Angeles. They have purchased two lots in the Temple district for a playground so that the children of that area may have a supervised play yard. They have helped numbers of families on the East and West side. This worthy organization is headed by some of our most energetic women in Los Angeles. Their theme is to help the needy.

The Studio Carnival is going to help these organizations to keep up their good work. Won't you come and bring your friends to the International Studio at 4376 Sunset Drive, Oct. 26, 1939. There will be entertainment for every member of the family . . . Contests. . .Screen Tests. . .and Dances. Your opportunity to see the inside of a great movie studio.

The poor children and families of Los Angeles are depending on you. Please come. . .Admission 55c.

hattie noels in new fox film

"He Married His Wife," a rollicksome, hilarious comedy, went into production early this week at 20th Century-Fox, with Hattie Noels, buxom sepia actress, in an appreciative role.

The casting of Miss Noels in the production marks the first time this studio has undertaken to cash in on the sepia comedienne's talents since she was introduced by Eddie Cantor while he was under contract to 20th Century-Fox. The actress was brought here two years ago by Cantor as a member of his radio cast.

The buxom actress gained world fame over the ether waves portraying the role of the unlettered Negro laundress who had just won a sweepstakes prize. Recently she completed a role at Universal in the "Little Accident."

Miss Noels was also slated to have gone into the Palomar dine and dance room, Oct. 2-4. Flames gutted the place Sunday night, to cheat the first sepia act to ever appear there.

"PEPSI AND PETE" THE PEPSI-COLA COPS

by j. cullen fentress

A desire to see what "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" might be like on the screen was the motive for an appearance at RKO studios one recent morning.

After a short wait in the publicity department, Lynn Ward, serving as our guide, took us on the busy lot and conducted us to stage 11 and the "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" set.

Following "Young Mr. Lincoln", the powerful 20th Century-Fox production which had Henry Fonda in the title role, by several months, Mr. Ward informed us that the new Lincoln film deals in detail with a 30-year span from the life of the great emancipator.

With the action laid in the towns of New Salem and Springfield, Illinois, it will portray the career of Lincoln thru the Illinois legislature, up to his election as President.

Adapted from the Pulitzer prize play by Robert E. Sherwood, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" brings Raymond Massey to the screen in the role which he played with such great success on the New York stage. Max Gordon and Harry Goetz, producers of the stage hit, interested RKO in filming it with the result that, when completed, it will have meant an outlay of $750,000. The cast has traveled as far as Oregon on location.

The first figure to command our attention as we went on the set was the man who is Lincoln, Mr. Massey, wearing a top hat, long coat and the rest of the garb of that period in this country's crucial history. Massey's resemblance to pictures of Lincoln is astonishing. It is our opinion that he will look more like the great President than did Fonda although the latter's resemblance left nothing to be desired.

It was "quiet, please" shortly after we found a vantage point. An election room scene was being rehearsed. Then, it was "lights, camera, action", with director John Cromwell overseeing every minute detail and a Chinese, James Wong Howe, behind the camera. As the camera recorded the action before it, Harvey Stephens, as "Ninian Edwards", was trying to console Alan Baxter (Billy Herndon), Lincoln's law partner, who was dejected because of the apparent defeat of Lincoln in his race for the presidency.

Suddenly the telegraph operator receives a dispatch and hands it to "Edwards" who reads news of Lincoln's election. Pandemonium breaks loose and election returns, papers, etc., are scattered everywhere as all the others in the room join this twosome in a wild celebration. The assistant director says "all right" several times and the cameraman stops turning.

Also from the stage play and looking on was Ruth Gordon who essays the role of Mary Todd.

The famed Lincoln-Douglas debates will be a highlight of this RKO-Radio picture. In one instance, a Lincoln rebuttal runs nine minutes on the screen. Although history shows that Lincoln lost to Douglas, the fact that the debates revealed the honesty of the man was responsible for his subsequent political strength.

As in most of the Lincoln films, the slave question also gets attention in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois". Prominent in the cast is Napoleon Simpson, Pasadena actor, as a servant. Chains and irons were being made ready for other scenes in which 10 Negroes will play slaves. It is expected that shooting on the complete film will be finished within the next six days.

The State of Illinois may get the first look at "Abe Lincoln in Illinois", with a world premiere in the nation's capital to follow.

What with the war in Europe and the increased attention being paid American audiences by the motion picture industry, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" will undoubtedly find a ready-made reception from movie-goers of this country.

armstrong film almost finished

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Production of a Henry Armstrong starring opus, "Keep Punching," neared completion here this week, with final Armstrong scenes scheduled to be shot this week.

An all-colored picture, the film reportedly has Armstrong as a financial backer. Frances Everette is his leading lady.

kenneth spencer in 'john henry'

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5—Kenneth Spencer, young San Francisco singer, has returned to New York after a short stay here to take a leading role in the Paul Robeson-starred "John Henry," Roard Bradford play to open on Broadway. Spencer has just completed a tour of the Western States and Canada and will appear in many Eastern cities on his way East. His wife, the former Dorothy Fisher, San Francisco social worker, will meet him in New York where she is now vacationing.

'thunder afloat' at united artists' portrays war on sea

Adding another prize portrait to his gallery of memorable characterizations, Wallace Beery climbs still another run in stellar rating as the tugboat captain who joins the Navy and tries to fight the war single-handed in "Thunder Afloat," which is now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 S. Broadway.

Breathtaking as the action thrills of the picture are, Beery still dominates the story in two-fisted fashion, with Chester Morris lending notable support as his tougboat rival and Virginia Grey, as Beery's daughter, the only woman in the cast, holding the romantic interest with refreshing zest and appeal.

The action shots at sea are the most realistic ever brought to the screen as subchasers and U-boats engage in warfare, a lightship is torpedoed, a Gloucester schooner attempts to ram a submarine and is sunk by gunfire, and the undersea boat finally is crippled with depth bombs. Spectacular underwater camera work, a chaser fleet speeding through stormy seas, and scenes within the interior of the submerged U-boat, keep audiences on the edge of their seats throughout.

In the uniformly excellent supporting cast are Douglas Dumbrille as the District Commander; Carl Esmond as the U-boat captain; Clem Bevans, John Qualen, Regis Toomey, Charles Lane, Phillip Terry, Henry Victor, Addison Richards, Hans Joby, Henry Hunter and Jonathan Hale. In conjunction with "Thunder Afloat," the United Artists Theatre, 9th and Broadway, is offering "These Glamour Girls," starring Lana Turner, "the red menace,' Hollywood's latest sensation, and Lew Ayres, supported by Tom Brown, Richard Carlson, Anita Louise, and Jane Bryan.

Flash: What a tough break for the dance lovers of Los Angeles and vicinity was the burning of the Palomar Ballroom this past Sunday night. There the great Count Basie and his famous swing band were scheduled to open a limited engagement last night. Arriving here in Los Angeles Tuesday, the Count and his "halid senders" had swung to a packed ballroom in Oakland Monday. This column expresses its sympathy to Charlie Barnett and his fine group in the loss of their instruments and music in the fire.

Lorenzo (piano) Flennoy and his great little swing band this past Sunday opened a limited engagament at the Club Memo where they will swing every afternoon for the many patrons who frequent this very popular cocktail lounge. Lorenzo and his band are still swinging nightly at the Merry-Go-Round cafe in Hollywood where they have been for the past few months.

Out in Hollywood at the new Onxy club are those two ace producers of national reputation, Joe Stevenson and Lew Crawford. There is no doubt that this spot can boast of having one of the greatest floor shows in Hollywood. Petite Lovey Lane, the little lady who came from New York this past year, and has the reputation of being as fine as they come, is one of the featured stars.

Flash: Sam (sax) Allen, that ace saxophone and clarinet man, is "grooving" these nights with Milton drums) Jackson and his Dreamland Ballroom orchestra uptown. Sam is very well known from coast to coast for his fine saxophone playing and handles the clarinet as well.

Count (piano) Jackson and his swing band is swinging some fine jive these nights down in Long Beach at the George cafe.

acting awards to be announced

Motion picture fans whose interest in colored film stars was whetted during October of last year by the announcement that an organization had been formed for the presentation of an annual acting award, will be pleased to know that the matter has not been dropped. Even judges, appointed in widely scattered parts of the country, have sent in their votes, it was announced today. Winners will be announced shortly.

The Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company has offered the first award, named the Golden State Art Award.

universal may make 'mikado'

University studios reportedly this week took an option on "The Hot Mikado," the Bill Robinson-starred version of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "The Mikado," which might become a movie.

The cast of the "Hot Mikado" begins its tour this month, starting in Boston and working toward the West Coast where the movie would be made.

In taking to the road, the "Mikado" will go back to its original two-hour form. It was reduced to an hour showing for the New York World's Fair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—Bob (Pin) Jenkins has returned to Broadway after a 16-weeks engagement in Hollywood with Charles "Buddy" Rogers, doing light comedy and dancing.

lionel spikes henderson rumors

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—In his weekly column, a theatrical feature of the Baltimore Afro-American, Lionel Hampton, drummer and vibraharpist in Benny Goodman's famed swing band, last week spiked rumors that Fletcher Henderson, ace pianist, is to be let out by Goodman.

"Many fans are under the mistaken impression that Henderson was signed originally as the band pianist," Hampton wrote.

"He was taken on until a pianist could be found, his main job being arranging.

"He'll eventually shift over to scoring, although he's hitting the jackpot as the best pianist Goodman ever had."

Hampton failed to mention the "why" of Teddy Wilson's withdrawal from the Goodman roster. A pianist, Wilson was the first Negro hired by Goodman. He also gave credit for the band's sensational arrangement of Ravel's "Bolero" to Henderson.

Hank Must Meet Lou, Mike Says

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The New York Athletic commission meeting together with Al Weill and Eddie Mead, managers of Lou Ambers and Henry Armstrong respectively, postponed the world's welterweight title bout scheduled for Nobember 1 between champion Armstrong and Ambers until December 1. Ambers, who is to be married today today in Herkimer, N. Y. asked for an indefinite postponement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—If Promoter Mike Jacobs has his way, Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers will meet for Armstrong's welterweight championship in Madison Square Garden November 1.

Questioned by the New York State Athletic commission respecting statements by Ambers that he would ask for a postponement because of his forthcoming marriage, Jacobs said:

"I know nothing about them. I have contracts for the fight signed by both men several weeks ago. At that time nothing was said about a marriage or a possible postponement. I'll insist the fight go on November 1."

Ambers recently regained the lightweight title from Hank.

May Fight in Seattle

SEATTLE, Oct. 5—An announcement to the effect that Henry Armstrong had been signed to defend his welterweight championship in a 15-round bout at the Civic Auditorium here October 20, was made last week by Promoter Nate Druxman.

Druxman said Friday that he had signed Ritchie Fontaine, Missoula, Mont., as Hank's opponent. Fontaine has met Armstrong twice, winning a decision in 1936 in Oakland and losing in a like manner in Los Angeles.

RANCHES ABANDONED

WILLIAM DUNCAN, one of the oldest of old timers in Hollywood, is getting as much kick out of watching pictures being made today as the ordinary tourist does. Duncan, who has a major role in "The Farmer's Daughter" at Paramount, was reminiscing: "Gosh, it doesn't seem possible the business has changed so much. I've been away from it for 14 years and it has taken great strides in that time. Today there are hundreds working on every picture. When I started in 1910 there were six in the company. We built what few sets we had and took turns running the camera. In 1911 I was promoted to the status of star, producer, director, author and toupe manager and sent to Colorado and Arizona with a company to grind out westerns, good old shooting and chasing epics. They sent me $800 every week to take care of all expenses, hire extras, horses and was expected to turn out at least two one reelers every week. When we had real good luck we'd splurge and turn out a super-epic in the form of a two reeler with two chases and two climaxes! Yep", he continued, as he looked around the elaborate set, "times have sure changed!!!" . . . NELSON EDDY and ILLONA MASSEY were doing a waltz scene for "Balalaika". Everything was going wrong. Eddy, used to the American style of waltz, was putting in an extra step which is not a part of the Viennese version. Ilona did her best to correct him because it had to be done a la Viennese to keep in character. FRANK MORGAN and CHARLES RUGGLES also in the cast added their coaching to no avail. Eddy tried again only to step on a piece of gum discarded by an extra. Then the sound went wrong. Just as the tension was about to explode, Eddy stepped to the center of the stage and burst into "O Sole Mio". "Now, what!" director Reinhold Schunzel shouted. "That," grinned the star, " is to show that even if I can't waltz Viennese, I can do something . . . More than $300,000 worth of Elizabethan antiques and valuable art objects is marooned by the war at Warner's 5,000 miles from its London owners. Borrowed from English collectors by the studio's London office for "The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex," the collection is one of the most complete ever assembled in America. Lloyd's who bonded the original shipment, has deemed it unadvisable to return the collection at present. The most expensive item is the suit of silver worn by Errol Flynn as the Earl of Essex. Originally owned by Essex, the armor is valued at more than $40,000. An authentic copy of Queen Elizabeth's costume worn by Bette Davis, is valued at $15,000. Other items include authentic furniture, armorial bearing and weapons of the period. .

. Stepping out of her usual role, Marlene Dietrich steps into the boisterous one of "Frenchy", star entertainer in an 1860 saloon for Universal's "Destry Rides Again". . . George Raft again becomes an ex-convict for "Invisible Stripes", a story about the stigma attached to men after they come out of prison. I sometimes wonder if Raft doesn't get just a little tired of playing criminal roles. . .Wheels at Columbia are turning fast and furiously. Rosalind Russell has been signed for the feminine lead in "His Girl Friday", joining Cary Grant and Ralph Bellamy at the head of an impressive cast. Another musical is coming up with "Passport to Happiness," headlining Tony Martin and Andre Kostelanetz with his orchestra.

Lauretta Butler and her Kopper Kolored Kiddie Revue will said from Los Angeles Harbor today at noon aboard the liner Matsonia for a two months engagement in Honolulu and other islands of Hawaii.

The troupe has been booked for two months and have an option for several weeks more of work. This is the first time that a colored revue, composed of kiddies, has ever been taken to the Islands for a theatrical engagement.

Ages of the young performers range from 9-14 and special permits were given them by the Los Angeles Board of Education in order that they might make the trip. Their show consists of dancing, dramatic skits and singing and is a cross-section of the marvels Mrs. Butler has done in her work with "Kiddies." They are known in Hollywood and Los Angeles for stage, screen and radio work.

BOYS AND GIRLS

There are 8 girls and four boys in the troupe. The girls are: Lois Lyons, Wilria Theophile, Danellen Mabry, Harriett Flowers, Billy Faye Lewis, Beatrice Smith, Sylvia Perry and Loneta Watkins. The boys are: Cullen Morris, Jack Thompson, Walter Smith and Sherrill Luke.

Before the special permit could be obtained from the Board of Education, a teacher had to be engaged that the children might keep up with their school work. Mrs. Anna Mabry, mother of young trouper, Danellen, was chosen. Mrs. Mabry is ceritifed to teach in the Los Angeles school system and at one time was employed by the Board of Education. She has a Bachelor of Science degree from Kansas Teachers College and a Master's Degree from the University of Southern California. At present she is working on her Doctor of Philosophy Degree.

STAR STUDENT

Richard Denning, young Paramount actor playnig the romantic lead opposite Martha Raye in "The Farmer's Daughter" not only was a student body president in his last year in college but he led his class in scholarship, headed the dramatic society, and was awarded the president's prize for being the student in his class "most likely to succeed."

Ann Dvorak makes one of her infrequent appearances in "The Street of Missing Women". Baby Dumplin trudges schoolward in "Blondie Brings Up Baby".

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (CNA)—Undetred by the fact that the Queen Mary, on which he was to have sailed from Southampton last week, is still tied up at her dock in New York, Paul Robeson has cabled his American representative, Robert Rockmore, to assure him that he will arrive in New York in ample time to start rehearsals in the title role of Sam Byrd's production of the play "John Henry" by Roark Bradford and Jacques Wolfe.

Rehearsals for the play are scheduled to begin Oct. 16, with a road tour beginning Nov. 20, and its Broadway premiere on Dec. 27.

new benny-rochester film slated at paramount

Among pictures soon to go into production at Paramount is "Buck Benny Rides Again," with Jack Benny and "Rochester," whose real name is Eddie Anderson, according to a release from Terry DeLapp, studio publicity director. Mark Sandrich will direct.

The last Benny-"Rochester" hit was "Man About Town."

Louise Beavers has the role of "Ivory" in "Women Behind Bars," now in production at Paramount with Ellen Drew and Robert Paige in the starring roles. "Remember the Night," with Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray, has been completed, and will be released about January 26. "Snowflake" plays the role of "Rufus" in this down-to-earth yarn about ordinary people.

dandridge trio, in n. y., tell war story

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—On the President Harding when it docked Tuesday were the Dandridge sisters of Los Angeles, Etta, Vivian and Dorothy. Accompanying the girls, who are entertainers, was Mrs. Geneva Williams, also of Los Angeles.

The girls and their guardian will remain here two weeks before going to the Coast.

Commenting on the European war, the girls said in substance: "Our first scare were the air raid warnings in London, but we got used to going down into raid shelters sometimes for two hours at a time.

"We understand that we passed 2 shbmarines on the way over, but did not see any of them.

"The amusement business in Europe is dead for the time-being."

The girls, singers and dancers, came to New York's Cotton club from success in Hollywood.

myrna loy deserts 'perfect wife' role

It takes a lot of courage for a star to change characterizations at the peak of a successful career—particularly if the change is from "sweet" to worldly roles. But lovely Myrna Loy found the courage to play the amorous Lady Ekseth in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the Louis Bromfield best-seller which co-stars her with Tyrone Power and George Brent, now playing at the United Artists Theatre, Ninth and Broadway.

In conjunction with "The Rains Came," the United Artists Theatre at Ninth and Broadway, is offering Jean Rogers and William Frawley in "Stop, Look and Love," a spicy first-rate comedy. Be sure to see this excellent program at the United Artists Theatre, 9th and Broadway.

No Time For Politics

This week an extraordinary ses- n of congress decides what course e United States will chart in "a orld gone mad". This week con- ess handles the most significant islation since the early days of 17. This week congress must for- t politics and think only of states- nship.

There are two major alternatives. her the present neutrality law y be upheld or the President's pro- sals for letting down embargo re- lations on a cash and carry basis y be favored. One way or the oth- the peace of America is vitally af- ted.

Those who argue against neutra- law revision contend that the ited States must wash its hands all connection with Europe during current great conflagration. ey state that profiteering such as ceded the nation's implication in last conflict must be averted at costs.

Leader of this faction is Califor- 's Senator Hiram Johnson, who, h his comrade, Senator Borah, ve waged a bitter battle against administration's policy of "help- intervention in foreign affairs. h veterans of pre-World War ses- ns, the two Republicans have re- tedly balked the Foreign Rela- ns Committee with their stub- n determination to keep Ameri- economically free of warring opean nations.

t is interesting to note that both se isolationists are members of P. In the minds of most Ameri- ns, the Republican party is the wark of millionaires, the friend ally of profiteering. Yet we find publicans standing almost alone ainst the administration in a de- nd to abolish American war pro- ering.

On the other hand, friends of the sident's policy point out that refusal to trade with belligerents strike most forcibly those pow- with whom American public nion is strongly allied. It is well wn that the neutrality bill as it nds today is Herr Adolph's fav- e U. S. legislation. "Cash and ry" sympathizers further con- d that America will witlessly de- England and France by main- ning a "hypocritical attitude of ationism".

Of course, there is merit in both uments. If profiteering is permit- we may expect the old howls m our major capitalists when the heaviest in debt to them starts ng. There is a strong chance that S. youth may find itself fighting some steel baron's foreign loans her than democracy or liberty or of the things for which our ng men have been told it is prop- o give their lives. Despite cash carry provisions, there will be ng temptations on the part of great financiers to speculate on outcome of European proceed- s. But, then, a flat refusal to de with ANY belligerent may g a Nazi-communist victory, ch, aside from theoretical ob- tions, would seriously threaten very existence of our nation. Re- mber, the Berlin-Moscow alliance tches from the Pacific ocean in a to the Rhine river in Europe. England and France were defeat- this teritory would then reach m Atlantic to Pacific, the most pendous empire in the history of world. Is it very likely that such remendous state, headed by such n as Hitler and Stalin, would re- from attacking America—the richest nation in the world? We would be vulnerable from the Pacific and the Atlantic, victim of the greatest "pincer" movement yet attempted by German militarists.

So these are the alternatives which a United States congress must choose from this week. And in their selection, there must be no hint of partisanship or political opportunism. The stakes are too big and too significant for a poiltical game. We believe that America's legislators are aware of this fact, and are attempting to view the situation with eyes unclouded by the mists of party affiliation. If ever in the history of the nation there were a week when partisanship should be forgotten, this is it. Today there can be no time for politics in Washington. The destiny of our children hangs in the balance.

Churchill Speaks

The barrage of propaganda which America has been expecting from British sources has officially begun with Sunday's speech by Winston Churchill, England's Secretary of the Admiralty, who delivered a pointed broad side at American public opinion.

This marks the first time since the beginning of the War that an English statesman has apple polished America by name. In his address, Churchill stated, " . . . We have the sympathy of the world--PARTICULARLY THE UNITED STATES". Next, the British statesman, author of a long list of novels dealing with U. S. political development, pointed to a similarity between the present German cause and that of the Confederacy during the American Civil War. Adroitly he pointed out that, just as the South was inherently wrong, so are the Nazis.

Churchill is the most astute and well informed member of the British cabinet. For years he warned Chamberlain and his predecessors that the English Foreign policy was a disastrous one. He made specific predictions. They have all come to pass, and Churchill is recognized England's finest statesman. Therefore, friends of American peace have most to fear from him.

Illogical? Perhaps, but bear in mind that Winston Churchill knows more about American history and the American people than most of our own leaders. He knows just the right spot to touch, just where our moral defense is weakest. It is in this brilliant man's power to make America forget that it has no legitimate place in a European War,--a conflict nurtured through a thousand years of injustice and fermented hates and jealousies which were ancient before George Washington was born.

Bad Liquor on the Avenue

It is high time someone spoke out against liquor conditions on Central Avenue. The frequency of saloons in this district is almost incredible — the brand of liquor sold IS incredible.

If a man wishes to drink, that is his business. But it is the responsibility of society to see that he isn't poisoned in the process. The Eagle has been informed through reliable sources that the average brand of liquor sold on Central Avenue and its environs is of poisonous inferiority.

Groups interested in the betterment of community conditions should further investigate this deplorable state of affairs and make proper recommendations to the Board of Equalization. Central Ave. is tired of the glamorized poison sold here in the guise of liquor.

ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

At least Congress has a good excuse for meeting at the present. Senator Borah (R.) Idaho and California's Hram Johnson are the chief gum-beaters in heated arguments as to whether this country should lift its ban upon arms sales to belligerent nations. Borah and Johnson warn that repeal would put the United States into war.

Every American is anxious to stay out of war, but we are pretty well convinced that when the safety of the so-called democracies are sufficiently threatened, the U. S. A. will join in the current slaughter. Wait and see.

Anything can happen in Louisiana. The latest news from Huey Long's state is to the effect that ex-governor Richard W. Leche and four other boys politically minded have done a bad thing, and now they are indicted on a charge of having obtained $27,000 under false pretenses in the signing of a contract for an administration building at the Louisiana Polytechnic institute. The romantic old state of Louisiana probably has produced more assorted political swindlers than all her sister states combined.

Superintendent of Athletics William Lopez of Jefferson High School called a meeting of community leaders Tuesday afternoon in an attempt to improve a condition that has threatened to quarantine the local institution from competition in the current football season. Hoodlums have gathered about Jeff's campus during important football clashes in the past, and the Board of Education has become disturbed. It seems the kibitzers are NOT students, but "wise guys" from nearby Central Avenue. Schools in competition with Jeff have been so intimidated by these throngs, state reports, that they dread tilts with the local boys.

Lopez plans, through an organization of community leaders, to seek great cooperation from the City Council in getting enforcement of Section 647 of the Penal Code of the State of California. Which reads, if you're interested,: "Every person who annoys or molests any school child, or who loiters about any school or public place, at or near which such school children attends is a vagrant and is punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment." That, you will concede, strikes pretty close to home.

A committee has been elected to push the campaign headed by Mrs. C. A. Bass, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke, Mrs. Lyllyan Beavers, Mrs. Nettie B. Reese, and Rev. I. Albert Miller.

Present, at the confab Principals Clerence Dickinson and W. Walker Brown of Jefferson, respectively.

Good luck! (Incidentally, Eagle scribe J. Cullen Fentress has been giving the Jefferson problem a good deal of helpful publicity. Read him!)

Mrs. C. A. Bass, Eagle editor, journeyed to San Bernardino Monday evening to address the Anna B. Garner Republican Study Club, an outstanding unit of the state wide organization headed by Mrs. Betty Hill of Los Angeles. There was a large mixed audience.

"How to Bring Back the G. O. P." was Mrs. Bass' topic. Presiding at the successful meeting was Mrs. Roena Muckleroy.

CLIPPING FROM CLINTON'S JOURNAL:

"A glance at the Supervisors this week show our exclusive release of the tremendous savings possible in the rational disposition of tax deeded land held by the County. Two votes on matters this week were significant to the general community. On motion of Supervisor McDonough concurred in by Jessup, the deductions in salary to certain members of the District Attorney's investigation staff were ordered restored. Ford and Smith voted "no" and a stalemate resulted. On initiative of Supervisor Jessup an effort was made, and McDonough made a motion concurred in by Jessup, lowering the age from 21 to 18 years for attendance of young girls at dances where liquor is consumed. When Ford and Smith violently objected the matter was withdrawn.

At the special November election you will vote "Yes" or "No" on these:

Proposition No. 1.—The $30-Every Thursday pension scheme, heralded by its promoters as the gateway to Heaven on Earth, but denounced by tax experts as "a one-way road to ruin and disillusionment."

Proposition No. 2.—A new Chiropratic initiative act.

Proposition No. 3.—So called "anti-loan-shark" act, limiting interest rates on small loans to 2½ per cent on first $100 borrowed and 2 per cent on the next $200.

Proposition No. 4.—A second act aimed at small loan companies, supplementing Proposition No. 3.

Proposition No. 5. — Atkinson oil conservation act, providing for regulation of oil production.

OTHER PAPERS SAY:

The Negro in Labor Unions

By JOHN H. THOMPSON, condensed from The Chicago Defender, September 30.

At a time when European immigration is cut off by war and still operating quota law and mechanization of industry continues apace, the question naturally arises, How is the Race faring in union organizations which have spread throughout industrial plants?

With the white man cussing, Race men discussing, (John Q. Public) fussing, the future of the Race in unions has never been better despite widespread prejudice, discriminations and barring from lily white unions.

The number of Race People in union organizations is rapidly increasing, according to reports received from the agencies which make a specialty of getting such facts.

It has long been known that the Race is the most exploited worker in America. He has often been and still is used to determine the hard won conditions of organized labor. Used in many cases as a stumbling block in labor's striving for economic security, some white workers, because of this very fact, regard them as competitors and in their shortsightedness refuse to extend them a helping hand.

It is only in recent years that white workers have begun to realize that Race workers are increasingly becoming a large factor in every industry and therefore the doors of every union should be swung open to admit them if labor itself is to survive. And every union to which the Race is admitted must be entirely free from prejudices and discrimination. Unless this is done it is conceded by all thinking persons in the labor movement that the gains made by labor in the past will be nullified.

Already there is talk of dictator powers being used if America goes to war. If this be true, there is apt to a cessation of the NLRB, collective bargaining will be done away with, and short hours with high pay will be a thing of the past. Witness the WPA strike in which government officials emphatically stated that a group of workers could not strike against the government.

STRIKEBREAKING FORCED

Often referred to as the 'Scabs of America", the Race does not justify this appellation. If he is scabbing, it is merely because in most instances where he is so used he was not permitted to join the union which is on strike. It is quite true that the Race in the past two decades has played an important part in every major industrial struggle in the States. In these struggles they have enacted a vital if not complimentary role. Usually they have been used by the employer to reduce wages, lower working conditions.

By their own signs of omission and commission, organized labor in the past has driven the Race worker into the open and welcome arms of employers. As a result the Race has developed an unfriendly and suspicious attitude toward unions and labor movements. At the same time they have developed a corresponding affection for the employer who at least gives them a chance to earn a somewhat precarious living though at the cost of his brother white worker.

Lately white members of unions who have been compelled to admit Race workers into their ranks, have adopted a form of admitting the black brother, taking his initiation fees and dues and then refusing to give him work. They admit them in order to openly live up to their constitutions and then given behind the scene orders to business agents to certify only white workers to specified jobs. Fortunately this has not operated to a great extent in New York and where it has been encountered has been effectively and quickly stopped by labor leaders in the organization described below.

Such tactis as the above have driven the Race worker more and more into seeking aid from social agencies who have testified that it is these practices which make the colored workers seek aid merely to gain a chance for a job or subsistence.

INCREASE IN RACE MEMBERS

Thus if the Race can be accused of being a bit anti-union in some instances, they can justly lay the basic foundation for it at the doors of prejudiced white unions.

During the years of labor spread in New York, it has made tremendous strides most of it accompanied by bloody wars and strikes, costly to both sides. Gains secured by the Race in Harlem and New York have been secured with a minimum of strife and no bloodshed.

From an insignificant number in the early part of the century they now number close to 75,000 union members, according to an estimate of an A. F. of L. official.

Long considered a liberal city, New York for a while was rabid in its refusal to admit Race workers to some unions as the Deep South. Today, with 202 occupational groups listed by the census, there are only three which absolutely refuse to admit Race workers. Most important of all, in unions, where there are Race workers, colored members have no difficulty in being certified to jobs by business agents. In the rare cases where the agent does make discriminations, when attention is called to his derelictions, it is immediately remedied.

IN VANGUARD OF FIGHTS

In 1930 it was reliably reported by social agencies that the Race constituted more than five per cent of the total population of the city. At that time there were no more than 12,000 Race workers embraced in the labor movement. They then represented about 19 per cent of the unemployed.

New York becoming the Mecca for thousands of migrants and due to rapid and continous unionization of the Race there are now 75,000 members of unions; they constitute more than eight per cent of the population and 30 per cent of the unemployed.

Despite propaganda to the contrary the colored people are organizable. History of labor is replete with evidence to prove this point. We have but to point with pride to the fight the Pullman Porters waged, as far back as 1925, to organize their own union and have the company union discontinued.

In unions where the colored man has been admitted to full equality with his fellow worker he has acquitted himself admirably and in turn the unions have thereby benefited. It is no accident that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, the International Ladies Garment Workers union and other progreasive unions in which the color line has been broken down, enjoy higher wages and better working conditions than in unions where there is discrimination.

President David Dubinsky of the ILGWU paid a glowing tribute to the Race workers when he said in the course of an interview: "They are among the most intelligent, loyal and devoted members of the union. To me there is something satisfying in the conduct of the colored workers when once they are convinced of the utter absense of color prejudice on the part of fellow officers and members of unions. They seem to easily grasp the meaning of solidarity."

The white unionist is gradually seeing the light in the truism that labor in a white skin cannot be free unless labor in a black skin is free.

Ever year of my life I grow more convinced that it is wisest and best to fix our attention on the beautiful and good, and all in life as possible — the evil and the false.—Cecil.

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

AMERICA CHARTS HER COURSE

The Congress of the United States, meeting in special session to consider repeal of the arms embargo, has, in fact, but one issue before it—the peace and security of this nation. On such a question of fateful concern to all Americans politics has small place, for it is a question of national, not political, policy that is at issue. The sentiment of the American people, as attested by the most recent polls of the Institute of Public Opinion and Fortune Magazine, views the arms embargo question as a strictly non-partisan problem. If discussion in Congress treats it in that light, if all representatives bendtheir refforts to a cool and considered appraisal of the course which best assures the peace and security of the nation, the decision arrived at will be sound and sane. And soundness and sanity, clear eyes and clear heads, are imperative in times such as these, if America is to chart herself a safe course under skies that are dark and seas that are troubled and perilous.

WE'RE STILL GROWING

In more respects than one America keeps on growing, come depressions or threats of war. Fifteen years ago it was government's proud boast that all of $200 million had been spent on the nations's public roads in 1932. Viewing the paltry $79 million spent for that purpose in 1904, it looked like progress indeed. But from the vantage point of 1939, that investment was very small turnips. According to information made available just the other day, $918,786,000 went into the upkeep and maintenance of state administered highways alone in 1937. That, of course was not due to the generosity of legislatures, but to the willingness of highway users to dig deeper and deeper into their pockets. The number of users hasn't by any means kept pace with the rising state tax tides. These have increased in size, for the average commercial carrier, by 77 per cent within the last decade. Without its huge contribution, running close to half a billion yearly, it is certain America would not possess such a wealth of fine highways, unless John Motorist were prepared to hike his own taxes by half a billion!

THE FIRE DEMON

The blistering heat wave which scorched California two weeks ago, taking its toll of lives and crops, has lengthened by several weeks the normal season forest fire hazard. That demands increased watchfulness and care for the Red Demon's sinister sprees in California, to date, have consumed $1,000,000 worth of recreation timber and grazing lands this year, leaving behind the scorched earth—an invitation to floodwaters which will cause more damage. Of the 4730 fires which have thus far occurred, 4219, it must be regretfully stated, were caused by man. With the fire hazard season continuing for several more weeks, can that already high toll be kept down? Reply the state foresters, "It's up to you—visitors, vacationists, hunters and fishermen!"

THE MISSING MILLION

Among the flurry of facts, figures, and rumors, concerning the special election on November emerges the forecast that 2,625,000 persons, out of a possible registration of 3,750,000 voters, will go to the polls to cast their ballots. What of the missing million A 70 per cent vote is not enough when a 100 percent one is imperative! No citizen can afford not to vote when his pocketbook tells him he can not afford $625 a year to support a fantastic pension scheme. Don't be among the missing million!

ALLY OF DESTRUCTION

If, as is sometimes claimed, war is "natural," Mother Nature herself proves to be a shockingly treacherous ally of man when he pursues that violent course. War's boon companion is disease proving that when man launches the forces of destruction against himself, Nature, far from giving him strength and immunity against sickness, all too gladly aids his work of destruction. As the American Medical Association stated in its official journal last week, "Man is but a morsel in the great cosmic scheme, and when he seeks to destroy himself, nature stands cynically ready to assist him Typhus, plague, cholera, typhoid, dysentery, pneumonia and influenze do more damage under military conditions than can be brought about by dynamite, torpedoes, gunpowder and poison gas." Nature, like man, can be a destroyer well as a creator, but the decision on which role she is to play rests entirely with man.

"NEUTRALITY" AND THE NEGRO

The battle now raging in Congress over the question of whether or no to repeal the Embargo Act, should be of keen interest to all Negroes, for upon its outcome the future economic status of our group in this country may largely depend.

Of all the various races that make up the personnel of this American Commonwealth, we were hit hardest by the Depression. Always upon the lowest rung of the economic ladder, the debacle of 1929 reduced our at best meagre holdings to zero almost. At the present time the great masses of our race are scarcely making enough in wages to subsist upon, much less to amass any savings. A miracle in the form of some sort of prosperity boom would certainly be a welcome boon to our struggling masses. The right decision upon the Embargo Act may usher in such a boom.

Boiled down, the all absorbing question before Congress seems to be, whether or no repeal of the Embargo Act will prevent, or aggravate the possibilities of war. The pros argue that the war will be prolonged if the Allies cannot get arms from the USA, because in that case they will have to wage defensive war until such time as they are able to set up sufficient factories and get them to producing on a war-time basis. The shorter the war—they argue—the less likelihood of the USA being drawn into the conflict. The repeal of the Embargo Act will permit any nation who has the ships, to shop in the USA, pay cash for what he wants, and haul it away. Since Great Britain and France rule the seas, repeal will undoubtedly favor them.

The anti-repealers however hold that if the USA sells arms to the Allies, our entire economy will soon become dependent upon war-trade. According to Time magazine: "Business will depend upon it for profits, labor for jobs, possibly even money lenders for the security of their loans; and eventually the USA will have to go to war to save its customers." Both sides of the question undoubtedly present fine points for argument.

However there is hardly any question but that repeal will start the wheels of industry to humming in all parts of the country, and put thousands of idle men to work at living wages. Among them a certain percentage of our group are bound to be numbered.

Although the greater profits of those who will benefit directly will undoubtedly be whites, it is a proven fact that whenever prosperity flourishes, we always manage somehow to "Get Ours." Let us hope that if and when this boom comes we will use its rewards to greater advantage than we did the swollen wages received during the last World War.

DISMEMBERED POLAND

The most lamentable thing about this latest dismemberment of Poland, is NOT that it ceases its existence as an independent state, although that fact is admittedly a calamity—for peoples always suffer hardships under alien rule. Nor is it the widespread destruction of material wealth, devastated cities, ravaged countrysides, murdered civilians, weeping mothers, homeless children, although such scenes plumb our emotions to their fartherest depths. In my humble opinion the most lamentable thing about this Polish affair was the betrayal of the confidence of the Polish people by their elected rulers Josef Beck, foreign minister, and Marshal Smigly-Rydz, commander-in-chief of the Polish armies. These two men sold out when the going got tough and made their escape into Rumania, leaving the ill-fated Polish masses whom they had plunged into the maws of war, to make a futile but heroic stand against the invading Germans at the gates of Warsaw.

The Poles can and will eventually restore their cities, the homeless will find new homes. Time will ultimately heal the sorrows of bereaved wives and mothers. But it will be a long, long time before the Polish people will be able to forget that the two men who plunged them into this war, ran off and left them in the lurch after scarcely two weeks of warfare. It has been well said, "Put not your trust in Princes."

CONVICTION FACES J. M. ERWIN

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 60 — NO. 27 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1939 PRICE 5 CENTS

by c. a. b.

WITHIN THE past several months here in Los Angeles, there has sprung up a peculiar sentiment among black people of the community.

The feeling is a resentment against our Jewish neighbors. What I have to say is not in defense of Jews or against Negroes. The history of these two minority groups is so closely woven together that an attempt at separating them historically would be futile. Both have suffered in the debasing school of slavery. The Jews were bound longer than colored peoples. However, because of this experience, both are scorned and often mistreated. With so much in common, in the past, present and future, I cannot understand a fight between Jewish and black people in any community.

While attending an Elks' convention this summer, I heard Samuel Leibowitz, the great Jewish criminal lawyer, for the first time. In his address to more than a thousand members of the Elks' order, the tall white-haired American Jew said that he went to Alabama to defend the nine Negro youths, first, because he believed them innocent of the charges placed against them by the State of Alabama, and also because the legal rights of an American minority group would be tested in this Scottsboro case. Leibowitz said, "I knew when I went to the southern city to defend these Negro youths my own life was in jeopardy, but that did not deter me in a determined effort to bring freedom to the persecuted black boys".

"I think," continued the famous New York lawyer, "there should be a closer bond of fellowship between reputable Jewish and Negro organizations."

And this statement by Mr. Leibowitz brings me closer to the point of discussion. The chief complaint black people make is that all, good, bad and indifferent, are placed in one and the same category. In matters of discrimination in public places, accommodation in hotels, street cars and trains, a colored Harvard or Yale honor man is accorded the same treatment as a bootblack or even an escaped criminal. For 75 years we have been fighting in defense of American democracy, realizing that such flagrant abuses heaped upon some Americans represent a weak spot in the super-structure of democracy and must be replaced by stronger and better material before the Ship of State will be seaworthy in a world gone mad.

L. Waseman, prominent Hebrew of this city, recently published a statement in the L. A. Eastside Journal which amply illustrates the occasionally tremendous weakness and hypocrisy of what we call "American Democracy":

"They sing of the land of liberty and freedom. 'All men are created equal' says the Constitution. But I guess the singer never took a train thru Texas and Oklahoma.

"Last night all the Negroes on the train were herded into a section of our car and a partition was installed to separate them from the rest of the passengers. I inquired, and was informed that 'it is the law'.

"I was furious.

"A printed copy of the laws of the States of Texas and Oklahoma was posted and a sign 'Whites' was posted in our section. I don't mind saying that I was ashamed to be classed 'White' under the circumstances.

"The railroad company violated, in my opinion, all laws of ethics and society by taking off the sign 'Men' from the rest-room in the portion sectioned off for the Negroes and declared that room open to male and female.

"Striking is the fact that one of the Negro passengers is an officer in the U. S. Navy. In time of war there will be no discrimination. He will be expected to fight for HIS country alongside 'Whites'. How unjust the whole thing is!

"It seems to me, and I shall so report when I arrive in Washington, that this is an 'un-American activity' that should be investigated and challenged by the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities."

Don't the statements of Mr. Waseman, a Jew, render arbitrary opposition to his race by Negroes somewhat ridiculous? Can Negroes logically support anti-semitism when Leibowitz, Rosenwald and many others of our great benefactors were and are Jewish? The whole idea is fantastic, and it is best that Afro-Americans ruthlessly eliminate such proposed policies from their docket of racial attitudes. Anti-semitism among Negroes is not widespread, but there is an active, misinformed minority which might make itself

Bakersfield Police Rapped

Cops Pursue, Fire Upon Citizen

Claim Minnesota Man was 'Causing a Disturbance'

BAKERSFIELD— Violent irregularity was charged here this week as officers pursued and fired upon a Negro citizen, Leo Renfro, St. Paul, Minn., because he was "causing a disturbance."

According to reports, Renfro's capture was climax of a wild thru traffic chase with flying bullets and shrieking sirens. Sole explanation police gave was that Renfro had 'caused a disturbance of the peace" on Baker Street and had refused to get out of his car to be questioned.

In Sunday's edition of the Kern County Herald, an article appeared by an eye witness of the dramatic capture, a white woman, who reported that after wounding the colored man, police handled him roughly, even though he put up no fight.

Statements claim that Bakersfield Negro residents have not yet filed an official protest against the police action.

The white woman's account of the fracas in the K. C. Herald has been called a "sensational expose" of police brutality that assertedly has existed in Bakersfield over a long period of time. She said in part:

"Three men piled out of the car on our left and ran across in front of our headlights. One of the men fired point blank into the window of the car on our right. I saw the flash of the gun. I think there were two bullets.

"Then I saw that the men in the group doing the shooting wer epolicemen. They opened the door of the other car and dragged a man out. Two of the policemen began beating him over the head with their guns. I heard bones crack and I saw blood spurt, and then I threw my arm over my eyes, because I had never seen anything like that and couldn't stand it.

VICTIM IS NEGRO—

"When I looked again I saw the man the policemen had dragged from the car was a big Negro. He was standing there with blood running down his face, looking wild. Ross was out of the car in the group of men close to the Negro. He said the man barely flinched.

"The policemen handled the man pretty roughly while putting handcuffs on him. I was watching, and it didn't seem to me that he was struggling or putting up much of a fight. They put him into the police car and one of the policemen began writing down the names of "witness-

Reginald Arnaud Files Answer to Wife's Charges

In an answer and cross-complaint prepared by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, a spirited contest to his wife's charges of cruelty was filed this week by Reginald Arnaud, young postal letter carrier, and husband of Mary Arnaud, daughter of retired police captain Homer Garrott, who had previously filed for divorce against her young husband charging extreme cruelty thru Attorney Thomas L. Griffith, Jr.

Young Arnaud not only denies his comely young wife's allegations of cruelty categorically, but makes counter charges, alleging cruelty and stating that she is unduly influenced by outside parties.

The couple are the parents of a 17-months old baby girl and have been married since January 27, 1937. Prior to the institution of the divorce proceedings between them, however, they had separated, the young bride returning to her parents and Arnaud residing temporarily at the YMCA. Both are socially prominent in the younger set of Los Angeles.

Jersey Mob Victims Get Passage to Homes in South

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Arrangements were completed today for providing passage home for five of the seven migratory farm workers who were brutally assaulted last August near Cranbury, New Jersey, officials of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People said today.

The workers who left New Jersey last week for their homes in the South include: James Jordan, 22, of Quincy, Florida; William Moten, 41, of Greensboro, Alabama; Louis Streeter, 18, and Ode Street, 24, both of Augusta, Georgia. Monroe Holmes, 24, will go to his home in Philadelphia, Pa.

FILL ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Preston, of Coleman, Georgia, both of whom were stripped and painted with white paint when the attack took place, will remain in New Jersey until the end of the week, it was said, in order to fill speaking engagements. The association's action followed the freeing of eight white persons in New Brunswick, in connection with the attack. State Prosecutor Charles Morris, who took charge of the state's action against the eight white defendants charged with attacking the workers, told the NAACP that he would continue his investigation.

The eight white mobbists were given suspended sentences of from two to three years each and placed on parole for three years, last week, by Judge Adrian Lyon in Middlesex County Courthouse.

Student Sues Missouri University for Damages

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have been instructed to file a writ of mandamus against the University of Missouri to compel the university to admit Miss Lucille Bluford to classes in the graduate school of journalism.

A suit in the federal court of Missouri has also been undertaken in an action to obtain damages from the university's registrar, S. W. Canada, and all other officials who took part in refusing Miss Bluford admission. The damage suit was filed in an effort to gain compensation for loss of half a year's training and the probable loss of the balance of the year's work, suffered by Miss Bluford in establishing her right to attend the school thru legal action.

FIGHT ON EVERY FRONT

The registrar of the university refused the young woman admission September 14, when she visited the university office to register. The registrar refused to heed her statement that Lincoln university, a Negro school at Jefferson City, did not offer journalism, in answer to his assertion that she should have applied there for entrance. Miss Bluford is a graduate in journalism from the University of Kansas.

With these actions taken against the university, together with the move for a rehearing of the Gaines case, the association has served notice on the Missouri officials that the fight will be pushed vigorously on every front. Quick action on the part of NAACP attorneys in every case where Negro students are refused admission to any type of graduate school, was set forth in the announcement.

Ga. Peonage Exposed in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—Facing extradition to Georgia on charges of W. T. Cunningham, Jr., white Georgia plantation owner, that they burglarized his barn Dec. 23, 1935, three men last week heard Attorney William H. Huff expose conditions there which constitute virtual peonage.

The trio, Otis Woods, 46; his son, Dock, 23, and Solomon McCannon, 39, were present at a hearing for denial of extradition at Springfield. Attorney Huff denounced Cunningham as brutal and charged that he has perpetuated a system of peonage over a period of 15 years. He charged that the plantation owner used the Oglethorpe county chain gang to keep farmers on his land in slavery.

If the governor refuses to deny extradition, the case will come up in local courts Oct. 20, Huff said.

See Little Hope for Negro in Mo. Guard

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 12—Although Brigadier General Lewis M. Means has expressed the hope that "some day additional allotment will be made to Missouri and among them may be authority for units of the colored race," officials of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People see little hope for Negroes of Missouri becoming members of the Missouri National Guard.

An investigation by the NAACP, of which S. E. Redmond is president, reveals that not once in the past 17 years has a Negro been permitted to enlist in the regular United States Army from St. Louis.

A letter was addressed to Adjutant General Means by the NAACP to determine if applications of Negroes would receive favorable attention.

Gordon Is Bar Ass'n Director

Succeeds to Post Held By Griffith jr.

Young Attorney Seeks to Organize Lawyers in Area

Attorney Walter Lear Gordon jr., prominent local attorney with offices at 4071 S. Central avenue, began taking up duties as regional director of the National Bar Association this week when he received notice of confirmation of his appointment, approved at the annual convention of the association last August. The appointment to the office was made by the association's president, Atty. Sidney R. Redmond of St. Louis, Mo.

The new direction of Region No. 18 has jurisdiction in California, Nevada, Washington and Oregon. Atty. Gordon succeeds Atty. Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., head of the local NAACP, as director of the vast territory. The first task announced by the newly appointed director of this Negro wing of the legal fraternity, would be to organize every Negro lawyer under his jurisdiction under the banner of the National Bar association.

LONG RANGE PROGRAM

George W. Evans, secretary of the association at Baltimore, Md., in his letter of commendation, pointed out many of the important planks in the long range program, as was outlined by President Redmond during his tenure. Among them was the publication of a Law Journal, with former president Charles H. Houston of Washington, D. C., as editor-in-chief; to increase race representation on all juries; the abolishment of race discrimination in public places, with public funds; the passage of a suitable anti-lynch bill; the abolishment of race discrimination in all Federal agencies, and the establishment of local free legal aid bureaus for indigents.

Attorney Gordon expressed himself "in accord" with all provisions of president Redmond's platform. No date was set by the new regional director calling for an immediate meeting of local lawyers. The National Bar Association, although operating as a separate group for obvious reasons, is not in any sense a Jim-Crow organization.

Material for Grist Mill of NAACP

In the issue of August 24, the EAGLE carried an account of the exoneration of Mrs. Geraldine McCoy in Judge Galbreth's court, where she was tried on charges of disturbing the peace while engaged in her duties as washroom attendant at Griffith Park.

The trial grew out of an altercation started by a group of "Tobacco Road" whites who ordered Mrs. McCoy to move her car in which she was eating her lunch, so they could park in that particular space.

Upon her refusal they set about to taunt her about her racial connections and generally conducted themselves in such a way as to intimidate her. When that failed to bring results, some of the women flagrantly disobeyed the ordinances which govern conduct in rest rooms maintained by the city, and set upon Mrs. McCoy and beat her brutally. A large crowd witnessed the attack, and some gallant police officers appeared . . . arrested the victim, freed the attackers and lied monstrously at the trial. However, Judge R. Morgan Galbreth freed the defendant after a three-day trial.

Mrs. McCoy was denied compensation by the Park Dept. of the city, and only after strong insistence on her part was her case considered. Realizing the effect the attack, she

TRUANT OFFICER TRIED ON STATUTORY CHARGE IN COURT AT COMPTON

Prominent Civic Leaders Appear As Character Witnesses for Accused Man

Conviction of a serious statutory offense faced J. McFarland Erwin, social worker and truant officer of the board of education, as his dramatic trial in Judge Kaufman's justice court at Compton careened to a climax Tuesday before an all-white jury.

The trial grew out of charges by E. Roman, manager of the Fox-Florence theater, who testified that he had caught Erwin indecently exposed at an evening performance June 26 in the movie palace. Erwin has been previously convicted in Huntington Park through accusations by Mrs. Erma M. Felker, 422 E. 59th place, and Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, 221 E. 65th street, brought to trial before Judge Frank Moffit July 13.

Occupying seats adjacent to Erwin's, the two women originally protested his conduct to Fox-Florence manager Roman on the night of June 26. According to testimony, Roman asked the colored man to leave the theater. Erwin refused, denying charges, and demanded that police be sent for. Officers at this time instructed him to "go home and forget the whole thing."

On the following day, however, Erwin stated that he was informed the women had sworn out complaints against him in Huntington Park.

Manager Roman did not file his complaint until recently.

With outstanding civic, religious and business leaders testifying in Erwin's behalf, the trial developed into a bitter and intense verbal battle between attorney Toney Entenza, representing the truant officer, and Prosecutor McNary.

LIKENED TO DARROW

Entenza's impassioned pleas for the defendant were likened to similar orations by the great NAACP lawyer, Clarence Darrow. The attorney, who claims he is a product of five generations of southern forbears, stated in his address to the jury, "You may be offended because a white man entered this case to defend a Negro. You think a big purse caused me to enter the case. I am here without fee, so please disillusion your minds.

"I believe it is my duty to bring about a better understanding between races . . ."

Entenza ridiculed the testimony of Mrs. Felker and Mrs. Russell in which they stated Erwin was violently offensive for a period of twenty minutes. He declared that "they could not have stood such a situation for twenty minutes!"

DISTINGUISHED WITNESSES

Character witnesses called to the stand by the defense included Rev. Clayton Russell, Rev. Mitchell, American Legion Commander Enoch Tate, [illegible] Street "Y" secretary Baxter Scruggs, Mrs. Mabel Grey, Urban League Secretary Floyd Covington, EAGLE editor Charlotta Bass, Mrs. Eva Nicholas (white) of Hollywood; Clarence Muse, who caused a minor sensation on the stand; and W. Brown, veteran Los Angeles undertaker. All testified that Erwin was of high moral character. Mrs. Dye, wife of a medical missionary to Africa, stated that she had known Erwin and members of his family over a period of years and that his conduct has always been exemplary."

TONY ENTENZA
"Talks Like Darrow"

It was revealed in addition that the defendant has an A. in journalism and has studied at Jarvis college, Texas, Columbia university and USC. Erwin's father was president of Christian college at Jarvis, for 25 years.

Many Negroes in the Central Avenue Gardens and greater Los Angeles feel that the case is a step in the direction of authorized discrimination at the Fox-Florence which illegally has never encouraged colored patronage.

SENNETT PUPILS IN RECITAL TONIGHT

The Sennett pupils are scheduled to appear in their second annual piano recital tonight at Avalon Christian Church, 43[illegible] street and Avalon Blvd., at 8 o'clock. Assisting the talented performers are: Mrs. Helen Smith, lyric soprano, Mrs. Katherine Lindsey, accompanist, and Mr. Thaddeus Jones, dramatic.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

2 Young Housewives Try Suicide Over Weekend

Two young housewives attempted to cut short their lives on the same day—Saturday—and in the same way.

Mrs. Myrtle Hines, 33, of 1530 E. 53rd street, apparently worrying over the death of a neighbor which left her in a nervous condition, drank poison late last Saturday morning.

Questioned by Newton Street police, Joe Hines, husband of the woman, told of Mrs. Hines' condition. She was taken to Georgia Street hospital, where she was given medical attention.

Removed to Georgia Street Receiving hospital by the Newton ambulance, Mrs. Ila Mouton, 28, of 2114 Long Beach, will recover from the effects of drinking iodine early Saturday morning.

Ernest White, a witness, living at 829½ E. 27th street, told police that Mrs. Mouton had been drinking for several days and while under the influence of liquor Saturday morning, she went into the bathroom and drank the contents of a bottle of iodine.

CLARENCE MUSE

A-TALKIN' TO YOU . . .

CLARENCE MUSE

WE STILL HAVE TOMORROW before us; this is one dream that is still the property of the oppressed. I think that we still live in an era that education, culture and accomplishment is strong enough to rub out race prejudice should be discouraging but the fact I have "Tomorrow Before Us" seems to a little help. I have just returned from four days of racial persecution, performed in a court room in COMPTON the second field of battle after the first assault which began in HUNTINGTON PARK. A Jew, not the kind of Jew that I know and love, not the kind of Jew that has the respect and love of tolerant people, but one that enjoys persecuting a Negro who dared to receive a degree from U. S. C. or Stanford. A Negro who dared to resent an insult in a FOX WEST COAST THEATRE. And I might add that I know many of the executives at the Fox West Coast, and they do not have the same feeling. But under the guise of being a private citizen, not as manager of the theatre, he takes the role of public, bloodless execution of a highly respected Negro school teacher. The facts of this case will be found in this paper, I am only trying to analize this desire on the part of a man that belongs to a minority group, that is persecuted as much as our race and the fact that a Jewish gentleman is sitting on the bench giving the fairest decisions I have ever heard in court of law, I am inclined to think that this manager is not to be classified in any group. But those are the cold facts. A Jew, a great honor in the tradition of the Jewish faith sits on the bench, a group of white citizens of Compton are in the jury box, a white lawyer, who is not receiving any pay discovers the malice in the heart of this Jewish manager, and many of the outstanding Negroes of Los Angeles walk out of the court hoping the jury is fair and will save this man of dignity and respect. All of this comedy of situation because a new manager comes to the theatre and plays as said in the court "I DON'T WANT YOU or YOUR KIND in THIS THEATRE. GET OUT". Pray tell me how does this differ from this war among races. Good Jews, please help [illegible] part. And let's send villians like this manager, [illegible] TO HADES. I'm sorry this mess had to happen.

Law School At Lincoln Approved

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Oct. 12—An announcement from President Scruggs' office this week stated that Will Shafroth, chairman of the Section of Legal Education of the American Bar Association, examined the Lincoln University School of Law at St. Louis last September, and reported that the school "was now worthy of admission to probationary status among the approved schools of the 890$H approved school of the Association."

His appraisal was made "after a very critical survey and evaluation of the physical plant, the faculty, the students enrolled, the curriculum, the library, the whole of the University, the records, and the like."

According to the announcement, "Admission to probation is a definite policy in the accrediting of law schools by the Association. All schools of law are admitted only on a probationary basis for a period of two to three years and examined periodically before being fully approved."

The School of Law is to undergo another appraisal soon by the Examiner from the Association of American Law Schools, the highest rating body for law schools in America.

Now in its third week, the Lincoln University School of Law, recently set up by the State of Missouri for the legal education of Negro youth, is headed by Dean W. E. Taylor, formerly acting dean of the Howard University School of Law, assisted by Professors Scobil Richardson, Virgil Lucas, and James Bush, all former students of Dean Taylor at Howard and until recently practicising attorneys in Chicago, St. Louis, and Cleveland, respectively. 30 students are enrolled in the first year class.

St. Louis Pickets Adopt New Measure

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 12—Saying that picketting of the home of Frank L. Williams, principal of Vashon High school, and the "Poro" law college, will continue "as long as necessary to arouse the consciousness of St. Louisans to the great wrong being done to them in Missouri in the effort to evade the real dictum of the United States Supreme Court in the Gaines case," pickets of the St. Louis Colored Clerks Circle have adopted what is termed a matinee schedule.

The picketing of the "Poro" school is designed to call attention of the public to "racial traitorism displayed by those registered in the sham Lincoln University Law school." The home of principal Williams is being picketed on the matinee schedule in protest against his participation in the setting up of the law school as a member of the Lincoln university board of curators.

A civic leader and educator, Principal Williams has long been active in the work of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Work on Ida Wells Home Halted

Federal Probe of Labor Unions and Bldg. Set-up Looms

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—With labor difficulties causing a stoppage of work on the site of the $1,000,000 Ida B Wells housing project, civic leaders here last week were girding themselves for a relentless fight to force construction of the project.

Federal investigation of labor unions in Chicago and the city's whole building trades set-up threatens as officials of the union and contractors sought to settle labor difficulties which have resulted in stoppage of work.

Alderman Earl B. Dickerson, late last week, was expected to bring the matter before the city council in a resolution asking that body to intervene.

STOPPAGE "CRIMINAL"

Besides Dickerson, other civic leaders, including Robert R. Taylor, member of the Chicago Housing authority, and Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, are lending support to force continuance of work on the project.

Stating that stoppage of work on the project by labor unions was criminal, Congressman Mitchell said he intended to bring the matter before the House of Representatives in a resolution asking for an investigation of the whole building system in Chicago, and Taylor stated he would present a resolution before the Chicago Housing authority requesting the Thompson Starrett company, contractors, to complete work on the Ida B. Wells Homes in the scheduled 15 months despite strikes which have held up construction work.

Designed to accomodate 1,662 Negro families, the final building is to be completed by October, 1940, according to contract, Taylor said.

Solution Near in Problems of All-Negro Community

CAMDEN (N. J.) Oct. 12—Trials and tribulations of Lawnside Borough, only Negro township in the North, appeared closer to solution this week as the Camden County Board of Freeholders moved to end discrimination against the black district.

WPA layoffs and general economic discrimination have brought sad days to the colored town, ano it is reported that a state of near-emergency exists there.

The board appointed a committee to confer with Mayor Ephraim J. Still and the Lawnside Borough on the possibility of county-sponsored Federal projects to solve the borough's unemployment problem.

Lawnside is the only incorporated community in the East with a black mayor and council.

Mayor Still, heading a delegation of 25 Lawnside townspeople, told the Freeholders his borough is subjected to 'a vicious cycle of permanent economic insecurity by decrease in revenue, increase of tax rates decreed by the State Tax Board, inability of citizens to pay taxes, loss of homes and cessation of relief at a time when it is most needed."

"This general unemployment problem," the Mayor said, "has been aggravated by the recent WPA layoffs, but it has always been sharp in the case of the citizens of our borough, because of the employment discrimination against black people practised by some large corporations operating in Camden county.

Attempts of reactionary Republican Board members to sidetrack solution of Lawnside's special problems through a "general investigation of the employment needs of all borough in the county" were blocked when Democratic majority leader Maurice Bat reminded the board that no other town in Camden County is systematically discriminated against because of the racial composition of its citizens.

Lewis Writes Article on South

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Surprising observers throughout the nation, CIO leader John L. Lewis published an article in the September edition of the Virginia Quarterly Review, printed by the University of Virginia. Surprise was expressed in informed circles that the conservative institution would handle such "radical" material.

Lewis' article, after stating the fundamental aims of organized labor is for the South as for the rest of the United States—"a land of happy, secure people endowed with the right to work, to live, to be healthy, to educate their children"—discusses the main economic problems under three heads:

1. Exploitation of the South, predominantly an agricultural section, by Northern capitalists;

2. Sub-standard wages, with Northern capital exploiting the poverty of the South by paying sweat shop wages;

3. Competition of underpaid Southern workers with better organized and better paid Northern workers, to the detriment of the entire country.

Solution of these basic problems, Lewis writes, lies in the development of Southern resources "under such conditions that the resultant riches will mean food and clothes and houses and schools for the common people of the South."

"Labor believes," he adds, "that such conditions can only be guaranteed by the organization of labor and by the cooperation of all progressive forces in the South with labor in a common program dedicated to the welfare of the people."

CENTRAL GARDENS CITIZENS' BODY HOLDS MEET

BY J. CUTTREAR

The Central Garden Citizens committee met October 2nd at the home of Mrs. Howard, 9313 Zamora avenue. Those present were Mrs. C. Metichem, chairman; Attorney M. Denton and his charming wife; Mrs. A. Riley, Mrs. Linsey, Mrs. Geo. Thompson, Mrs. E. Pain, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Rogers and Mr. J. Cuttrear.

Since the zoning of the Central Garden district has been completed, the committee has turned its attention to other business. The "Gardens" have a beautiful tract, well lighted, a colored grocery store, churches, good schools and many beautiful homes. It is an ideal place to live.

Sir Stork visited Mr. and Mrs. Freeman at 9236 Parmalee avenue September 27, with a bundle of sunshine containing an 8-pound baby girl. Both mother and child are doing nicely. Attending physician was Dr. King, who was assisted by Mrs. J. Cuttrear.

Demonstrations of Modern Cookery Being Conducted

Throughout Los Angeles, women attending free Range Expositions conducted by local electric range dealers are witnessing some of the most amazing demonstrations of modern cookery ever presented.

Commenting upon the various demonstrations featured, Ann Martin, widely known home economist, remarks that particular interest centers around the demonstrations in which a complete oven meal is cooked while the electric range is sealed in a paper tent.

She says, "It is at first almost unbelievable to the average woman that such a thing can be done. So many are unacquainted with the principle of electric cooking which makes such a remarkable demonstration possible.

HEAT WITHOUT FLAME

"First we explain that electricity is the only common source of heat without flame. Only heat is generated by the flameless electric elements in the electric oven. And because the electric oven is completely insulated, not only on sides and top—but even on the bottom—very little heat escapes.

"The exciting thing about this statement is that the demonstration bears it out. A complete oven meal is placed in the oven, the door is closed, the paper tent is sealed and remains sealed until sufficient time has elapsed to cook the meal. Then, and not until, the paper tent is opened and the finished meal is brought forth, ready to serve."

Those attending electric dealers' Range Expositions are permitted to examine the inside of the paper tent at the completion of the demonstration. Examination revals no trace of smudge or soot; the inside of the per tent remains immaculately clean.

ICE CUBE TEST

While this demonstration illustrates the safety of flameless electric cooking, an equally dramatic test shows that electric cooking is cool. A pre-heated oven is opened and a bowl of ice cubes placed inside. At the same time, a similar bowl of ice cubes is placed on top of the range. The oven door is closed, and several minutes lated when it is re-opened, the ice cubes inside have melted to water, while the bowl of cubes on top remains practically intact. Here is striking proof that the electric range cooks the food and not the cook.

In another demonstration of "matchless" electric cookery, fish is broiled on wrapping paper, a practical operation which enables the homemaker to broil fish and throw the odor away. Many other practical kitchen tips are offered by home economists in charge of these demonstrations at city-wide Electric Range Expositions. Admission is by ticket for which there is no charge.

Electric dealers will give date and time of their Electric Range Exposition and furnish free tickets upon requiest. In order not to miss the nearest Range Exposition, readers are urged to make inquiry of their dealer this week.

FAVROT DILLARD U SPEAKER OCT. 25

ANNOUNCER REGRETS THE USE OF OFFENSIVE WORD

USES TERM TO DESCRIBE RESTAURANT EMPLOYES AS LISTENERS PROTEST

"I've Apologized Over Radio . . . I'll Apologize to Anyone Who Wants Me to", Dealer Says

By LAWRENCE F. LAMAR

Following the release over the ether waves of his own programmed broadcast, Glenn B. Austin, operator of the Chrysler-Plymouth auto agency of his own name at 326 South Western Avenue last Sunday afternoon, was a very contrite and sorrowful man. Austin, a man "from Texas", committed the almost unpardonable error of using the highly indignant term "nigger" in his reference to colored folk during his radio talk.

During the broadcast, Austin had occasion to make several side remarks anent friends in business. After explaining a clever trick employed by a Jewish woman who operates a fur store in the vicinity of his auto agency the announcer continued with a description of the service and employes at the Cock 'O' Tail restaurant on Las Cienegas Blvd.

GEORGE W. HALSEY, District Chairman of Local 465 Dining Car Waiters' Union, Denver District, who will attend the Second Biennial Convention of the Union in Los Angeles, October 25-27. Halsey is a strong contender for the office of president.

OUTLINES TALK

According to Bob Stevenson, who picked up the broadcast and made note of it, the talk was as follows:

"Now I want to tell you of something that strikes me as being very funny, in regards to certain methods in doing business. Now, the person that I am talking about is a little Jewish lady . . . etc.

And another funny thing was that a friend of mine took two Englishmen into the Cock 'O' Tail the other night. Now, not that the Cock 'O' Tail has anything to do with Englishmen well, anyway the Cock 'O' Tail is a very nice restaurant at 477 Las Cienegas Blvd. Now, I happen to know the boys (refers to two men by first names). This is their first venture, and I know they are doing everything in their power to give you the very best service. Now they (referring again to the owners by name) have 'nigger waiters' down there—the old southern type." Ten minutes later:

"Now, I have had several phone calls complaining about a remark I made earlier in the program regarding the Cock O Tail. Now, if anybody listening to my broadcast don't like what I say, then why don't you cut your radio off? Yes, I did say 'nigger waiters' when I spoke about the colored waiters at the Cock O Tail. And, I don't feel that I need make any apology, because I used the term 'nigger' waiters, as a friendly gesture. Because, if I don't like anyone, I don't talk about them on the radio, and the fact that I did mention them must show that I like them now. I feel that if anyone should take offense, it should be the colored boys themselves. And, I know, that not one of the waiters at the Cock O Tail took any offense. So, if any of you white folks want to do something about them, go to it. And, if any of you want to beat me up about it, come right down here."

TELEPHONE CALLS

Five minutes later:

"I see that quite a number of telephone calls are still coming in about my referring to the colored waiters at the Cock O Tail, as 'nigger' waiters. Now, I can't see where what I said was so wrong? As I am from Texas, myself. But, if I have hurt any colored people's feelings, then I apologize. And, as far as I am concerned, I would like for the whole matter to drop right here."

But, it didn't drop exactly "right here" as Austin would like it. All during the early part of the week, the auto sales place has been besieged with 'phone calls and many others in the persons of indignant listeners.

To reporters who called him Tuesday, Austin said, "I didn't indulge in any repetion in the use of the word. And, certainly I have apologized for its use over the radio several times. And to those who have come out here to my place I have apologized. And, will apologize to all who want me".

• POST NEWS

All members of Lt. Col. James M. Beck Post No. 2651, Veterans of Foreign Wars, are urged to be present at the next regular meeting to be held at Patriotic Hall, 1816 S. Figueroa street, in Grant Hall, Oct. 18, 8 p. m., for the purpose of electing and installing the Post Chaplain and Post Advocate.

It is with deep regret that Comrade Louis L. Vaughn had to resign from the office of adjutant to be at the bedside of his wife, and Sister Vaughn, who is undergoing a major operation at Letterman General hospital.

The Post and Ladies' Auxiliary wish her a speedy recovery and hope that they will be back in the harness soon. It is very unfortunate that the able and enthusiastic president of the Ladies' auxiliary, sister Alma Randall, 1028 E. 28th street, is under the care of a doctor. Make her a visit, Comrades, soon.

Don't forget that the post quartermsater is collecting dues for 1940 and you can see him every night from 8 to 9 at the club house, 5403 S. Central avenue, or you can pay all or part to Comrade "Slim" Louis. Don't wait until the last day because that day is around the time that you have to buy the girl friend that Xmas present, and we know that she comes before Post dues, so pay the dues now—all or part.

House Leaders to Confer on Anti-Mob Bill

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Plans for setting the "day certain" when the Gavagan anti-lynching bill will be brought up in the House in November, will be discussed at a conference to be held early this week in Washington, between House leaders and Representatives Joseph Gavagan and Hamilton Fish, according to Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

This is in accordance with the Association's determination to move for action on the bill the moment it becomes evident that the House will take up other matters than neutrality legislation, during the special

The anti-lynching bill is at the top of the calendar and hence occupies a preferred position over any other proposed legislation scheduled to come before the House during the regular session of Congress.

Question of Slum Clearance Pushed by Congress Council

The question of slum clearance in Los Angeles is being pushed forward stubbornly and determinedly by the Los Angeles Council, National Negro Congress, the Council reported today.

At a recent meeting of the City Council the Congress was ably represented by Mrs. Fay E. Allen, executive chairman and John K. Hargrove, who emphasized the need for better housing in the Central avenue district. The City Council by the close vote of 8 to 7 voted to continue the slum clearance and public housing program.

AVENUE IN PROGRAM

That the Central Avenue district will be included in the program was given definite assurance in a letter from the Los Angeles Housing Authority to the N. N. Congress in which it was stated that application was being made to the U. S. Housing Authority for a housing project to be erected in the Central avenue area.

The National Negro Congress has from the very beginning of the slum clearance movement, taken an active part in presenting its importance to the public by showing the real need of slum clearance in Los Angeles, it was said.

Under the direction of James Garrott, a member of the housing committee, films showing poor housing conditions have been developed and are now available for showing at meetings of civic social or other organizations.

Further important reports are due to come before the next meeting of the Congress at Wesley Center, 1029 E. Vernon Ave., Friday, Oct. 20, 8 p. m.

Isabelle Clifton Off to Council Meet in NYC

Mrs. Isabelle Clifton, national council member for Southern California, representative of this area on the National Business and Professional Women's council of the Young Women's Christian Association left Monday for New York City to attend this council meeting which will make plans for Business and Professional Assembly held in Atlantic City next April, when the National YWCA Convention meets.

There are 60,000 business girls in the United States in 419 Associations. These girls elect 80 National Council members representing different parts of the country. Of this number are two Negro women besides Mrs. Clifton, namely Mrs. Leona Pouncey Hendrix of Kansas City and Miss Harriet Pickens of New York. During the past two years, Mrs. Clifton as National Council member of Southern California has visited Business Girls clubs in most of the associations in this area.

The only club for Negro girls in this section of the state are the Business and Professional Women's Club of the Twelfth St. Branch YWCA, Los Angeles, to which Mrs. Clifton belongs and the Business and Professional Girls' League of this same Branch.

Mrs. Eva Ware Collins, Matron of the Twelfth St. Branch YWCA is enjoying a two weeks vacation part of which will be spent in Val Verde. Mrs. Ruth Motley is acting as Matron during her absence.

Mrs. Mattie S. Nelson, former executive secretary of the Y.W. C. A. and at present Secretary of the Committee of Management was missed at the first fall meeting of this committee held recently because of being confined to her bed with a cold.

Miss Naida McCullough, well known teacher and traveler, will be guest of the Industrial Club of Household Employees at their regular meeting at the YWCA today when she will tell the club girls about her experiences in Hawaii. Refreshments will be typical of Hawaiian food.

Miss Ruby C. Jefferson, Girl Reserve Secrtary, has returned from her vacation and is working with the Girl Reserve Committee club advisors and the Mother's Council on plans for work with the teen age girls of the city. During each week-end in October, Girl Reserve planning groups will be meeting. This week end the Girl Reserve leaders meet at Balboa.

Calif. Bank Deposits in New High

Increasing at the rate of approximately a million dollars a month since the early part of the year, deposits with California Bank on October 2 reached an all-time high of $113,359,657 as compared with 105,300,917 on December 31, 1938.

The figures are revealed in a statement of condition report just released by Arch W. Anderson, president of the bank.

Anderson's report shows that since June 30, 1939, date of the last cal statement of condition, deposits with California Bank increased $5,354,563, a gain of approximately five per cent in three months.

Indicating that there is no foundation in fact for the allegation that banks are not lending money, California Bank loans and discounts increased during the last nine months from $38,780,410 to $43,192,579 and, according to Anderson, many more millions lie idle awaiting the demand of qualified borrowers.

Capital structure of the bank on October 2 as revealed in the report consisted of $5,000,000 in common stock; $80[illegible]000 in preferred stock; $1,700,000 surplus, and $1,853,671 in undivided profits.

The undivided profits figure is after a deduction early in August of $61,581 which was placed in the preferred stock retirement fund, it was revealed.

Total resources as of October 2 were $124,162,024 as compared with $115,350,968 at the beginning of the year.

GOLDEN STATE PREPARES FOR TWO RED-LETTER DAYS IN ROW

Black Cat Day, Opening of Fall Drive Set Pace for Final Quarter of Year

Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company's agency staff and other employes will bring all of their energies and aptitudes into play during the final quarter of the year which begins this weekend with two red-letter days in a row.

On Friday, October 13, the representatives will compete in the National Black Cat Day drive sponsored by the National Accident and Health Review in which they placed fifth in the nation last January and first in the state of California. This record which saw thirty-two men qualifying for "Black Cat Club" certificates and a total of 479 applications written, challenges not only other companies, but also Golden Staters themselves to hold their own.

RALLY LUNCHEONS SATURDAY

On Saturday, October 14, the annual "Kick-off" rallies will be held in Oakland for the Northern California district and in Los Angeles for Southland areas. Both will feature pep meetings and personal pledges by various staffs in the morning meeting under the sales promotion department and a luncheon at noon in which all departments will participate.

Luncheon speaker for the Northern group will be the vice-president-director of agencies, George A. Beavers, Jr., while William Nickerson, Jr., president-manager will speak at the Southland rally. Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer, has just returned from Chicago where he conducted a pre-rally for the Chicago staff which honored him with a dinner attended by Chicago's foremost business men in the Morris Eat Shop.

Take Steps to Develop Great New Highway

Building of the International Pacific Highway from Alaska to South America moved another step forward at a recent meeting of United States and Canadian officials, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California.

This country was represented by members of the Alaskan International Hifhway Comm)) ternational Highway Commission, which held its first formal conference with a similar Canadian group on construction of the required links in Canada and Alaska for the hemisphere-spanning route. Studies are going ahead and the two groups will confer from time to time.

State's Study Clubs Say No to Ham, Eggs

Group Will Vote Against Prop. No. 1 on Nov. Ballot

Declaring the Ham and Eggs amendment to be an "unsound financial scheme which will lead us into economic disaster," the Women's Political Study Club of California has gone on record against Proposition No. 1 on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary for the organization which has branch clubs throughout California, issued the following statement:

"The Woman's Political Study Club, while in complete sympathy with older persons who need help, must go on record as opposed to the "Thirty Every Thursday" Plan as being an unsound financial scheme which will lead us into economic disaster. Old[illegible] persons must be taken care of, but such a pension as proposed should be a matter of Federal Legislation."

Other members of the executive council with Mrs. Hill are Mrs. Clarissa L. Matthews, Mrs. Ethel Prioleau, Mrs. F. M. W. Alexander, Mrs. J. Holland, Mrs. Blanche Vincent, and Mrs. Louise Kenner.

"I wanted LIGHTER SKIN!"

"YOU wouldn't believe it now, but a few months ago my skin was so dark, coarse and oily I was ashamed. My mother said I was foolish to keep trying remedies. But I refused to give up hope! I read an 'ad' in the paper about Nadinola Cream. That night I began using it. Soon my skin got softer and lighter so that I forgot all about my past disappointments. Nothing else makes a girl so happy as a gloriously beautiful skin!"

Let Nadinola Help You

Famous beauties preserve their loveliness because they take infinite pains to care for it. Most girls have much greater beauty than they even suspect. And it frequently isn't a bit hard to bring it out! It's the duty of every girl to try, for the sake of her own happiness.

Do you want men to admire you—women to envy you? Do you want a soft, smooth, lighter skin? Then try famous Nadinola Bleaching Cream!

Simply smooth this fragrant cream on every night. No rubbing, no massaging. Unlike most creams, Nadinola speeds up the natural process of exfoliation—bleaches the skin to a lighter shade, loosens blackheads, clears up surface pimples and other externally caused blemishes. Eagle Secretary Guest in 'Frisco

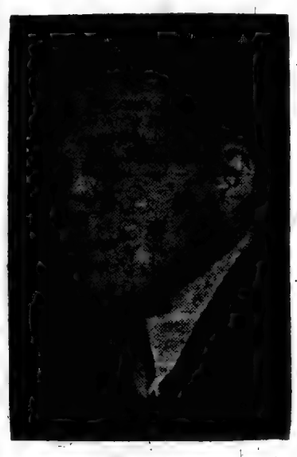
Sojourning in San Francisco this week is Mrs. Adele B. Ashford, well known secretary of the California Eagle Publishing company.

Mrs. Ashford motored North with her sister from Phoenix, Arizona, Mrs. Snow, to visit another sister, Mrs. Ethel Fowler in San Francisco. Outstanding in local fraternal and social circles, Mrs. Ashford is a veteran employe of the EAGLE and perhaps the best loved member on the staff.



We all wish you happy vacationing, Mrs. A!

Are Leaders Asleep, Or Indifferent?

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—Negro leaders have either been asleep or superbly indifferent to the needs of the masses of Negro people in the opinion of Edgar G. Brown, colorful Washington political figure, liason man with the CCC and president of the United Government employees, an organization of colored federal workers in the lower brackets. Speaking informally in Chicago this week where he was in attendance upon the American Legion convention, Mr. Brown cited several instances where Negroes have lost because of inaptitude and lack of energy.

"Let's take the matter of the Civil Aeronautic administration program," Brown said. "Two Negro schools were certified for training in aviation. There could easily have been 15 or 20. There were 300 white schools certified. All the Negro schools had to do was to make application and affiliate with a nearby airport. There was $9,000,000 in which they had every right to share, but aside from West Virginia State and A. and T. in North Carolina, the others were either dozing or off on vacation. Hampton, after a late start in filing, finally came through also.

"When the bill passed and the CAA was authorized to go ahead, our organization, the UGE, spent $150 in telegrams advising newspapers and schools that the appropriation was available. Many newspapers carried headlines on the matter but the schools paid little attention.

. BEAVERS JR., vice t and director of agen- the Golden State Mu- e Insurance company, led together a meeting ng citizens yesterday, which was selected a e to wait upon the r of Commerce in an e ferret out reasons Negroes were invited the chamber's current ainst the "Ham and easure.

georgette harvey quits hit's cast

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Georgette Harvey, "Mamba" in "Mamba's Daughters," the stage hit currently on the road, has quit the cast, it was reported last week. Miss Harvey gave as reason for her action the fact that she "could make as much or more money by staying in New York."

Betty Barclay's Hallowe'en Helps

You all know what Hallowe'en represents. You all know how novel dishes are needed to make the party a success. So here are some recipes — my contribution to this year's festivities. Incidentally, the recipes are good, long after Hallowe'en is over.

Sweet Dreams Punch

4 cups freshly made, chilled decaffeinated coffee
1½ pints ice cream
Grated nutmeg

Pour the decaffeinated coffee over a pint of ice cream in a punch bowl or big mixing bowl, and blend lightly with an egg beater until the ice cream is partly melted. Sprinkle with grated nutmeg. Vanilla, coffee, or chocolate ice cream combines well with the coffee flavor.

To make decaffeinated coffee by the percolator method, use 1 heaping tablespoon decaffeinated coffee, regular grind, for each cup (⅛ pint) of cold water. Pour cold water into pot. Set percolator basket in pot and put coffee in it. Cover. Let percolate slowly and gently 15 to 20 minutes. (For a 9-cup percolator use ¾ cup coffee.)

Lima and Ham Loaf

1 cup cooked, dried Limas
½ cup ground ham
¼ cup chili sauce or catsup
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ cup cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Put Limas through a coarse strainer. Add ham, chili sauce, eggs, pepper, salt, minced onion, butter and cracker crumbs. Shape into a loaf, place in a buttered pan in a moderate oven (350° F.) and bake for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with the melted butter. Serve with brown gravy.

Orange Frosted Doughnuts (For 24 doughnuts)

Allow 1 good sized doughnut for each guest. Frost with orange-tinted icing made by creaming together well:

2 tablespoons butter
2 cups powdered sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Orange vegetable coloring, as needed

Magic Butternut Pie

1½ cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
2 eggs, separated
1 cup butternut meats, or other nut meats
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
Unbaked pie shell (8-inch)

Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk, beaten egg yolks and finely chopped butternut meats. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in moderately slow oven (325° F.) 25 minutes or until set. Cover with meringue made by beating egg whites until stiff and adding sugar. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes or until meringue is brown.

Recipes for Parlor Fun

The newest recipe for parlor fun is Contack, an exciting new game played with 56 triangular pieces — each side with a different color and number. The object of the game is to match colors and numbers and to make scoring totals — a streamlined development of domino technique that's easy to learn. Another sure way to end the social ice breaking problem is Quick Wit, a hilarious quiz game that's played with cards and guarantees new and different questions every round.

CHIT...CHAT

By LOUISA J WILSON

Doors of the beautiful Unity Center at 1195 E. 55th street were opened to friends last Sunday. Throughout the afternoon and evening, the gorgeous apartment of the leader, Miss B. June Cobb, was viewed. The lovely Sunday School room was the scene of the interesting and well-received program, with Mrs. Vernal Lewis as mistress of ceremonies. The large number of friends present were served by the ladies of the Center acting as hostesses. Those giving their service during the extended program were: vocal soloists, sopranos, Evelyn Solomon, Helen May, Rev. Lois Day, Eva Boswell; tenor, Finis Moore, Finis Moultrie; baritone, Gene Wellington; mezzo-soprano, Melba Smith; bass, Septimus Silas, Leroy Jennings; contralto, Myrtle Anderson. Lilburn Faine was reader during the evening. Lillian Bremond, noted radio artist, rendered numbers. Onnie Houston and her quintette was well received. Emma Smock and James Stewart gave violin selections. Carol Morris, a piano solo. Leola Longress, soprano and Cora Mae Chretien, alto, rendered vocal and piano solos. Antoinette Brizelle and Ruth Parks were accompanists throughout the evening. Miss Cobb was the sweet, gracious hostess as usual.

At Independent Church of Christ last Sunday morning, the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health Association sponsored another successful "Save-A-Life" program. Rev. Cdayton D. Russell gave an inspirational sermon to the large attendance. Mr. Fred Roberts acted as master of ceremonies for the morning. Persons telling how they have helped 'Save-A-Life' in their daily occupations were: Dr. Henry A. McPherson as a physician; Miss Christolie Maxwell as a nurse; Dr. Garner Grayson as a pharmacist; D.r H. Claude Hudson from the standpoint of health. Mrs. Charlotta Bass, our editor, in her varied busy life; Dr. Warner Wright of the School Health Dept.; Earl Broady of the Police Dept.; John Rhetta of the Fire Dept.; Herman Hill in the life of a Social Service worker; George A. Beavers of the Golden State Insurance Co.; and Theresa Dixon of the Tubercular Association. Dr. Leonard Stovall, president of the Outdoor Life and Health Association answered the responses. Mrs. Seth Lee is the president of the Assistance League unit. Mrs. Della Williams, first vice president, was chairman of this successful 'Save-A-Life' Sunday program. Mrs. Fannie Williams, founder of these annual Sunday's, wishes to express thanks in behalf of the Association through the Assistance League to the many friends who helped in the endeavor to complete the service building of the Rest Home for tubercular victims of the Outdoor Life and Health Association in Duarte, California. The public is invited to the dedication Sunday afternoon, October 22, from 1 to 5 p. m. The Rest Home will at that time be ready for occupancy.

The opening meeting of the Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Wendell Franklin in West 22nd street in the form of a luncheon. Thirteen members were present to start the plans for the year's activities. Among them is the looked-for formal dance in January. Those present included: Albert McNeil, Robert Van Meter, Theodore Hurshfield, Frank Jackson, Walter Howard, Jack Hodges, Webster Guy, Eddie Deason, Earl Armstead, Silas Keller, LeRoy Kelley, Owner Barker and Elbert Hawkins.

One of the loveliest receptions of the season was given by Mrs. Edna Porter of E. 54th street for a group of out-of-towners including: Mesdames Fostina Neal Bostic of Chicago, Ill.; Miliccia R. Eskridge, Ginia King and Caddie Lawson of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Fannie Morton. Mrs. Porter was assisted by Mrs. Mozelle Outley and Mrs S. P. Johnson. Many friends came to greet the visitors to our fair city.

Miss Lottie McClelland of St. Louis, Mo., is a visitor in our city. Miss McClelland is an accomplished pianist, stenographer and also a Kappa soror. She is the guest of her cousin, Miss Lillian Johnson of 2118 Amey street.

Mrs. Ethel Newsome of W. 35th street, took a group of friends to the home of Mrs. Mamie Wahl of Irola street. The occasion was a surprise birthday party in hono rof Mrs. Wahl (We won't whisper the age). The evening was merrily spent after the shock of the invaders had passed. Monday evening, the Deanajah club was entertained with bridge by Mrs. Stella Peterson on S. Harvard blvd. Prizes were won by Hazel Gray and Emma Rodgers.

Po-Ke-No and bridge were the amusements last Saturday when Mrs. Connie Steward of W. 30th street entertained with a luncheon. Covers were laid for 32. Prizes of the afternoon were captured by Louise Stilman in Po-Ke-No. In bridge, the prizes went to Ethel Atkinson, Carolyn Blodgett, Alice Harvey, and Dorthula Mathews.

The Satellites club of young matrons gave a baby shower for one of their club mates, Dona Adams, Wednesday evening at the home of Waverlie Foster of E. 50th street. Many lovely and useful gifts were received for the expected newcomer.

The Morning View Charity club, under the leadership of U. S. Booker, invites friends to their meeting next Thursday, October 19, at the 28th Street YMCA. This will be Bible Study night with Rev. Franklin leading the discussion.

The Unique Girls' club was entertained last week with a social by Gladys Wright of E. 90th street. Tables for bridge were set up in the cheerfully lighted home. Guest prizes went to Mesdames Lucille Thomas, Victoria Mitchell, Carl McCleroy, and Dorothy Jones. Club prizes were awarded DeeWitter Jolenett, Ora Salomon, president, and Essie Gipson. We are all looking forward to the Pre-Halloween Jump and Jive Dance these girls are planning at the La Vada. Be sure and keep October 28 open.

Mrs. Bessie Davis of W. 36th place entertained the Fall opening of the Dinner club Saturday night. Seven tables of bridge were planned for the evening. Guest prizes were given to Mesdames Ernestine Davidson, Alma McKinney, Annie Gilmore, Maude Price, C. Waldon. Club prizes were taken by Mesdames Winnabelle Harrison and Essie Boutte.

I come to the part when I must bid you all good-bye. These weekly chats have been lots of fun. I am leaving the community to teach secretarial training in the Community Center Secretarial Training School in Pasadena. When you are in Pasadena, drop a for a chat and see our classes at 1127 N. Fair Oaks avenue. I'll be seeing you around.

Outstanding Formal Event at Sojourner

One of the outstanding formal events of the season was held at the Sojourner Truth Home, October 6, by the Juniors of Christ Tabernacle AME church, 4612 Hooper avenue, under the auspices of Rev. C. N. Austin.

The auxiliary is the recently organized Mary Lee Circle. The event was a splendid banquet featuring a very unique program. The Mary Lee Circle of Grant Chapel AME church, under the sponsorship of Rev. I. S. Wilson, were special invited guests of the evening. Many other guests and associate members of the Circle were preent, among them: Rev. C. N. Austin and Rev. H. B. Reaves, assistant pastor of Grant Chapel and their wives. Also, Mrs. C. H. Davis, wife of Rev. C. H. Davis, was a guest of the evening.

The beautiful auditorium of Sojourner Truth Home was decorated with various flowers of the season, and banquet tables were decorated with Japanese daisies. The groups were beautifully dressed in colorful formal costumes. Supervisors and pastors' wives were all dressed in evening gowns of black satin, wearing white pansies and gardenia corsages. The program of the evening was given by organizing officers, Mrs. Louise A. Cook, one of Los Angeles' Corporative Christian Social Workers and faithful member of the First AME church, 8th and Towne avenue.

Dr. Leonard Stovall was a specially invited guest speaker to give a review of the work of the Outdoor Life and Health association, which is one of our finest active Race enterprises of the State. All present were very pleased to have Doctor Stovall present. The Supervisor, Mrs. Cook, gave past officers of Christ Tabernacle Circle beautiful gifts expressing appreciation for their services. The new officers will be installed at the earliest date possible.

Portland Matron Returns Home

Mrs. Edward Thompson has returned to her home in Portland, Ore. after a six weeks' stay in Los Angeles and San Francisco. In Los Angeles, she was entertained by many former Denver citizens. With her daughter, Mrs. Lela Thomas, she was houseguest of Mrs. Ossie Smith of E. 17th Street.

Cecil Westbrooks Off on Tour of Nation

Cecil E. Westbrooks, 1126 E. 20th street, left Oct. 5, for an extensive vacation tour of the United States and Canada. En-route East he will visit throughout the Middle West. In New York, the Angeleno will see the Worlds' Fair and from there proceed to Boston, Hartford and Montpelier, Vermont.

From there, he will enter Canada, visiting particularly from Montreal to Halifax with Nova Scotia as his destination. On the return trip, Westbrooks will stop with friends in Phaladelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

WIFE OF BISHOP MARTIN VISITS LOS ANGELES

For the past two weeks, Mrs. Ola M. Martin, wife of Bishop J. W. Martin has been the houseguest of Bishop and Mrs. W. C. Brown of 527 E. Jefferson blvd. Mrs. Martin formerly resided in Los Angeles when her husband was Bishop of the AME Zion Church in this area for 12 years. Bishop Brown now fills that post, and Bishop Martin heads the Missouri conference, the Michigan conference, and the entire state of South Dakota.

Prior to her arrival in the city Mrs. Martin spent two weeks in San Francisco visiting the Fair and friends.

The Alpha Bowling Social club held regular business meeting Oct. 4, at the Masonic Hall. After a spirited discussion on the Hallowe'en Dance, a new member was accepted into the club. The Hallowe'en dance will be held Oct. 25. Zenith Bradley is president and Wm. H. Lincolnfelter is reporter.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Flower Show at Masonic Hall Beautiful

One of the most beautiful of pre-winter affairs of recent happenings was the flower show held last Sunday at Masonic Hall 1050 E. 50th street, when Electa Chapter No. 3, held their annual Flower Show with Mrs. Wm. Solomon, chairman of arrangements. Large baskets of beautiful flowers nattily arranged on long tables along each side of the room occupied the scrutinizing eyes of the large crowd. First second and third prizes were awarded for arrangement, growth and beauty. Presentation of prizes was made by Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards in a most graceful manner. Also on display was a magnificent assortment of artificial flowers by Mrs. Calvin P. Brown, of which special mention was made by the judges. Each year this special event is made more attractive by Electa Chapter thru the enthusiasm of their matron, which office is now held by Mrs. Viola Patterson.

Hazel Whitaker Buffet Supper Hostess

A number of prominent guests, including visitors to the city, were feted last Saturday evening by Hazel G. Whitaker, prominent Jefferson High school teacher and active civic worker, who was a lovely hostess to a buffet supper at her home, 1330 E. 17th street.

The festive atmosphere of the occasion, made more so by the warmth and good fellowship of the guests, made the affair a most enjoyable one.

Guests included Martin L. Harvey, New York City; Mrs. Ola Martin, New York City and wife of Bishop John W. Martin; Dr. and Mrs. Tom Wallace, Washington, D. C.; Rev. and Mrs. Walter R. Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cole, Atty. and Mrs. Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., Rev. and Mrs. Clayton D. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cullen Fentress.

Mesdames Charlotta A. Bass, Mildred Howard, Peggie Scott, Ruth McLaughlin, and Lorenzo Jordan-Cole; Drs. Dickerson Hawkins, Cliff Gordon, and Messrs. Gilbert Allen and John Kinloch.

Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, charming aunt of the hostess, assisted in entertaining the guests.

•Bridge POINTS

BY M. L. MILLIGAN

Ray Marshall's untiring efforts to organize the California Bridge league were rewarded last week with a letter from E. T. Belsaw, president of the American Bridge Ass'n, giving him authority to organize without the support of the Seattle group, which means we can organize Arizona and New Mexico also. Every contract bridge player on the Coast should become a part of this group and receive national rating.

A. L. Gross had two teams to battle over 16 duplicate boards last Monday evening. J. D. Dunn captained the Red team, consisting of Mrs. Shirley Mack, L. Carr and M. L. Milligan and nosed out the Blue team, captained by Gross and consisting of Mrs. Ray Marshall, Miss Irene Hall and Gene Robinson by 420 points.

The Contract Bridge club has cancelled its dinner party scheduled for the 21st of this month, until the Xmas holidays. Ellis Veil tendered his resignation as business manager of the C. B. C. which was tabled because the majority of the members appreciate the value of Mr. Veil's efforts in the interest of the club.

Suffering Women May Only Need "Build-Up"

A simple method by saving many women much pain and discomfort! It is based on the knowledge that women's headaches, nervousness, and cramp-like pain often are symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to a weak, run-down, undernourished condition. That so many women find relief from these painful symptoms through the CARDUI "build-up" is easy to explain. By improving the appetite, assisting digestion and assimilation, CARDUI helps to build physical resistance against periodic pain. Thousands of women also report that CARDUI takes just before and during "the time", lessens periodic pain.

BERKELEY BOARD OF EDUCATION CHARGED WITH DISCRIMINATION

Citizens' Committee Rejects Proposal Board to Give Question 'Further Study'

BERKELEY, Oct. 12. (CNA)—The Negro Citizens committee of Berkeley this week charged the Berkeley board of education with "un-American racial bias and discrimination" in excluding Negroes from the recommendation for appointment of teachers in local public schools.

The committee hurled its charges at a meeting of the board and rejected a board proposal for "further study" of the question. A committee spokesman stated it "can find no reason for further study of the question of employing Negro teachers in our school system.

"The applications of Negro teachers on file with the board meet all the qualifications on the basis of merit set by the State Board of Education, under which the Berkeley Board of Education is governed."

CHALLENGE STATEMENT

Challenging the School Director C. L. Ziegler that Negro teachers should not be chosen "simply because a pressure group demands it," the committee answer many fair-minded and progressive white citizens in the community

"We are not here to ask employment of 'x' Negro teacher, or to ask the employment of one to relieve the pressure," Dr. Matt N. Crawford told the board. "We are asking that Negro applicants be put on the list of teachers on the same basis as others, and that they be considered in the same light from the standpoint of their qualifications."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Mrs. Frances Albrier, committee chairman: Mrs. L. M. Dixon, state chairman of the California Women's Clubs, Mrs. H. E. Newman, of Piedmont, legislative chairman of the Lakeside Study Group, E. A. Daly, local editor, and Mrs. M. Wysinger.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 12.—"Here is a new field of endeavor in social work," said Louis J. Kroeger, executive secretary of the California State Personnel Board, when he announced today that an examination for Supervisor of Extramural Care with the Department of Institutions, was scheduled for Oct. 31.

Banquet Fetes Birthday of Study Club

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct 12—The eighth anniversary of the founding of the Anna B. Garner Women's Political Study club was celebrated Oct. 2 with a public banquet held at the YWCA. The dinner, an annual affair, was attended by more than 7 prominent citizens of San Bernardino and surrounding communities.

Mrs. C. A. Bass, newspaper woman of Los Angeles, was the principal speaker, talking on current problems as they affect all races. She was a most dynamic speaker and a thoroughly interested audience followed her salient points.

The program, directed by Mrs. Marie Muckleroy, president of the organization, began with Miss Rosa M. Spears as mistress of ceremonies and included a tribute to the late Mrs. Anna B Garner by Mrs. Gertrude Holden; a history of the club and a recital of its purpose, by Mrs. Roena M. Savage; several humorous readings by Mrs. Viola Fleming; spirituals by Raymond Overstreet, basso and San Bernardino men's quartet, composed of Allan Littles, Frederick Saville, Bobby White and Raymond Overstreet.

The club, organized by the late Mrs. Garner, is comprised of 40 members. Two meetings are held each month, one devoted to discussions of city, state, and national politics, and the other given over to the domestic and social arts. The club is one of 24 Negro women's study clubs in California.

All Citizens Urged to Help Prevent Fires by Jr. C. of C.

Coinciding with the anniversary of the great Chicago fire October 9, 1871, all of Los Angeles county this week (Oct. 8 to 14) is observing Fire Prevention Week!

Los Angeles and other cities all have been made aware of the fact that approximately 10,000 persons lose their lives, twice as many are crippled for life by fire every year in the United States.

The National Fire loss has been as high as $500,000,000 a year.

The recent $1,500,000 fire loss of the Palomar amusement center in Los Angeles helped brifig home the lesson: Be on Guard Constantly Against Fires.

Eighty percent of all fires are preventable—caused by CARELESSNESS. One home burns every minute of the day, and one home is destroyed completely every three minutes by fire throughout the nation.

A parade of equipment, old and new, in Los Angeles, during the week revealed how the city formerly fought fires—and how fires now are fought with the most modern equipment in the world. Special fire drills in public and parochial schools were participated in by more than 400,000 children. How to prevent fires is being stressed throughout the week's campaign.

Co-operation of every citizen to HELP PREVENT FIRES was urged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles, center of Fire Prevention week programs for the county.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will have charge of the program dealing with "The Rights of the Negro," when the National Conference on Civil Liberties meets here at the Hotel Biltmore, 43rd street and Madison avenue, Oct. 13 and 14.

Happiness Perennial

WHO has not noticed the hardihood of certain plants which withstand the coldest winters and in the spring put forth buds and flowers? The cold does not injure them. And under the warm sunshine they respond to the call of spring!

True happiness is like that. It endures under unfavorable conditions, and springs up continually anew. Its extraordinary vitality is explained by the fact that it reflects the nature of God. "Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and Love," writes Mary Baker Eddy on page 57 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Even human happiness, in its highest sense, hints at the qualities of the divine. . . .

Happiness is as natural as sunlight. It needs no forcing. To possess it, we have only to look for it where it is—in the sunshine of Truth and Love. . . . The Psalmist sang (Psalms 103:20, 21): "Bless the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word. Bless ye the Lord, all ye his hosts; ye ministers of his, that do his pleasure." The greatest happiness is to know and do God's will, and everyone can have a share in this.

Mrs. Eddy writes (Science and Health, p. 298), "When the real is attained, which is announced by Science, joy is no longer a trembler, nor is hope a cheat." One who has found happiness in Truth and Love does not fear that he will lose it. The darkest clouds of seeming sorrow pass, and joy appears when thought has in a measure discerned the limitless bliss of living in Soul, God. To contemplate the clouds of error or affirm their presence makes them seem darker and more real. The writer had her first glimpse of a happiness that is "no longer a trembler," that is independent of human relationships and circumstances, after an instantaneous healing of a serious disease. She was lifted in a few moments from agony to perfect comfort, and a sense of happiness new in her experience. She found herself repeating over and over, for days, these words: "The knowledge of God is happiness enough for me." And so it has proved during the succeeding years. Enduring satisfaction always follows the perception of spiritual bliss. . . .

Even though discordant voices of sense, seeming to be real and strong, may silence it for a time, harmony remains, for it alone is real, and discord is unreal. Those who have discerned the fact of immutable harmony have had a great burden lifted from their hearts. No longer do they have to try to be cheerful and assume an appearance of optimism. If hard experiences come and prospects are discouraging, or if sad memories persist, they patiently endure until the clouds lift, refusing to be cast down. To mourn for that which is unreal would be like groping one's way in the bright sunshine while keeping one's eyes closed. Divine Love, compassionate and tender, is ever ready to lead one safely through the seeming night of sorrow until he sees the light of reality.

A sense of sadness sometimes becomes habitual, so that the sufferer almost fears to be a normal, happy individual. Such a one will find that the moment he glimpses his unity with God, sorrow is seen to be abnormal, and happiness within his reach. "God's being is infinity, freedom, harmony, and boundless bliss" (ibid., p. 481). Self-pity dissolves as one meditates upon this great vision of reality. . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

Men, Women Have 'Day' in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, (By Willie Louise Gilmore)—Sunday, October 8th, was designated as "Women and Men's" day at Calvary Baptist church. Eleven a. m. services were conducted entirely by the women, with Mrs. Blanche Carter as mistress of ceremonies.

The visiting women who appeare don the progra mwere: Mrs. Stewart of Second Baptist Church, L. A.; Mrs. Childs, president of the 'Women's Convention" of the Western Baptist Convention, who discoursed beautifully out of her soul on "the Work of Women"; Mrs. Etta V. Moxley o fthe A. M. E. Church; and Mrs. Powell of Detroit, Mich. The choir was composed of Junior and Senior members.

The service was spiritual and appropriately arranged.

The men had charge of the Sunday night program, with John Moore as master of ceremonies. Their guest participants were Mr. Linsky, Prof. Hammond, Commission Atkins and John Moore. Mr. Lynch accompanied Rev. Carter, the pianist, with guitar music for the male choir. A splendid and inspiring program was presented by these men. The results of the rally, which is for beautifying the church, were as follows: men, $158.40; women, $200.00. Rev. Carter is pastor.

Mathew Williams died Saturday at the age of 74 years at St. Catherine's hospital following an attack of heart trouble. He was a resident of Venice for 30 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday. He is survived by one daughter, Charlotte, of 1024 Oakwood Ave.

THE GUMSHOERS

We're informed Bob Duncan will be out of J. C. football this sesso because of a knee injury. Tough luck, Bob He was the only colored boy on the team. The high school lightweight football team is well represented this year with the return of De Linder and the adding of Earl in the backfield with Babe Maxwell and Barney King in the line. The popular Sub-Deb club held its regular meeting Wednesday night at the home of Miss Clotilde Fortune. Initiation of two new members was in order, these being Venita Tarver and Opal Mae Allen, officers for the coming year are Eddie Lee Alexander, president; Ester Cook, secretary; C. Fortune, treasurer; Phyllis Quinn, business manager; Mrs. Cook, sponsor; Opal Mae Allen, reporter.

Plans are now being formulated for a pre-Hallowe'en dance, October 27 at Masonic hall.

If folks don't stop asking when the Royal 12 formal is, I'll blow up and bust; they say, "You should know; you're president"! Well, if this is any relief to you bloodhounds, finding a suitable date is lots harder than it was for David Selznick to find a Scarlett O'Hara for "Gone With the Wind".

Orchids to Helen Brantley for attaining such an average on her postal exam. He needs no introduction because he, Fred "Esquire" Parks, has just returned from 'Frisco. After an eight-months' stay, he is remembered as a friend and the town's sharpest dresser. But most of all, as the fifth president of the Royal 12'ers. And in our mind, one of the best.

Mel Duncan seen having a bite to eat at the cafe Saturday night with a very attractive young gent. The terror of 18th street wants to know why the girls are so nice to him. It looks now as if "Fat Boy" Mitchell has given up Hilda for Esther. Earl Tucker is girl-friending again. Mr. and Mrs. Tippins restraining themselves at the Paramount, hearing the great Count of Basie. 'Tis rumored that Rosie and George are on the outs. We don't believe it.

Dean Pickens Draws Record Crowd in San Diego School

SAN DIEGO (E. B. Wesley)—A large and appreciative audience greeted Dean William Pickens, field secretary of the NAACP at Logan school auditorium, Thursday night. Mr. Theo. Brinson, president of the local NAACP branch presided.

Mr Pickens held the attention of his hearers to whom he brought the many phases of the great work being carried on by the NAACP. An appeal for membership in the organization met with hearty response.

Mrs. L. H. Owens wife of Rev. L. H. Owens and teacher in the public school system of Imperial, left last Friday for Chicago to attend the Quadrennial Missionary Conference to which she is a delegate from the California Conference of the A. M. E. church. The sessions will convene from Oct. 8-11.

Mr. and Mrs. Lofton W. Brown of Stockton, Calif. where Mr. Brown is in business in the exclusive Tuxedo District, were the overnight guests of Mrs. Marie Strather, 2883 Webster avenue, Thursday night of last week.

Rev. Phillip Moore, pastor of Phillips Temple C.M.E. church left on Wednesday for Berkeley to attend the CME conference which convenes in that city this week.

The Women's Civic League of which Mrs. J. E. Craft is president, held a very spirited meeting Sunday afternoon at Community Center at which time the "Ham and Eggs" plan was discussed. Major Gen. Morehead retired, favored the plan while Mr. Thomas Hamilton, a young attorney opposed it.

This league is doing some very constructive work by meeting once a week to sew for unwed mothers at the Open Door of Hope.

Mr. A. E. West who deals in preparations for keeping foot wear in tip top condition returned recently from San Francisco where he reports having had a most enjoyable visit at the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition.

Elder Jas. A. Jackson spent several days in No Mans Land last week on business.

The Interdenominational Missionary Union with Mrs. Janie Young president and Mrs. W. B. Pope, secretary will begin its annual fellowship meeting at Mt. Zion Baptist church, 3045 Greely avenue Sunday, Oct. 22-29. The 7:30 p. m. service each night will be conducted by a different speaker in connection with a splendid program. Evangelist McRoy, of Los Angeles will speak at the Mass meeting on Oct. 29 at 2:30 p. m.

SOCIETY

Mr. William Pickens, nationally known executive of the N. A. A. C. P. was honored guest at a well appointed dinner last Thursday evening at the popular DeLux dining room, given by the Executive Board of the local branch of the NAACP. Mr. Stanley Gue, Deputy Labor Commissioner and Miss Viola McKern were guests also. Board members and guests numbered 26.

The Wide Awake Club was the guest of Mrs. E. W. Anderson Thursday of last week.

The Best Yet club was entertained by Mr. Edward Rollins, Saturday nite, Oct. 7, at his home, 1721 Logan avenue.

CHURCHES

BETHEL A. M. E.

S. S. at 9:30 a. m. Sunday was on the upward trend both in attendance and interest. Miss Nadine Redmond, superintendent, is striving hard to have a record school to be transferred to the new church which will be ready for occupancy soon.

At 11 a. m. Rev. Owens delivered a strong message of hope and encouragement. The choir with additional voices rendered good music.

Rev. Owens was the speaker at Phillips Temple CME church at 3 p. m. Sunday.

The 7:30 services conducted by Rev. Owens were of earnestness and christian zeal.

The Brotherhood met with Mr. A. N. Hicks Thursday night, Oct. 5. The president, Mr. Cassey Jackson with his energetic force of working officers and members have a big program scheduled for the year.

After all that may be said or done the new church shows signs of activeness which may be greatly augmented by concerted activity on the part of members and well wishers.

Look At Yourself In the Calendar

In a few days you can see yourself with a fairer complexion

Your mirror will prove to you, in just a few days, that Black and White Bleaching Cream is really bringing you a fairer complexion. So why keep yourself on the "darker side"? New fairness is yours without long days of waiting.

Tonight, start using Black and White Bleaching Cream according to directions—soon begins the flaking-off of darker, duller, older-looking outer skin. Smoother, softer, whiter skin begins to show from beneath. You're on your way to the greater attractiveness which such loveliness of skin can bring you.

Be sure you ask your dealer for genuine Black and White Bleaching Cream, and accept no substitute. Large opal jar, 50c. Medium size, 25c. Trial, 10c. Always use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Bleaching Cream. Large bar, 25c. Trial size, 10c.

'Chi' Baptists Buy Building as Education, Service Center

Last week the first payment was made by Baptist leaders in Chicago on the magnificent brownstone mansion (see cut) located at 3816 S. Michigan Boulevard. This building will serve as a home for the Chicago Baptist Institute and a Center for training and service to all Baptist Church leaders in the Chicago area.

The wide-spread inter-racial interest in this movement is indicated by the fact that such different racial and national groups as the following shared in making contributions to the Building Fund:

The Russian Baptist Church, Olivet Baptist Church, The Mexican Baptist Church, Berean Baptist Church, The German Baptist Church of Ogden Park, Progressive Baptist Church, Logan Square Baptist Church, (white), Pilgrim Baptist Church, Oak Park Baptist Church (white), Raymond Chapel Baptist Church (white). More than 200 colored and white Baptist Churches made offerings to the Building Fund.

The Chicago Baptist Institute, according to Dean H. M. Smith, its director, which is now located at 3458 S. State Street, expects to move into its new home on the first of the year.

At Hamilton Methodist church E. 18th Street and Naomi avenue, Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor the Gospel Crusade under the direction of Dr. Charles Y. Trigg moves forward in great fashion. Dr. Trigg made a profound impression on the great audience which greeted him on last Sunday morning and evening. He is preaching great sermons each evening. He will preach on Sunday morning from the subject, "God in the Way", and in the evening his subject will be "The Changing and the Changeless". The evening service will be featured by a spiritual birthday feast at the close of the service. Next week will bring to a close this great Crusade. Dr. Trigg will preach his last sermon with us on Sunday, Oct. 22. You should not miss this service.

At People's United Church of Christ, Wilmington avenue at E. 105th street, Rev. T. F. Jones, pastor, this Sunday a special invitation to all former members since the organization of the church more than six years ago, will be extended.

Sermon by the pastor at 11 a. m. Special music by an augmented choir. A Capella choir hour under the direction of Miss Freita Shaw at 5 p. m. The choir will also give a concert at the church on Thursday night, Oct. 19.

A highly successful program was presented Sunday afternoon at the Mt. Corinth Baptist church 1248 East 27 street, Rev. D. D. Penn, pastor. Sermon by Rev. P. A. Harris was well received by the large congregation. Program was sponsored by the president of the Pastor's Aid Society, Mrs. V. Cason, assisted by the Missionary group.

The Woman's Mite Missionary Society of Christ Tabernacle A. M. E. Church, 4612 Hooper ave., will hold their service Sunday, Oct. 15, under the auspices of Rev. C. N. Austin. The program will consist of performances by talented organizations and members from churches throughout the city.

Beginning at eleven A. M. the extended session will carry on till five. Rev. Austin will speak in the morning and Rev. Smith of 2nd A. M. E. at three o'clock, accompanied by his choir and congregation. The public is cordially invited to attend.

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E.E. Lightner, minister, this Sunday will be observed as "Health Day". Dr. Ruth Temple and the staff of the Health Institute will be guests at 11:00 A. M. The Pastor will speak briefly on: "Moral and Spiritual Health". Dr. Temple and others will speak briefly on: "Bodily Health". Special music is being prepared for the occasion. Following the service free milk will be distributed to children. A free Clinic will also be conducted in the basement for the examination of children and adults.

A miscellaneous program, with a brief message by the Pastor will be held at 7:30 P. M.

A ten day revival, conducted by the Rev. Charles Favors, of Phoenix, Arizona at Second Baptist Church, Dr. T. L. Griffith, Pastor, begins Sunday. In preparation for this revival an all night prayer service was held last night, re-assembling today at 10 A. M.

Service of the Wadsworth Seventh Day Adventist church at 40th place and Wadsworth avenue, Oct. 14: Sabbath School Sabbath morning (Saturday) 9:25 a. m. At 11 a. m., Elder William Webb, young minister, graduate of Pacific Union College, will be the speaker, and Oct. 15, Sunday night, Evangelist Elist Earnest McGriff, will speak.

At Wesley Methodist church, 8th and San Julian streets, Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor, last Sunday, Rev. Martin Harvey, director of Young People's work o fthe AME Zion Church, brought a message of interest and inspiration to a large and receptive audience. At the evening hour, music lovers from the city made their way to Wesley to witness the first monthly musical under the direction of Prof. Norton E. Dennis, newly appointed Director of Music. Prof. Dennis thrilled his audience with three piano numbers, artistically executed, musical readings and a talk on the Negro's spiritual folk songs. He also directed the choir which excellently rendered numbers of his own composition.

Sunday is Youth Day. The youth of the church assume full charge of services all day. Dr. Rakestraw will deliver a special sermon to youth at the morning worship. Music will be furnished by the Young People's choir under the direction of Prof. Dennis. The evening service will be a Youth Day Musical. Outstanding youth talent throughout the city will be presented. This will be a service of special merit. Come and witness with us, Wesley of Tomorrow, in action today

The Men'r Day committee of Wesley Methodist church will sponsor a tea and fashion review with all men models Sunday afternoon from 4- 7 p. m., at the home of Prof. T. A. Greene, 752 E. 27th street.

Christian Science Radio Program

Local radio listeners will be interested in the announcement that the Columbia Broadcasting System will readiocast programs of Christian Science which may be heard over KNX (1050 kc), Hollywood, as follows:

Sunday, October 15, at 8 a. m., from San Francisco, by Justice Douglas L. Edmonds under the auspices of the Christian Science Committee on Publication for Northern California in a Pacific Coast broadcast of the West Coast Church of the Air.

Sunday, October 22, at 10 a.m. (PST) from New York City, by Mr. John A. Meeker, under the auspices of the Committee on Publication for the State of New York, in a nation-wide broadcast of the Columbia Church of the Air.

Duties Here Prevent Bishop from Attending Son's Rites

Press of duties here in connection with this week's annual conference of West Coast CME churches prevented Senior Bishop Charles Henry Phillips from returning to St. Louis, Mo., last week to attend the funeral of his eldest son, Dr. Charles Henry Phillips, Jr. A prominent physician and politician in the Middle West, Dr. Phillips died Sept. 29, at his home after a lingering illness. He was buried last Thursday.

Speaking for the Bishop, who left Los Angeles Monday for Berkeley and the confab, Rev. Lane C. Cleaves, pastor of Phillips Temple CME church, with whom Bishop Phillips stoped, said the Bishop feared he could not make the trip to St. Louis and back in time for the Conference which opened yesterday, giving also a deterrent, his frail health.

ANTI-LYNCH BILL INSPIRATION

Dr. Phillips was born 57-years ago in Tullahoma, Tenn.; graduated with honors both from Walden University and Meharry Medical college. To Dr. Phillips is given credit for the thought and spirit of the anti-lynching bill which was first introduced in Congress by former Congressman L. C. Dyer of Missouri. Last year the physician unsuccessfully opposed a white man for a congressional seat on the Republican ticket, losing by a small margin.

REV. LOMA

Dr. Yaeger to Speak at 3 Churches

Taking as his theme, "The Great Physician Speaks on Love, Marriage and Divorce," Dr. C. Elliott Yaeger held the congregation of Zion Hill Baptist church spellbound for nearly an hour Sunday night. At the close of the message, the pastor, Rev. Grant Harris, arranged a special meeting for women only, Monday at 8 p. m.

Sunday, Dr. Yaeger will be the guest speaker at three churches. For the 11 o'clock service at the Pilgrim Baptist church, 45th and Wadsworth, Rev. B. W. Wade, pastor; the 3 o'clock service at the riangular Church of Truth, 52nd and Wadsworth, Rev. Pearl Woods, pastor; and the 8 o'clock service at the Zion Temple, 1315 E. Vernon avenue, Bishop Sara Butler, pastor.

PLEASANT HILL BAPT. CHURCH CELEBRATES

Observing the 27th anniversary of its founding, the membership of Pleasant Hill Baptist Church has had a full program of a week's duration, assisted by various churches of the city. The celebrants, under the inspired leadership of their pastor, Rev. A. W. Ross expect to scale new heights in the years ahead.

Pastor, Wife Return from Eastern Tour

LONG BEACH, Oct. 12.—Rev. Thurston G. Lomax, pastor of Second Baptist church, with wife and mother recently returned from an extended tour of the East and Mid-west. While in the East they attended the National Baptist Convention sessions, both in Philadelphia and also the New York World's Fair.

Their trip included visits to Atlantic City, N. J., the birthplace of Rev. Lomax; Washington, D. C., Richmond, Va., Chicago, St. Louis, Mo., and many other places of interest. During their tour Rev. Lomax spoke at several outstanding churches including Pilgrim Baptist church pastored by Rev. J. C. Austin. His charming wife sang at these services. They have returned from their trip full of inspiration to do a greater work in their home church.

MRS. LOMAX

TULSA PASTOR ON CBS RADIO PROGRAM

TULSA Okla.) Oct. 12—Rev. W. A. Jennings, pastor of Vernon AME church, was "guest of honor" speaker Sunday over the CBS program "Wings Over Jordan." Selected by CBS officials, Rev. Jennings is the first speaker ever chosen from the ministerial field of Oklahoma. The broadcast originated in Cleveland.

Dr. C. E. Yaeger to Conduct School of Better Living Here

Desiring to extend the scope of its services to the citizens of Los Angeles, the Round Robin Cooperative and Civic League, Inc., of which Elledge R. Penland is founder, announces the opening of the School of Better Living. Dr. C. Elliott Yaeger has been appointed director.

Dr. Yaeger will conduct classes in which problems of health, marriage and love will be discussed. Thursday night will be for women only, and Friday night for men. These classes start promptly at 8 p. m., last one hour and are free.

Dr. Yaeger enjoys a nation-wide reputation as a physician, author, teacher and orator. He retired from his practice in Philadelphia some years ago to devote his time to promoting the work of the Great Physician. He is executive director of the National Bureau of Married Relations, author of the book "New Bodies for Old," and editor of the news column, "The Great Physician Speaks."

BELOVED MINISTER OF SAN ANTONIO DEAD

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Oct 12—As he neared the end of his evening sermon at West End Baptist church here Sunday night of last week, the Rev. Edmund Dill Dukes, one of the city's most beloved figures, was claimed by death.

Dr. Lovell in Farewell at 1st AMEZ

At First AME Zion church, Pico Blvd. and Paloma Street, Dr. H. Philbert Lankford, pastor, Dr. Walter R. Lovell, former pastor and recently appointed editor of the Star of Zion, will preach in farewell services at 11 o'clock and 6:45 P. M. Dr. Lovell announces his subjects for the morning, "The Price of God's Presence" and in the evening, "Farewell".

Gilbert F. Allen will direct the senior choir in special music at both services.

A testimonial and farewell reception is being given at the church Monday evening, October 16th for Rev. and Mrs. Lovell and family under the auspices of the Board of Trustees, J. C. Banks, chairman and Mrs. Hazel G. Whitaker, chairman of the reception committee.

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' operation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of ne- cessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and require- ments of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:

LIBRA, Sept. 20, to Oct. 19

Libra people are a refined and courteous group. Filled with good taste, and great lovers of harmony. They dislike solitary living and find their beautiful temperament a great social asset.

One must not overlook the fact that, behind all of their tolerance, is a seeing eye, that eye is the eye of a judge. Their judgment, are scrupulously fair, but they tend to stick rigorously to their findings.

There is a great appreciation of beauty, and the finer things of life. Harmony, however, means more to the Libra people than anything else. Without it, they are robbed of a portion of the most essential part of their life, and they will go to no means to acquire that end, thus creating one of their most common errors.

If you were born under this sign, or any of the other planets, and would like advice or information that might aid you in governing your life, write Prof. Herman, today.

D. R. B. Dear Friend: I really feel that you are a friend, since I have written you. My home and my luck has changed for the best, and happiness and love are really mine. Thank you for your help and interest.

L. W. Will I find someone to love me?

Ans. It appears that you are now in love with G. C. but up to this time he has given you no encouragement. You are only fourteen years old and have many years ahead of you. If you will only be patient you will have the love and happiness you desire in later years.

E. F. Will we get any money?

Ans. Probing into the matter I find that yau are a farmer and have been havir a great deal of trouble with your crops. However, it appear that this fall will show a great improvement over the previous seasons, so keep up your courage.

H. S. Will my husband have success?

Ans. A careful analysis of your husband's chart shows that he has ability to succeed, but has had no opportunity to show his talents. I vision him having success in Pennsylvania as he will find work in his line there.

F. C. Where is my sister-in-law?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that you have had no word from your sister-in-law for sometime, and are wondering if you can locate her. If you will write to the Bureau of Missing Persons in Lockhart Alabama, they will be able to give you some very interesting information.

L. B. Dear Prof. I am getting along just fine since I purchased one of your wonderful Hindu Charm bags, and wish to thank you for the splendid advice you have given me. May God bless your wonderful works.

Mrs. M. H. Will my love affair ever be right?

Ans. It seems that you are in love with a single man, that has been going with a married woman. And he is having quite a time breaking away from her. Affairs of this kind, do take time and patience as the persons involved must get used to being alone, and not seeing the one they love. Your friend is doing his best, an deverything will be alright within a few weeks.

G. L. Will my husband find employment?

Ans. Your husband is just one of the thousands that are out of work at this time. I vision him finding a part time job, in the very near future and this will later result into a regular job.

B. D. Will I get my things?

Ans. Concentrating upon the matter I find that your sister has some of your clothes and has made no effort to return them. She will, however bring them to you as soon as you leave the hospital.

L. E. S. Who stole my things?

Ans. Probing into the matter it seems that a sheet and porch cover are missing from your home. Notify the police, they may be able to help you.

Seattle Pastor Resigns from Church Post

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 12—Pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist church here the past seven and one-half years, Rev. T. M. Davis tendered is resignation here last week, effective November 30, 1939.

Rev. Davis, together with Rev. Fred A. Hughes of the AME church and Rev. John R. Harris, made up the finest ministerial triumvirate ever to grace the churches of Seattle in the estimation of residents of this city. Rev. Hughes has been removed to the Missouri conference and only Rev. Harris, of this group remains.

In a lengthy letter of resignation, Rev. Davis, who attended the recent National Baptist Convention of America sessions in Los Angeles at Second Baptist church, wrote that "there was unrest in Mt. Zion that threatened my best interests and also the best interests of the church."

Young People's Day at Trinity

Young people's day will be observed at Trinity Baptist Church Sunday.

Under the auspices of the B. T. U. four services will be devoted to youth and its activities. Come worship with the young people!

Two inspiring worship services, at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. Hear the special message by the pastor, Dr. Caston, at the morning service. Don't miss the musical hour 6-7 p. m. Hear Dr. Chas. Satchell Morris at 7 p. m. He is on leave of absence from his professorship in Nashville, Tenn. All young people are especially welcomed to our Fellowship Hour, to be held in social hall at close of evening worship.

Rose Lee Hennington, pres.; Edward Toney, chairman of program committee.

Clinic to Be Held Sunday at Lincoln

Sunday morning, October 15, during the 11 o'clock service at the Lincoln Memorial Congregational church at the corner of Hooper and Vernon avenues, the Community Health Clinic will take part in the services.

Master of ceremonies will be James W. Parker, speakers of the morning: Rev. Lightner, Dr. E. I. Robinson, Dr. Ruth Temple and Earl Armstead, Director of Visual Education.

After the services, the Doctors and Nurses and the church's committee on health will retire to the basement where the Health Clinic will be held. All persons wishing to be examined free of charge are requested to be on hand, and mothers, "bring the babies".

At 3 p. m. the usual health program will be held at the Temple Health Institute, 4920 S. Central avenue. All young people are asked to be present to hear this program. Among the skits will be Dr. Dee (Quiz) Hodge, James W. Parker, radio commentator, Mr. R. C. Jackson, Educator who presents a juvenile skit. As usual, the Health Clinic is open to all for better health.

Dr. Ruth Temple, Medical Director.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

These words from John's first epistle, "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous," are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses also from I John: "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. . . . And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world." Paul's words to the Corinthians are also included: "And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit,—the law of divine Love."

Worshippers Hear Dr. C. S. Morris

Speaks at Second Baptist and Long Beach Mass Meet

Dr. Charles S. Morris, II, professor of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State College, Nashville, now on leave from that institution, was greeted by throngs at both the morning and evening worship services at the Second Baptist church last Sunday. He was introduced in each instance by the Rev. Dr. T. L. Griffith, veteran and scholarly pastor.

In his eloquent morning sermon on "The Unknown God" Dr. Morris stated that there are two kinds of knowledge, namely, that of information and that of acquaintance. While individuals are often intellectually conversant with the chief facts of His life they as often do not know Him by acquaintance for themselves. He indicated as pathways of approach obedience, prayer, faith, and service.

Dr. Griffith announced at the morning hour that the Second Baptist church is planning a testimonial for Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who recently returned to Los Angeles from a far-flung eastern tour. The affair will be given during the month of November.

At the evening service Dr. Morris was welcomed by another large concourse when he spoke from the theme "The Treasures of the Soul."

Paul R. Williams, the noted architect, who designed the structure, was present with Mrs. Williams and made brief remarks at the close of the service.

SPEAKS IN LONG BEACH

In the afternoon, Dr. Morris was the principal speaker at a community mass meeting staged in the Second Baptist church at Long Beach. The dedication of the new organ played by Dr. Riley (white) of Los Angeles was a feature of this service. A large crowd listened to his message on "The Emancipation".

Next Sunday morning, Dr. Morris will be the preacher at the regular morning worship service at the Calvary Baptist church, Santa Monica. He will also be the speaker at a gathering there in the afternoon. At seven-thirty he will address a Young People's Day event in the Trinity Baptist Church of which the Rev. J. Lyle Caston is pastor, to be followed by a reception in the church parlors. Late next week he departs for points in lower California.

Church in Pasadena Celebrates

First Anniversary of Community Bapt. Church is Observed

PASADENA, Oct. 12—The Community Baptist Church here celebrated its first anniversary, Sunday, Oct. 1. It was also the first anniversary of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Coleman, B. Th.

Aspecial service was held at four o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. G. C. Coleman of Oakland, the first vice-president of the National Baptist Convention of America, delivered the sermon. Among those present and taking a part in the service were Rev. John W. Davis of Monrovia; Father W. A. Wilkerson, Rev. E. W. Moore, D. D., Att'y J. T. Philips, Rev. Walter F. Watkins, D. D., Los Angeles; Mrs. Eva Burton, Mrs. Morton, Pittsburg, Pa., and Dr. A. G. Fairfax, Chicago, Ill.

Communications were read from Hon. E. O. Nay, chairman, Pasadena board of directors; Mrs. G. E. Kennedy, president, Pasadena Council Religious education; Dr. John A. Sexton, Supt., Pasadena school board of education; Dr. A. E. Day, (white) First Methodist church, and Dr. A. W. Webster, president, Pastor's Union.

Among the members of the church who appeared on the program were: welcome address, Mrs. Galena Mackey; official greetings, A. H. Shaw; history of the church, Mrs. Isabella Johnson; Our Pastor, Mrs. G. V. Edwards; Our Community, Mrs. Eva Burton.

LISTS ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Rev. J. W. Coleman studied at Virginia Union at Richmond; Chicago University, and the Northern Baptist Theological Seminar yat Chicago. While at Richmond he was assistant pastor under Dr. W. T. Johnson, and after going to Chicago he was assistant pastor of the Pilgrim Baptist church, the Rev. J. C. Austin, D. D. pastor. Afterwards he pastored in the Chicago area for eighteen years.

Rev. Coleman came to Pasadena less than two years ago from Chicago.

Among the many accomplishments of the church in its first year are the purchase of the present building which can be easily converted into a spacious church edifice at a small cost; the four weeks vacation Bible school which was regarded as one of the most model of the twenty schools held here the past summer; the free employment bureau and the church office open to the public daily; the commission for Better Race Relations; Community Center with boys' and girls' activities; a reception and social hall for use by the community clubs and organizations.

The week's services closed last Sunday.

Lela O. Murray Hostesses La Jovials

Mrs. Lela O. Murray, proprietor of Murray's Dude Ranch, was a charming hostess to the popular La Jovials of Los Angeles last Sunday at the ranch near Victorville.

Entertainment for the day included a chicken dinner with the president of the club, Mrs. Eva Buckner, at the head of the table, and Mrs. Hazel Franklin, acting as mistress of ceremonies.

Members with their husbands and escorts included: Messrs. and Mesdames Spencer Buckner, James Mason, Ordred Saunders, Clarence Lester, Judy Atkins, Robert Dean, Luther Eads, Thomas Moore, Earl Odell; Miss Hazel Franklin, Mrs. Lenora Broks, Arthur Callahan, and M. Johnson of New York City.

Returning to the city in the early evening, the club was entertained with a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Odell.

'five and over' to present dances

The Five and Over Charity club is presenting Malcolm Nash and his pupils in Patriotic Memories in Rhythm, Friday evening, Nov. 10 at Patriotic Hall. This club, of which Mrs. Mable Gray is president, is one of the oldest organizations in the city and has given aid to many individuals and groups.

As there is a greater demand for aid this year than ever before, the club feels itself fortunate to secure the type of program so appropriate to the season. Mr. Nash promises to present all patriotic numbers with military formations in dance form along with other unique innovations which distinguish Nash offerings to the public.

Mrs. Billie McFarland, chairman of Commissary Dept., is soliciting patrons. Each patron will receive a souvenir.

This program will be the first of its kind to be given by any group in the city.

Reception Given By Mrs. Porter Honors Guests

A lovely reception was given by Mrs. Edna Hammett Porter at her beautiful home Monday, Oct. 2, from 2 to 5 p. m., honoring her houseguests, Mesdames Meliccia R. Eskridge of Kansas City, Mo., a civic, fraternal and church worker; and Forestine Neal Bostic of Chicago, Ill., an adult educational vocal teacher, and director of the Senior choir of Monumental Baptist church.

Receiving graciously at the door was Madame Te Outley. In the receivnig line were the hostess, honored guests, Mrs. S. P. Johnson, Mesdames Caddi Lawson and Ganie King of Kansas City, and Mrs. Fannie Morton, Pittsburgh.

Many outstanding muisicians contributed to the impromptu program during the afternoon, including Mesdames Lillian Dinkins, Zelma Watson Duke, Mabel Massengell, Anna Gray Carr, Geneva L. Wallace, Miss Edna Rosalyn Heard, Septimus Silas, and Vivian Fudge. Prof. Norton Dennis, the new choir director of Wesley Methodist church, was introduced. Miss Veenie Fudge presided at the piano intermittently.

Many beautifully gowned ladies were in attendance. Serving at the handsome, lace-covered dining room table were Mesdames Chiola Finley and Emma Neal.

The honored guests left for their respective homes Monday and Tuesday evening, praising their hostess in particular and the congenial Angelenos in general, as VERY hospitable.

Nine Star Bridge Club Meets with Mrs. Shavers

The Nine Star Bridge club met with Mrs. Eva Shavers, 859 E. 53rd street, recently.

After a brief leave of absence, the club was glad to welcome back Mrs. Lovna Wilson. The evening was spent playing bridge. Club prizes were won by Lovna Wilson, Alma Ward and Henrietta Miles, and guest prize to Mrs. Margaret Johnson.

Guests of the evening, Mrs. Clarabelle Smith, Mrs. Ernestine Washington, and Mrs. Margaret Johnson, were cordially invited to return.

Interest High in Coming Dining Car Waiters Meet

Strong interest is developing throughout the Pacific Coast and Midwest in the Second Biennial General Convention of Local 465 (Union Pacific) Protective Order of Dining Car Waiters, which will be held in Los Angeles October 24-27.

Word received at the local office, 1158 E. 12th street, indicates a full attendance of delegates and officials from the several districts of the Local, including Omaha, Nebraska; Ogden, Utah; Denver, Colorado; Portland, Oregon; Oakland and Los Angeles.

Prominent among out-of-town officials who will attend is George Halsey, district chairman at Denver, who is a strong contender for the office of president, now held by Elder G. Scott of Omaha.

The convention will open with a public meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 24, 8 p. m., at First AME church, E. 9th street and Towne avenue, which will be addressed by various public officials and local figures. Elder G. Scott will deliver the keynote address.

Business sessions, which will also be open to the public, will be held at Masonic Temple, 1050 E. 50th street, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25-27, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Highlight of the Convention's social affairs will be the "Dining Car Employees Convention Ball" on Thursday, Oct. 26 from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at Masonic Temple, 1050 E. 50th street. This affair, which will will be a public one, will feature George Brown and his Ebony Collegians.

Ful information about all details of the convention can be secured from the union office, or by calling VAndyke 9007.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

Live a Healthier, Happier, Longer Life

Thousands of men and women wonder why backache bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night—why flow is scanty and sometimes smarts and burns.

Any one of these symptoms may mean that your kidneys and bladder need attention now before these minor symptoms may develop into serious trouble.

To flush out excess waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put more healthy activity into them, get a 35-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Capsules and take as directed.

This harmless, tried and true medicine gives results—you should feel better in a few days as this effective diuretic and kidney stimulant drives excess uric acid from the body which is often the aggravation of pain, agony, sciatica and neuritis.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—right from Haarlem in Holland. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original—the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

These Are Broiler Days

By BETTY BARCLAY

Whether you live in town or country, brisk autumn days no doubt have brought a whirl of activity and little time to give to the ever-present problem of "what shall we eat?"

Quickly prepared meals are a "must" in many busy households, yet the needs of family health and budget restrictions also must be met. Appetites often pick up amazingly with cooler days, making the menu problem even more acute.

When planning meals with an eye on the clock, how many homemakers remember the adaptability of the modern broiler? Meat, fruit and vegetables—almost the entire meal—can be broiled at once. There is no quicker method of cooking and none more healthful. Moreover, there are many excellent combinations which can be cooked in this fashion, and with the addition of a soup or salad and perhaps dessert, your meal is ready.

An excellent choice is this banana-orange meat grill, with lamb or veal chops or ground meat patties wound with bacon strips, and slices of orange, banana and tomato, all broiled for 10 or 12 minutes and served on grill plates. Like this:

4 green-tipped bananas, peeled
4 orange slices, ½-inch thick
4 lamb chops, ¾-inch thick
4 tomato slices, ½-inch thick
Salt and Pepper
Melted butter or other fat

Place the bananas on the center of a greased broiler rack. Around them group the orange slices, tomatoes and chops. Brush bananas with melted butter. Salt bananas and tomatoes. Set broiler rack 3 inches under a moderately hot broiler flame. Broil for 10-12 minutes, turning once to secure an even brown. Serve on hot platter, seasoning meat with salt and pepper. Garnish with lemon wedges, sliced stuffed olives and parsley.

With a green salad, served with lemon French dressing, and a light dessert, your meal will be complete. To make lemon French dressing, shake together ⅓ cup each of lemon juice and salad oil, 1 teaspoon each of salt and paprika and 2 tablespoons sugar or honey.

A delicious dessert which may be baked early in the day and served cold, or baked at the same time the rest of the meal is broiling is

Lemon Chiffon Pudding (Serves 4)

Cream: 2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
Add: 2 egg yolks, beaten
¼ cup Sunkist lemon juice
1 cup milk
Fold in: 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Bake in an 8-inch unbuttered pudding dish or individual custard cups, set in a pan of warm water. Bake 35 minutes in oven (360° to 375° F.) Will form a cake top with a layer of custard below.

"My Silhouette" Dress Form Easily Moulded

No woman ever sewed for herself, or for anyone else for that matter; or no woman ever stood tedious hours "trying on", who at some time didn't wish for a perfect dress form, to stand as a robot, always acquiescent to fittings no matter how prolonged.

A fmaous designer of nota, who has worked with Marhee in Paris, with Lindholm in Vienna and who has had designing schools in Chicago and New York, has just such a proxy, a made to form model, appropriately called "My Silhouette".

Put up in a handy kit are all the materials for making this dress form, each accurately labeled with explicit instructions so that any woman can actually reproduce for her use orr that of her dressmaker a mould of her own body, just as she is when she's ready to dress.

First there is a Modeling Form, an elastic tubing which conforms to any size figure. This is put on over a well fitting foundation garmen or a shapely girdle and brassiere with the model standing erect to give the perfect posture all women desire. Around the neck is placed a special collar band of knit fabric to insure a well fitting neckband.

Then strips of "Modeling Tape" are wrapped, around mummy fashion, following instructions carefully reinforcing the silhouette form by criss cross, lengthwise and cross wise strips.

After the form is completed "My Silhouette" is slit down the back and carefully removed, then retaped down the back to complete the dress form. And presto: Milady has once and for all her own "My Silhouette."

This ress form, when completed, is firm and well constructed. It can be mounted on a stand to an individual's exact height and looks for all the world like a dress form costing 20 times as much or more.

This sensational dress form has swept the country, declares the manufacturer, being appoved by designers, dressmakers, and clever women who saw for themselves.

Now our women readers, by special arrangements with the manufacturer, will have a chance to get "My Silhouette" for many times less than what anyone would expect it to cost. Readers of The California Eagle have only to fill in the coupon below, enclosing in cash or by money order only $1.26 (plus four cents tax) and all the makings of this perfect dress form, together with complete and simple directions, will be sent within a few days. Here is the coupon. Fill it in. Send it in today.

SHINGTON, D. C.—Following the academic procession (above) dministrative officers, deans and faculties of the nine schools colleges of Howard University from the Founders Library to rew Rankin Memorial Chapel, Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, Presi-, formally began the 73rd year of instruction Sept. 26, 1939 at 0 o'clock, with an address welcoming the various faculty mem- and student body.

Dr. Johnson said:

"This is the seventy-sixth year of the emancipation of the es. We are entering the seventy-third year of the operation of vard University. We are entering upon the sixtieth year of the port of this institution by the Federal Government involving the ent and cooperation of both of the major political parties in United States, and we are entering upon the ninth year of the ressed determination of the Federal Government of the United es to develop this institution into a first class university service. The mere citation of these events is a demonstration of the gradual development and growth of the highest will to freedom among the American people because we have here expressed that profound reverence for the high possibilities of the life of the humblest individual upon which all free government is based and is a specific and explicit expression of the determination of this government to bring the humblest personality to the highest possible function."

Delegate to Legion Meet Finds Chicago Employment Service Set-up Unusual

Mr. and Mrs. Norman O. Houston returned to the city Saturday evening after a month's vacation in principal cities in the Middle West which culminated in a visit in Chicago where Mr. Houston was delegate from California to the American Legion convention.

Outstanding among the observations made in the "Windy City" by Mr. Houston was that of the Illinois State Employment cervice of which S. B. Danley, former Pasadenan, is manager. Under Mr. Danley works a mixed staff engaged in various phases of the state-supported program. Mr. Houston said a fine service was being rendered in the highly coordinated set-up.

As one of the seven Negro official delegates to the Legion convention, Mr. Houston was most interested in the resolution to amend the Legion constitution to make possible the organization of Negro veterans in Southern states independent of the state department and under the jurisdiction of the national office. It was brought out that a number of states such as Georgia, do not recognize Negro veterans.

While in Chicago, Mr. Houston also spent considerable time with the Chicago staff of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company which he serves in the executive capacity of secretary-treasurer. It was his first official visit to the Chicago branch of the Company by which he was honored with a dinner in the famed Morris East shop, attended by Chicago's foremost business men and civic leaders which also celebrated the first anniversary of the Chicago branch.

NUMEROUS SOCIAL EVENTS

The Houstons were recipients of numerous social courtesies in every city they visited. In St. Louis, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bige Wyatt (Mr. Wyatt is the owner of the extensive Wyatt Taxi Service); in Kansas City, as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Alexander, kin of Mrs. Houston, they were roundly entertained.

In Detroit, they attended the Louis-Pastor fight. While there, they renewed a numbe r of old friendships and met among former Southlanders, Joe Burch, now a practicing attorney in Flint, Michigan.

In Chicago, they were dinner guests of Alderman and Mrs. Earl Dickerson and at a fete at the estate of Edward Jones and a champagne party, hosted by Mrs. Cole, socialite, and aff"iate of the Metropolitan Funeral System Association. The affair included on its guest list such notable as Mrs. Marva Louis, Julian Black, Alderman and Mrs. Dickerson and former Alderman Louis Anderson. They were also guests of John Sengestacke, general manager of the Chicago Defender, at the Ella Fitzgerald show at the Chicago Grand Terrace where Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and his charming wife were also guests, and saw Ethel Waters in "Mamba's Daughters," now playing in Chicago as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart. They were also feted by the "Mayor of Bronzeville," Robert Miller and Mrs. Miller.

Among others who entertained the Houstor were Mr. and Mrs. Avery Smith, Mrs Louise (Scott) Brown, formerly of Los Angeles and wife of a Chicago optometrist; Dr. and Mrs. Ovid Harris (formerly Clara Lisberg of L. A.); Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Green, and Dr. C. Leon Wilson. Mrs. Houston was the guest of Mrs. Frank Edwards at the Arlington race track with Mrs. Robert S. Abbott and daughter.

Mr. Houston renewed his friendship with William Patterson, known to many Californians, who is associate editor of the Daily Record and whom he hadn't seen for 20 years. During the final days of their stay, they were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ellis Stewart. Mr. Stewart is vice president of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co.

SPEAKER FOR SEVERAL GROUPS

Mr. Houston was kept busy speaking for various civic and business groups. In St. Louis, he addressed the board of directors of the St. Louis YMCA in preparation for their annual membership drive. In Detroit, he was guest speaker for the Booker T. Washington Trade association which serves as a Negro chamber of commerce engaged in encouraging the formation and development of Negro businesses instead of concentrating on forcing their way into white firms. The 8-year old organization has shown marked progress and is now interested in aiding a similar association in Cleveland, Ohio. In Morgan Park, Chicago, he spoke at the Arnett Chapel AME church.

NEUTRALITY IS LEAGUE TOPIC

A dicourse on the subject of "Neutrality" will be heard Sunday morning at 8 o'clock during the monthly program of the Los Angeles Fellowship League, A. Dumas Watson, executive secretary, announced today.

The league meets at the 28th St. YMCA.

The "Neutrality" speaker will be a former faculty member of the University of Michigan. Miss Miriam Matthews, book commentator and librarian, will review "Black Folk—Then and Now," by Dr. W. E. B. DuBois.

Music features include Mr. Broadnax, formerly of the Hall Johnson choir.

Denies Charge of Theft from Employers

Herman Davis, 1724 E. 47th street, has been arrested and charged with ree counts of petty theft arising out of the asserted stealing of copper and other metals from a public service corporation of Torrance, wher ehe had been employed assertedly for the past 20 years.

Represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, the charges are stoutly denied by Davis. Davis claims that he is a trusted employee of the company and that the first he knew of any stealing being done was when he was arrested by investigating officers upon basis of accusations made against him by two men whose names he claims he does not know

His trial has been set for Oct. 20 in the City court of Torrance.

..F. of L.'s Sincerity Questioned By NAACP

EW YORK, Oct. 12—A ques- as to the American Federa- of Labor's sincerity in con- ing an investigation into dis- nination within the ranks of mpa, Fla., A. F. of L. ship- ding unions, was raised here week by the National Asso- ion for the Advancement of ored People.

a letter sent to William en, president of the A. F. of September 29, by Walter te, and made public today, forthrightness of an investi- on conducted by an A. F. of organizer sent to Tampa re- ly by Green, to conduct a be into discrimination in al No. 1207 of the Interna- al Hod Carirers, Building Common Laborers Union of erica, and a local of the In- national Brotherhood of Boil- ermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers of America was questioned. The Hod Carriers Union wae formed sometime prior to June 1, 1938, after one white and twelve Negro workers at the Tampa Shipbuilding yards went out on strike. Discrimination in recent months has forced more than 500 Negro union members out of jobs in the shipbuilding indusrtry in Tampa.

Following a vigorous protest launched by the NAACP, President Green, of the A. F. of L., sent an investigator to Tampa. It was following reports from Negro members of the union that the NAACP sent the critical letter to Green. According to reports contained in the letter, the investigation, far from being complete, is characterized as "superficial."

Progress of Brotherhood of Red Caps Surveyed for Year

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Approximately one year after the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision granting "employee status" to red caps, station porters and ushers, the International Brotherhood of Red Caps has translated this momentus legal decision into terms of concrete organizational results.

Today with nearly 16,000 miles of Class A railroads under contract, the Brotherhood has entered into the spirit of developing the strength of the organization with full steam ahead. Aside from the contracts already under the belt of the union, the Brotherhood is in the midst of a series of negotiations with railway managements which in the near future will push its contract mileage into the neighborhood of 85,000 miles of Class A railroads. This figure, when compared with the best mileage of any of the old railroad unions, is a great feather in the sap of the two-year old Brotherhood.

SET CONFERENCES

Resulting from a series of elections conducted among Red Cap by the National Mediation Board, in which the International Brotherhood of Red Caps was selected as the bargaining agency on numerous systems and terminals, the dates have been set for a number of preliminary conferences between railroad officials, and representatives of the International Brotherhood of Red Caps.

On October 5. Brotherhood representatives opened negotiations with the Memphis Union Station Company on October 9, A conference was held with the Pennsylvania Railroad. Union officials and the Illinois Central officials will meet October 21. The Union Pacific Brotherhood meeting is scheduled for October 18. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas will meet with Union heads on October 20. Southern Pacific (T. & N. O. Division) October 23, and the Houston Belt and Terminal Company has set October 25 at the date for the meeting with the Brotherhood.

FORM AUILIARY

Compared with the nature of the union's work a year ago which was 75 per cent legal, over 75 percent of the work today is in the nature of complaints, adjustments, agreements and conferences with railway managements. This calls for a day to day office routine of filing complaints, submitting memoranda to railway managements, invoking the services of the National Mediation Board, selecting Brotherhood representatives for elections, meeting with grievance and negotiation committees, settling complaints, inspecting contract proposals, holding weekly staff conferences and numerous other detail activities which goes into the process of building a trade union.

Also going into the process of growth, the Brotherhood has extended its organization into the ranks of wives, mothers and friends in the form of the Women's Auxiliary.

Say Chicago to See Hard Winter

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—With continual reduction of relief budgets and a diminishing amount of funds available for relief, Chicagoans will see a hard winter, it was predicted here last week.

There are approximately 115,000 cases on relief and 84,000 persons employed on WPA, it is claimed. Organizations and individuals are urging the governor to call a special session of the legislature to provide means for increasing the amount of money available for relief purposes.

...xplains Work of Chest's Public Relations Groups

Mrs. George W. Grimm, irman for the Adams-Expos- n area of the Community st, yesterday gave an ex- nation of the working of the rict's Public Relations com- tee, as an example of how Chest unifies all citizens of Angeles in a mutual pur- e.

he pointed out that in the e manner in which all Chest ncies serve all persons who ly without distinction as to e, creed, or political belief, the volunteer organization, ich numbers about 18,000 rk together in a truly Ameri- way in a common cause.

While volunteers from all alks of life are working to cure subscriptions to total ,221,720 for service to hun- eds of thousands through hest agencies, groups roughout the city are learn- g of the steps taken to solve the social problems in the community, she added.

SPEAKERS' BUREAUS

Through the District Public Relations Committee, headed by Mrs. Florence T. Lombard, Chest representatives are being placed in all churches and places of worship, and in all clubs and other organized groups. These representatives cooperate in securing comprehensive informative programs for the groups, it is explained.

The engagements are arranged through the District Speakers' Bureau, which works with the Chest's Speakers Bureau and makes available lectures by authoritative speakers; sound pictures of great human interest; or an entire evening's program for interested groups. It is stated that the Speakers' Bureau this year has booked approximately 1500 engagements throughout the city, many of them being 'return' programs.

Claims Property Owners Opposed to '30-Thursday'

Confident that Negro propy owners, numbering some 000 in Los Angeles and vicin- are solidly opposed to the -Thursday" script scheme was pressed yesterday by Hugh cBeth, local attorney.

At the same ti e it was re- aled by Rev. Frank A. Harris, sident of the Interdenomina- nal Ministers Alliance of 100 gro churches in the city and unty, that the entire 100 minis- s of this group had voted in vor of a resolution denouncing e "30-Thursday" plan.

A tang indication of grow- g Negro opposition to the easure Proposition No. 1 on e November 7 ballot, came esterday from Carl Johnson, egro realtor, who announced at scores of meetings are to held in the weeks to come fore the election. Speakers ll warn voters of the dange- e in the scheme, Johnson said. Native Negro property ners are unitedly opposed to e "30-Thursday" proposition d that they will vote as a group r its defeat," was the state- ment of MacBe

Rev. Harris declared that the pastors of the Interdenominational Alliance are warning their congregations from the pulpit of the perils to their rights and security contained in the scrip scheme.

CLAIM NEGRO EQUALLY DETERMINED TO STAY OUT OF EUROPE'S WAR

Negro World War Record Emphatic Proof of Sacrifices Race Must Make

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Colored citizens throughout the country are deeply concerned as to whether or not the United States will eventually be drawn into the European war, and also as to whether or not during this period of controversy "politics is to be adjourned".

They have a very definite concern in the first of those questions because, constituting one-tenth of the population of the United States, that is 12,000, their fathers, their brothers, or other kin, will be called to bear arms in proportionately large numbers if the Negro enters the conflict abroad, the Republican National Committee claims in a statement issued today.

The Negro has gallantly borne arms in every war of the Republic, from Revolutionary times down to the World conflict of 1917-18. However, he loves peace for the sake of peace, and because he knows that war bears heaviest always upon the poorer groups of the country. His place in the economic scale is such as to consign the masses of the race to this category.

200,000 WENT OVERSEAS

During the last World conflict, 400,000 colored men were called to the colors and, of these, 200,000 went overseas. They endured the same hardships and suffered the same proportionate number of fatalities and disablements, and thousands of them have been compelled to have recourse to hospitalization in the effort to "patch up" shattered, battered bodies. These former colored Veterans and their families and the new eligibles for selected draft service, do not wish to face the hardships and the illusions of another World War, except to protect America from invasion. Negro public opinion seems quite generally crystallized against any legislation which will threaten these dire results.

SHOULD POLITICS BE ADJOURNED

While efforts are being made by Congress, through Neutrality Legislation, to keep the country out of war, it has been repeatedly stated that "politics should be adjourned." Many analyses of this statement have been made, probably no clearer one than the following by Franklyn Waltman, Publicity Director of the Republican National Committee:

"If the world 'politics' is to be construed in its invidious sense of seeking narrow and selfish partisan advantage at the expense of national welfare, most assuredly 'politics should be adjourned' not only under present conditions, but under all conditions at all times.

"But if 'politics' means, as Mr. Webster defines it, 'the theory or practice of managing or directing the affairs of public policy,' most emphatically it should not be adjourned, but instead should be a subject of quickened interest on the part of the people of the United States and their duly elected representatives."

The thought implicit in this statement is that pressing domestic problems should not be overlooked, and that political vigilance in national affairs should not be abandoned because of the war in Europe.

TEST OF DEMOCRACY

Mr. Waltman feels that "most of the ills from which this nation is suffering today result from an adjournment of politics in the emergency of 1933 and the abdication of Congress of its constitutional right and duty to legislate fearlessly and independently for the people . . .

"The real test of democracy," he says, "is whether it can function wisely and efficiently in times of stress or whether under such conditions it must surrender its principles and convert itself into a bureaucracy or despotism. Those who now ask this surrender are proclaiming their lack of faith in the democratic processes of representative government. Happily, the faith of millions of Americans in the efficacy of the democratic process remains undimmed, even by the dark clouds of war abroad."

With the headquarters of the two dominant political parties located here in Washington, the minority party, through Chairman John Hamilton, has explained the attitude of Republican National Headquarters towards the present fight for Neutrality Legislation now beginning in the U. S. Senate and the U. S. House of Representatives.

G. O. P. TASK

"It is my opinion," said he, should dedicate itself to THAOI "that the Republican Party should dedicate itself to the task—not of hoping this country will stay out of war—but seeing that IT DOES STAY OUT OF WAR.

"Obviously there will be differences of opinion within the Republican Party as there are in the Democratic Party as to the effect of individual measures of legislation. Because such matters should be approached from a non-partisan view-point there will be honest differences of opinion.

"The Republican organization as such will not permit itself to be placed in a position where it cannot render service to the party as a whole by taking sides in any matters upon which Republican leadership in Congress may have differences of opinion. Our whole objective will be to see that this country is not called upon to dissipate its material resources or sacrifice its men upon the battlefields of Europe."

The task of keeping the country out of war is one to which colored citizens, along with other citizens of the country, may well dedicate their best efforts and influence.

felt if the issue is not faced and rejected promptly.

There is no doubt that a certain type Jewish merchant has made a keen study of the Negro psychology and has exploited colored masses. However, even here we find that the Jew is first to give Negroes employment, first to initiate them into the economic mysteries of modern merchandising. I refuse to believe that Afro-Americans, who have suffered all the oppression and injustice of unfounded racial bias, will allow themselves to fall victim to the demon, Prejudice.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON a group of citizens interested in community betterment met at Thomas Jefferson High school to discuss a condition which, we understand, has become a great menace to the students of that institution.

The meeting was called by Mr. William Lopez, assistant supervisor of physical education, Board of Education, who informed his audience that gangs of nondescript Central Avenue hoodlums had given Jefferson such a bad name in the city's high school football circles that it is threatened with quarantine. That is, Jefferson, boasting some of the city's finest young athletes, will be denied participation in the current sports season because of a group of non-student drifters who invade the school's campus during every game with an outside school.

Of course, there is Section 647 of the Penal Code of the State of California which seems to fit the case neatly. Let me quote the Section:

"Every person who annoys or molests any school child, or who loiters about any school or public place, at or near which such school children attend is a vagrant and is punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment."

But, as in most of our laws, there is a catch: Someone has to swear out a complaint. In this, Jefferson has been completely unsuccessful. So, Mr. Lopez, on behalf of the many fine boys of Jefferson's football team and for the school as a whole, has asked the community to help solve this troublesome problem. Appeals to the City Council are planned, but the most important objective of the "Stop Quarantine at Jefferson" campaign is the enlistment of interest on the part of all the citizens of our community.

Both official and student scurces at Jefferson hotly deny the contention that campus disturbances on game days are caused by pupils. The school is suffering for a crime that is not its own—for the true seat of blame is squarely in the laps of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen. Just as in other local communities, we must take active part in the preservation of a high standard on our high school campus.

Active leaders in the campaign to date are Rev. I. Albert Miller, for many years identified with social welfare work, and the principals of Jefferson and Jordan High schools.

es". I asked one of the witnesses what she had seen and she said she didn't know what it was all about. The policemen did not ask us for our names, though we were the only immediate witnesses. We asked them what it was all about, and one of them said there had been 'a disturbance of the peace" on Baker street and that the Negro had refused to get out of his car to be questioned.

There was at least one bullet hole in the rear of the Negro's car, apparently from a bullet that had been fired before the cars stopped on either side of us.

WHAT POLICE SAY—

At the county hospital where the man was taken at 1 o'clock he was booked as follows:

"Lee Renfro, 32, St. Anthony street, St. Paul Minn., 36. Brought in by city police. He was causing a fight and was hit on the head with a billy club. Small lacerations on forehead and eyebrow. Dismissed to city police."

The arresting officers were believed to be Vernon Furry and Benjamin Vanderpool.

Feller Whiffs 14, But All-Stars Lose

Negro Nine Plays White Kings Next Sunday at Gilmore

Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indian ace and leading American league pitcher, struck out 14 Philadelphia Royal Giants last night at Gilmore Field in the seven innings he pitched, but the Negro nine hopped on Lee Stine, who relieved him, and scored three runs for a 5 to 2 victory over Joe Pirrone's Major league All-Stars.

Feller limited the Giants to five hits. Harvey and McDuffie pitched for the Royal Giants allowing only four hits. Each club made four errors. Stine was the losing pitcher.

Lou Novikoff led the All-Star batting attack and the Giants' big clubs were swung by Wright and Hoskins.

The Winter league goes into its second week next Sunday with a doubleheader scheduled between Babe Herman's White King nine and the Royal Giants. The first game will start at 1:30, at Gilmore, the Giants' home park.

VETERAN TEAM

A veteran Winter League entry, the White Kings boast such major and minor league stars as Steve Mesner, Chicago Cubs; Lefty Powers, Philadelphia Athletics; Leo Carlyle, San Diego; Triddy, who is the property of the New York Yankees; Crandall, Hollywood Stars; and Lefty Schaeffer, Toronto.

Joe Pirrone, league organizer and president, announced yesterday that regular league prices will go into effect next Sunday, bleachers 35c; grandstand, 50c; and boxes 75c.

San Jose State '11' Uncovers New Ace

SAN JOSE, Oct. 12.—There's a new backfield star in the ranks of San Jose's unbeaten Spartans.

He's just a little fellow, but oh my!

His name, Aubrey Minter.

Aubrey is a Negro and a transfer from Fullerton junior college, playing his first season of football for the Spartans.

He stands but 5 feet 7 inches and weighs a mere 165 pounds.

Aubrey has done some very promising relief work at left halfback behind first stringer Howard Costello, but it wasn't until last Saturday night's 28 to 0 victory over Nevada that the little gridder really showed how he can move.

RUNS 85 YARDS

He took the opening kick-off of the second half on the 15-yard line, near the sideline. He cut diagonally across the field behind sharp blocking. As he neared the opposite sideline he really turned on the heat, even passing some of his own blockers. All in all, he went 85 yards to a touchdown without a single Nevadan getting a clean crack at him.

Needless to say, young Mr. Minter will be in there stepping when the Spartans seek their sixth straight victory of the season here tomorrow night against San Diego State, always a dangerous college class team.

Tucker Wins

Tommy Tucker won a 10-round decision over Newsboy Millich at the Olympic Tuesday night before another small house.

Millich took a nine-count twice in the fourth round.

Jim Egnatoff and Harry Webber went four slow rounds to a draw in the semi-windup.

In the action-packed four-round preliminaries, Bob Brown, heavyweight, stopped Edward Scutti in 38 seconds of the first round. Eddie Mosette nodded Frankie Hern; Tony Novarro TKO'ed Bobby Hagar in three; and Ralph Gwartney stopped Jack Townsend in the third heat of the opener.

Hank Hangs Kayo on Manfredo

DES MOINES, Oct. 12.—Easily retaining his welterweight title, Henry Armstrong of Los Angeles, technically knocked out Al Manfredo, Fresno, Calif., in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout here Monday night.

Referee Alex Fidler, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, stopped the fight 1 minute and 35 seconds after the opening of the fourth round with Manfredo helpless against the ropes.

Manfredo won only one round, the first.

Anders Here for Trojan Game

With the giant Negro end, Alphonse Anders, scheduled to see plenty of action the University of Illinois comes to town tomorrow night to do battle Saturday afternoon in the Coliseum against the mighty Trojans of Southern California.

Anders is a made-over backfield ace. Coach Bob Zuppke and the Fightin' Illini plan to field a fast, tricky and aggressive eleven, calculated to halt the forward march of Troy.

BRUINS COME FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT HUSKIES IN THRILLER

Broken Field Running of Jackie Robinson Called Greatest Seen on Coast Gridirons

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 12.—In two touchdown flurries, the Bruins of UCLA came from behind here last Saturday to defeat the University of Washington Huskies, 14-7.

One of the most sensational gridiron battles in the history of the Huskie stadium saw an inspired and fighting Bruin team, led by Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson, outplay the Huskies in all departments of the game, save kicking.

Pushing the ball over from the UCLA five-yard line shortly after the opening kickoff, the Washington Huskies drew first blood. Chuck Fenenbock fumbled the kickoff and in an effort to pick up the ball, kicked it toward his own goal line.

JACKIE JITTERBUGS

Behind 7 to 0 at the start of the third quarter, Jackie Robinson, the ball-carrying sensation from Pasadena jaysee, caught one of Dean McAdams' long punts and from his own 30-yard stripe swirled 65 yards down the field to the Huskie five-yard line. It was declared the prettiest piece of open field running ever witnessed on a football field.

With a touchdown in sight, Kenny Washington battled his way thru the Huskie left guard for the score. Robinson kicked the extra point.

STRODE SNAGS PASSES

When Buck Gilmore, Bruin co-captain intercepted a Huskie pass on the 50-yard stripe, UCLA again gained touchdown momentum. Washington passed to Woodrow Wilson Strode for 24 yards. Kenny again flipped one to Strode who fumbled, the ball being recovered on the Huskie six by Jack Sommers. Washington made first down over tackle and three plays later passed in the flat to Gilmore who went over the last marker unmolested. John Frawley added the extra point.

The whole Bruin team played bang-up football, using at times everything in the books in an effort to score. Those long, tall spiraling punts by McAdams constantly kept the Huskie out of danger and were only overshadowed by the magnificent ball-carrying of Robinson.

STANFORD SATURDAY

With the exception of Robinson, who injured his ankle in the Washington game, Lou Kyzivat and Clark George, who came out of Saturday's melee with assorted ailments, the Bruins, sore and bruised, but with plenty of spirit, this week were preparing to invade Saturday the camp of the Stanford Indians.

Trainer Mike Chambers promised to have all the injured lads ready for Saturday's game.

'Abe Lincoln' Play Scenes Released

CAMDEN (N. J.) Oct. 12—Scenes from the 1939 Pulitzer prize play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," have been recorded and released in a special album of three 12 inch records, it was announced this week by Victor records.

Raymond Massey, who starred in the stage production, has the role of Lincoln. The records show scenes from that part of the emancipator's life when he was deciding whether to fight against slavery, and his reply to Stephen A. Douglas in their famous debate on slavery, and his farewell to Springfield immediately after election to the presidency and when the South had started seceding.

Insurance Co. Takes Over Burial Co.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12—Announcement was made this week that the Louisiana Industrial Life Insurance company, owned and controlled by Negroes, had taken over the $450,000 business of a burial company located at Baton Rouge.

The burial concern was organized by whites to write business on Negro lives, a year ago and had grown to the above status with a weekly debit of more than $400.00.

Certain conditions arose in the company whereby it was necessary to reinsure this vast business in another company.

GO TO JEFF'S AID

Seventh District Councilman Carl Rasmussen visited the meeting of the Jefferson High school Good Government Committee which met at the office of the California Eagle Monday afternoon.

The committee was organized to fight the threatened quarantine against Jefferson in inter-High school athletics. Disturbances assertedly caused by non-students during football games at Jefferson, are labelled the cause of the Democrats sour position in the city's sports circles.

Efforts to remove demoralizing influences from the school area have been unsuccessful to date, since nondescript 'gangs" linger beyond school limits and thus do not come under authority of laws dealing with campus vagrancy.

The Good Government committee, however, feels that Jefferson should not be penalized for activities of young people outside its student body. Measures will be taken to remove the disturbing elements; but meanwhile, the committee declares, Jefferson MUST NOT BE QUARANTINED.

Protests to City Council are planned, hence Councilman Rasmussen's visit was in order. He stated that he is in sympathy with the objectives of the organization.

For the benefit of its Americanism and building fund, American Legion Post No. 532, Buffalo division, announced its sponsorship this week of a football guessing contest.

The post each week thru Herman Hill and Halley Harding, will issue a card of games between the country's greatest football machines. The contestant guessing the most winners will be eligible for one of three grand prizes.

Cards, which cost 25c each, can be secured at Adams Drug, Pryce pharmacy, Grayson's Prescription pharmacy, Driver Bros. and the clubhouse of Post 532.

NAACP Grist Mill Material was gratifying knowledge to Mrs. Hazel Caldwell to know that Baker Park Library has services open for colored and since weekly (Thursday).

Her health was impaired to such an extent after the beating that she has been unable to work, and the senior clerk of the Park Department, Lillian Fahnestock, sent Mrs. McCoy a sick compensation form which offers 75 per cent of her earnings for two months, and 50 per cent of her earnings for four Sundays, provided she is incapacitated that long. Said application is to be filled out by a regular physician and returned with a statement on his stationery regarding the case.

From all indications, the local NAACP has grist for its mill.

EVIDENCE MAY FREE MAN HELD FOR TRIAL IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Defense Attorney Terms Sleuth; Clew May Reveal Real Murderer

With a lawyer taking the lead role of amateur sleuth, "big time" local dicks scratched their heads and decided to run down clues he unearthed in what may turn out to be one of the most sensational murder cases to occur here in years.

Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., was the amateur sleuth, who, while analyzing the police case against his client, Thomas Traylor, held for trial in the slurder last September 6 of Mrs. Elizabeth Franklin in her home, broke the case anew to Det. Capt. William Bradley, head of the Central homicide squad.

The accused Traylor was arrested by Newton division detectives shortly after the woman was found mortally wounded from a gunshot wound. Confronted by his asserted victim, Traylor was tentatively identified by the woman as the man who had robbed, attempted to rape, and shot her. Previous to the death of the woman, she told interviewers at the hospital that she "wasn't sure he was the man" because she was unable to see his face.

Following a coroner's inquest, Traylor was ordered held for trial. During the preliminary trial he was represented by the County Public Defender. The court believed the prosecution had a case and ordered Traylor to be tried for murder in Superior court. Meanwhile, friends who believed in the man's innocence, engaged Atty. Gordon to handle the case at trial.

TRIAL DATE

With date of trial set for Oct. 30, to be argued before Superior court Judge Frank M. Smith, only a short time away, the lawyer plunged into the various background angles of the case looking for flaws. He quickly noted many discrepancies in the evidence gathered by the police that pointed to the guilt of others than the accused. He also noted that one of those upon whom the "suspicion of guilt" could have been placed, played an important role in gathering material which figured in the trial against the accused Traylor.

Captain of Detectives Bradley investigated the clue of the finding of a blood-stained coat, assertedly worn by the dead woman on the night of the fatal shooting which was found hi[dden] at the home of a neighbor. He also believed two new detectives, lieutenants assigned to the case to investigate "an argument" engaged in by one Thomas McKnight, an asserted paramour of the deceased on night of the murder, when she expressed herself as being "terribly frightened at him."

Joe Louis to Meet Godoy Feb. 9

Heavyweight champion Joe Louis will make the next defense of his title against the onslaught of Arturo Godoy of Chile, at Madison Square Garden, Feb.

Godoy, who takes the place of Lou Nova slated to be the next to face the executioner's axe, is heavyweight champion of South America. He holds two wins over Tony Galento, gained during his campaign in the United States in 1937. Since then he has defeated Alberto Lovell, Argentina for the South American crown.

This will be Louis' ninth defense of his title in two and one-half years, a record never approached by any other heavyweight champion in the history of boxing.

Godoy, who it is claimed has never been floored or knocked out, will sail for New York in December.

GAB STUFF

By J. Cullen Fentress

"WHEN IT RAINS . . ."

Twice over the weekend there were parallel radio broadcasts. Both originated at the same source. And the reaction to both was instant and unmistakable.

We refer to the Northwestern-Oklahoma football game in Evanston, Illinois, and a radio broadcast emanating from a local station Sunday.

It seems that during the Sooner-Wildcast battle in Evanston, a Negro substitute galloped out on the field for Northwestern and immediately boos went up from the Oklahoma side of the stadium. The radio announcer said he couldn't understand it.

Shortly thereafter, a telegram was received from the Sooners' home town explaining the why of the boos, etc. It had something to do with the fact that they didn't care for the idea of their team playing against a Negro.

Here, Sunday, a radio announcer referred to employes in a certain restaurant as Negroes the way southerners are prone to say it.

The announcer on the air at the Northwestern - Oklahoma game wasted no time in lambasting the attitude taken by the Dixie supporters, appealing for fair play and sportsmanship.

The announcer here received so many telephone and personal calls that he apologized over the air and personally to those who contacted him.

"When it rains it pours." Both instances happened within 24 hours of each other. And both were quashed on the spot by wide-awake and sportsmanlike actions, for in these days when fair-play and sportsmanship are so badly needed, barbaric attitudes are certainly passé.

"STRANGE" PEOPLE

Martin L. Harvey, prominent youth leader of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church and former national president of the Christian Youth Council of North America, was an interesting visitor in the city the past several days. Wide travels and contacts have made him a capable interpreter of world conditions as they affect the youth of all lands.

Leaning a bit toward the humorous side of life, Harvey was telling of his experiences in Switzerland this past summer as a delegate to a world conference in Europe. Walking down the street in company of young Rev. Clayton D. Russell, Harvey says two Swiss women stared at them so hard that they (the women) walked into a post. Of all the countries in Europe, however, Harvey says he would rather live in Switzerland.

Speaking of seemingly peculiar customs of people in various parts of the world, the youth leader said Singapore offered the most startling. On one occasion he was guest at dinner, along with representatives of numerous other races, and was surprised to note that the men ate first. About an hour and a half later the women satisfied their gastronomical urge.

GABBY BITS

A local evening paper used the famous greeting of Father Divine and his followers over an editorial cartoon last week. "Peace—It's Wonderful" adequately described a drawing of Stalin of Russia carrying a block on his shoulder representing Poland.

The Sepia Theatrical Writers Guild plans an artists and models masquerade ball late this month at the Club Alabam . . . Shades of yesteryear: Lincoln university in Pennsylvania has a footballer by the name of John Mack Brown. Which reminds one of the great Alabama Crimson Tide gridiron star of some years back who is now a motion picture player . . . The Rev. Walter R. Lovell, the humanitarian pastor of the First AMEZ church here for the past several years, leaves for the East in the next few days to become editor of "The Star of Zion", a church publication. Incidentally, church publications probably wield more power for good than any other single type of organ.

Demos Endorse Ham and Eggs

The Executive Committee of the Southside Young Democrats meeting at the YMCA for the first time in two months went on record in favor of the Ham and Eggs Pension Plan.

Al Patrick, president, speaking for the Executive Committee stated "that all young people should support the pension plan as it is a step forward". The same forces who fought Ham and Eggs are same who fought, domestic wage and hour law, the New Deal Relief Program, and all regressive measures that benefit the masses.

Using the same propaganda "that the State is going broke" the Executive Committee would like to point out, the people in this area have always been broke, have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Joe Louis Once Wanted To Play Violin

Boxing King Studied Violin Before Pulling On Gloves

"NEVER GAVE FIDDLE MUCH ATTENTION WHEN HE STARTED TO FIGHT"

By LESTER RODNEY
(Crusader News Agency)

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—The first thing that hits the eye as you walk into the pleasant home of Mrs. Lily Brooks Barrow is a striking drawing of her smiling World's Heavyweight Champion son on the mantle. "To my mother with love—Joe", is the inscription. Alongside of it is a picture of Joe's pretty wife with the inscription, "To a real mother, with love—Marva."

Mrs. Barrow settled back in a chair. "I'm glad that fight is over. I'm always worried about Joe's getting hurt. Of course I knows he's equipped to take care of himself—very well equipped—but I guess a mother just has to worry about her son." Joe Louis' mother is a soft spoken, middle-aged woman with a fine sensitive face, a face bearing the lines that any mother who brought up eight children through the poverty of an Alabama cotton plantation hut and the Detroit slums must have.

"Then you didn't approve when Joe first started fighting as an amateur?" It asked.

ONCE STUDIED VIOLIN

She laughed. "No, I thought fighting was a pretty awful thing. I wanted him to be a musician, and gave him violin lessons for a while. You know, Joe is very interested in music. But he never gave that fiddle much attention once he started to fight. I guess he knew he could go further in fighting. I guess he was right at that."

What kind of youngster was Joe? Did he have any street fights as a kid?

"No, Joe was a good boy, as good as any, that is. Not a sissy He could only go to the 7th grade in school because he had to go to work. We had a hard time after moving up from Alabama. "Joe was about 12 when we left the plantation and came to Detroit. He began to work on an ice wagon when he left school at 14. Then, later when he was 18 he got a job at Brigg's factory, then at Fords."

I asked Mrs. Barrow if she had ever had occasion to spank Joe when he was little. She smiled at the memory. "I guess I had a few decisions over him."

"Oh, that second Schmeling fight," she smiled. "He got the biggest kick out of that, even bigger than winning the championship. . if that was possible."

'An impression the papers sometimes convey is that Joe isn't interested in anything much besides fighting.

Again Joe's mother smiled softly.

"Of course he's interested in things besides fighting. Joe was brought up in a family of 8 poor children in miserable conditions. He had to leave school. Do you think he'd ever forget that, or that he doesn't know other boys like him have a hard time of it? You see, he rushes around so much, training and fighting and all, that he doesn't get around to talking about such things. Like I said, he concentrates. But I know he gives very liberally to charities and would do what he could.

"Of course, even though Joe likes to go to church, I wouldn't say that he prays before his fights. I guess he's found out that the Lord helps those who hit the hardest."

Delegates to Legionnaires Meet Warn 'War Babies'

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—Visiting colored delegates to the recent American Legion convention here voiced sage warnings to the "war baby" generation as they hearkened back to 1918. The ex-dough boys, gathering at the Robert Giles Legion Post on the Southside, revealed stormy incidents of interracial friction during the last international fracas.

Descriptions were given of some of the tactics employed in the recruiting and drafting of soldiers. The 366th regiment of the 92nd division was recruited at Camp Dodge, Ia. The regiment was composed of Alabama farm boys to the extent of two-thirds, the rest being from Minnesota. The Alabama boys, most of them from the backwoods, were so ignorant that scarcely a single non-commissioned officer could be secured from them. It was necessary to draw upon the Minnesota group, many of whom had received some schooling, to fill out the quota of noncoms.

900 SENT BACK

"It appeared as though the draft officers in Alabama grabbed every boy of the correct age they could find, and shipped him up to Dodge," one medical officer said. "We had to ship 900 boys back from Camp Dodge because of disabilities. They had social diseases, or in one way or another were unfitted for service. They should have been examined before they were sent North.

"One boy came to me who had a big sore on the back of his neck and only one eye," this officer continued. "How on earth did you get here?" I asked. The lad, from a small town, said he had driven a load of cotton to town and was standing, watching a troop train go through. It appeared that one of the boys on the train had escaped. He said that the officers simply came out, commandeered him and shoved him on the train to make up the quota. He was shipped back."

The officer said that, in his opinion, many of the men who were discharged and given their papers were later gobbled up by the officers in the South and sent to labor battalions because he had seen and talked with two boys he had seen and talked with two boys whom he had examined at Fort Dodge and shipped back.

NIGHT SCHOOL START

A night school was established so that the men could be taught to read and write in order that they might be able to sign their names.

Frequently, boys who lived in the backwoods and had not been notified that they were drafted or had misunderstood the summons, arrived at Camp Dodge under the escort of Southern deputy sheriffs. This practice grew to be a racket. The cost of the officer's fare and expenses plus a $50 bonus were taken from the soldier's pay and in many instances boys received no pay for months because they were paying back the expenses of the officer who brought them to camp.

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

The list of new books just received at your public library is a definite invitation to read.

If you are politically minded, and who isn't in these days of rapid-changing events, you will want to read John T. Whitaker's new book "Americas to the South," which is designed for the average responsible American citizen. Very few citizens had either expert knowledge of, or special interest in our southern neighbors until Carleton Beals suddenly arrested our attention with "The Coming Struggle for Latin America," pointing out the menace of Fascism to the entire continent. Mr. Whitaker continues this story, describing how the South Americans live, what their problems are, and what Germany, Italy and Japan are doing there. He explains in the end what all these things mean to the peace and security of the people of the United States.

If you are maried, or ever hope to be, you will be interested in Grave Overton's "Love, Marriage and Parenthood," which offers some real assistance toward achieving a complete view of the whole married existence with its thrilling possibilities for full, teeming personal living. It explains the changes which are taking place in courtship, in ways of family living, in attitudes towards home life, and in the entire community situation in which new homes are established. We predict a big demand from every member of your family.

PROGRESSIVE CHINA

If you enjoyed Pearl S. Buck's revealing novels on China," All the Tomorrows", by Naomi L. Babson is just the book for you. In its pages the author tells the story of a modern progresive Chinese family swept from its moorings by a great social upheaval which has overwhelmed the nation. Behind this family and its problems you will find the pulsing life of China itself with its war lords and bandits, merchants and coolies, wise men and beggars, patriots and fools, giving the whole book a vital reality.

If you like to grow things, you will be fascinated by a slender volume on "Growing Plants Without Soil," by D. R. Matlin, which gives you the A B C of plant chemiculture including every type of soilless agriculture —tank farming, water, culture, hydroponics, sand culture, and the use of plant growth hormones. It is simple, yet scientific and written by the instructor of plant chemiculture of Belmont Evening High School in this city.

If you have ever wished you had plenty of money, Lee Shippey's gay novel, "If We Only Had Money" will tell you what happens when you get it. In this book a struggling young writer tries to support his family on the uncertain rewards of short story writing and through a stroke of good fortune gets a high-priced job in Hollywood. This sudden prosperity works like champagne on his family and sets off the story's gaiety, human interest and good common sense.

If none of these reviews has appealed to your taste, then step in at the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue or the Baker Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2320 Naomi Avenue and we will be glad to select some books for your personal enjoyment.

• WORLD THIS WEEK

By Robert Patterson

PEACE IN THE WESTERN WORLD

The inter-American conference at Panama City has found the 21 American republics united by diplomatic machinery for the first time in their history. Although each nation retains full independence to act as it sees fit, representatives at last December's Lima conference pledged themselves to "continental solidarity." And further, they agreed to consult if the peace, security or territorial integrity of any American republic is threatened by acts of any nature that may impair them. Such a contingency has arisen with the outbreak of war in Europe. Despite inevitable differences on some points, last week's historic inter-American conference was in full agreement on this all-important issue: to keep the peace in this Western World, to do everything possible to avert incidents which might involve the United States or Latin America in war, and to work to prevent any belligerent activities to American shores. That in a strife-torn world 21 nations can meet to discuss amicably problems of mutual concern, to cooperate in laying down a common policy acceptable in the main, to all, gives hopeful promise for the future of the Western World. And in keeping war out of this hemisphere, those nations can rely on the wholehearted support of the peoples of two great continents.

PAPER PROMISES

America has embarked upon a new course since 1929. The depression that broke upon a whole world in that year left its greatest mark in the altered policy of government toward the unemployed, the needy, and the aged. That it has become, by almost general consent, the obligation of government to protect the socially insecure from the mental and physical ills of penury is the most striking indication of that changed policy. But in allaying that evil, new ones have arisen. Chief of these is the assumption that having given aid to the needy, government has unlimited resources to multiply that aid to astronomical heights. That assumption, it is only fair to state did not originate from the needy. It was fostered by self-seeking politicians, promoters, and agitators, having little concern with the welfare of the needy. Their efforts, in fact, now threaten to wipe out all Federal aid for California's needy children, the aged, and the blind, if the 30-Thursday pension scheme is adopted. This was the conclusion last week of the State Department of Social Welfare. What will it be? Aid in honest-to-goodness American money or in valueless pieces of paper? That is the question— and it is of fateful importance to California!

NEWSPAPER WEEK

In a war-troubled world which has already claimed freedom of speech and press as its first casualty in countries abroad, California's celebration of Newspaper Week, October 8 to 14, takes on deeper significance.

An inseparable ally of democratic government is a free press. One cannot exist without the other. That has been a basic tenet ever since doughty John Campbell founded the public-spirited, outspoken Boston "News-Letter" in 1704 and gave America its first newspaper.

Today, more than two centuries later, no medium has successfully challenged the newspaper. As a reporter, its job of information-gathering ranges from the distant news-fronts of the world in China and Poland to the story of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, proud parents of a new son—an event of no less importance on the home front.

Certainly in these latter stories of births and deaths, of weddings and visits, there's a sound substance of community interest, of kinship in the sorrows and joys which we and our fellowmen daily experience and which help bind communities together.

In movements for civic betterment the newspaper plays a traditional role, just as in the uncensored dissemination of news, state, national, or international, it fulfills, thoroughly as it can, the serious task of enabling people to assess events for their true worth. And it is a touchstone of the democratic way of life, that given this means of assessing events through full presentation of the facts, "the people will find their way."

Facts, as well as faith, support that principle. For where, as in some countries of Europe in recent years, truth has become an enemy of the State, the people have been led into darkness and disaster. For the significance of Newspaper Week, people of a democracy have much to give thanks.

Sketch Subject: EDNA MAE McPHERSON . . . Pastry Cook.
By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Once third ranking national singles tennis player, Edna Mae McPherson is now recognized as a maker of pastry designed to satisfy the most fastidious epicurean.

EDNA McPHERSON
"Recognized Pastry Cook"

Manager of the Dunbar Grill in the Dunbar hotel in Los Angeles, this 39-year old pleasant looking woman has been employed as pastry cook at Pig 'n' Whistle, famous combination restaurant and market plaee, and Carpenter's Drive-In, the well-placed eating places catering especially to the motoring population.

A native of Parkville, Missouri, Mrs. McPherson lived in Kansas City until 1923 and gained national recognition in the tennis world there. As Mrs. Edna Mae Glass she was Missouri State and Kansas City singles champion in the early '20's and represented "Kay Cee" in the Nationals in '23 at Chicago and the '24 Nationals in Baltimore. While majoring in physical education at Columbia University she participated in the national net championships in Philadelphia in 1922.

PROFITABLE WORK

Asked why she chose the catering field rather than capitalizing upon her record as a nationally known athlete and training as a teacher of physical education, Mrs. McPherson says:

'On my arrival in Los Angeles, I found that opportunities for our group, as a whole, in the professions and school system were nil. And I thought the catering field would be much more profitable than working as a domestic."

Especially fitted for her work, with natural ability and technique, Mrs. McPherson humorously recalls her grammar school days in Kansas City when she won first prize for baking the best loaf of bread in all of the schools.

Modestly, she says "I don't know whether I merited that honor or not". However, she believes, cooking, like anything else, is an art and one must have natural ability and possess the techniques to become master of it.

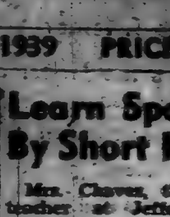
PERFORMED BEFORE 800

To show to what heights Mrs. McPherson has reached in her chosen field, she has cooked and demonstrated before a group of approximately 80 women in Barker Brothers' Downtown and Hollywood stores.

Mrs. McPherson, who is married and has one child, is active socially and civicly, holding membership in the Zeta Phi Beta sorority, Harmony Bridge club, YWCA, Women's Political Study Club, Sojourner Truth Home, Outdoor Health Club, and Eighth and Towne's Welfare Church club.

Obtaining her present positions thru merit, Mrs. McPherson, who lives at 3582 Budlong, says that domestic science which she studied in Kansas City's Lincoln High school has probably been of most benefit to her in the performance of her duties.

Learn Spanish By Short Route



Mrs. Chaves, the Spanish teacher at Jefferson Evening School, has reduced the time ordinarily required to learn to speak Spanish by two different devices: (1) She uses the conversational method of teaching in her classes and (2) The vocabulary used is that which is spoken by the Spanish speaking people living in Southern California. This course may be taken as a unit in itself or used as a part of the requirement towards High School graduation.

stars to support gigantic benefit at picture studio

Nothing is being spared in making this Studio Carnival and Dance the most outstanding affair of the season, what with four huge studio stages housing the activities, two of the stages to be devoted to dancing, one orchestra furnishing red hot jitterbug music on one stage, the other orchestra to furnish sweet music for those that enjoy the standard dances, the other two stages to house every conceivable type of entertainment.

An opportunity to see the inside of a motion picture studio, sets where pictures are under production, Cameras, sound recording devices, high powered lighting equipment and a technician to explain the technique of making motion pictures.

At the request of producers and directors of motion pictures, there is to be staged a beauty and talent contest, where prizes and screen tests are to be offered to the winners. As there are many pictures scheduled to be made shortly there is a great demand for talent. This may be your opportunity. Artists of stage and screen are donating their services assuring the highest type of entertainment.

Shelton Brooks as the master of ceremonies, has outlined a most unique program, with lots of surprises. Brooks is an outstanding stage star as well as a renowned music composer, having penned such numbers as "Some of these Days," that was made famous by the international stage star, Sophie Tucker; "Dark Town Strutters Ball," and "Walking the Dog."

Don't miss this gala affair, the tops in entertainment for 1939, Thursday evening, Oct. 26, at International Studios, 4376 Sunset drive, Hollywood.

gilbert allen inspires no. carolinians

Gilbert Allen, young choral director and composer, received word last week through Miss Elizabeth Lash, teacher in the public schools of Winston-Salem, N. C., that his success as a writer and composer had inspired a group of young men and women of that city to organize a dramatic club and call themselves the Gilbert Allen Players.

The new organization held its dedication exercises at the home of the director and coach, Miss Lash, last Sunday evening. Their plan is to present plays throughout the South. The first one selected was "Angels Like Music," written last summer by Mr. Allen.

Mr. Allen is director of the Gilbert Allen Singers, one of the most popular musical organizations in Southern California.

daily refuses to use 'cut' of radio singers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—What makes a Negro famous?

This is the question publicity men of the city are pondering after the refusal of a local white daily to publish a cut of the Southernaires, colored radio performers on the National Broadcasting System for the past nine years, because they were not "famous enough." Only Negro of whom the paper admitted publishing a photo was Marian Anderson. She was considered properly famous.

The question in the minds of the sponsors of the concert is what do the Southernaires have to do to get famous. Pointing out that the group has been on the air nine years consecutively, and has the reputation of being the oldest sustaining program on the air, the favorites of hundreds of thousands of persons, and one which has always been a credit to the station and to the performers as well as to the group they represent, the sponsors were again flatly refused.

radio service at new peak

Johnnie Mitchell, well-known musician and radiotrician, has joined forces with Cornie Anderson, brother of Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, to bring radio service to its highest peak. These two capable young men of experience and knowledge offer to the public the best in radio maintenance and repair. Elsewhere in this issue is a coupon-advertisement from their store worth using right away.

count basie scores at para

BY J. CULLEN FENTRESS

To Count Basie goes the honor of bringing stage shows back to the Paramount theatre with a bang. A well balanced swing aggregation of 14 pieces, in addition to Basie on the piano, the Count had swing enthusiasts in an uproar as he took over most of the time for the stage show.

The "Dead End Kids" of movie fame appeared in a comedy sketch with Sam 'Schlepperman' Hearn in the first part of the bill. The show, itself, however, was all Count Basie.

Basie's repertoire included original and popular numbers, with soloists Helen Humes and Jimmy Rushing, supple dancer Marie Bryant, and the tap-dancing trio, the "High Hatters," in supporting roles. All of them were called back to the 'mike" time and time again.

One of the Count's original numbers, featuring the brass, reed and string sections, in the art of shading, was particularly outstanding, finding great favor with the large audiences.

"Swing" fans took especial note of the trumpet solo of Buck Clayton, one-time Los Angeles dance band leader and musician who is now an arranger as well as a member of the Count Basie orchestra.

It was Rushing who supplied the comedy. Fat and with a voluminous voice, Rushing panicked the audience with his interpretations of truckin' and peckin'. His singing forte is the "down-home" type of blues singing.

In swing jive, Basie's jam session is a killer.

"What a Life," starring Jackie Cooper and Betty Field, shares honors with the stage show in this Paramount theatre offering.

Cooper, in the characterization of Henry Aldrich, the school kid whose best intentions keep him in hot water with his school mates and the officials of the school, gives the parf sympathy and understanding.

Based on the play by Clifford Goldsmith, "What a Life" was produced and directed for Paramount by Jay Theodore Reed from the screen play by Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder.

Others in the well-selected cast are John Howard, as the assistant principal; Vaughan Glaser as the principal; Janice Logan, secretary; Lionel Stander, detective; Hedda Hopper, as Jackie's mother; James Corner, Cooper's "eternal" rival and nemesis; Dorothy Stickney and Lucien Littlefield as teachers.

2 films held over at u. a.

"Thunder Afloat" is a gripping, stirring story of the World War days when U-boats operated off the Atlantic Coast in an attempt to cripple American shipping and how the United States Navy coped with the menace. Wallace Berry gives a grand performance as the captain of a tugboat, who becomes so enraged when a U-boat sinks his craft that he enlists in the navy to wage a one-man war on German submarines.

In conjunction with "Thunder Afloat", the United Artists Theatre offers M.G.M.'s "These Glamour Girls," one of the fictional hits of the season when it was published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Both films are held over for a second week at United Artists theatre, 933 So. Broadway.

"birth of a nation"

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—Opening here recently, the Negro-baiting and offensive film, "Birth of a Nation," was officially banned for all time here last week. A delegation of 25 prominent Negroes went before Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes and registered its protest. Official ban on the picture followed.

ASCAP present 'symphony of swing' at carnegie hall

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Said and old-fashioned Carnegie Hall resounded with the raucous, pulsating rhythms of popular music last week as the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers presented a spectacular "symphony of swing" to celebrate its "Week of American Music."

W. C. Handy, famous "daddy of the blues," was to a large extent responsible for the program. Along with J. Rosamond Johnson and Harry T. Burleigh, he was selected by the ASCAP to coordinate the program. Mr. Johnson was in Chicago Monday where he is appearing in "Mamba's Daughter's." Others who assisted Mr. Handy were J. C. Johnson, president of the Crescendo club, composed of 40 ASCAP members, Dr. Charles L. Cooke and Joe Jordan.

William Grant Still came here from California to conduct one of his symphonies. Other conductors were Dr. Cooke and James P. Johnson. The Crescendo club featured its own compositions as well as those of James Bland, Ernest Hogan, Richard Milburn and Gussie L. Davis. An old time minstrel setting using hits from musical comedies by Williams and Walker, Cole and Johnson, Sissle and Blake, S. H. Dudley and others featured such stars are the Southernaires, Ink Spots, Bill Robinson and many others.

Modern music from the Memphis Blues to the present day jass was demonstrated by Claude Hopkins, Cab Calloway, Noble Sissle and Louis Armstrong, with the famous St. Louis Blues ending the program.

Other artists and organizations appearing included Minto Cato, Jessie Zackery, Abyssinian Baptist church choir, Juanita Hall's choir and Wen Talbert's choir. Marian Anderson and Roland Hayes were invited to participate, but declined. Invitations were also extended to Clarence Cameron White, R. Nathaniel Dett and Florence Price.

paramount to release short on handicraft

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—Showing Mrs. C. Rosenberg Foster at work in her studio here making some of her "costless handicraft" pictures, Paramount Motion pictures will release a movie short in color shortly.

Mrs. Foster creates pictures, souvenirs and other pieces of art from trash, rubbish and other discarded materials. One of her most enthusiastic critics is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

etta moten on concert tour

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Continuing a concert tour which is in its second month, Miss Etta Moten, contralto, has spent almost the entire month of September in her home state, Texas. Her tour has included Waco, Wichita Falls Fort Worth and Dallas, with a return trip to Wichita Springs. After going up to Missouri for an engagement there this month, she will return to Texas to appear in other key cities there—Marshall, for Wiley college; and Austin, and one or two others.

'merry widow' player tested

It doesn't take a crystal gazer to predict a bright cinema future for Alex Callam, whose performance as Prince Danilo in "The Morrow Widow" brought two screen tests this week.

Current at the Playhouse in Hollywood, the Franz Lohar hit, produced by Julian Fowlkes for the Southern California Music Project, offers Callam an excellent opportunity to display his "matinee-idol" ability.

Teamed with Rena Case as "The Merry Widow," Callam stars as the Prince of lovers in light opera's most lovable romance.

film studios turn to biographies

Hollywood today is discovering that the footprints men leave in the sands of time don't have to be seen by the entire world to provide wonderful biographical movie material.

At the moment the film studios are engaged in photographing a round half-dozen cinemas which tell of six gentlemen whose respective lives and works made history of one type or another—but history.

The six include the strangest assortment of men. There is Geronimo, the Apache warlord; Dr. William Morton, who discovered how to use ether for anaesthesia; Edgar Allen Poe, who, of course, wrote; Father Duffy, who fought with the Rainbow Division of the AEF in the first World War; and Knute Rockne, the immortal football mentor.

APACHE WARLORD

Paramount is filming "Geronimo," which features Preston Foster, Ellen Drew, Andy Devine and has Chief Thunder Cloud as the Indian chieftain. The story tells of the Apache going on the war path and raising general hell in the Southwest during the '70s. It took the U. S. Army to suppress the rebellion. Down in the Southwest, Geronimo is as well known as any great historical figure in American history.

His story, told in the flaming action, is going to provide excellent screen entertainment, Holylwood believes. And in a quieter way, but equally as interesting, is the story of Dr. Morton, the Boston dentist who discovered the way to use ether for anaesthesia. The good doctor's story is being made into a movie under the title, "Triumph Over Pain."

KNUTE ROCKNE ON SCREEN

Victor Herbert, the brilliant composer-musician, is having his life and most of his music made into a film play under the title of "The Gay Days of Victor Herbert." Walter Connolly is cinematically, Herbert. Mary Martin, the chanteuse, and Allan Jones do the singing.

Warner Brothers are engaged in filming the life of Edgar Allen Poe, which will reach the screen under the name of that gentleman. They are also producing a movie entitled "The Fighting 69th," recounting the adventures of the gallant priest with the AEF in France. Father Duffy covered himself with glory, and his story is one that everybody will enjoy, Warner's executives say.

Highly interesting to lovers of sport—particularly football—is the fact that the life and career of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's great mentor, will very shortly go before the cameras.

'mikado--in swing' still popular

"The Mikado—in Swing" reopened at the El Capitan theater in Hollywood last Thursday night with all of the principals who made the swing version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta popular with audiences at the beginning of its run.

Entering its ninth week, both Matthew Allen, the producer, and Alexander Leftwich, director, believe that "The Mikado—in Swing" will break all existing long-run records for Hollywood.

Arranged by Elliot Carpenter, seven hit melodies, taken from the original "Mikado" and put to swingtime, are proving popular.

During the return engagement, regular bargain matinees will be given each Saturday, Wednesday and Sunday. In addition, two shows will be given on Saturday night, the first starting at 8:30 and the second at 11 p. m.

By FREDDY DOYLE

Flash: Congratulations to Count Basie and his great band in their record breaking performance this past week at the Paramount theatre. Basie and his band is without doubt, the greatest stage attraction that has hit the Paramount stage in many moons. The band is one of the smoothest swing bands in the business and has one of the finest rhythm sections of any band in the country. The band also has one of the finest tenor saxaphone players in that fine little "cat" Lester Young.

I do wish to extend a hearty greeting to my friend Buck (trumpet) Clayton who is a local cat, having made Los Angeles his home for many years before returning home (Kansas City, Mo.). Clayton was rated one of the finest trumpeters on the coast a few years back when he led his own band, "The Fourteen Gentlemen from Harlem." These fourteen cats at that time were the pride of the Pacific Coast, and also made a fine reputation over in Shanghai, China during the year they were engaged over there. Buck, at the present time, is the ace arranger for Count Basie's band and holds down first trumpet in the band.

Another grand member of the band is that sweet voiced singer, Miss Helen Humes, who to my mind is "tops" in the art of singing. She also has a swell personality, as well as poise, which in conjunction with her lovely voice, makes her one of the greatest vocalists in the country.

Last, but not least, another fine cat with the band is that blues warbler, Jimmy Rushing, who I believe can sing the blues better than anyone in the country. Jimmy also has a spontaneous personality that "knocks you to your knees."

The Paramount Theatre management deserves much credit for making it possible for the music lovers of Los Angeles and vicinity to see and hear this great band of Count Basie, and I hope the Paramount Theatre will continue to feature bands of "color" as well as stage shows. Here's hoping that the Palomar ballroom will be built soon in order that another "top" colored band can come in this direction.

Flash: The 3 High Hatters, those three young local tap dancers of national reputation, were really a sensation on the stage of the Paramount theatre this past week in conjunction with Count Basie's band. These three cats need no introduction because of their many fine performances for two years with that grand old stage trouper Ted Lewis. For the past few months, the 3 High Hatters have been featured in the floor show at the Bal Taborin cafe in Gardena.

Flash: Petite little Marie (snake hips) Bryant was a solid "sender" in her own original interpretation of that popular "shake dance" this past week at the Paramount theatre. With that solid rhythm of Count Basie's band, this great little versatile dancer will long be remembered. Marie is a local dancer, having made her home here in Los Angeles since coming here from New York about 3 years ago. She has been featured in many of the popular stage shows and night clubs in So. Calif. She has a very fine singing voice and a killer diller personality which makes her one of the most popular entertainers in So. Calif. For the past few months, since the opening of the Onyx Club in Hollywood, she has a starring role in the floor show. Before going to the Onyx Club she was engaged for over a year at the popular Paradise Club.

EDWARD F. BOYD
"On Film Committee"

boyd first of race to be so honored

EDWARD F. BOYD was elected last week to the executive committee of the Motion Picture Democratic committee, the first Negro to be so honored, it was reported today.

With a membership of approximately 1800, the committee, as its name implies, is a democratic organization composed of artists, writers, directors, producers and workers in all branches of the motion picture industry who are interested in the democratic ideal and the furtherance of that ideal here in the United States.

Other notables who were elected to the MPDC, which was organized in May of 1938, include Philip Dunne, Miriam Hopkins, John Ford, Maurice Murphy, Gloria Stuart, Frederic March, Donald Ogden Stewart, Frank Tuttle, John Cromwell, Elliot Nugent, Milt Gross, Ralph Cohn, Robert Tasker and Allen Mathews.

Boyd is well known in Southern California. A talented baritone soloist, he is a member of a pionere family, and is at present serving a two-year term on the board of directors of the Screen Actors Guild.

Accompanied by Florence Cadrez on the piano, he appeared as soloist Monday night at the "Youth Rally Against War" at the Philharmonic auditorium.

WHY NOT SUPPORT IT?

Winter League baseball came back to Southern California last Sunday in a new location—Gilmore Field in Hollywood.

Although such Winter League faces as those of Willie Wells, "Turkey" Stearns and Satchell Paige are missing, the Philadelphia Royal Giants, the league's spark club, still boasts "One-Wing" West, Bill Wright, "Mule" Suttles and Pepper Bassett, and Jake Dunn. The gang makes up a pretty colorful ball club.

A park that can seat 12,000 or more found only about 3800 therein last Sunday for the league's opening doubleheader. Most of that number were Negroes. Located in Hollywood as it is it appears that the majority of fans would be from that section. Possibly, as the league goes along, they will wake up out there and follow in the wake of George Raft who is, and has been, in constant attendance at this spectacle.

Joe Pirrone, the "father of the league", fielded a well-balanced club, one which from all appearances will afford the Negro nine no little competition the balance of the season.

SHORTS IN SPORTS: Hear that Gene Sorral, the restauranteur, Elks' ruler and sportsman, has another fighter under his wing, one George Dilworth. Dilworth will campaign in lightweight and welterweight circles. Sorral, at one time had an interest in Big Boy Bray, present State colored heavyweight champion . . . Dick Dunkle, the football prognosticator, may have to revamp his ratings of coast conference teams as given in "Life" recently. He figures UCLA will do no better than seventh in the coast race . . . Negro boxers who have illness among relatives or in the family are eligible to have medical treatment administered at no cost to themselves by the State Athletic Commission's medical corps. Boxers should contact the Community Builders, room 316, Lissner Bldg., for information. Incidentally, Drs. Carr, E. I. Robinson and Warner Wright were sworn in early this week in the offices of commission chairman Jerry Giesler. They are on the commission's examining board, having been named several months ago in a precedent-shattering action on the part of the commission.

ON THE GRID FRONT

Coaches, players and sports experts last week were unanimous in tabbing Jackie Robinson one of the greatest open field runners ever seen on the coast. Guns are already booming for Robinson and Kenny Washington as potential All-Americans, depending, of course, on what the season brings forth.

One thing is certain, however, the Bruins have a spirit this season that doesn't smack of dissension which has characterized the club the past two years. As a result, week after week, they become a tougher, smoother and harder gang to halt. To say they are the most colorful bunch of footballers on the coast is to put it mildly. They have what it takes, so look out USC.

Speaking of USC, the Trojans are scheduled to meet a Negro end Saturday when they face the "Fightin' Illini" of coach Bob Zuppke. His name is Alphonse Anders. The fact that he is on the varsity means only one thing—he's GOOD.

San Jose State's unbeaten football team opens its California Collegitae Athletic association season in San Jose tomorrow ngiht. The Glenn Scobey "Pop" Warner-Bud DeGroot coached team boasts a Negro backfield star in Minter. The CCAA, a new conference, is composed of four state colleges, San Jose, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Fresno.

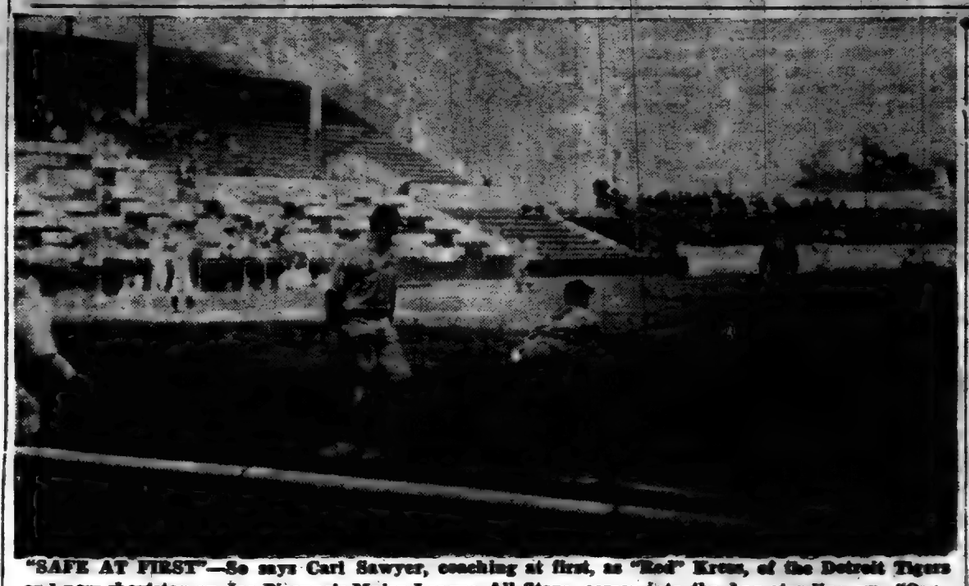
New Boxing Find Visits L. A.

In town for a week of inspecting the territory as a fitting point to launch his fistic bombardment that may blast his way to the championship now held by Joe Louis, heavyweight boxer-fighter Louis Smith appeared satisfied with what he saw. The 25-year old youth is here from Las Vegas, Nevada. He is stopping with his manager, Jack Roach, white, at the Dunbar hotel.

The powerfully built young fighter boasts 47 fights to his credit. Standing 6 feet 2 inches in height, he has a reach of 82 inches. He has powerful, broad shoulders and deep chest that tapers down to a 30 inch waist. He is lightning fast on his feet and can punch with both hands. According to reports on Smith, he is a master ring showman.

WATKINS INKS UP

Effective last September 6, a one year contract on Paulie Watkins, boxer, has been filed by Joe Williams, manager, it was revealed today in a bulletin from the State Athletic commission.



Wiley Battles P. V. in Bowl

DALLAS, Tex. Oct. 12.—The Wiley Wildcats and the Prairie View Panthers move into town Monday for their annual battle at the Cotton Bowl. This battle promises to far outclass anything that these ancient rivals have staged in ten previous melees held at the State Fair of Texas, and the biggest crowd is expected since 1936 when 20,000 spectators saw Wiley trounce the Panthers 7-0.

On pre-season dope the Panthers are favored to trounce the men of Wiley, and that decisively.

GIANTS LOSE BOTH ENDS OF WINTER LOOP OPENER TO PIRRONE'S ALL-STARS

Bonetti, Bittner and Stine Smother Royal Giants; First Loss in Opening Tilt

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Smart pitching by Julio Bonetti, Johnnie Bittner and Lee Stine in the clinches stymied the scoring efforts of the Philadelphia Royal Giants last Sunday afternoon at Gilmore Field and the Negro nine lost both ends of the Winter League baseball opener, 5-3 and 3-2 to Pironne's Major League All-Stars.

It was the first time in 10 winters that the Royal Giants had droppeod both ends of the opener. A crowd of 3800 watched the proceedings as the league moved into its new quarters at the home of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league.

The first game was an overtime affair, going 10 innings. Adams' hit thru third scoring Orsatti and Fern Bell clinched the game.

Taking an early lead in the second game on a home run by Jake Dunn with Carter on base, the Giants blew it in the fourth and fifth innings when the All-Stars scored three tallies.

Frank Demaree hit a homer in the first game and Dunn and Barton lifted the ball over the fence in the abbreviated tilt.

Foley Tennis Semi-finalist

In the recently held Southern California YMCA Tenis Tournament, Edgar Foley, Western Federation president and Ross Snyder official, upheld the prestige of the 28th Street Branch 'Y' by becoming a semi-finalist and displaying a fine brand of sportsmanship.

Tennis among Negroes, as typified by the Ross Snyder Tennis club, is gaining Southern California recognition for the first time. The organization was invited to participate in the recently held Pacific Southwest Tournament. At its last meeting, the club finished plans to enter the Southern California Inter-Club matches; meeting was conducted in Room 305—City Hall! Next get-together will be held at Ross Snyder Playground Oct. 23.

Demos Threaten Prep Big-Wigs; Whip Loyola, 6-0

Jefferson High school's all-letterman varsity stacks up as a definite threat to the big-wigs of prep football since defeating Loyola High 6-0 on Fulton Field last Friday afternoon. The Democrats' well seasoned line and sparkplug backfield will turn on the heat in the Southern League opener with Fremont at Fremont Friday of next week.

Practically everything a coach could want, Harry Edelson, former Trojan great, has in the 30-odd youngsters who are raring to go for the "Green and Gold". He has a line of veterans, averaging 180 pounds, a deceptive backfield, and—Joe Black.

Black, the school's grid hero, is a regular Jackie Robinson. Playing at right half, he's the fastest plunging-est, most elusive ball carrier Jeff has had in years.

NOT ALONE

What makes the cheese more binding, as the saying goes, he isn't by himself. In Tom Pollard, ace hurdler, the Demos have as fast a man as Black, a fine passer, a good blocker. Then there are Sam Matlock, substitute left half for Pollard, and fullback Arthur Morgan, both ball packers of ability. It was Matlock, whose 30-yard pass to left end Willie Cook in the fourth quarter scored the game's only score.

Speaking of ends, in Cook, 170 pounds, and Howard Hughes, 164, the Democrat end zones are amply protected. Cook is another Woody Strode, a pass snatcher and opposition smearer. Marion Mendez, at quarterback, is the team "brain trust" and left guard Tom Williams, right guard Pete De Santes, and tackles Joe Woods and Jimmy Rodokas, the squad's "beef trusts."

If it had been up to Black, the score in Friday's intersectional tilt, would have been six times six. Plenty hot, despite the pestering rain, Black tore off veritable hunks of yardage. On the longest, 57-yards out-of bounds on the 7-yard line, he strong-armed four men in the best Red Grange style.

The Democrats vastly resemble UCLA . . . especially the Bruins' in bad spots. They kick, as the Bruins do, on the third down, even though they're halfway to payoff territory. They try bucks through center at inopportune moments when they have the best end-around and off-tackle material in the League. Their passes, venturesome things spanning 30 to 40 yards, too-seldom click. They fumble and like the Bruins of yesteryear, they don't block for their speed merchants.

About 95 percent colored, the Democrats have 100 percent racial cooperation. Watch 'em!

Lincoln U. (Mo.) Wins 52 to 6

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Oct. 12—A very warm day, an attendance of some 500 students and townspeople, and an excellent playing field was the setting for Lincoln's opening game of the 1939 gridiron season last Saturday. The Tigers defeated the Western University (Quindaro, Kansas) team, 52-6 and maintained almost the same margin of superiority in the score column that she set in 1938, when the Kansas lads were downed, 48-0. Weight in both the line and backfield, general shiftiness and alertness, and a much better group of ball players told the story of the difference between the two teams.

Jordan Trounces Torrance, 21-0

Jordan High school's all-nation's team, sparked by fullback Herbert Luke appeared headed for an Eastern league championship, trouncing Torrance 21-0 in an intersectional practice game at Torrance last Friday. Duke contributed 15 of the Bulldogs' score, booting a field goal from the seven yard line and ripping through guard for the second score. Outstanding play was turned in also by Alfred Daniels and James Thompson.

Willie Slayton Garfield Star

What Kenny Washington was to Lincoln High school in '33, '34 and '35, Willie Slayton, big back, is to Garfield High. Slayton's passes pulled the Bulldogs out of the hole in the last three minutes of play, giving a practice tilt to Garfield over Franklin 12 to 7, last Friday afternoon.

Slayton will be seen in action Friday, Oct. 20, against Bell in the first game of the Eastern League.

KENNY (The General) WASHINGTON, UCLA Bruin star, [p]utting here to heave one for dear old UCLA in the game [Sat]urday with the Stanford Indians. Kenny was nursing a bruised shoulder, received in the Huskie game, early this week, but declared "ready and able" for the coming setto with the Indi[ans]

Disease

The United States of America is suffering from a chronic disorder that most wise men thought dead seventy-five years ago when a war was fought about it. The disease is one which we would not expect to find in "the world's greatest democracy", but it is here.

After three hundred years together as master and slave, and after seventy-five years of relationship as neighbors, it would seem that black and white Americans should be in process of forgetting racial prejudices and enmities. The many great and good black men who have served their country with loyalty thought, perhaps, that their example might lead to a greater tolerance and understanding among fellow Americans. The black soldiers who died heroicaly in every American war since the Revolution thought, perhaps, that they were helping to construct a society in which prejudice slowly would be eliminated. And the great black scientists who contributed to the development and birth of most American industries thought, perhaps, that they were adding their mite to the gradual destruction of intolerance.

According to latest reports from various parts of Southern California, these men were mistaken. Symptoms of "the disease" crop up all about us. A Chamber of Commerce in a nearby town adopts a resolution to favor racial restrictions in desirable property areas. Discrimination in public places, restaurants and hotels, grows by leaps and bounds. A High School principal embarrasses his colored students by openly stating that "most of the disturbances" at local football games "are due to the Negro race". All these things—hints, intangible evidences of a deep and growing wall of racial animosity. While the nation's condemnation focuses brilliantly upon persecution five thousand miles away in Nazi Germany, it fails to detect appearances of similiar oppression in America.

On all fronts, we find quiet increases in racial discrimination. There is but one figure in American life who is immune from a discriminatory urge--the tax collector. Ah yes, Negroes pay taxes equal to those of any other group, in many places, higher taxes. But the return from their taxes to black masses is very weak, indeed. Perhaps it would be well for the U. S. to remember that unjust taxation once caused a revolution in the thirteen colonies.

REMEDY?

There are two important reasons for the unfortunate growth of racial animities between blaak and white races in Southern California. First the Negro has used his ballot incomptently. Second, the tremendous influx of unskilled black labor from the South.

As in all American politics, the greatest flaw in the Negro political picture is the "boss"—in this case, a dark skinned boss. The professional politician is probably the most dangerous criminal loose in America today. His works have been particularly disastrous among black people. Negro voters have allowed their political leaders to be shaped, formed, fashioned and handed out to them by the two national political machines. Both parties have been able to select colored leaders supperly submissive, to carry the banner; to lead the black sheep to slaughter.

The immense power of the black electorate has ben smothered by the cheap mercenaries who have often led it. Nationally and locally, hand picked Twentieth century Uncle Thomases have turned traitor to the best interests of their constituency. With the subtle bribe of a high sounding title or a high salaried governmental post, white politicos have pushed their black dupes about on the political chess board for over a half century. Identical ends have been achieved with the not-so-subtle technique of a transfer of funds in some "Big Shot's" back room.

All in all, the voting power of black masses, their most potent weapon in the battle of prejudices, has been polluted and debased by their own leaders. When a candidate for high office has been elected through the support of a great majority of black voters, usually he feels very little responsibility to this portion of his constituency. Why? Well, some black leader has sold him this vote, perhaps so much per head. There is no question of responsibility in the official's mind--his black supporters are bought and paid for. What if the sanitation in the colored district is broken down and the mortality rate disproportionately high? What if there is discrimination in the civil service? What if the whole race carries a knife quivvering in its back? When he needs the black vote again, Joshua T. So-and-So will be ready to sell it to him.

Then, there's the other great problem which the Negro race in Southern California faces today: the influx of untrained, uneducated masses from the South.

For many years, a vast number of colored people have been migrating annualy to California from the deep south. However, nothing in the history of the state equals the tremendous inflow of black masses during the last three or four years.

In the past, Negroes established in the West have taken an attitude similar to that of their white neighbors in regarding each successive wave of black immigration from the South. They lifted their eyebrows and said, in effect, "you creatures are far below us". They failed to see the obvious fact that these masses of black newcomers could quickly overthrow all the progress in racial understanding that had been achieved on the West Coast during fifty years of hard fighting for political and economic rights. By sheer weight of numbers, the southerners, unaccustomed and untrained to the higher responsibilities of liberal government, hit Los Angeles with a stunning impact.

If only as a simple measure for self-preservation, veteran black citizens of California must take an active part in training incoming Negroes, from the South in basic rules of culture. This problem, however, cannot be approached with any false ideas of superiority and condescension. Unseemly laudness in public places by Negroes fresh from the lower strata of southern life is understandable. At home they were not permitted to enter so-called "white" theatres and restaurants; it is no wonder that they sometimes revel loudly in the non-segregatory freedom of Los Angeles.

By instilling in these people, especially the youth, an appreciation for inconspicuous conduct in public places, local residents will be safeguarding their liberties in the most practical and intelligent manner.

Above all, our High-ups must realize that the southern immigrant is more than a pawn to be pushed around during elections and forgotten after them.

• ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

COUNCILMAN Carl Rasmussen of the Seventh district has shown himself to be a true representative of the people. For many years, Councilmen of the district have forgotten the East-side after election. Rasmussen, it seems, has a very fine memory.

He has personally conducted investigations into slum housing conditions on the Eastside, is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of prompt construction of slum clearance projects in Los Angeles. Incidentally, a great deal of mysterious opposition has developed against the project which is making the battle for immediate building a very tough one. It is hinted from informed circles that Real Estate mogules are secretly behind the anti-project moves.

It has been discovered that one Eastside property owner clears a $800.00 per month profit on thirty small cabins occupied by one hundred and fifty eight persons.

Planned Federal housing project will rent apartments from $27.00 to $40.00 per month.

Councilman Rasmussen, in a speech before the Lucy Laney unit of the Women's Republican Study Clubs meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Leonard Monday afternoon, looked forward to the day when project dreams will become a reali

Ham and Eggs election day draws near. It is surprising how many citizens have been duped by the impossible promises of this proposal. The entire notion is fantastic, as any trained economist will verify. Pollution of the currency is no solution to our economic ills.

The very fact that the measure has attracted such wide approval, however, is an indictment against our entire monetary system. The whole scheme must be a pretty rotten failure if such a crack-pot idea as Ham and Eggs can gain a foothold in the good graces of public opinion. Most of those who back this measure are among the lower bracket workers or the unemployed. When we shriek that Thirty Dollars Every Thursday will ruin the state, this means very little to them. When it is pointed out that opposition to the scheme involves a responsibility to the welfare of the state, our Ham and Egger is unmoved. Why? For so long, the state has neglected its responsibility to the unemployed worker that he is not in the mood to grow alarmed over unfulfilled duty to that state.

The basic economic injustice that reduced so many Americans to paupers is returning like a boomerang to smite its perpetrators. Ham and Eggs will wreck "Big Business" in California. The tragic part is that everything else will be wrecked along with it. Tampering with the currency is the most dangerous and ill advised procedure that a people can follow. So few are able to see this.

There is nothing wrong with U. S. currency that we have to concoct some special California money of our own. Mere manufacture of paper bills cannot solve anything. The Ham and Eggs scheme attacks America's great problem hind part before. The trouble is not with the money itself, but with the distribution of it. Thirty Dollars Every Thursday is a grand Utopian EVASION of the issue. There is something wrong with our monetary system alright—what with some men having billions and others nothing—, but Ham and Eggs is not the solution. Vote "NO"!

C. Leon de Aryan was looser in a bout with the Supreme Court to recover a one cent overcharge sales tax.

De Aryan argued that the sales tax is 3 per cent, while a tax of one cent on a fifteen cents purchase was at the rate of 6.67 per cent.

The gentleman's mathematics are O. K., but the government decided with the state. Coincidence.

The matter of over taxation is beginning to penetrate the thinking of the average citizen. Which was not always the case.

Whatever happened to that American ship which was supposed to be sunk by Nazi submarines? Sounds like the fine Italian hand of British propaganda trying to get American neutrality in Dutch from where we stand. Look out for that Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty. He knows more about the physchology of American masses than most U. S. Congressmen. He wrote one of the greatest series of American historical novels ever published. If anybody can talk America into this war, it is Winston Churchill!

Fine Hotels in Los Angeles

Says ROY WILKINS, in his "Watchtower" column, Oct. 7 issue of The New York Amsterdam News.

BY ROY WILKINS
(In his "Watchtower" column Oct. 7issue of New York Amsterdam News)

here is a good comfortable living and perhaps a small fortune waiting for anyone who chooses to go into the business of providing a clean rooming house or small hotel and well-cooked meals for Negro travelers. We are here on our way back to New York after three weeks of motoring through the West. The greatest question in the minds of Negro travelers is not the cost of accomodations, but whether they can be secured. For your car you receive the finest service and the greatest courtesy. But the question of meals and stopping places is the great question.

For my money, Los Angeles has the finest hotel accomodations for colored people in the entire country. New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, St. Louis and Cincinnati cannot touch the Angel City. We had one unfortunate and maddening experience with a well-known Chicago hotel. We had written in plain English for two rooms with bath and had sent a deposit in advance which was more than fifty per cent of the cost of the rooms. Yet when we arrived a woman in the party was assigned to a room with a CONNECTION BATH, shared with two men tenants of the hotel. We were told when we registered that she would have to share this bath and she went about her business, only to be called by the night clerk at 3 a. m. and told to unlock her bathroom door so the man next door could use the facilities! And then, the place was not clean. The towels were gray and ragged. The curtains looked as though they had not been laundered for months. The only redeeming feature was the excellent food in the cafe concession.

So when we arrived in Los Angeles, we claimed our reservations at the Dunbar Hotel with considerable misgivings. But everything was just the opposite from what we have come to expect in "Negro" hotels. The bell boy was intelligent, polite and efficient. The desk clerk was courtesy itself. We arrived in the city before midnight on a Saturday; but did not get to the hotel until after 1:30. Nevertheless, we were able to have sandwiches sent to the room promptly from the grill downstairs. An all-night valet service took care of the wrinkled suits and dresses and delivered them next morning as soon as we were awake. The bathroom was spotless, as was the linen. The curtains were fresh and neat. The Sunday morning paper was brought to our door. The rates were reasonable.

LOS ANGELES A PLEASURE

Staying in Los Angeles was a pleasure, despite the heat, because of the Dunbar Hotel, which is now owned and managed by colored people, to be exact, by Mrs. Nelson, who has built herself a magnificent apartment in the old ballroom of the hotel and who keeps a personal eye on everything to see that the service is what it is supposed to be.

For the other Negro places there is only faint praise or utter condemnation, especially after one leaves Omaha and starts West. In Wyoming, a colored rooming house that had been recommended had wallpaper peeling off in the bathroom and dirt running wild. We chose a tourist camp. In Utah and Nevada, the colored-operated eating places were terrible, but the worst one was in Colorado. In Albuquerque, N. M., we were fortunate enough to stay in a colored home which caters to tourists, and our only criticism is that the woman did not charge enough for the fine food and excellent sleeping accomodations. A specially cooked steak dinner with three vegetables, a salad and home-cooked dessert for forty cents!

Of course, the volume is Negro travelers is not great enough the year around to maintain elaborate hotels. But white people have made good money operating tourist homes in towns, as distinguished from tourist cabin camps and hotels. Colored people could do the same thing. All one needs is a little elbow grease to keep the place clean, clean liner, a clean, modern bathroom, and some good cooking. These kind of establishments can charge a little more and get it. We gladly paid $4 one night in an up-to-date tourist camp whereas in the same town a colored woman was offering broken-down shelter for $2.50.

Our people complain about opportunities being closed to them, and yet they will not make use of those chances which are right in their laps.

Divine and the Baptists,

When the Baptists held their convention in Philadelphia, recently, it so happened that Father Divine and his cultists were also assembled in the "City of Brotherly Love" to hold forth with three days of meetings, parades, etc. It was reported that many persons attending the Baptist convention strayed away from the Municipal auditorium where it was held long enough to eat aa few of Divine's 15-cent meals.

Although some of the good Baptists who partook of Father Divine's festive board at fifteen cents a throw might have done so out of mere curiosity, many of them did so to save money. (That Father Divine's 15 cent meals have been virtual life savers to many Harlemites during the last decade is an established fact).

Meanwhile, a nice question was raised at the two Philadelphia meetings: must the conventional church, as represented by the Baptists and all other denominations, give to their flocks something more in the form of material benefits here on earth—must religion be placed on a food, shelter and clothing basis?

Radiance

Deep at the bottom of my heart
Where tenderness is born
There lay a dash of sadness
To render me forlorn.

You radiate with gladness
You wear a smile serene
It springs forth like a fountain
So jolly, wholesome, clean.

You say God is that fountain
Who functions from within
I too, have caught your vision
Thank God we are akin.

Words swell like tides within me
Then ebb, I can't express
My adoration for your pluck
And gentlemanliness.

3 COLORED WOMEN ON ALL-WOMAN JURY

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—An all-woman jury, the first in Cook county, which last week awarded $2,500 to the heirs of a WPA worker, killed by a policeman's automobile Oct. 1, 1937, boasted three colored women. They were Mrs. Eugenia Jones, Mrs. Carroll Huntington and Mrs. Irene Gassman.

Give Chain Store Rental Figures

Dramatically illustrating the important and stabilizing influence which chain stores have on California real estate, the huge sum of $36,700,000 was paid out last year for rentals by 9,200 chain stores in this state, according to a statement released here yesterday by the Institute of Distribution, Inc., of New York. The Institute's statement pointed out that the large rental figure is the equivalent of more than 25 per cent of the ahnual taxes paid to the Federal government by citizens of California on their individual incomes.

GUEST EDTORIAL

If England and France Should Be Defeated . . .

By WILLIAM PICKENS

Here in San Francisco I have just listened to a preacher over the radio, who might have been Fritz Kuhn,—except that he had a teary voice and more cunning in his phraseology, as he tried to "white-wash" Hitler, while saying sanctimoniously that he was not trying to white-wash that individual. It is amazing how people can rationalize,—especially some of those who realize that their aguments are opposed to very obvoius fact.—This preacher says that "responsibility for this war is divided",—that "Hitler made the war, but the Allies made Hitler". That seems so snappy and pat,—until you use your brains. Everybody knows that all wars are caused "by all of us", and all that; and everybody that THINKS, knows that it is idiotic to say "the Allies made Hitler",—as if Germany had nothing whatever to do with the production of Hitler. Of course, France and Great Britain, and the United States, and all the rest of us have made Hitler. So what? The Allies are now trying to destroy Hitler,—tying to do away with the monster which they only HELPED to make,—but Germany, who also had a VERY GREAT HAND IN HIS MAKING, is not trying to do away with him. Germany and the Allies, and others, all together made Hitler,—but only the Allies at this moment are trying to destroy him and save their lives, and the life of all of us who believe in freedom and human equality.

How much more sanity in the President of Yale university, who tells his students that the defeat of France and Britain would be the greatest possible calamity "for the United States". Only weak minds fail to see that: England and France are also guilty nations (there never have been guiltless nations), but is any one so hypocritical pro-Hitler as to pretend that he cannot understand that while all are guilty, there can be no doubt this time that Hitler and his little gang of German murderers are the most guilty lot in the mess?—This weak minded radio preacher simply says "all of them are guilty", and expects us to stop our thinking at that foolish, inconclusive point. "We are all sinners.", of course. But there are sinners and SINNERS!

IF HITLER WINS

If Hitler wins this war, even the preaching of that foolish preacher will have no more right in the world, unless the United States, alone, can stand against triumphant dictatorship and prevent it from invading that preacher's world and stopping his mouth. How a preacher can cunningly seek to exculpate the world's worst murderer since Torquemada is one of the mysteries, even for those who deal in sophistries.

The President of the United States is right: we should make munitions, goods, guns—and sell to who can come and get it,—knowing full well that France and England are likely to get most of it. And the American people and their President will rejoice in that eventually,—and we the people can say so boldly. The President is not in our position and cannot say so as boldly.

There is no doubt except in heads that think only with their tongues and in souls that move only in sentimentality and good wishes, there is no doubt in any clear head that England and France are this minute holding the front line for all free civilization in this world. Yes, they helped to make Hitler,—helped Germany to make him. But without the help of Germany, even against the opposition of misled Germans they are resolved to destroy him. That will by no means be to their discredit.—We do not dislike Germans: we have more German friends than American. But Hitler is today the greatest menace to those friends, and only in a slightly lesser degree the greatest menace to us.

• The LAUNDRYMAN

HELLO, folks! I am getting sick and tired of hearing people—who ought to know better--talking about the responsibility of our nation for the safety of the Dominion of Canada, a British possession. Ever so often for the last three weeks in articles in some of the nation's leading magazines I have been confronted with the statement that as a matter of course, we should guarantee the safety of this British colony.

Of the various arguments put forth, all can be practically boiled down to this; that since Canada is so close to us it would be unwise to allow any unfriendly nation seize or ever threaten its integrity. These statements I admit to be true, as far as it goes. My contention is that it does not go far enough however. For what I can't see, what I will forever remain unable to see, is WHY we should do this for, and in the interest of Great Britain.

History has proven incontestibly that whenever a nation grows too weak to hold that which she has obtained by force, it is in the cards that the sovereignty pass on to some other more virile nation who possesses the required strength. This is a fundamental law of evolution and cannot be gainsaid. Britain took Canada away from the French by virtue of the victory of general Wolfe over general Montcalm in 1769. She has held it with firm fingers ever since.

If, due to loss or decline of military power, England's grip is weakening, and we MUST defend it in order to protect our flanks, then to me, the only sane course would be for us to DEFEND and ANNEX it at one and the same time. Piracy, you say? Maybe so, from one standpoint; but only Grim Realism from another.

Great Britain owes us a wad of money; a wad so large that the average mind is unable to conceive of it. She has not paid us, and is making no effort to do so. Still she has been able in the last two years to spend that much or more in preparations for another war in order to maintain her traditional dominance of European politics.

If this situation were to occur in private life, the offending individual would receive scant sympathy or aid from anyone While the injured party would be regarded as no less than a lunatic if he essayed to help out the offending debator in another pinch. To me, the obligations of nations one to another should be just as binding as those of individuals, and it will always be a mystery to those who are able to think STRAIGHT, How Great Britain gets away with it. As an exponent of hypnotic powers, she makes Svengali appear as a mere piker.

Canada borders upon our busiest and most densely populated industrial centers. Therefore rightly, we cannot afford to allow an unfriendly nation to seize her. But if events move to the place where we are compelled to shell out more money, and sacrifice the lives of many of our young men in its defense, I hold that then and there, we should annex it and be done with it. And something tells me that sooner or later that day is bound to come.

NEUTRALITY

To the Editor:

At its recent 40th annual national encampment at Boston, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, America's largest organization of overseas veterans, adopted an 18 point neutrality program designed to "Keep America out of war."

This program has been submitted to President Roosevelt and proposed bills to achieve its objectives by legislative enactment, are being introduced in the present emergency session of Congress.

The members of out organization, each of whom has risked his life in the actual zones of warfare under the Stars and Stripes, ask that your readers lend their support to our nation-wide campaign to keep America at peace, by endorsing the following program to their Senators and Representatives in Congress. Immediate action is desirable if the will of the people is to be known and effective in this great emergency.

The program: Actual neutrality for the United States through the adoption and application of the following policies:

1. Adequate mechanized, motorized material and trained men for national defense.
2. Renounce war as an instrument of international policy.
3. Recognize the existence of war regardless of its formal declaration by any belligerent.
4. Advocate compliance with the provisions of the Kellogg Treaty.
5. Proclamation by the United States that it will not engage in any war of aggression.
6. Proclamation by the United States that it will support and defend the Monroe Doctrine.
7. Withdraw armed protection of American citizens after a period of warning during their continued travel or residence in any country at war or in any war danger zone.
8. Disclaim responsibility for the safety of American citizens in any country which is at war or in any war danger zone.
9. Continue compliance with the provisions of the so-called Johnson Act.
10. Prohibit the extension of credit or loans by the United States, or any of its citizens, to any country or any of its citizens, which is engaged in war.
11. Permit sale of supplies to any nation at war only if paid for, and only if ownership thereof is transferred at our shore lines, without any protection or responsibility whatsoever by the United States government as to same.
12. Prohibit any American merchant vessels from becoming armed.
13. Provide for the clear identification of all American merchant vessels which carry any merchandise to any country at war or into any danger zone, but permit clearance of American vessels only if adequate private insurance is carried on such vessels and members of their crews, which travel into any danger zones.
15. Take the profits out of any possible future war by steeply graduated personal and corporation income taxes.
16. Enact legislation to provide adequately for all disabled veterans and the dependents of all deceased veterans of all wars, past and future.
17. Conduct an educational program to show the cost of war.
18. Encourage peaceful international negotiations to adjust most irritating deficiencies, differences and inequities among nations.

Yours very truly,
Signed V. F. W.

Second Suit Filed Against Univ. of Missouri

QUOTE "BOOKER T." IN SWIMMING CASE

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 60 — NO. 28 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1939 PRICE 5 CENTS

Judge Takes Case Under Submission

City of Pasadena Brief Refers to Famous Educator

The mandamus proceedings brought against the Pasadena City officials to open the Brookside swimming pool to Negroes at all times when the pool is open to the public will be taken under submission Monday by Superior Judge Clemente D. Nye.

Final briefs will then be presented by Thomas L. Griffith jr., attorney for the Pasadena Negro citizens who brought the action, and Harold P. Huls and Thomas W. Le Sage, city attorneys, representing the City of Pasadena.

Yesterday the city attorneys of Pasadena filed a 45-page brief in support of their policy of discriminating against Negroes. The unusually long document maintains that the right to swim is purely a social and not a political right.

Justifying their policy of segregation in social matters, the Pasadena officials quote Booker T. Washington as having the same idea when he said that "In all things purely social we can be as separate as the fingers, yet one as the hand in all things essential to human progress".

They further contend that since the State of California prevents intermarriage of races, swimming together ought be prevented because it places the races together under circumstances of intimate social contact.

NO BEARING

Petitioners claim that the argument advanced by the City of Pasadena has nothing to do with the case and contend that the charter does not empower the officials to set up social affairs but to manage and control government for the benefit of all the people, and that since California makes no provision for the separation of races in this regard, the officials of Pasadena have no power to do so.

Briefs on questions involved in the case have been filed pursuant to the order of Judge Nye since Sept. 14.

Miss Bluford Petitions for Writ

Would Force "U" to Admit Her to Journalism School

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—The second action against the University of Missouri, for the school's refusal to admit qualified Negro students was filed in the circuit court of Boone county, Mo., this week by Miss Lucille Bluford, a graduate of Kansas university and a resident of Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Bluford's petition for a writ of mandamus to force the school to admit her to the graduate school of journalism, was filed against S. W. Canada, registrar of the university. She is being represented by NAACP attorneys Charles H. Houston, Sidney Redmond, Henry D. Espy and John A. Davis.

In her petition Miss Bluford alleges that despite the fact that she is qualified for admission to the graduate school of journalism at the school, the the university registrar refused her admission last February and again last September. This, she sets forth in her petition, constitutes denial of equal protection of the law guaranteed her by the first section of the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution.

The NAACP won a victory before the United States Supreme court Dec. 12, 1938 in the Lloyd Gaines case. At that time the high court ruled that the university must admit Gaines to its law school "in the absence of other proper provision for his legal training within the state". Action in obtaining rehearing of this case is planned by the NAACP in the near future.

by c. a. b.

ONE DAY this week, I was subpoenaed to testify in a case wherein white citizens were suing a colored couple who had bought a little home, as the whites thought, too close to them.

Loren Miller, Attorney for the colored couple, realizing that I too owned a home in the neighborhood, summoned me along with others to prove, I believe, that other than the couple singled out for persecution owned property in the vicinity.

As I sat on the witness stand, unwered questions hurled at me by the colored lawyer representing the black property owners and the white individual representing the white objectors, it occured to me that the breach between white and black Americans was widening as the years go by, and this is not as it should be.

A man's home is truly his castle. Many people, and even some states and nations, hate Adolph Hitler today, not because he has assumed the responsibility of building a bigger and better Germany, but because in pursuing this task he has invaded the property rights and personal liberties of other peoples and nations. Yet here in America, "Sweet land of liberty", we stand on the sidelines and watch a great conflict that is going on in Europe. No guns, no blood-shedding we say. We pay congressmen to meet in Washington to wage a word battle; that's all. Yes we pay taxes. Black and white Americans pay an equal sum for the same quanity and quality of land, building and farm possession. And we use this tax income to pay our Washington representatives to safeguard our national rights against an invading army. But what goes on inside the nation, especially that which effects the liberty and happiness of some fourteen or fifteen million black citizens, is of too little consequence to invite an investigation.

Before I had recovered from the shock caused by the local court experience, this clipping from the Wednesday, October 14th, "Pasadena Independent" reached my desk. I quote...

"Opening gun in a city-wide campaign to end racial conflict in Pasadena was fired yesterday when the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce endorsed 100 per cent the race restriction program of the Pasadena Improvement Association.

"The Chamber's action follows on the heels of similar moves by virtually every community in the west end of the San Gabriel Valley and occurs simultaneously with the efforts by a group of local Negroes to obtain court action compelling the city to admit them to the Brookside Park plunge at all times.

"After listening to members of the Improvement Association explain their plan to restrict the city's various neighborhoods, the chamber directors votes to create a committee of 2 to raise funds to carry out the plan.

"The chamber recently endorsed the aims of the association, but yesterday's action marked its first step to actively support the association's long-range program to put a period to racial conflit within the Crown City.

"Settlement of the controversy was described as Pasadena's No. 1 Problem by City Director A. I. Stewart and R. R. Hornaday and R. A. Lockett. The trio, representing the Improvement

Errors Made in Brazley Story

Errors in the press story concerning the demise of the late Mrs. Arnita Brazley were brought to the attention of the EAGLE this week by the dead woman's family.

Mrs. Brazley died of periostitis resulting from self-inflicted gun shot wounds. Three months elapsed between the time of the suicide effort, June 17, and the date of Mrs. Brazley's death.

Mistaken assertions made in the news story printed at this time, state Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benton, Mrs. Brazley's parents, are that their daughter had previously attempted suicide.

The Benton's are socially prominent here and are known as outstanding community leaders in civic affairs. Russell Benton, brother of the deceased, is a one-time EAGLE columnist.

Mother and father-in-law of the dead woman, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Brazley, are also socially prominent and highly respected citizens.

Mrs. Brazley left an 8-year old child. Dr. F. R. Whiteman attended her.

LABOR GROUPS OK CROSSWAITH

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (C)—Manifesting a determination to wage a successful campaign for the election of Frank R. Crosswaith, American Labor Party candidate for the New York Council, the organized labor movement of Harlem unanimously endorsed the candidate last Thursday night and made an initial pledge of more than $1,500 towards a campaign fund.

2 Lads Answer 'For White Only' Request

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Told that the broadcast "applied to white only", Milton Henry and Harvey Campbell, both 20, were disappointed "but not beaten" last week when they answered a radio broadcast for "high school graduates with mechanical aptitudes and a desire to work in aeronautics."

The youths were not refused because they lacked the necessary qualifications, it was stated, but because the request "applied to white only."

An army recruiting officer in the United States Customs House here advised the boys as to the meaning of the request.

Police Report 3 Persons Missing

Police reported three persons missing this week, missing under varied circumstances.

Jesse Smith, 46-year old photographer, living at 1007 East 50th street, was reported missing last Thursday by his landlady, Beatrice Smith, Newton Street police records reveal.

Declaring that she saw Smith during the day of his disappearance and that his bed was slept in that night, Mrs. Smith said she had not seen him since.

Fearing foul play, Willie Butler, 32-year old saw-mill worker, 1332 Newton street, was reported missing Monday by his friend, Ernest Richard, of 1308 East 17th street, police stated today.

Richard told police that Butler said he was going to "hobo" to Fresno or Weed in search of work. He left his belongings and told Richard that he would send for them if he found work and if not would write him anyway, Richard averred.

CONTACTS SISTER

Fearing that something may have happened to Butler since he left the city last May 22, Richard told police that the missing man's sister in Bogalusa, La., had been contacted but that she wrote that she had not heard from Butler since the latter left the city.

Saying that he went to a large department store at Slauson and Vermont last Monday to pay some bills, a 51-year old carpenter, David Christian, was also reported missing this week by his wife, Mrs. Darthula Christian of 1142 East 32nd street.

Mrs. Christian told Newton Street detectives that her husband had $6.40 in his pockets to pay bills with Monday morning. Declaring that he did not drink, the missing man's wife said she had no idea where he might have gone.

Police claimed that the bastiles were checked in an effort to ascertain the man's whereabouts but to no avail.

Western Dry Goods Sets Opening

What promises to be the greatest Grand Opening in the history of East Los Angeles is scheduled to tear loose Oct. 26 at four p. m when the Western Dry Goods company flings open the doors of its new and elaborate store at 4383 S. Central avenue.

Free gifts, toys and souvenirs for every member of the family will be distributed. Music, lights, and fun galore—a veritable bargain barrage.

Western Dry Goods company, long established as one of the Eastside's most efficient and progressive organizations, brings its new price palace to a Central avenue starving for sensational values such as will be found here. Come on out Thursday the 26th!

Beware of NOT being there!

JEFF HI STUDENTS ON "NEGRO NEWSPAPER"

Featured in last night's Negro history quiz program over the Negro Newspaper of the Air (KGFJ-8:15) were seven outstanding students of Mrs. Hazel Whitaker's Negro History class at Jefferson High school. Contestants included Lawrence Harris, William Green, Rita Hawkins, Cecil May Hill, Cleon Little, Robert Brooks and Joseph O'Neil.

Baptists Back Minister

THEODORE ROBERSON (at top) and CECIL BENTON, enterprising heads of the new ambulance service with offices on Hooper avenue. This business venture marks the first time in the history of this city that there has been a Negro ambulance service. Both Roberson and Benton are well known in the civic and business life of the city and bid fair to go to new heights in their new venture. (See pictures on page 5A.)

US War Dept. Promises to Drop Bans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (CNA)—Following close upon a announcement last week that Negro civilians would be trained as airplane pilots under the supervision of the Civil Aeronautics Association beginning Oct. 1, Secretary of War Harry Woodring now promises the government will organize definite units of Negro combat troops.

Woodring's promise indicates a successful conclusion to the long fight to have Negro youths admitted to these branches of the United States fighting service from which they are now barred. For years, Negro papers and organizations have stressed the right of Negro citizens to become members of the air corps, the coast artillery, the engineer corps, the navy and the marine corps, and have pointed to their record of fighters for and defenders of democracy in past wars involving the United States.

Some branches of the service have been reluctantly opened to the group, but others have remained closed, notably the air corps, the marine corps, the navy and certain combat land units. Recent pressure upon the administration, however, has brought the promise that three Negro schools in the South would institute training courses for civilian pilots. These pilots would form a reserve to be ready in case of war.

Case Against Jackie Dismissed

Ordering the $25 bail on charges of hindering traffic and resisting an officer forfeited, Pasadena police court judge Herbert Farrell yesterday dismissed the case against Jackie Robinson, UCLA's high-stepping football star.

Not present in court himself, a friend of Robinson's appeared in his stead.

Robinson had pleaded not guilty a month ago to the charges which grew out of an altercation on Fair Oaks avenue in Pasadena involving a white motorist.

The grid ace, reportedly essayed the role of peacemaker.

Baptists Flay Article in Paper

Resent Effort to Destroy Highly Regarded Leader

In an outburst of righteous indignation because the Pittsburg Courier of last week published an anonymous and scurrilous article branding their president, Dr. J. L. Caston, one of Los Angeles most useful and highly esteemed pastors, with collusion with the Trustees of the Trinity Baptist church to mortgage the property of the church "for the sum of $750, the money to be used to pay back salaries claimed by the pastor"; the Los Angeles City and County Baptist Ministers' Union with a membership of eighty (80) ministers, unanimously condemned the policy of the paper and resented its unwarranted attack on him.

The ministers re-affirmed their faith in the moral integrity and Christian character of their leader and appointed a special committee consisting of: Rev. L. M. Curtis, Dr. R. R. Porter, Dr. A. Wendell Ross, Dr. W. D. Carter, Pasadena, and Dr. G. W. Reed with the vice-president, Rev. F. L. Taylor ex-officio, to work with Dr. Caston to demand of The Courier a full retraction and vindication. Their influence and financial assistance, if necessary, was pledged.

The article complained of set forth that an injunction against the pastor and trustees of Trinity Baptist church was being sought and that "the outcome of the case is being watched closely and the trial promises to be largely attended". Dr. Caston stated that no notice of such an injunction application had been served on him or any of the trustees of the church, that the money authorized borrowed by the church was not $750, and that the loan had been consummated so long back that one repayment had been made and another one will be due in a few days, that no trial has been heard of, and that none is anticipated since it is impossible to enjoin anyone from doing a thing after it has been done.

REAL PURPOSE

It was obvious to the ministers that the real purpose of the article, with its scare headline,

Heart Attack Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Frances Wade, 45, 1164½ East 23rd street, died almost instantly last Thursday morning, apparently a victim of heart attack, police stated today.

John Wade, the dead woman's husband, said she had been ill with heart disease for some time and that she had been receiving medical care from General hospital.

The body was removed to the county morgue.

NAACP Secures Added Office Help

The local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is furnished additional office service through the courtesy of the NYA employes extended special project at the Urban League office. Enabling the Los Angeles Branch to render larger service to the community, the office service is through the cooperation of Mr. Floyd C. Covington, Executive Secretary of the League.

Mr. Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., President of the local branch announced today the new feature will create a closer working relationship between the organization and its members as well as a plan whereby inquiry may be made of various social problems of individuals of the group.

Miss Camille Hubert, student at UCLA is the NYA employee serving the organization.

Medicos to Be Named to Sanitariums

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct 19.—A committee representing the Pennsylvania Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical association was given the assurance here last week by Dr. John J. Shaw secretary of the State Department of Health, that two or more qualified Negro physicians would be appointed to the staffs of the three state owned tuberculosis sanitariums.

The disclosure was made by Dr. Charles Crampton, chairman of the committee.

Women's Political Study Clubs to Hold Convention

Delegates from the 25 units of the Women's Political Study club throughout the State of California will assemble Thursday at the Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith, for their 10th annual convention.

Two days, Oct. 26 and 27 of concentrated work is in store as the convention takes up national, state and local problems. Mrs. Betty Hill of Los Angeles, is the presiding officer.

Heading the groups will be Mrs. Hazel Marshall of Fresno; Mrs. Blanche Thomas, Santa Barbara; Mrs. Goldie Bucks, Santa Ana; Mrs. Corrine Hicks, Pasadena; Mrs. Marie Mockleroy, San Bernardino; Mrs. Emma P. Boyd of Riverside, and Mrs. Emma Driskon of Bakersfield.

Thursday morning is given over to registration and welcoming of delegates. Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, president of Jordan High school P-TA, will speak on "Advantages Gained by Parents Belonging to the P-TA."

At 3 o'clock, Attorney Lloyd Griffith will speak on "Centralized Government in a Democracy." Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, the WPSC 10th annual

First Colored Ambulance Service Announces Plans

Answering a long-felt community need, the first colored ambulance service in Los Angeles' history announced its opening here this week.

Headed by Theodore Roberson and Cecil Benton, the new organization is located at 4309½ Hooper avenue and promises to compare favorably with any of its kind in the city. Attractive, modern equipment will be used, according to statements from the new service.

Miss Fay O. Dixon, a Provident hospital graduate, at present nursing at the General hospital, has already become a member of the new firm.

Representing a pioneer move by colored citizens, the ambulance service was hailed this week by local medical leaders as "the answer to a great need among our group."

With modern equipment, highly trained employes and competent business heads, Los Angeles' only Negro ambulance service looks forward to becoming an integral part of the local medical scene.

Negro in Party Confabs the Rule

ATLANTA, Oct. 19.—Titular head of the Republican party (at least until the next national convention), Gov. Alf M. Landon, took the position here last week in a story in a local daily that Negroes in national conventions will be the rule in the future.

CLARENCE MUSE

A-TALKIN' TO YOU . . .

CLARENCE MUSE

ALL ABOUND US, every day there is something new. Television is a reality because for the second time in my life I have just appeared over Television from KHJ for the automobile show. The first time was in New York a couple of years ago. So it is new and it is here. Now another new twist in the life of a Negro Screen Actor is that an old thespian of the motion picture industry, who started when Hollywood Boulevard was a Orange Grove, has just completed a new drama called "The Ship of Zion". Of course it is not new that an actor can write a play, but it is indeed new when he has succeeded in getting the entire "Junior" Guild and members among the colored group of the Screen Actors Guild to rehearse and help him put it on, without salaries. These colored artists, under the leadership of Zack Williams, the gentleman who wrote the play in collaboration with a Mr. Gordon have realized that the only way to advance the art of the extra, is to show on the stage what he has to offer. This is a great advance, in my way of thinking, because just a few years ago it was almost impossible to make most of the actors realize the value of being organized into a union. Now they have gone a step further than their wildest brother in trying to get cultural benefits as well as economic. The entire Guild will be interested in this drama, both "senior" and "junior". It will mean that if they succeed in getting the play on every actor in the business will be duty bound to attend, because it is a union effort. Smart showmanship in the great cast of production can make this Ethiopian play a success. I am for it one hundred percent and I hope that not only the colored actors but every citizen white and black will lend his moral influence. It beats charity, it shows initiative, and it is real advancement. Hooray for the colored extra in motion pictures—he has "Gone California" sociation, told the chamber directors the association feels that definite restrictions in neighborhoods is the only "sensible solution" of the problem."

. . . This clipping was of particular interest to me as a newspaperwoman. It is a perfect example of veiled bias in newspaper writing. The article violates the most sacred law of journalism—the creed of impartiality. Examine, for instance, the headline that topped the story. It reads—"Chamber of Commerce Backs Plan to End Racial Conflict". The mere adoption of a racial restriction policy cannot be "an End to Racial Conflict" in the mind of any intelligently informed observer. Such a move doubtlessly will bring about a new and more bitter interracial battle. It is very difficult to convince tax-paying citizens that they are being restricted like cattle "for their own good."

Observe the lines, " The chamber's action follows on the heels of similar moves by virtually every community in the west end of the San Gabriel valley and occurs simultaneously with the efforts by a group of local Negroes to obtain court action compelling the city to admit them to the Brookside park plunges at all times."

Doesn't this statement subtly indicate that admission of Negroes to the plunges "at all times" would be a very radical, if not catastrophic, turn of affairs? There is no hint that Negroes might have been taxed equally with other Pasadenians for the erection of the plunges in question. The assertion "follows on the heels of similar moves by virtually every community in the west end of the San Gabriel Valley" soothingly points out that everything's alright, since other cities are participating also.

Again, there is the statement, "The trio, representing the improvement association, and the chamber directors the association feels that definite restrictions in neighborhoods is the only "sensible solution" of the problem." Inadvertently, the casual reader is led to believe that this is the "only sensible solution." You will note, however, that the Pasadena Independent is careful to quote only those persons in favor of the restrictions. Undoubtedly there are both white and colored citizens in Pasadena who are alarmed over such fascistic moves in their Crown City and have strong opinions against them. None of these persons were asked for statements. To vote only one party to a dispute is one of the oldest subterfuges to swing public opinion known to a newspaperman. This very publication, the Pasadena Independent, has, on occasion, become very alarmed over Hitler's restrictions against Jews in Germany.

. . . In the Evening News of Saturday, October 4th, under the caption "Night Court" by Ted LeBerthon, I read the reflections of a man who had spent, sixteen years in Brazil, Peru and Panma, then came here for a vacation. He used the greater part of his vacation, it appears, studying life in southern California, and he drew some definite conclusions about the strange predicament of our people here, stated Mr. Leberton.

The traveller said he was impressed by the county fair at Pomona, showing how bountiful nature is and how virtually everything can be grown or raised on our fertile oil. The orange groves, Los Angeles harbor and its shipping, the movie studios, the wells, the well paved, tree lined boulevards, our civic center buildings, the Coliseum and the Huntington Library all compelled his respect and admiration.

"But he said he was shocked at the large number of obvious homeless and broken down men and women on Main street and Fifth street, the frightful standards of living of families on the WPA and SRA, and the acute insecurity under which so many wage earning persons live. "It is impossible, he said, to be hungry in Brazil. And there are no vagrancy laws.

"He thinks politicians, educators and social workers he has met since he got here are "long on involved, contentious thearies" but short in understanding simple goodness and obvious human duties.

The general opinion that the United States is a far superior country to Brazil, he said, interested him greatly, in view of the fact that some 40,000,000 Americans are getting some form of public or private relief, and, in President Roosevelt's words are "ill fed, ill housed and ill clothed". The population of Brazil is only 40,000,000 but everyone is eating regularly, he said.

"He concedes that Brazil has not our great colleges and universities, or great art centers, or institutions of scientific research. But he wonders, in passing, and while on the subject of values determining what is superior, whether Christ would stand on the side of feeding the hungry, especially in a country so richly endowed by bountiful nature, or would let them starve while fostering the arts and sciences.

"Frankly I think this man could be enlightened as to the particular nature of Anglo-Saxon democracy. He should understand that our large Anglo-Saxon population, half of it now without religious affiliation, although showed its love of "democracy" by regarding itself as superior to Negroes and Indians, often enjoying lynching the former and exterminating the latter, and feeling aghast at the idea of intermarrying with either.

"The Portugese, Spanish and Italians who largely colonized Brazil really believe in the equality and brotherhood of man and men's oneness in Christ and having no notions like Nordic supremacy, have widely inter-married with Negroes and Italians. Today in Brazil there are 10,000,000 persons of white and Negro mixture alone and no racial hatreds. And the people are lusty and creative. They like things to grow."

2 New Appointments Made By State Athletic Commish

Two new appointments in the State Athletic commission set-up were announced this week.

J. Cullen Fentress, of the EAGLE, was named to the advisory rules committee on wrestling, and Attorney Hugh E. MacBeth to the jurisprudence division of the committee.

The appointments were made by Commission chairman Jerry Geisler, and approved by Commissioner Everett Sanders, chairman of the committee on wrestling.

2ND GREAT MOVE

Several months ago, the commission was responsible for another precedent-shattering move when thru its chairman, it appointed three doctors, E. I. Robinson, Warner Wright and Curtis Carr to its examining board.

Both of the new appointees are well known here. Mr. Fentress has been identified with local newspapers in all-round capacities for the past eight years. Atty. MacBeth's legal career has been studded with successes over a period of many years. He's Liberian consul in Los Angeles and co-ordinator of the Community Builders.

Jefferson, Jordan Open Prep Grid Campaign

In a game that may decide the Southern League championship among the city's high schools, Jefferson's formidable Democrat machine invades Fremont High school tomorrow afternoon for opening game of the league season.

Fremont won the championship last year and coach Harry Edelson's Democrats are just as determined to regain the gonfalon this season.

Jordan High school, with Hubert Duke, all-league halfback being heavily counted upon, meets Huntington Park at Huntington Park in an Eastern league opener.

Louis' Golf Tutor Nabbed

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—Immigration authorities nabbed Rafael Louis Corbin, professional golf instructor, last week and the golfer who instructed heavyweight champion Joe Louis, faces deportation to Bermuda.

Corbin came to America in 1938 and should have reported in August for a continuance of his grant. Instead he competed in the Canadian Open. He has instructed Louis since July, improving the champion's game considerably.

Turner Resigns Langston U. Presidency

LANGSTON UNIVERSITY, LANGSTON, Okla., Oct. 19.—Declaring "I would not protitute my professional career by entering into the intolerable situation I found at Langston," president Albert L. Turner forwarded his resignation to the chairman of the Board of Regents of Oklahoma colleges Sturday afternoon.

One day before, Turner, who until recently was registrar at Tuskegee Institute, assumed his duties as president.

"There has been a complete breach of good faith," the resignation said, "and I do not care to be connected with what, in my judgment, is the worse political confusion I have seen."

Turner left the school Saturday and re-entered the University of Michigan last Monday.

Ku Klux Klan Activity Told

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 19.—First from private citizens in the northern part of the state and then from state National Youth Administration director Dr. Roger L. Coe, came reports last week of Ku Klux Klan terrorism.

Dr. Coe stated that bands of hooded men had visited a NYA camp near Columbia and told the Negroes that "Your place is in the cotton patch."

Hank Hangs Up 2 Kayos in 1 Week

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 19—Scoring his second knockout victory of the week, Henry Armstrong successfully defended his world's welterweight championship here last Friday night when he stopped Howard Scott, Washington, D. C. challenger in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

A crowd of 4006 saw Scott collapse under a rain of rights and lefts delivered in typical Armstrong fashion.

Monday night of last week, Hank t-kayoed Al Manfredo in four rounds at Des Moines, Iowa.

He weighed 141 pounds for the Scott bout, the latter tipping the beams at 137.

May Box in Newark

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Saying a guarantee of $20,000 had been offered his fighter, Eddie Mead, the roly-poly manager of Henry Armstrong, welterweight titleholder, said this week that he had under consideration terms for a title bout with Freddie (Red) Cochrane in Newark, N. J.

Threatens School President; She's Held for Trial

RICHMOND, Oct. 19.—Federal authorities last week arrested Miss Florence B. Howell, 31-year old Lexington, Va., high school teacher for allegedly writing President John W. Davis of W. Virginia State college a letter in which she threatened his life.

Miss Howell, who is being held in Lexington facing charge of violating the Federal extortion statute pending her appearance in the U. S. District court at Charleston, W. Va., November 21, threatened to appear on the campus and shoot Davis if her degree or the $1000 she expended during her tenure at the school, 1929 to 1931, was not forthcoming. She owns a block of stores in the heart of town, and has already sold this year more than 30,000 pounds of pork.

Jackie Wilson's Knockout Drops Too Much for Burke

Although his knockout potions, administered last Tuesday night at the Olympic to Jackie Burke of Utah, were slow in taking effect, when they did Jackie Wilson had scored his ninth straight knockout win.

Wilson, called the gaatest prospect the coast has developed since Henry Armstrong, had Burke on the canvas three times in the first round. Unable to apply the finisher to his veteran and cagey foe, Wilson had to bide his time.

In the seventh heat, Burke rushed Wilson to the ropes where he used his added weight to an advantage. Wilson, however, brought up several short rights and lefts to the jaw and when referee Charley McDonald broke them, Burke hit the deck. He was up at the count of eight, but being unable to defend himself, Randolph waved him aside and awarded Wilson a technical knockout decision.

Wilson's long arms kept him from being very effective in the in-fighting in the early rounds, but by the time the seventh rolled around, he had learned just what to do.

Jackie weighed 137½ and Burke tipped the beam at 143.

Chester Parks and Bobby Yannes, fighting in the six-round semi-wind-up, were sent to the showers shortly after the opening of the third round when Referee Mushy Callahan halted their scrap and declared it draw. Yannes had suffered a cut eye as a result of an unintentional butt.

Other results: Hut Thompson had Everett Simmington on the floor in the first canto. Tiring badly in the third and fourth rounds, he barely rated a draw. Charley Miegel TKO'ed Babe Antunna, subbing for Adam Moraga, in the fourth. Hi Jinks didn't last a round with Terry Orchard, the latter scoring a kayo in the first 59 seconds. In the opener, Ken Wren and Frankie Rath went to a draw, the bout being stopped by Callahan in the third heat when Wren suffered a badly injured optic.

Royal Giants Play Walker Roofers

Giants Seek First League Victory as Season in 3rd Week

The Winter League enters its third week at Gilmore field Sunday afternoon when the Philadelphia Royal Giants, seeking their first league win, cross bats with Walker Roofers nine in a doubleheader.

The first game starts at 1:30 p. m.

Thus far unable to strike their usual stride, the Giants have lost to Joe Pirrone's Major League All-Stars and Babe Herman's White King nines. They did win an exhibition contest last week when Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, struck out 14 of their number in seven innings.

The Walker Roofers boast a strong lineup, featuring several faces well known in the major and minor leagues.

Elsewhere on the sports page, fans will see a coupon which will pass two to Winter league games during the next few weeks. Cut it out and present it at the gate.

Sunday's probable line-ups are:

Walker's Roofers

Royal Giants

Minority Issue Called U. S. Challenge

BOSTON, Oct. 19. (CNA)—The livin gstandards of 15,000,000 Negroes in the United States will have to be raised or they might become a permanent relief problem, President Arthur Howe of Hampton (Va.) Institute, warned the nation last week.

The problem is one of economics as well as a test of how "our American democracy will handle its largest racial minority," Howe told a group of white business and professional men at the Union Club.

Although Negroes compose only 10 per cent of the population, he said, they number 20 per cent on our relief rolls.

Flory Labor Council Speaker

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Outlining the program of the newly organized Southside Labor Council, Ishmael P. Flory, secretary-treasurer of the AFL Joint Council of Dining Car Employes and chairman of the council, was one of a roster of speakers heard here Sunday at Forum hall.

"Jobs and prosperity for Chicago's Negro workers can be realized through the organized trade union movement" was the substance of the meeting at which Alderman Earl B. Dickerson was principal speaker.

Flory, formerly of Los Angeles, is one of the most active labor leaders.

sepia film comic rehearses for role in swing version of 'midsummer night's dream'

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—With rehearsal date for production of the famed stage production, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" set for next week, M. Sherrell, French-born director and producer of the latest version of the noted work, announced the completion of his cast with the arrival here early this week of Troy Brown, sepia film comic from Hollywood. The current version is of the "swing" variety, to be produced under the title of "Midsummer Night's Dream—In Swing."

Benny Goodman and his famous swing orchestra, will provide the "swing tunes" for the latest stage extravaganza to attract a Broadway crowd. The stellar femme role goes to petite brown-skinned Maxine Sullivan, who startled a staid world two years ago when she elected to "swing" several tunes considered heretofore strictly taboo.

Stepin Fetchit, noted droll comic of the screen, was originally signed for the lead comic role in the rollicksome piece, but was forced to resign it because of the urgency of another role in a current Broadway cabaret show in which he is starred. Troy Brown, familiarly known to show goers for his girth and billed throughout the land as "300 pounds of joy," instead, steps into the lead comic role in the production.

"Midsummer Night's Dream—In Swing" will bring forth all of the important characters seen in the Shakespearean drama when produced in the original and recently for the screen in its coming production set for an early showing here in the heart of the "big city." A huge and especially cast and arranged chorus will provide the background operatics for the rollicksome comedy-drama. This huge cast, with the exception of Benny Goodman's orchestra, will be all-colored. Many notables of the sepia comic stage including "Nicodemus," will play the featured roles.

Georgia "Corn King" Was Penniless at One Time

ADELE, Ga., Oct. 19—Known as the "Corn King" Dave Jackson was penniless when he arrived here 11 years ago.

Now he owns 200 acres of land, power plant, and modern machinery with which to farm, including tractors, trucks, etc. In addition to his farm holdings

Women's Pain Relieved By "Build-Up" Method

Do you suffer periodically from headaches, nervousness, irritability, restlessness or cramp-like pains? If so, here's good news! These may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea, which is so often caused by undernourishment. By improving the appetite, digestion, assimilation, through the proper use of CARDUI, women by thousands find they are able to build strength, energy, and nerve-force. Thus periodical pain is relieved for many users of CARDUI. By taking it just before and during "the time," women by thousands report that CARDUI also helps to allay the pain and discomfort for the period.

I KNOW THEM Better

THE MEN WHO SERVE YOU on Los Angeles Railway cars and coaches are well worth knowing. They are good citizens who take pride in their work. They have an average length of service of about 10½ years and many have service records of 15, 20 and 25 years.

Their earnings fall in the upper brackets of wage earners and their credit ratings are of the very best.

They may be merely men in uniform to you, but we'd like to have you know them as neighbors, home-owners, taxpayers and civic-minded men who are proud of Los Angeles and who are building up comfortable nest-eggs to care for them in future years.

They are well above the average of intelligence and their integrity is unquestioned.

They are just the sort of men you'd choose for your friends.

We'd like to have you know them as individuals as well as employees of the Los Angeles Railway.

LOS ANGELES RAILWAY

GLOBE NEWS & GOSSIP

By Jay Gould

BAY MEADOWS, Oct. 19—Bay Meadows top tilt program a big draw for the racing fans. Agua Caliente to open their gates Christmas for two days a week, Saturday and Sunday. Santa Anita runs the flag up New Year's Day and Doc Strub, who made Santa Anita, may be ousted.

Edith Wilson, stylish actress and singer of sweet sings, is in big demand. Russell Smith, better known as Noodles, and Lucius Lomax with a party of friends right in the middle of the Pomona Fair. Brewer Abner of sporting fame, always lives a clean life and is always ready to help the fellow who is down. Rich Baker, man about town, never sits down to dinner, that there weren't a dozen fellows invited to dine with him.

San Francisco News: Miss Rosa Thomas, a very lovely person from Los Angeles, visiting this city and the World's Fair. Above all, paying her own way. Even Hitler would give her 100% rating. She is so different. (Boys)

Why do the windows of Grover Woods' cleaning shop always get broken? Can you answer that, Grover? We know now.

Saunders King has a fine combination at the South Seas, an okay spot in downtown San Francisco. Hold it S. K. George Nealey, a fine tenor sax man, has a very mellow band at the Beachcomber, a brand new ofay nitery. Sepia bands are gradually coming into their own in the Bay District.

Bert Williams, 35 years ago, had a moving picture of his act, with a phonograph, and sold it to movie houses as a unit, which formed the first commercialized "talkie" in history.

Pannie Meade, years back, was in and out of the $2 mutuel windows, guessing horses out of papers in Canada; now, he is one of New York's biggest bookies and accepts from $1000 up on any price horses.

Casper Holstein was in Montreal, Canada in 1912-13, playing different games for small stakes and now has plenty, has just received a decision thru the courts for $56,000, as a result of his end of a building in New York.

Eugene Sotell is now owner and proprietor of one of Los Angeles' most beautiful cocktail bars and grill rooms. A great percentage of his trade is derived from fellow-members of the Elks', whose building houses his establishment. The biggest nickel glass of beer in the city—frozen cold.

Louie Verrett, owner of Club Alabam, is still operating the haunt of nite-lifers and visitors in San Francisco . . . with music by Wilbur Baranco's Band and Edna Barrette, Ross and Percy Bost as entertainers.

Who said Ed Anderson was not Hollywood struck when he received a big fat contract from Warner Bros., a big take from Jack Benny's program, with a three-year contract, worker play!

Peter Ray, dancer at the Frisco Fair with George Olsen's Revue, cancelled his European tour. Perhaps the war isn't big enough for him yet. He is booked for the Biltmore Hotel with the same revue in New York.

The Pythian Hotel, down Hot Springs, Ark., way is getting some big names for the coming season . . . names from Buffalo, N. Y., Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Seattle, L. A. Stockton and Sacto. The writer of this column will be right in the middle of it all.

Virgie DeWitty, of Austin, Texas, is visiting her father, Mr. L. Barnett, of 1381 O'Farrell St., whom she has not seen for too many years. The charming and talented visitor also took in the San Francisco Fair, played and sang at Zion AME church several times and was entertained by many family friends. We hope her stay has been a happy one and wish her the best of success in her every endeavor . . . particularly her choral group on the radio lane, which is sponsored by a large coffee company.

Count Basie had the largest crowd ever at Sweet's Ballroom in Oakland, 4600 to be exact. Ofays at the Ballroom had to sit their dances out. I could name the 4600 but space will not permit. A few were: James Roberts of the own club; Lester Armstrong, Artie Graves, Johnnie Jones, Bernice Henderson, Fred Pugh, Margaret Dolson, J. C. Sweeney, Jimmy Barker, Grover Woods, Louie Verrett, Vernon Brown, George Nealey, Sanders King, J. D. Charles, Salty Dog hitch-hiked all the way from Kansas City to hear the Count.

At the beautiful Maywood home at 3037 Pine street, Mrs. Adele Porter, Mrs. Cora Alfred, and Mrs. Eleanor Maywood were the charming hostesses at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Mary Lewis of New Orleans. Guests were: Mrs. Fontaine, Mrs. J. S. Clarke, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Fazenda, Mrs. Whitehead, Mrs. McAlston and Mrs. King. Mrs. Lewis is the sister of Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Alfred.

Hi folks! Here's a bit of bitherin' dither to insult your delicate sensibilities . . . Wm. Martin, Buford Hotel announcer, in a retrospective mood—but he's thinking of his wife at her Los Angeles beauty parlor . . . Joe Nelson, rambling down Post St. Bobbie Robinson, emulating Fred Pugh at the Town Club and tossing up some nifty cocktails . . . Ethel Carter looking rather flushed and hurried . . . Tony Austin in a waltz contest . . . Gladys Pittman rushing home to fix dinner . . . Clifford Varieste surrounding some fermented milk of corn at Jack's Tavern . . . Abe Karp and Louie Verrett gabbing at the Club Alabam bar . . . When Clarence Epps goes in business, he's no piker, no sir; besides his bootblack parlor on Clement street, he has a portable one, four wheels, motor and all . . . Chris and Marjorie, making plans for a forthcoming evening . . . Clarence Newhouse, loaded down with gabs at the S. P. station, calling another Redcap for aid . . . See Goldie wondering whether he flunked another exam or not . . . Nathan Robinson cashing in on swing and raking in the Jitterbugs and buffalos.

4-Day Confab of Dining Car Waiters Opens on Tuesday

Attention of Pacific Coast and mid-west labor and civic circles will be directed next week to Los Angeles where the meeting of the Second Biennial General convention of Local 65 (Uuion Pacific) Protective Order of Dining Car Waiters, will be held Tuesday through Friday, Oct. 24-27.

With final arrangements for all features of the convention completed, local officials of the organization predicted a record-breaking attendance at the meeting from both union members and the general public. Convention sessions will offer a variety of attractions of interest to both labor and civic groups.

History of the union and its future plans will be reviewed by Elder G. Scott, general chairman, who will address the opening public session on Tuesday, Oct. 24, 8 p. m., at First AME church, E. 8th and Towne avenue. Appearing on the opening session program, also, will be state and city officials, as well as leaders of local labor groups, who will extend the welcome of the community to visitors and delegates. The general public is cordially invited to attend this opening meeting, especially.

Special discussions on legislative measures proposed for the rehabilitation of the railroad industry, government ownership of railroads, and effect of wage-hour legislation on dining car workers will be held Wednesday morning and Thursday morning, during convention business sessions at the Masonic Temple, 1050 E. 50th street. Ladies auxiliary members will hold the spotlight at the Friday morning session, when election and installation of General Auxiliary officers will be held. These business sessions, all of which will be held at the Masonic Temple, are also open to the public.

To the music of George Brown and his Ebony Collegians, best known of Los Angeles swing bands, convention delegates, visitors and the general public will dance at the "Dining Car Union Convention Grand Ball," Thursday, 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., at Masonic Temple 105 E. 50th street. Wishing to provide all citizens of the local community with an opportunity to meet the many prominent persons who will be visiting the city during the convention, officials of the union have made the Convention Ball an affair open to the general public. Admission is at the popular price of 40 cents.

Private affairs for Convention delegates and union members only include a banquet on Wednesday, at the Clark Hotel, Washington and Central avenues, a sight-seeing tour Friday afternoon, and various luncheons and private parties.

Complete information on all details of the Dining Car Union Convention, and Convention Dance Tickets may be secured by calling VAndyke 9007, or visiting the local office, 1158 E. 12th street.

Kin of Founder of All-Negro Town Slain

MOUND BAYOU, Miss., Oct. 19.—Miss Estella Montgomery of St. Louis, daughter of the late Isaih T. Montgomery, founder of this all-Negro town, was slain here last Sunday night as she attempted to defend her home.

Miss Montgomery had come here from St. Louis to take possession of property which she claimed. Arrested and jailed on previous occasions when she had tried to take possession of the house, officers summoned on Sunday to eject her opened fire when she refused to leave.

Miss Montgomery was the sister of Mrs. Mary C. Booze, national Republican committeewoman from Mississippi.

Chi Guildsmen Press For Injunction

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—Chicago Newspaper Guildsmen, on strike 10 months against William Randolph Hearst's Herald-American, are pressing for an injunction to halt Hearst "terrorism".

More than 100 affidavits have been presented to Master in Chancery Benjamin Cohen. These depositions support Guild charges of management-sponsored violence. They are backed with pictures showing Hearst "goons" in action against the strikers—and bystanders.

The writ sought by the Guild would restrain the Hearstlings and "their servants, employes, agents, officers, attorneys and representatives . . . from threatening, attempting or committing any violence against the persons and property . . ." of strikers.

Boys' Republic in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Making possible the establishment of the first Negro Boys' Brotherhood Republic in the United States, Attorney Daniel M. Schuyler, white, last week donated a building owned by him to the organization.

A social civic organization for youngsters 10 to 18 years old, the Boys' Brotherhood Republic is one of a number of agencies here which receive funds for the community fund in Chicago.

Pay Tribute to Army Surgeon

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—A tribute to the memory of the first Negro Army surgeon in the history of the United States was paid here last week by Dr. Harold Farmer, of Wayne, when he addressed the section of Medical History of the College of Physicians.

The surgeon was Dr. John Shirley DeGrasse, who graduated from Bowdoin college in 1849.

Boy, 17, Enters Yale University

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Robert Randall, 17, entered the School of Fine Arts at Yale university this semester on a scholarship grant made from the fund provided by the Allegheny County Bar association for the education at Yale of children of members of the Allegheny County bar. Young Randall is the son of Attorney and Mrs. P. J. Clyde Raidall of this city.

HOWARD U. DEFEATS CHEYNEY TEACHERS

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 19—Howard university's football team successfully opened the 1939 season, defeating Cheyney Teachers College 19-6 last Saturday at Howard stadium. Eleven hundred spectators watched the superior manpower of the Bisons completely overshadow every offensive effort of the Cheyney eleven.

Discuss Central Valley

Shortly before the recent opening of the new Central Valley Project exhibit at the Western World's Fair, Jesse Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, was an honored guest on Treasure Island of Governor Culbert L. Olson and the California Commission for the Exposition, of which State Public Works Director Frank W. Clark is Director. After the welcoming luncheon, Governor Olson, right, Administrator Jones, left, and Director Clark, center, held a long conference, principally on the future distribution of the huge hydro-electric power output of California's great Central Valley Project.

Dr. Carver Gets Theo. Roosevelt Award for '39

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Roosevelt Medal for 1939 "for distinguished work in the field of science" went last week to Dr. George Washington Carver, famous Tuskegee Institute scientist. Other award winners have been Major-General Frank R. McCoy, retired United States Army officer; and Carl Sandburg, poet and author.

Established in 1923, the Roosevelt Medal is awarded annually "for distinguished service in the fields associated with the career of the late president Theodore Roosevelt".

Dr. Carver, said to be the first Negro to receive one of the medals, was cited because of his peanut discoveries and his contributions, without thought of personal gain, to the agricultural progres of the South. He appeared here recently, with boxing champion Joe Louis on the "We the People" program.

The new officers are Wyletta McKinney, president; Anita Spearman, vice president; Consuela Monroe, secretary; Benzell Graham, treasurer. After mapping out some of their work for the semester, the social hour was enjoyed by the members present.

Kappas Stage Rush Stag at 'Y'

The 28th street branch of the YMCA was the scene last Friday night of the annual Kappa Alpha Psi Rush stag. It was sponsored by the local chapter for new students (men) from the campi of UCLA, USC, Chapman college and LACC.

The program was of the varied type. Commencing at 6:45, everyone present enjoyed an invigorating swim in the pool. A gigantic gym show followed, it being participated in by well known locals who presente oxing and wrestling matches. At 9:00 p. m. a delicious banquet was served in the banquet hall and those present were privileged to hear Kelly Williams of the Golden State; Atty. David Williams, prominent young barrister; Norman O. Houston, secy-treasurer of Golden State; and John Brewer, polemarch of the local chapter in a series of talks.

The success of this affair can be traced directly to the efforts of Messrs Al Brewer, John Randolph, "Crip" Mars, Reggie Williams and John Brewer.

Golden State "Kick-Off" Luncheons Take Spotlight as Annual Social Events

The annual Fall production drive of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company formally opened last Saturday, Oct. 14, at the institutionalized "kick-off" luncheons in Los Angeles and Oakland for the Southern and Northern districts respectively.

William Nickerson, Jr., president-manager, was featured speaker at the Los Angeles affair which is outstanding as a social event as well as the beginning of the traditional drive. In Oakland, George A. Beavers, Jr., vice-president-director of agencies, addressed the Bay area forces where the luncheon is also regarded as one of the Fall fetes of social interest. On Oct. 2, Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer, spoke for the pre-rally in Chicago which attracted business and civic leaders eager to support the Illinois branch.

Increase in the home office employees as well as the agency staffs necessitated the luncheon being held in the social hall of the Avalon Christian church instead of in the YMCA where it has been held heretofore.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS CLIMAXES PROGRAM

"Ours By Right," the challenging address by President Nickerson climaxed the dynamic program. Mr. Nickerson contrasted the methods and results of well organized business campaigns with the political campaigns of Hitler which are based on "ours by might," and pointed out the self-destructive elements in such a pursuit as an antithesis to the vast economically beneficial possibilities in selling business on the basis of "ours by right."

Envisioning the future Golden State as the protector of un-numbered thousands and employer of persons throughout the country in years to come, Mr. Nickerson challenged representatives to prove their worth in building to their goals under the slogan of "ours by right, ours by fight."

dress, Edgar J. Johnson, assistant secretary, directed the varied program rapidly toward its climax. Greetings from the Home Office force by Miss Ada Belle Rivers was followed by presentation of prizes for the Prizefight Contest by Cashier Helen E. Hodge. The contest was won by the Chicago district. Los Angeles District winners of the Black Cat Club certificates were announced by A. J. Williams.

Dramatic team demonstrations entertained the assemblage and presented the goals of each agency staff in the Fall drive.

The Los Angeles District office clerical force dramatized the events of Hoodoo Day (Friday, Oct. 13) in a reminiscent skit. Group singing led by U. S. Griggs of the conservation department and the Golden State quartet (C. Davis, C. Reid, E. Brown and W. Smith (interspersed the program. Rev. Baxter C. Duke, minister of Avalon Christian church, was a guest at the luncheon.

Dorothy Glosson Hostesses Dinner Party

The most interesting event of the month was the cocktail and dinner party given by Miss Dorothy Glosson, last Tuesday night at her home on W. 35th place, honoring Count Basie and his boys, whom she met while touring the East last winter. Her patio was a most beautiful sight, with some 50-odd guests and two bartenders.

From there they were called to the dining room where a delicious buffet dinner was served. Mrs. Lillian Harris, mother of Norman Houston, was most gracious as co-hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gladys Tolson, a bride of a few months. Mrs. Harris is also the adopted mother of the Westside younger set.

tains Sharp ety Challenge

"The Church must contend for social justice and racial equality," the author writes. "No Church can hope to survive any longer in human affairs unless it tears away from its doorsteps, pews, altar, and pulpit, the partitions of discrimination.

"Barriers of sectarianism and racialism have caused much injustice to the masses of people. Small wonder that millions have turned away from the Church. The Church must welcome the changing order, benefit by the new contributions of science, and live in the world of events."

All-Vegetable Laxative Makes Happy Friend
Thousands swear by this way to get relief when they're lazy inside and it has them headachy, bilious, irritable, upset: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water—there you are! Then this all-vegetable laxative usually allows plenty of time for sleep, acts thoroughly and gently, and relieves constipation's headaches, biliousness, irritability, bad breath. BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" which helps tone the intestinal muscles. Millions of packages used prove its merit! Economical—25 to 40 doses, 25c.

MONROVIA CHURCH SERVICES WELL-ATTENDED

MONROVIA—At Second Baptist Church, Maple and Shamrock Avenues, Rev. John A. Davis, pastor, Sunday School and all services of the day were well attended. This being the Junior Church Day, Rev. J. F. Bagsby preached at 11 A. M. and Rev. B. T. Mayfield at 8 p. m. The B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 a very lively discussion of the lesson was held. Carmelia McNeal won in the spelling contest. The word chorister vanquished all of his opponents.

Revival in the old fashioned way will begin tonight. Dr. S. M. Malone of the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Pasadena, is the Evangelist in charge. Good singing, good preaching and a great soul saving season awaits all who participate.

Long Beach Study Club Hits Offensive Billboard

LONG BEACH, (By Mrs. Darthula Vandiver Bouggess)—Under its active and edergetic president, Mrs. R. B. White, the Roland Hayes Study Club has been waging relentless warfare against a very offensive sign on a bill board on Long Beach Blvd. The billboard, advertising a soap powder, made by a local firm depicted a huge, black, colored woman, turban on head, arms akimbo in a tub of suds, back turned to the public, and so arranged that with each bend of her body her very short dress flew up to the waist. Seated on the floor at her side was an ugly little black boy of the pickaninny type, face distorted in anguish as he wept for attention from his busy mother. Negroes of Long Beach were indignant. Mrs. White got into action immediately, talked to two members of the City Council and called up the headquarters of the firm represented by the sign. The Reverend Hayes Hayter of Grant Chapel A. M. E. Church, also protested to the city authorities against the offending sign. In a few days the pickaninny was removed from the sign, the mothers color was changed, and the Negroes of Long Beach had won their fight.

A committee from the Roland Hayes Club, Mrs. R. B. White, president; Mrs. Darthula Vandiver Bouggess, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Mary Lou Owens wited upon Miss Winifred Wonders, principal of the Lincoln Elementary school urging the discontinuance of seperate chorauses for Negro children. All Negro children from the first grade were in this chorus. Some of the children, and many of the parents, including Mrs. Owens, were very indignant. Miss Wonders, a new principal this year, was very courteous and gracious, and readily consented to discontinue the segregated group.

COLORED CITIZEN'S LTAGUE

In order that their president, Mr. Earl Miles may be with them the Colored Citizen's League are meeting on the first and third Saturdays of each month, instead of the first and third Thursdays, the regular meeting days. In order to keep apace and not be outdistanced by the women, great plans will be discussed Saturday evening.

Go to it boys! ¼

CHURCH NOTES

Grant Chapel A. M. E. Church

Inspired messages were delivered by the pastor, the Reverend Hayes Hayter at both services morning and evening. The building of the parsonage under the personal supervision of the pastor is proceeding apace, and he and his good wife expect to be domiciled therein soon.

Mrs. A. T. Brown of San Diego has returned home after a 10-day visit with her friend, Mrs. Hayter. Mrs. L. E. Young, wife of Bishop Young of the Texas diocese, is visiting the protege and foster daughter, Miss Marie Peterson, 270 Carr Park East. The ACE league is planning a reception, honoring Mrs. Young, Thursday evening, Oct. 19, in the church parlor. Friday evening, Oct. 20, the choir will give a waist-measuring party to raise funds for its treasury at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell, 925 East 11th street.

Second Baptist Church

Guest speakers occupied the pulpit of the Rev. Thurston Lomax at both services Sunday. Sunday morning, the Rev. Mr. Willis of the AME Zion church of Los Angeles, delivered the message, and in the evening, the Rev. Mr. Wilhite, assistant pastor of Zion Hill Baptist church of Los Angeles, spoke. The Thomas A. Dorsey program Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, was attended by a large and receptive audience. All the numbers evoked much enthusiasm. The singing of the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Lomax, was very well done and effective, and the solos by Mr. Dorsey, his soloist, Mrs. Robinson, and our own Mrs. Lomax and Nathaniel Kirkpatrick charmed and enthralled their listeners. Mrs. R. B. White was pianist, and Mr. Dorsey, organist for the occasion.

Mrs. C. C. (Bertha) Robinson of 2115 California Ave., announced the opening of her beauty parlor with a tea at her charming home Sunday afternoon from three to six. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, and many friends and well-wishers were present, among them being her brother-in-law, Mr. L. G. Robinson, of Los Angeles, and his wife. Leaders of both races, white and colored, in Long Beach wish Mrs. Robnison every success in her new enterprise, as she is so well known for the generous contribution of her rich and glorious mezzo-soprano voice to all worthy causes.

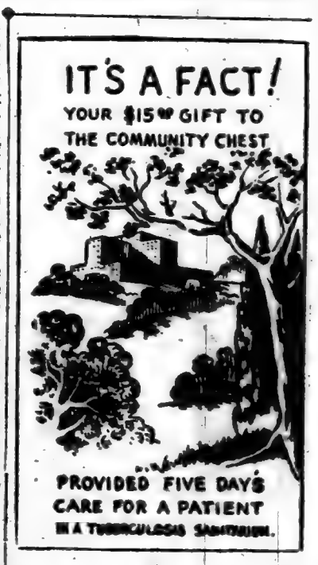
L. A. County Gets Largest Piece of Liquor License Fees

SACRAENTO, Oct. 19—California cities and counties were listed to receive a total of $1,368,619.29 as their share of liquor license fees for the first six month period of 1939, it was announced by William G. Bonelli, Member of the State Board of Equalization for the fourth district.

The allocation represents 50 per cent of the total fees earned from liquor licenses during the first half of the current year. Collections from this source amounted to $2,737,238.59, the state's half of which goes into the general fund.

Of the current allocation, the largest amount was to be distributed to Los Angeles County and its cities with a total of $350,109.15. The City and County of San Francisco was second with $306,881.70. Alpine, the smallest County in the state, received $99.37.

SAN PEDRO NEWS
By REV. LEWIS



A big mass-meeting was staged by the L. S. S. Co., Tuesday night. All the colored people were invited. The plans to open up a line of S. Ships, a bus line and taxi were discussed. The directors will be appointed, Oct. 10th. The office will be at 351 W. 4th St.

The Presiding Elder visited this Sunday, and a new pastor will be here shortly, from the east, to take charge of the AME church, in place of Dr. Clever.

Abyssinia Baptist Church Historv Sketched By Heads

A brief histor the Abyssinia Baptist ch Rev. L. D. Stevens, B. D., 4417 Ascot avenue was released today by the church.

The Abyssinia Baptist church was organized December 3, 1936 by the Revs. Grant Harris, E. D. Payne, B. W. Wade and Dr. J. W. Clay.

On Sunday, January 3, 1937 the Rev. L. D. Stevens, B. D., of the St. Paul Baptist church, Harrisburg, Pa., took charge of the Abyssinia Baptist church as pastor. He found this new organization holding its services in the property, better known as the old Mt. Herman Baptist church, located at 42nd and Hooper avenue.

On May 4, 1939 the members of the Abyssinia Baptist church, mutually gave up this property to the owner, Mr. W. C. Hammond, and rented the small house of worship at 1252 East 41st street, where we still hold our services.

Then our pastor came to us, we only had 13 faithful members. Since then 119 members have ben added to our church. This congregation never did purchase the property located at 42nd and Hooper avenue, and it became highly necessary to have a permanent church-home to carry on God's services. Therefore, on the first Sunday in May, 1939; without a dollar, we made our first effort to raise money to purchase the fine and well located property we now have.

Our property was purchased from the well known S. B. W. May company, licensed real estate broker at 1054 East Vernon avenue. Our property contains a nice 5 room residence; a store that brings an income, and a large space, adequate for a modern church edifice. Our pastor and family are happily housed in the parsonage, and plans have been perfected to erect a tabernacle to hold our services, until we are ready to build a permanent building.

We are very grateful to our friends who have assisted us in our struggle, and shall always expect your prayers and cooperation.

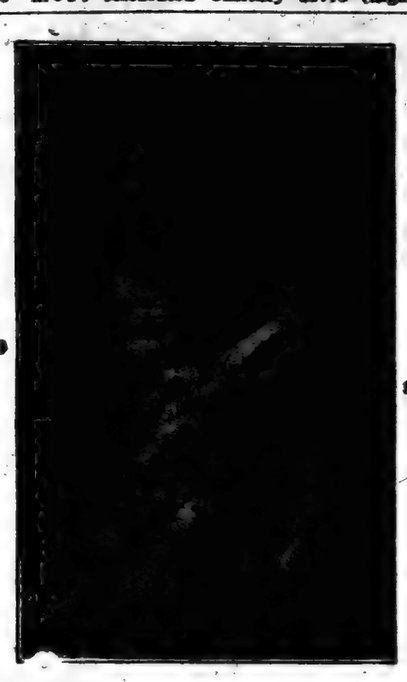
Zelma W. Duke Recital First of Fall Series



The forthcoming appearance of Zelma Watson Duke in recital at the Hamilton Methodist church on the evening of Oct. 30, will be the first of a series of programs to be given this Fall and winter under the sponsorship of the Young Women's club of Hamilton.

Because of the especially high caliber of the artist on this initial program, the members of the club wish to advise their many friends to make reservations now in order to secure a seat.

Mrs. Duke has studied under some of the most celebrated teachers of voice in this country and comes with wide experience on the concert stage, having appeared with such organizations as the Chicago Civic Opera company.

As directress of the Avalon Christian Church choir, she has placed that organization among the leading choirs of the city. She will be accompanied at the piano by Melba Allen Hannah, one of the most versatile pianists in Los Angeles and an artist in her own right.

For information concerning tickets and reservations, telephone PArkway 4292, DRexel 3545, ADams 7578 (day); and CEntury 21776 (night).

MISSIONARY UNION MEETS SUNDAY

The Interdenominational Missionary union will meet Sunday, Oct. 22, 3:00 p. m., at Trinity Baptist church, 3536 Normandie avenue, Rev. J. L. Caston, pastor. An interesting program is planned and the public is invited.

New Book Contains Sharp Church, Society Challenge

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—A sharp challenge to Church and Society is contained in a new book by Dr. David Nathaniel Licorish, Negro leader. The book, entitled "Adventures for Today," was published Oct. 16 by Fortuny's, Publishers, 67 W. 44th street, New York.

Dr. Licorish, who is director of publicity for the National Negro Achievement commission of the New York's Fair, calls upon the Church and State to recognize the changing order of world affairs and to fall in line with the new order.

"The Church must contend for social justice and racial equality," the author writes. "No Church can hope to survive any longer in human affairs unless it tears away from its doorsteps, pews, altar, and pulpit, the partitions of discrimination.

"Barriers of sectarianism and racialism have caused much injustice to the masses of people. Small wonder that millions have turned away from the Church. The Church must welcome the changing order, benefit by the new contributions of science, and live in the world of events."

Avalon Church's Junior Deacon Board Presents Youth Day Sunday

The Junior Deacon board of Avalon Christian church is presenting Youth Day, Sunday, Oct. 22. Miss Velma Marsh, UCLA senior, is presiding as program chairman for the morning. Cato Robinson, USC dental student and Kappa man, is speaking on "What the Youth Expects of the Church." Rev. Baxter C. Duke, pastor, will speak on "What the Church Expects of the Youth."

The special music for Youth Day will be under the direction of Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke.

The public is urged to attend to hear what the young people have to say about the church and at the same time hear what the church has to say about the young people.

MINISTERS ALLIANCE MEETS MONDAY AT Y

The Inter-Denominational Ministers' Alliance will hold its regular monthly meeting in the YMCA building, 28th and Paloma streets, Monday, Oct. 23, at 11 a. m.

Aside from the current and religious news by Dr. E. W. Moore, reports of all officers will be heard. All committees and boards will also make reports. Election of officers for the year will be the order of the day. All members are requested to be present.

Ministers Alliance Thumbs Down on 'Ham and Eggs'

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Inter-Denominational Ministers Alliance Monday, Sept. 24:

Whereas, the voters of California are called upon to vote upon a proposed amendment to the State Constitution whereby thirty pieces of paper would be given every Thursday to persons over fifty years of age which paper is supposed to pass for one dollar in legal money; and

Whereas, these pieces of paper cannot be accepted for money outside of California, even if legalized in California; thereby making these pieces of paper powerless to pay for clothing, of all kinds, foodstuffs of all kinds, automobiles of all makes, transportation of all kinds, medicines of all kinds, house furnishings of all kinds; and

Whereas, in the very nature of things the banks in California cannot accept them in payments of notes and mortgages on our homes, churches and business properties; and

Whereas, in the conduct of the affairs of daily living, there must be pieces of money smaller in denomination than dollars; it will be impossible to offer a dollar in script, when one wishes to spend only a nickle, a dime, a quarter or less or more, and expect to receive any change therefrom whatsoever, and

Whereas, there are numerous other reasons why this plan should be rejected by the voters:

BE IT RESOLVED: that we, the members of the Los Angeles Inter-Denominational Ministers Alliance hereby advise and request our people to throw all the weight of their influence against this dangerous proposal, and do all in their power to bring about its defeat at the polls, November 7.

Respectfully submitted,
WELFARE COMMITTEE

T. L. GRIFFITH, Chairman

The above resolution was also unanimously adopted by the Baptist Ministers' Union.

Church Group to Present Unusual Youngsters

The Collins Utility club of First AME church is presenting another novel program in its annual "CUC Broadcast" on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 4 o'clock.

In previous years, the club has brought to the church the best known local professional artists. This year a number of the younger members of the profession will appear. The first part of the program will be devoted to these young artists, many of whom may be regarded as veterans of the profession, others are recent remarkable discoveries. The second part of the program will present several surprise treats, including a massed choir under the direction of George R. Garner. Clarance Hargrave who has helped the club arrange its former successful affairs, will assist again this year.

Dr. H. Mansfield Collins, minister of the church, and after whom the club is named, has been on an extended Eastern trip, but will return in time for this even. Other important announcements relative to this annual classic will be made pending his arrival.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 22, 1939

There will be a MUSICAL PROGRAM given in memory of the late MISS INA MARSHALL at Bethel Church, Adams and Hooper; and the unveiling of a window put in the church in her memory. The program begins promptly at 3:30 p. m.

THE PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED TO ATTEND

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of ne-cessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and require-ments of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.
Elijah Cooper, Treasurer, 2304 S. Central Ave., ADams 9025.
Seth B. Ray, Secretary, 2302 Griffith Ave., PRospect 5861.
William Mells Watson, Director of Publicity, 4824 S. Central Avenue, CEntury 22894.
Mrs. Mattie Elizabeth Watson, 4801 Hooper Ave., ADams 12082.

Prof. Herman

The ASTROLOGER

To Assist You In Making Wise Decisions

Specialized Study of Your Personal Problems

FREE: Your question will be answered in this column ONLY when a clipping of this feature is enclosed with your QUESTION, YOUR FULL NAME, BIRTHDATE and CORRECT ADDRESS. For private reply, send twenty-five cents in coin and stamped envelope for my ASTROLOGY READING and receive by return mail my FREE OPINIONS on any THREE QUESTIONS. Address all communications to PROF. HERMAN, the ASTROLOGER, care of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 4075 So. Central Ave., Los Angeles, California.

Acquiring good fortune, doesn't merely mean wishing for success, and letting time pass by without doing anything about it. One must create a mental picture; visualize what steps will be necessary to achieve their dreams, then fight and struggle for them.

Once you know what you want, the next step is faith and self-confidence. If you lack faith in yourself, your battle is partially lost. One's imagination is a keen factor; it is your own "personal wealth," so, start using it.

Age hasn't a great deal to do with carrying out your ambition. However, there is a decided advantage in realizing your possibilities when young, and to strive toward that goal. But it is never too late to try. At least say, that you made the effort.

Everyone wants success. Each individual gropes for some understandable, workable rule of conduct that will assist in obtaining SUCCESS.

Write Prof. Herman for advice on your everyday problems. Let him employ the simple truths of human psychology that have been known and proven for ages.

R. W.—Prof. Herman: I am writing you to thank you for your wonderful advice and kindness. My loved one has returned to me and is working on a part-time job. We are both grateful to you for helping us discover that which was breaking up our home.

E. R.—Will I get on the pension roll? Will I ever have any luck?

Ans.—Only one question is answered in the column. If you will write in for a private reply, you will receive a prompt answer.

C. B.—Will I be fortunate.

Ans.—It appears that you have made several contacts which should be helpful in improving your business. You will be very successful in this line of work.

M. G. G.—Where can I secure information in regard to my birth?

Ans.—If you will write to your place of birth, you will be able to find a record, and also obtain your birth-certificate.

G. W.—Am I being fooled.

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist crystal reveals that you are not sure as to whether W. W. cares for you or is only putting on a act. It seems that he is very fond of you and means well.

H. E.—What happened to my suit?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that your suit was stolen from your home July 5, and was pawned. If you will go to the various pawnshops in your neighborhood you will probably recover it.

M. M.—When will I see my friend?

Ans.—Your lucky stars and planet reveal that your boy friend is well in his present business, and is planning to make a trip to see you around Thanksgiving.

J. L. S.—Will my husband and I go back together?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your case I find that you and your husband were both young when you married and did not realize what you were going into. Your husband now realizes his mistakes, and is willing to assume his responsibility, if you will give him the chance.

H. H.—Dear Prof. Herman: I am writing this letter to thank you for the Charm Bag which I received. It has brought me luck and happiness which I never dreamed would be possible. I will never be without one as long as it is possible to obtain them.

D. F.—Is my boy friend satisfied with his present situation?

Ans.—It comes to me that your boy friend did not think this matter over carefully before he went into it, and is now sorry. He thought that he would be happy having this woman making a living for him, but knows now that it is not what he desired.

H. M. H.—What became of my money?

Ans.—It appears that your five dollars was spent while hurriedly shopping. If you will make a list of the things you purchased, you will find where your money went.

E. S. C.—Your question on Concentration requires a great deal of information. If you will kindly write in for a private reply, I will be able to cover this question thoroughly.

J. M.—Your information in regards to my business and personal affairs has given me the urge to continue. I thought I was at the end of my rope, but you have given me a new light. Thank You.

I. F.—Can I win the one I love back?

Ans.—H. P. is still very fond of you, but does not feel that it is his place to apologize, since you were in the wrong. You will win him back however thru a coincidence which will take place soon.

P. G.—Will I have success in my desires this winter?

Ans.—Thru a careful analysis of your case, I find that you are worried at present in regards to keeping your home. I vision you having success in obtaining the funds necessary to make the payments, and also pay something on your back debts.

N. L.—Will I get my job back?

Ans.—Probing into this matter I find that you were well liked on your job. And since your people have returned from Europe, and plan to go South, they will take you with them.

L. D.—Who was responsible for the error?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that one of the managers on your job was responsible for the error. That is the reason no more has been said about the matter.

D. B.—Did A. B. die a natural death?

Santa Monica Church Hears C. S. Morris

Santa Monica welcomed to its gates last Sunday morning, Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, professor of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State College, Nashville, and one of America's most gifted orators and preachers. He was heard at the eleven o'clock worship service by hundreds at the Calvary Baptist church of which the Rev. W. P. Carter is pastor. It was announced here Sunday that he will reutrn here in the very near future to speak at the dedication of Calvary's new playground.

At night, Dr. Morris was the principal speaker at the concluding service in the celebration of Young People's Day at the Trinity Baptist church of which the Rev. Dr. J. Lyle Caston is pastor. Choosing as his theme: "The Search For The Best", he asserted that (1) an individual must have a desire for it (2) must be able to recognize it, and (3) must have the power to cling to it. Special music for the occasion was furnished by a huge young choir from many of the city's churches. At the conclusion of Dr. Morris' message four persons united with Trinity. At the close of the service a fellowship hour was held in the parlors of the church attended by hundreds where the people informally met Dr. Morris and other visitors including a delegation from Riverside.

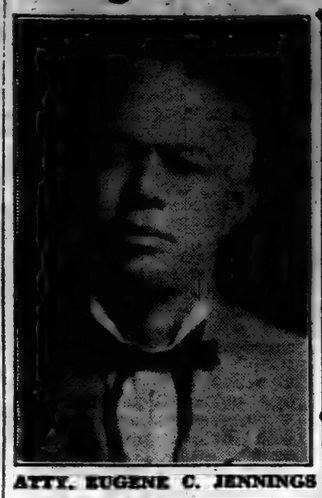
Saturday Dr. Morris departs for El Centro where he will be the guest preacher both morning and evennig at annual Homecoming exercises to be conducted in the local Baptist church. Sunday afternoon at four he will talk to the Negro University Club and their friends and on Monday night will be the feature dattraction at a valley-wide monster meeting after greeting the students of the Douglass High School and Junior College of which Prof. W. A. Payne, veteran race educator, who is managing his campaign in that region, is principal. He will be heard at the white high school on Tuesday and while returning to Los Angeles will stop off for public engagements at Riverside and Redlands.

On Sunday, Dr. Morris will be the speaker at annual Homecoming exercises to be staged in the Bethel Baptist Church, San Diego, of which the Rev. Chas. H. Hampton, president of the California Baptist State Convention, is president. He will be heard at a union meeting in that city on Monday, Oct. 30, and will go from there to Bakersfield and Fresno while en route to San Francisco for three appearances at monster gatherings on Sunday, Nov. 15. It is understood that he will depart for an intensive swing through the deep South and the Southwest before resuming his duties at Tennessee State College in December. He is to be heard at Abyssinian Baptist church, New York City, on Sunday, Dec. 31, where his late father formerly pastored.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." This verse from James is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Probation after Death" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

The Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Revelation: "Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest. . . . And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. . . . He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."



Among the selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is the statement: "The sinless joy, —the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain,—constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual."

Ministers Union Holds Meeting

Baptist Ministers' union met in regular weekly session this week. Devotions were conducted by Rev. G. W. Reed, Many of the pastors made reports, with 25 additions. Dr. W. H. M. Dickerson was reported sick by the president. Dr. A. C. Capers was also reported sick. Reports from the Ministerial Relief Board, and the Evangelistic Committee were heard. Dr. G. C. Coleman of Oakland, California was the principal speaker of the union, subject: "The Church and Social relationship."

The union re-affirmed its confidence in the honesty and moral integrity of the president, Dr. J. L. Caston.

Rites Held Here for Atty. Eugene Clarkson Jennings

ATTY. EUGENE C. JENNINGS

Funeral services for the late Attorney Eugene Clarkson Jennings, 69, were held Monday morning at the famed lawyer's home, 901 Sierra Madre Avenue, Baldwin Park.

Attorney Jennigs was a colorful figure in Los Angeles' civic and political life. He once ran for a Superior Court judgeship, polling a record of 37,000 votes. Although defeated in the election he was later asked to fill the bench during a judicial vacancy.

Born in Louisville, Ky., the son of William and Matilda Jennings, he received his early education in the public schools of Louisville. Later Attorney Jennings attended the law department of Howard University in Washington, D. C., from which he graduated with the degree L. L. B.

He practiced law in his home city for two years, decided to move to the state of Washington, where he stayed for 15 years, specializing in irrigation, water rights and probate law.

He incorporated the town of Tysp, Washington.

Attorney Jennings came to Los Angeles in 1920 and was admitted to the practice of law in all the courts of California and the United States District Court.

Shortly after coming here, the attorney met and married Mrs. Sadie McCoy, the widow of the late Dr. Joseph McCoy, former pastor of the Second Baptist Church.

Attorney Jennings became a member of the Independent Church of Christ and served for a itme on the Trustee board.

He died Thursday morning, Oct. 12.

The well known lawyer is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sadie Jennings, other relatives, and a host of friends.

Rev. E. E. Lightner delivered the eulogy at Monday's funeral services, while solos were rendered by Madeline Osborne, Evelyn Warr (violin), and readings by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. Services were under the management of the Taylor Undertaking company.

Active palbearers were Messrs. eGo. McKnight, Harry Godley, William Tildon, Charlie Blodgett, Geo. Thompson, J. H. Jackson.

Honorary pallbearers were: Atty. Clarence Jones, J. S. Warren, Dr. G. D. B. Gordon; Messrs. James Flaherty, Elliott Johnson, J. A. Bills and M. Blodgett.

Ministers' Wives Council Meets

The Interdenominational Ministers' Wives council met Wednesday afternoon of last week in the home of Mrs. Cornelia Pius, 914 E. 35th street, with Mesdames Anna Richardson and Muriel Brewer as co-hostesses.

Visitors to the meeting, which was presided over by president Mrs. B. C. Carter, included Mrs. Ola Mae Martin, Chicago; Thomas A. Dorsey, Chicago; Mrs. Gladys Smith, Mrs. Caddie Lawson of Kansas City.

Mrs. Coreatha Lovell, wife of Rev. Walter R. Lovell, bid farewell to the 39 women present preparatory to taking up residence in North Carolina where Rev. Lovell will take up his new duties as editor of the AMEZ Church publication.

The council meets Oct. 25 at the home of Mrs. Maude Watkins, 10504 Wiegand street.

WILLIAM J. JONESES ENTERTAIN VISITING GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Jones of E. 21st street entertained out of town guests at breakfast Monday morning in honor of Bishop N. L. Fisher of New York City, Senior Bishop of the United Holy Church of America, and his staff of national officers.

The affair was said to be a "charming success." Among those present were Bishop Fischer, New York City; Mrs. Julia D. Delk, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Anna D. Moor, Cleveland, Ohio; Rev. W. N. Strobbhar, Montclair, N. J.; Rev. W. M. Clement, Richmond, Va.; Rev. C. Jones (Mother Jones) Robertson, San Francisco; Mrs. Jewel House, San Francisco; and Mrs. Anna Bowman, also of the northern metropolis.

Rev. C. J. Robertson, Mrs. House and Mrs. Bowman are not on the national staff. Rev. Robertson and Mrs. House are state officers.

Rev. Russell Speaks at Assembly

Rev. Clayton Russell, pastor of the Independent Church of Christ, held over one-thousand boys spellbound for nearly an hour when he spoke at a boys' assembly at Thomas Jefferson High school recently. His subject was, "The Influence of Racial Hatreds in the Present European Conflict."

Rev. Russell, who is a Jefferson graduate, has just returned from an International Youth Peace conference in Holland and a tour of Europe with a group of young people who represented different nationalities. The young people visited England, Germany, France, Switzerland and Denmark and had brief contacts with other countries. He stated that in their travels he and his traveling companions were aware of the impending war. Trenches were being built through beautiful parks and tunnels were being dug under houses for the protection of the populace in case of bombardment.

In all of the countries that they visited, the found the people thinking of nothing but war, preparedness and possible ways of escaping its horrors.

In Germany, the youth, at the age of 19, were being trained in labor camps. The German young people were being taught that their fatherland is always in the right and that other countries are always in the wrong.

Rev. Russell believes that our American ideals of equal opportunity for all, regardless of race, color or religion, is one of our surest safeguards and that the boys and girls of High school age have a powerful voice in shaping the immediate future welfare of our country.

Samuel Brown, of the music department at Jefferson, accompanied Ted Clark, a student, who sang two suitable numbers at the beginning of the assembly.

The boys were enthusiastic over their first boys' assembly of the year. The girls had a charming program at their Girls' League assembly on the same day.

Surviving relatives include her mother, Mrs. Pauline Brown, and a brother, Carol Munroe.

A PUBLIC STATEMENT

To my friends:

With the characteristic cowardice of all character assassins and hiding behind the cloak of anonymity, a poison pen visitor released through the columns of the Pittsburg Courier this last week a malicious combination of half-truths and lies. Proper steps will be taken to secure a retraction and complete vindication, but in the meantime I desire to assure my friends and well-wishers that, except for the reference to a violation of traffic ordinances nearly two years ago, the entire article is absolutely false and would never have been written and published but to undermine your confidence in me and the officers of my church.

In view of my city-wide efforts in behalf of the 28th Street YMCA; the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Los Angeles Urban League, on which governing boards I serve and in view of my three years of service here as President of the Los Angeles City and County Baptist Ministers' Union, I cannot believe that you will be misled by such perversion. If this purveyor of lies is permitted to use the columns of the eastern press to defame the good names of my official board and myself, and if you accept this tissue of lies, then, no public servant or private citizen will continue long as a servant of the common good, nor willingly challenge the vicious attacks of friends who lurk in the dark. The continuing goodwill and unshaken confidence of those whom he serves is a public servant's insulation against despair as he carries on his redemptive effort.

Trinity Baptist Church is determined to employ this experience as grist for her mill, out of which a constructive, courageous and socially-minded congregation is already emerging. Under God, the gates of hell shall not prevail against us. Obscurantism is doomed and if to break its hold on our westside community, I must be sacrificed on the altar of a coward's venomous hatred, I would not have it otherwise. I thank God that I have the loyal support of my church and all that I request of my friends who are not members of my church is that they shall withhold judgment until all the facts are made known. This shall be done. With abiding faith that right thinking men and women can be counted on to condemn this dispicable practice, I request your hearty cooperation and unwavering support that right shall prevail.

Very sincerely yours,
J. L. CASTON

Funeral Home Manager Kept Out of Confab

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 19.—Even though he had been asked to attend the 58th annual session of the National Funeral Directors' Association held here last week, E. W. Clark, manager of the Jackson Funeral home at Tulsa, was denied credentials which would have admitted him to the sessions.

Clark, who is president of the Tulsa Negro Chamber of Commerce, was denied the necessary badge for admittance because he was a Negro. Appearing at the convention at the invitation of Oklahoma Casket company officials, Clark said he wanted to buy cemetery equipment, a hearse and cot.

Although Oklahoma Casket company officials did their utmost to secure admittance for their guest, it was said that the association head "just won't allow it."

Refugee Returns From Poland Visit

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (CNA)—William D. Allen, popular concert pianist and member of the music faculty of Fisk university in Nashville, Tenn., returned from Poland last week on the S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam.

Allen, who went abroad to continue his music studies on a General Education Board Scholarship, arrived at Gydnia, Poland, on July 1. He journeyed immediately to Zakapane in the Tetra Mountains to study at the villa of Dr. Egon Petri, internationally famous musician. In less than two months, Allen and the Petri family were forced to flee the country overnight, rush thru Germany and seek refuge in Holland. There Allen succeeded in obtaining home passage on the Nieuw Amsterdam.

Chicago Building Trades Workers Make Demands

CHICAGO, Oct., 19. (CNA)—Negro building trades workers are demanding that the American Federation of Labor admit them to membership or else . . .

They will affiliate with the new CIO United Workers Organizing committee which bars no building trades worker because of his race or color.

This reclaration was made this week by Edward L. Doty, secretary of the American Consolidated Trades council, composed of three independent locals of Negro plumbers, steamfitters, and lathers. Doty revealed that S. Philip Randolph, president of the AFL Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters had been urged to bring the fight for admission of Negro workers on the floor of the federation's convention.

CONTRARY TO FACT

Dear Editor.

My attention has just been called to an article published in the California Eagle under date of Oct. 12, 1939, page 10, thereof, under the title "Claims Property Owners Opposed to '30-Thursday,'" in which the following paragraph appears:

"Confident that Negro property owners, numbering some 30,000 in Los Angeles and vicinity, are solidly opposed to the "30-Thursday" script scheme was expressed yesterday by Hugh MacBeth, local attorney."

I desire at this time to request that you give publicity in your subsequent issue to this communication for the following reasons:

I have never made this statement herein above referred to in public or in private to anyone. The statement is contrary to fact in my opinion for several reasons, including the following first:

I do not believe that there are 30,000 Negro property owners in Los Angeles and vicinity. I think the number is nearer 20,000 as a maximum and 15,000 as a minimum. I think of the Negro property owners fully two-thirds will support the "Ham and Eggs" measure on Nov. 7. "Ham and Eggs" measure to be voted on Nov. 7 in my opinion will be a little more than an economic census of the voting population of California. Those who get or think they have the chance to get more than $30 per week will vote for it. The overwhelmin majority of Negroes in Los Angeles and throughout California get less than $30 per week and will vote to improve their economic conditions by supporting the "Ham and Eggs" measure.

Very truly yours,
HUGH E. MACBETH

YMCA Board Attends Meet

The 28th street branch YMCA board of managers participated in a city-wide meeting of all Y boards Oct. 11 at the Hollywood branch. The meeting was planned as a part of a founder's day program, and included a report on the forward program for the YMCA of Los Angeles, and an historical broadcast reproduction.

The gathering was significant in that it marked the 95th anniversary of the YMCA which was established in London in 1844 by Sir George Williams and his associates.

Attending from the 28th street branch were Dr. Albert Baumann, chairman; S. A. Coffin, Capt. Homer L. Garrott, Atty. [illegible], Norman O. [illegible], Dr. W. C. [illegible], S. P. Johnson, Atty. C. A. Jones,

MERCHANT MARINE INSTITUTE TRIES TO BALK ROTARY SYSTEM

Would Return Old Jim-Crow as Proportion of Negro Seamen Rises to Highest Point

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Jobs of at least 5000 Negro marine workers and the disruption of union hiring halls, through which discrimination and favoritism are eliminated, were threatened last Thursday in a conference between the American Merchant Marine institute and the National Maritime union over new contracts for the coming year.

On Wednesday, the shipowners offered a proposal for the elimination of union hiring halls from the contracts.

In the absence of Ferdinand Smith, Negro, vice-president of the NMU, Septimus Rutherford, secretary-treasurer of the cooks and stewards division said:

"The shipowners agreed, last year, to our rotary hiring by which each man is employed according to his rating and registration without regard to race, color or creed. This system has worked successfully. They are now attempting to bring it up again because they think they can weaken the union s strength and pit worker against worker. In the long run, the taxpayer will foot the bill."

During the conference last week, the Maritime Commission was accused of "plotting with the ship operators and putting the union in a hole with a proposal for a low wage increase."

"Through the rotary system," explained Tony Lucio, job dispatcher of the NMU, "shipowners have practically been forced to hire colored seamen. It is only through rotary shipping that eventually add discrimination will disappear.

"In the old days when men had to hang around the ship company for jobs, all forms of favoritism existed," he said.

DEMAND PROBE

It has been proposed by reputable Negro leaders that organizations and individuals write to their congressmen demanding an investigation into the activities of the Maritime Commission as an alleged government front for the shipowners.

Petitions to the American Merchant Marine institute demanding that they concede to the demands of the National Maritime Union are being prepared this week.

The proportion of Negro seamen shipping through National Maritime Union hiring halls on the Atlantic and Gulf coast has risen to its highest point since formation of the union three years ago.

• LOOKING AROUND CITY COLLEGE . . .

This . . . being our first chance to acquaint you folks with the new co-eds that are frequenting the campus of LACC, we hope you will stop and consider just how lucky you are to know these people: Bootsy Collins, Duane Hartsfield, and many others have come to stop on these grounds. At this press date, all the names of the new girls are not available, but be sure to look for it in next week's paper . . . Of course, Chapman College still boasts its usual run of sharpsters, namely, Luvenia Twyne, Earline Edwards, Ella Woods, Bernice Cooley, Ella Mae Graves and Florence Garner . . . As to the boys, well, I don't know . . . I would like to request that some one on the City college campus kindly send us in the news, and we know there is plenty of it floating around a place like that, where there are so many beautiful girls . . . And if they care too, would Chapman College do likewise . . .

was not to be found in this approach, but to defame the character of their president who was said to be "immoral . . . a heavy drinker . . . drives a high-powered automobile and maintains a luxurious home in a white neighborhood".

In a sweeping denial of each of these statements, Dr. Caston called them "the most fantastically conceived lies he had ever read in any paper supposed to be dedicated to truth" and promised "plenty of action if a prompt retraction and complete vindication is not rendered in accordance with the law governing such cases".

He has retained Attorney Clarence A. Jones to handle the case.

POINTS TO LEADERSHIP

The speakers on the subject at the union pointed to the brilliant and consecrated leadership which Dr. Caston has shown here over a period of years. In addition to building one of the finest congregations in the city, he served as general chairman of the 1936 membership drive of the 28th street branch YMCA; led the winning division in the 1939 membership drive; led the 1937 membership drive of the NAACP; served five years as religious education commissioner of the Western Baptist State convention during which time whas has been called "the most significant gathering of Christian youth in America" was organized and last year had a registration of 400; has served for three years as president of the Baptist Ministers' union and on numerous boards of directors touching every phase of Negro life.

He drives a Ford car and lives in a modest three-room furnished apartment. His moral integrity is unquestioned and he is highly respected by every worthy citizen by whom he is known.

Touching Farewell Tribute Paid Rev. Walter R. Lovell

A touching farewell tribute was given Rev. and Mrs. Walter Lovell by the congregation of First AME Zion church, Pico and Paloma, Monday evening as civic and religious leaders of the community gathered to congratulate the prelate upon his appointment as editor of the "Star of Zion," official AMEZ national publication.

Rev. Lovell has been pastor of the Pico and Paloma church for four years, during which time his "sincere and industrious work for good has been felt throughout the community." He will take up his editorial duties at Charlotte, N. C., where the "Star of Zion" is published.

Mrs. Hazel Whittaker, instructor at Jefferson High school, managed the reception and was hailed for her "splendid job."

One of the most impressive and well organized programs in recent Eastside history featured short addresses by Rev L. G. Robinson, Atty. T. L. Griffith and Mrs. C. A. Bass.

Two minute talks were heard from the presidents of all church auxiliaries and clubs: Trustees, Prof. J. C. Banks; Stewardess Bd., Mrs. Carrie Clark; Usher Bd., Mrs. M. Morton; Mission Mallow, Mrs. M. S. Sheppard; Missionaries, Mrs. J. B. Homes; Choir, Mrs. Ruth Love; Christian End., Sunday School and Friday Afternoon club, Mrs. Anna Fields; Christian Education Dept. Miss Moseley.

Entertainment included vocal solos by Mrs. Bertha M. Spruill and Marlene Jones; a beautifully rendered poem by Mary Jane Buford; and roundly applauded piano selection by Carmen Buford. Gilbert Allen, young choral maestro, directed the choir in effective renditions. The Men's Quartette supplied a sensation early in the evening.

Telegrams and messages were read by Mrs. Mayme V. White, while Mrs. Viola Lambert presented the many gifts to Rev. and Mrs. Lovell. Mrs. Lovell graciously responded.

Rev. J. B. Holmes delivered the benediction.

Although Los Angeles loses a well-loved leader, Rev. Love's "step forward" is enthusiastically applauded here.

Delicious refreshments were served after the program.

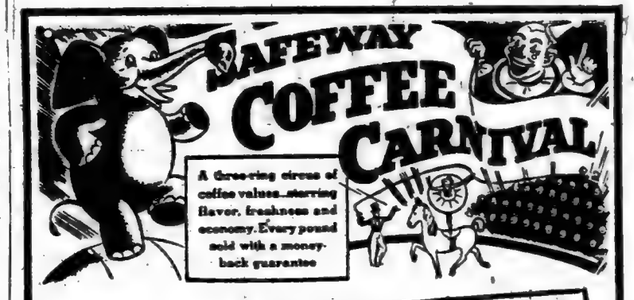
Cops Who Shot, Killed 2 Lads Acquitted

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19. (CNA)—The five policemen responsible for killing two youths here on September 21, have been reinstated on the police force. They had been suspended following protests over the killing of the two boys, Lawrence Harvey, 19, and Eugene Duval, 18.

The shooting took place during a raid on an alleged gang of petty thieves. According to the testimony brought out at a hearing in Magistrates Court which "exonerated" the officers, when the policemen approached four boys who were gathered in a group in the yard they called upon them to stand still.



Two of the boys were taken by Patrolman Butler, colored. The other two ran and the white officers opened fire, killing both.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

SOMETHING ABOUT THE HAM AND EGGS PLAN

By ATTORNEY CLINTON T. ROSS

Today, everywhere in California people are trying to understand just what they are going to do when they vote "Yes" or "No" on the proposed amendment to be submitted for their votes at the election November 7 to be known as Amendment to the Constitution of California No.

XXXII.

Because the amendment, if adopted, will become the fundamental rather than a mere statutory enactment is not the sole reason for their unprecedented interest. They are more vitally interested in what the amendment is going to mean to the form of State government, the operation of State and private business, that status of employment, the use and redemption of currency, the effect of taxes and many other changes forseen by the passage of the amendment.

Certainly all of these things are going to ± in someway changed to the benefit or the detriment of the people or some portion of the people if the amendment is adopted. It is well worth the consideration of every man who has some vested interest in California to ponder some of these effects which are almost revolutionary—particularly in the light of dealing with the problems of relief and depression.

It is indisputable that the amendment aims at providing a retirement life payment plan to citizens and electors of California who are fifty years of age or over and who are not either EMPLOYER OR EMPLOYER AN TO RELIEVE SUCH PERSONS OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF SUPPORTING ANY PERSON NOW DEPENDENT UPON THEM FOR SUPPORT WHO IS EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

Therefore it is apparent from such a recitation in the amendment that all actions for alimony will abate while such persons are under the amendment. Such action will of course in some way affect all accident cases based upon dependents under the amendment. Such a class of persons will be designated RECIPIENTS.

There is not much about the plan to discuss with recipients because the plan is purely for their benefit. It is rather a discussion of the persons affected by the giving of these benefits to recipients that is now being carried on. The recipients or persons eligible to be recipients apparently have no other worry than to receive as long as the plan subsists. All arguments of discussion today are practically addressed to those who are not "Recipients", that is to say, the EMPLOYER AND THE EMPLOYEE.

Obviously the persons who becomes a "recipient" will have no concern about the effects that the plan is having on the status of private business, for instance, nor will he be much concerned with where the money with which he is paid comes from as long as it lasts. Neither will he be much concerned about whether the act can be tested in the courts so long as the act provides, as it does provide, that he may not lose his warrants by any action of the courts that is arbitrary or sudden. It will be only the EMPLOYEE AND THE EMPLOYER WHO WILL BE VITALLY INTERESTED IN THOSE BENEFITS OR THE DESTRUCTIVE EFFECTS OF THE AMENDMENT.

However, it may be to the interest of the recipient who owns a home or who has sons and daughters who are outside the provisions of the amendment to know just how those things will be affected by payments made throughout California by warrants rather than money. Certainly if such persons are aggrieved they will face this new and abrupt barrier to their constitutional rights as follows:

"Section 37: No injunction or writ of mandate or other legal or equitable process shall ever issue to interfere with the administration of this article or to prevent or enjoin any provisions of this article from going into effect."

The above section is a revolution of all government in America. It imposes the duty upon every citizen to decide before voting whether he is to be bound by the article absolutely without redress to any court in case he suffers in any way from the act or the personal interpretations of the act by its administrators. The citizen has no redress but to the administrators.

The act itself is subject to a number of different interpretations each different one having a different effect upon various employees and employers. It ushers in a new form of government in which the courts of justice are to play no part. It sets a precedent for the abolition of courts of justice and the administration of government by administrators according to their interpretations. It does not provide for a hearing before the administrators upon the grievances that might arise on the interpretation of the act by which persons might appear and present any grievance. The act is the first amendment in America to abolish any form of judicial determination of causes of action.

PROVISIONS

Section 4 of the act provides for the appointment of an administrator to administer the act. Section 16 provides for the establishment of the "Credit Clearings Bank of the People of California". Section 43 provides for the appointment of a "State Board of Economics". The powers and duties of these officers are not clearly defined and their administrative acts against any person is not controlled by any courts of justice interpretations. No grievances against them can be thrashed out either in the courts nor in any tribunal provided for in the act itself. It is for you to decide which you prefer.

The creation of the Credit Clearings Bank of the People of California is a new precedent in State government. Its establishment and maintenance under the provisions of the act by the State of California is plainly a departure from democracy to other forms of government in which the ownership of private business by government is the foundation. It is for you to decide whether or not this departure is a benefit and whether you commit yourself to it irrevocably.

The creation of the State Board of Economics sets up in opposition to and deprives your legislature of, in some ways, the power to legislate on certain economic questions such as:

"Devising ways and means for equalizing the distribution of purchasing power in California to harmonize with the production and productive capacity of the State of California."

This is a revolution in government given to these 34 members appointed by the governor which is ambiguous and unintelligible with no redress to the courts. It is for you to decide whether or not you consider the creation of such a board a benefit or a detriment to your status as a citizen.

Section 7 provides:

"It is not desirable and it is not in the interest of the general welfare that either private industry, private institutions or private persons should implement, govern to supervise any sort of distribution or allotment of goods to such persons as are disemployed or otherwise placed outside the sphere of earnings by force of circumstances over which such persons have no control."

The citizen in his vote is to determine whether or not he prefers the present control over such powers delegated to the legislature, elected by himself, or controlled by himself if he is a producer, etc., under the control of the courts; to the use of that same power under the article by a board of 34 people appointed by the governor over which he has no right of suffrage nor no review of their actions by the courts of justice. You are to vote on which you think is most beneficial to your own interest or that of the c ry.

These above questis seem to obscure the discussion as to whether or not the "30 Warrants Every Thursday" is beneficial, upon which question most everyone agrees who is to be a recipient.

However the question which is solely in the mind of most recipients seems to be whether the warrants are payable or redeemable. The answer that question is prely an economic one depending in the main upon the productivity and market for produce in California. It is reasonable to suppose that any system or plan which rests upon the incomes of the State, or the taxability of them must rest upon the production and distribution of the products which is a fluctuating problem in economics which no man can answer truthfully until he has the facts before him.

In other words the true question of whether these warrants can be paid is whether or not they are paid when stamped with fifty-two two cents stamps at the end of fifty-three weeks at which time a one dollar warrant is payable in actual money.

Editor Named to Chairmanship of Civil Liberties

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, this week received an appointment from Elks' Grand Daughter Ruler Abbie M. Johnson as chairman of the Civil Liberties Committee of Hiawatha Temple No. 91.

Mrs. Bass is a veteran member of the organization and attended the great New York convention this summer. EAGLE coverage of that event was heralded widely throughout Western fraternal circles.

The Civil Liberties committee is known to be one of the most significant Elks' organizations, and Mrs. Bass stated, "It can be a greater power for good. I shall do my best."

The other appointments made in this section are: Mrs. Mamie Perkins, chairman of arts and crafts; Mrs. Agnes Beal, chairman of ways and means; and Mrs. Gussie Bukel, chairman of national education. Special deputies: Mrs. Rhonie Goodwin, Hiawatha Temple, No. 91; Mrs. Geraldine Johnson, Hope Temple No. 526 and Mrs. Bessie McCollum, Sunshine Temple No. 681.

'Yes' Vote on Initiative No. 2 Is Urged

Initiative No. 2, the chiropractic measure on the November 7 ballot, will not permit chiropractors to practice surgery or use drugs declared Dr. A. F. Blair, campaign manager for the organizations sponsoring the bill, in a statement issued today answering claims of opponents of the measure.

"The language of section seven of Initiative No. 2 is very plain," Dr. Blair said. "It expressly prohibits chiropractors from using drugs or surgery."

Dr. Blair further stated that "investigation has disclosed that most of the opposition to Initiative No. 2 is emanating from the California Medical Association, which, in principle, is opposed to the very existence of chiropractors.

"Every impartial, public-spirited group to whom we have told our story has endorsed Iniative our story has endorsed Initiative Measure No. 2 and urged its members to vote 'yes' for it on the November 7 ballot."

New 'Phone Rates' in Order

President N. R. Powley of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the Southern California Telephone company stated today:

"In looking forward to service improvements to meet the growing requirements of our two large metropolitan areas—San Francisco-East Bay and Los Angeles—we have been studying with the public authorities for some time past the fundamental steps which might be taken in the public interest.

"Realizing the community of interest as expressed by the volume of traffic, studies, cooperatively conducted with the public authorities, indicate the desirability of the introduction of a new type of message unit service to apply in these two metropolitan areas. Our customers in these areas would receive a type of service under a rate structure which recognizes the common community of interest in the areas involved.

"The company, in agreeing to introduce this service effective after January 1, 1940—debarring major economic upsets—will incur an overall increased investment of $4,500,000 and will pass on to its customers an annual savings to them of more than $2,000,000."

Veteran 'Ed' Sees GOP Victory

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19—Fred R. Moore, veteran editor of The New York Age, a stalwart elder statesman in Republican ranks for many years, visited Republican National Committee headquarters this week while enroute home from the South where he has been making a survey of economic conditions and seeking a much needed rest.

Mr. Moore was minister-designate to the Republic of Liberia by appointment of President William H. Taft in 1912; served for two terms as a member of the board of aldermen of New York City, and has actively participated in every Republican Campaign, state and national, during the past 40 years.

He was cordially thanked by Chairman John Hamilton and Franklyn Waltman, director of publicity, for his unswerving and untiring efforts in behalf of the principles of the party. Hale and hearty, despite his 82 years, he discussed the national political situation as he appraises it. Particularly, he discussed Republican presidential prospects in 1940 and the relation of the colored people thereto.

It is no great thing to be humble when you are brought low; but to be humble when you are praised is a great and rare attainment. —St. Bernard.

Angel City's Civil Service Machinery Moves Slowly, She Says

The mills of Providence grind exceedingly slow, but not as slow as civil service machinery moves in this fair city of the Angels when concerned with Negroes.

In 1935 Miss Bertha Slaughter of 2024 E. 112th street, passed the civil service examination qualifying her for position of filing clerk in the post office. On Oct. 16, 1939, she was notified to report for duty at the Beverly Hills Division, Monday, Oct. 16th. That's speed for you (in reverse).

A Fig For Formality!

Governor Culbert L. Olson received his official welcome to the Golden Gate International Exposition during the recent unprecedented Bay District heat wave. At the official luncheon tendered him by the California Commission, the Exposition management and the City of San Francisco, Governor Olson arose and allowed that it was too hot to wear a coat and enjoy the meal. "And here goes mine," he concluded as he peeled off his jacket. The three thousand guests roared their approval and proceeded to enjoy their luncheon as is indicated by the broad smile on Governor Olson's face above.

L. A. Coordinating Councils to Hold Confab at Immanuel

"That boy should be sent to jail."

This is the mistaken idea of many uninformed citizens. In the first place, to incarcerate a youth where he comes in contact with hardened criminals may result in a future life of crime. Our juvenile courts recognize this fact and instead of incarceration, corrective measures are taken to guide the youthful offender to become a good citizen. Such a large percentage of these young people make a quick adjustment when placed under proper supervision. It seemed evident that these same methods could be employed most advantageously with young people before they get into serious trouble.

That is the work that is being done by the Coordinating Councils, composed of lay people, organizations interested in child welfare and representative from law enforcement and health departments.

On Tuesday, Oct., 24, the Los Angeles County Coordinating Councils will hold their 8th annual conference at the Immanuel Presbyterian church, 663 S. Berendo street. The public is cordially invited to attend.

"Community Responsibility for Youth in a Democracy," will be the subject for discussion at the afternoon session which starts at 1:3. A dinner session will be held at 6:00 p. m. where the day's proceedings will be summarized and the resolutions adopted. The program will conclude with a comedy drama entitled "Modern Youth on Trial," depicting the temptations which confront the younger generation and the steps required to counteract them.

Editor Advocates 'No' Vote on Oil Control Proposition

The Navy Department is not campaigning for "oil control" Proposition 5 on the ballot, and has been requested by the office of the Secretary of the Navy not to influence opinion on the measure in California.

This is revealed by J. Frank Burke, liberal editor and publisher, who is advocating a "NO" vote on oil control Proposition 5 on the ballot. Following an interview with Wentworth H. Osgood, Lieutenant Commander of the United States, Burke said there is no justification to the attitude that the President and the Navy are urging people to vote for oil control.

Burke said: "In a statement compiled by Liuetenant Osgood, he declared that 60,000,000 barrels of California crude and refined oil products were shipped to Japan from California in 1937 and 1938. I pointed out to him and I point out to you that surely if Washington is desirous of really conserving oil, a wonderful place to begin would be to place an embargo on this needed supply to Japan. This would aid mightily in preserving the lives of Chinese who are now being slaughtered by reason of Japan's ability to get this oil which we pretend to want to conserve.

"It is clearly proved that there is no violation of conservation now except in the wastage of gas—which th elaws of the state, if enforced, could prevent."

Petroleum Industry Urges 'Yes' Vote on Proposition 5

Nine barrels to one.

Such are the odds, expressed in terms of barrels of oil produced in California, by which the petroleum industry itself indicates the urgency of a "Yes" vote on Proposition 5 in the Nov. 7 election, according to a survey completed this w eek by the Yes on 5 Committee, organized to present the merits of this measure, the Atkinson Oil and Gas Conservation Act, to the electorate.

"Our canvass of the situation", declared former U. S. Attorney Peirson M. Hall, Southern California chairman of the committee, "has disclosed that opponents of Proposition 5 represent approximately only 10 per cent of California's oil production."

A check of figures in the office of the Oil Umpire J. R. Pemberton indicated plainly, according to the committee head, that a similarly small minority of operators, through consistent overproduction in defiance of the industry's voluntary curtailment effort, have caused that system to become entirely ineffective.

Conservation laws in other oil producing states, Hall pointed out, have made possible a stabilized supply of low cost gasoline through elimination of waste.

Conservation for National Defense, which already has prompted a U. S. Navy statement favoring a "Yes" vote on Proposition 5, and continued employment of oil workers through stabilization of the industry were other points emphasized to voters by the committee.

L. A. Railray Employes Serve 10 One-Half Year Average

Worthy of mention is the statement in today's Los Angeles Railway advertisement appearing elsewhere on these pages that the average length of service of employees is 10½ years. In the last few years of uncertainty and generally unsettled business conditions this indicates an encouraging stability on the part of at least one Los Angeles concern, particularly when it is considered that the street railway has at all times well over 4000 men on its payroll.

VALUED CITIZENS

It is pointed out that while the average length of service is 10½ years, hundreds of employees have considerably longer records of uninterrupted employment.

It is further stated that the great majority of employees are valued and substantial citizens of Los Angeles as evidenced by their excellent credit ratings, their interest in civic undertakings and the fact that many own their own homes. It was likewise brought out by company officials that a paaramount reason for the uniformly high standing of these employees over a period of years is seen in the fact that only those applicants of known integrity and responsibility are placed b the company. Selection is mdae by means of a comprehensive physical and mental examination and a stringent character witness requirement.

FDR Against 30-Thursday, Leaders Say

Renewed impetus has been given the drive against the Ham and Eggs plan as Democratic leaders cited President Roosevelt's reported opposition to the 30-Thursday proposition, No. 1 on the November 7 special election ballot.

Senator Robert W. Kenny, general chairman of Southern California Citizens Against 30-Thursday declared:

"Liberal Democrats who desire a sound and workable solution of the old age security problem will be greatly heartened by the firm reiteration by President Roosevelt today of his determined opposition to the California Ham and Eggs proposal.

"President Roosevelt is against Ham and Eggs, first because it is unworkable, and, second, because he is trying sincerely and aggressively to accomplish the result that will give older citizens genuine protection."

Main Line of Aqueduct Set

One of the greatest construction jobs in the history of the West was brought to a close Saturday when representatives of 13 Southern California cities placed the last cubic yard of concrete to complete the building of the main line of the Metropolitan Aqueduct.

Assembled at the west portal of the aqueduct's famous San Jacinto tunnel, scores of city officials and hundreds of past and present aqueduct employees watched the 19 members of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water district as they took turns with a shovel in placing the last yard of more than four million cubic yards of concrete that have gone into the main line of the Metropolitan Aqueduct.

Gas Co. Cannot Accept 'Ham, Egg' Warrants

Southern California Gas company is required to pay all of its obligations, such as wages, purchases of gas, purchases of materials and supplies, and bond interest, in lawful money of the United States.

This being so, the company cannot accept, in payment of gas or other bills due the company, "warrants" (commonly known as "Ham and Egg Warrants), if issued under the proposed California State Retirement Life Payments Act coming before the California voters on November 7, 1939.

SAYS NEGRO VOTE HAS FORSAKEN DEMOCRATS, RETURNED TO GOP FOLD

Claims Leaders Assert Democratic Party Ignored Negroes in Patronage

By EARL BROWN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—Since the Presidential election of 1936, the much discussed Negro vote has shown signs of forsaking the Democratic party and returning to the Republican fold. That this of first rate importance to the leaders of both parties is clearly indicated by the fact that the Negro voters possess a balance of power in eight Northern states in any close election. They are New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri.

Off to an early start to recoup its losses among the Negro voters, the Republican program committee which is headed by Dr. Glenn Frank, appointed Professor Ralph Bunche, Negro political scientist at Howard university, Washington, to make a painstaking survey of the Negroes throughout the country to determine:

(1) The reasons for the Negroes swing from the Republican to the Democratic party. (2) How can the political, social and economic needs of the Negroes best be realized? (3) How may the Republican party prove to the race that its program and policies will better serve the group than that of the Democratic New Deal?

Professor Bunche, who holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard in political science, said when he accepted the position: "As a Negro and therefore a member of a disadvantaged minority group in this country, I am actively interested in any measures or policies leading toward an amelioration of the problems of my group."

DR. BUNCHE'S LIBERALISM

Impartial Negro observers declare that Dr. Bunche is an excellent choice for the job; and because of his extreme liberalism ever that the Republican party must intend to bring to the Negro a genuine New Deal. Some go so far as to say that the next interest being demonstrated in the race by the Republican party is comparable only to that shown in 1860, when President Lincoln was nominated as the first standard bearer of the party.

On the other hand, a few Negroes look askance at the current bid for support by the party, declaring that its leaders will toss into a waste basket anything that Dr. Bunche reports if it conflicts with the traditional stodgy attitude of the party leaders toward the Negroes and their problems."

Post Offers Free Service

The widows and orphans of deceased ex-service men living in this community who have never filed a claim with the Veterans' administration or those cases that need adjustment, are requested to contact the service officer of the Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, American Legion, 5115 Central Ave., or call AD. 9260.

There is no charge for this service and all who are interested are asked to bring all papers in connection with their cases.

CURB the oil hog!

CRACK DOWN ON THE OIL RACKETEERS!

For years a few unscrupulous, profit-mad Oil Barons have been throttling California's leading industry — draining the life's blood from your greatest natural resource. These merciless, self-appointed dictators have needlessly wasted your oil and caused millions of barrels to become isolated in the earth, never to be recovered.

STAMP OUT THE OIL PIRATES!

PROPOSITION 5 will break the money-grabbing racket of these Oil Racketeers. It prevents corruption, prohibits waste, enforces conservation and insures the consumer low-priced gasoline.

OCCUPATIONAL SKETCHES of interesting folk

(NOTE: This column is sponsored by the Urban League of Los Angeles. It is designed to bring to the attention of the public the work of specialists in various fields of endeavor who have passed the stalls of the job conditions. Here are true life stories of interesting people, engaged in profitable occupations, which youth to whom avenues are closed. This column is conducted by the following staff who serve as correspondents and editors of the series: J. CULLEN FENTRESS, LILLIAN JONES, THELMA O. DAVIS, LELAND WHITNEY, and FLOYD C. COVINGTON. MISS GAY BELLE COLE is chief secretary. Contributions of Sketch Subjects from our readers are solicited. For full information, contact the Urban League, 4513 South Central, ADams 5128.)

Sketch Subject: ROBERT H. WARE, Floor Manager and Buyer, Western Dry Goods Company.

"He grew up with the business, and the business grew up with him" might well be the appropriate epitome of the merchandising career of Robert H. Ware. More than 14 years of accumulative experience are now behind this man who started his merchandising apprenticeship when he was just turning 14. Today, as responsible floor manager and buyer of the bulk of the merchandise of the Western Dry Goods company, employer, L. Bluestein, will tell you that Robert is the oldest fixture of his business.

Young Ware was born in Dallas, Texas. He entered the world as one of the two sons of Robert H. and Maude Collins Ware. Being the first of the two to arrive he became the coveted junior. His brother, Eugene, followed him two years later. The family must have assumed that there were better opportunities for their two young men in the West.

In 1917, at the age of five, Robert, junior came with his parents to California. The hurried years of elementary education at Vernon, Ascot, and McKinley schools followed. Young Ware was privileged to have only ten weeks of high schooling in the City of Omaha sometime later. This limitation did not deter him however of entering the exacting school of practical experience gained through work.

Hardly two years after the Western Dry Goods company had been opened, our subject applied for a job. He was given the assignment of general clean-up boy about the place. Young Robert learned his lessons well and graduated from grade to grade in this rigorous laboratory of merchandising. He stepped up from janitorial duties to stock work. He next moved to selling on the floor.

SHREWD BUYER

Not content here he began to demonstrate the astuteness of the shrewd buyer, and was consequently given the responsibility. With a natural penchant for understanding and getting along with people, his employers found it profitable to let "Robert" be available at every place on the floor to present his smiling countenance to the many customers. At this point our subject blossomed into his larger scope of usefulness. He has gained the respect and admiration of the many buyers who are sent to him "because he really knows his merchandie."

Obviously, he has the acceptance and admiration of his co-workers and customers. The fact that he paralells, excepting for two years, the life of the store at is present location proves this. That he has advanced with the business is indicated by the fact that he will go to the new Western Dry Goods Store, next door to the present location, as floor manager and general assistant to the proprietor.

The present business includes five other Negro employes besides Ware. Two of these are men and four are women. Of this present group one woman, Miss Lupe, has the longest period of service—three years. She in addition, gives some attention to buying. It remains the distinction of our subject, however, to garner a seniority of approximately a decade and a half of continuous unbroken service on "the Avenue".

MARRIED, STUDIOUS

Robert Ware is now 18 months married. He and his wife reside with his mother, the now Mrs. Tate, and his brother Eugene, a postal employee.

Our subject is a member of the Masonic Order. He follows tennis, hunting and fishing as his recreational escapes. Still with the desire to some day follow his coveted occupational desire of chemistry and pharmacy he keeps alert to these interests through reading. Despite the fact that he gives much time to his merchandising work he endeavors to give both mind and soul their surcease by playing piano and violin.

No one need ask whether Ware believes there will be additional opportunities for members of his group with the Western. His years of service and achievements have made that possible. Into the new store at 4363 So. Central will go a decidedly increased staff to handle the enlarged business. This group, though you may not know it, will be entering this new opportunity because there dared to be a Robert H. Ware who sought his job, found it, and stuck progressively to it for 14 years!

Now yesterday was sunny,
So calm, and crystal clear
Today a black cloud hovers,
A dreadful storm is near.

Then let us keep our ceilars,

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

Whtah have you seen of the wonder places of America? It matters no whether you are a tourist or a stay-at-home, the Vernon Branch library's special display of books this week will help you gain a more intimate knowledge of the great scenic beauty of your own land.

Where will you find such magnificent forests as those in the great Northwest; such extensive and exquisite lakes as lie cradled in the glaciers of the Rockies; such rugged coasts or such beautiful inland seas? Read about them in Quinn's "Beautiful America;" Faris' "Roaming the Rockies;" Story's "Glimpses of our National Parks;" Peixotto's "Ous Hispanic Southwest;" Chase's "California Desert Trails" and many others.

In addition to books, the Vernon Branch library offers an interesting glass case exhibit on the famous Mount Rushmore National Memorial, located in our newest national park in the black hills of South Dakota. The exhibit has been arranged thru the courtesy of Winona Runyan, one of our staff members whose uncle, Eldon Gordon, has been working with Gutzon Borglum, chief sculptor and creator of the memorial, for the past 12 years.

PRESIDENTS' FIGURES

Since the dedication of Mount Rushmore by President Coolidge on Aug. 10, 1927, Mr. Borglum and his crew of assistants have worked tirelessly to carve out the gigantic features of four great presidents, Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt, to form a monument which will capture for posterity a symbol of our American dream of liberty.

After 12 years, the figures of the memorial, covering an area of over an acre and a half and carved on a scale of men 465 feet high, are nearing completion. The nose of Washington in the National Memorial is four feet longer than the entire head of the Sphinx of Egypt. If this figure could be placed under the Niagara Falls, the water would break around his shoulders and his head and neck would project above the falls.

While working on the memorial, the workmen are suspended in harness seats which are operated by machinery contained in a small building atop the mountain and use electric drills to cut through the solid granite of the mountain. The holes are packed with blasting powder which is set off when the workmen are pulled safely to the summit. All work is done by means of telephonic communication to the scale of the original small model which is located in a studio a quarter of a mile away.

According to Mr. Borglum, Thomas Jefferson appears on Mount Rushmore because he drew the Declaration of Independence; George Washington because he was the great president; Abraham Lincoln because he finally determined that we should continue as a family of states and be united forever; and Theodore Roosevelt because he constructed the Canal of Columbus, opened the way to the East, joined the west-

Visit the Vernon Branch library, 4504 S. Central avenue sometime during the next two weeks to see this interesting and educational exhibit.

IT'S WHAT THEY WANT

Sitting in a theatre one night last week and viewing scenes from coming attractions, there appeared in "Zenobia," a little Negro boy.

There appeared also several other Negroes in the usual characterizations commonly associated with the screen, those of docile servant and cook.

The contrast between the little Negro boy and the usual characterizations, however, is what got the attention of the audience. The little fellow, apparently making a speech of some kind, was using the King's English and the accompanying flourishes, etc., associated with talking in the accepted platform manner.

The appeal was immediate and the audience clapped its approval of the youngster. Then and there we noted further evidence of the fact that what Negro audiences, especially, want is a more representative portrayal of himself on the silver sheet. His social, economic, political and industrial life warrants it.

In this week's news releases we note that several new motion picture organizations announce that their program will embody just what it appeared this audience of the other night wanted.

The appearance of Negroes in roles other than those which are accepted by screen audiences always elicit eye-brow lifting. That was one thing which added to the appeal of "The Mikado—in Swing" which ends its current run on the El Capitan theatre stage in Hollywood this week.

Principals in the pixilated version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta were costumed to the nth degree and handled the intricate dialogue to a great degree of perfection. It was novel and yet it seemed real, as the nightly audiences will attest.

Speaking of plays, which we were in this last instance, here's an interesting view along the same lines:

"Mamba's Daughters," currently playing Chicago does little more than give Ethel Waters her first major dramatic role, says Ben Burns, Daily Record's drama critic.

"Miss Waters is a great success, she prooves," writes Burns, but of the play he says, "The play is nothing but the conventional Dixie picture of doltish, gambling, violent Negroes, who have to be protected by oh-so-kindly whites."

Scarcity of adequate vehicles was evidenced in Burns closing statement in which he says, "Presence of Canada Lee, last seen in 'Stevedore' in the current cast cannot but remind this drama lover what these splendid Negro actors can do with a more timely and significant play. All of them—Willie Bryant, J. Rosamond Johnson, Georgia Burke, Fredi Washington—bring a real lustiness to paper people. They should be seen."

Evening Hi To Conduct Business Poll

The Department of Mathematics of Jefferson Evening High school announced yesterday through Edwin L. Martin, school principal, formation of a co-ordinating committee to assist community merchants and dealers in the analysis of various business problems which have arisen during the past few weeks.

The Jefferson Evening High School co-ordinating committee will be composed of members of the various mathematics classes, and will be commissioned personally to interview community merchants and dealers and to sound out general opinion and specific business problems.

Good Profits Reported By Liberty

The 1939 audit, which was made by auditors from the Federal Home Loan Bank and State Building and Loan Commissioner's office, shows that the Liberty Building-Loan association is making good profits and indicates a steady increase.

These profits are the outcome of wise investments which are being made by a sound and efficient management. They are returned to the association's depositors at the current rate of 4%.

The Liberty Building-Loan Association offers to the thrift-minded people an opportunity to place their money, not only where it is safe and available, but where it also has a good earning capacity.

Another interest period is drawing near! Don't fail to have your money reap the benefits of a sound and efficient management which will safeguard your earnings, and at the same time increase them.

Your savings placed with us are insured up to $5000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

110-YEAR OLD EX-SLAVE DEAD

SALEM, N. J. Oct. 19.—William Green Staples, who had a birth certificate to prove he was born on Jun. 3, 1829 at Stuart county, Virginia—110 years ago—died here last Wednesday. Staples, an ex-slave was an avid reader of his Bible and a hunter up to his death.

Community Chest Officials in Central Ave. Area Named

"All colonels have now enrolled to lead the Community Chest crusade and the workers' ranks are growing rapidly day by day in the Exposition-Adams district," was the statement made yesterday by Mrs. George W. Grimm, leading the district forces during the absence of Mrs. Alvia Brockway, district chairman, from the city. "They will be ready to take the field immediately following the election," she said.

Majors in the Central Avenue area who will have charge of the important work of home-to-home solicitation for funds are Mmes. Ida Aldridge, C. F. Frederick, Anita Grant, Joan Johnston Willis and Miss Mae Turner. Among those who have also signified their intention to volunteer in the humanitarian crusade are Mmes. Adele Bieze, Maybelle Booth, Lorenzo Bowdoin, Daisy Brook, F. D. Clopton, P. Price Cobbs, Thelma Dawes, Florence Gray, Lois Griffith, Naomi Hazily, Myrtle Hughes, Bert McDonald, Ella Vanvactor, Jacqueline Watkins and Jesse Louise Clark, Ruth Foster, and Alberta Walker. Mrs. Lawrence K. Gundrum is colonel of Division 44. District counselor for this district is Mrs. Nettie B. Reese of the Eastside Mothers' club.

These volunteers and hundreds of other workers throughout the city plan to visit Chest agencies and get first-hand information of the services being given during Agency Visitation week, Oct. 23-28, according to Mrs. Grimm, who states that the public also will be welcomed. Information as to the most conveniently located of the agencies can be secured from local headquarters, 515 W. 27th street.

Jefferson High P-TA Meets Tonight

The first meting of the Thomas Jefferson High school Parent-Teacher Association for the year 1939-1940 will be held in the cafeteria of the high school tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Since the promotion of good health for children is one of the major objectives of the Parent-Teacher association and since outstanding work in the field is being done at Jefferson High school, the program committee decided to give consideration to this important subject at this meeting.

The health program at Jefferson high is organized in such a way as to enlist the cooperative efforts of the entire faculty, the student body, and the Parent-Teacher association.

The plan in operation has been so successful that Dr. C. Morley Sellery, director of the health section of the Los Angeles city schools, is endeavoring to get all senior high schools in the city to adopt a similar plan.

Topic of tonight's program, which will feature a panel discussion, is "Enriched Living Thru Satisfactory Physical Development and the Contribution of the Community Chest to This Problem." Panel speakers include Miss Theresa Dixon, a local physician, Stanley Gould, Miss Abbie Layton, Miss Amy Uno and Sam Lankford—two members of the community, two teachers and two students.

Now Who Was That Who Said "You Can't Take It With You"?

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 19.—A common saying is "You can't take it with you".

Charles L. Wilson, manager of the Wright building office of the Tulsa branch of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Division of the United States Social Security, offered evidence last week which refutes the saying.

According to Wilson, relatives of a deceased worker recently filed claim papers in the settlement of the estate. The social security card was missing. Wilson's office asked the relatives to supply the social security number, where upon they said "His number was in the vest pocket of the suit we buried him in."

Wilson explained, however, that a former employer of the deceased worker was able to supply the number.

Invents Auto Heating Device

XENIA, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Designed to keep autos warm inside even when the engine is not running, Lionel F. Page has had his invention, an auxiliary circulating device, approved by the United States Patent office.

What may prove a boon to motorists, Page's invention is an independently water circulating device for insertion in the circuit of a hot water heater to circulate the water through the heater, if desired, when the engine is idle.

Dr. Brandon Bowlin Back from Visit to Native Land

Dr. Brandon A. T. Bowlin, who has practiced medicine in Pasadena since 1921, returned from a journey to far off British Guiana, his native land.

During his absence he took three weeks Post Graduate study in cardiology and institutional management in the Government hospital of British Guiana.

Dr. Bowlin's parents are large ranch owners in the South American state, and while visiting them the Pasadena physician gained 20 pounds. He ascribed his new corpulence to fresh eggs, milk and other dairy products available at his parents' home.

Revealing that his Majesty, James Crow, has penetrated as far South as La Guara, Venezuela, where he was not allowed to disembark, Dr. Bowlin journeyed south on a steamer of the Royal Netherlands Steamship company, and returned under the guidance of the Canadian National Steamship company, calling at Trinidad, Greneda, St. Vincent, St. Lucia, and other West Indian islands.

Dr. Bowlin is well knowfi as the founder of Grace Sanitarium and Nursing Home, an institution located in Pasadena which has given excellent service to persons of limited means.

FILM MERGER—Is resulting above as Bert Goldberg, of Goldberg and Port Inc., and George Randol, of George Randol Productions, Inc., sign papers which will bring the two organizations together. The merger has been declared the most important in the field of all-Negro picture making. Atty. Curtis C. Tayler and another official of the Randol Productions look on.

george randol productions merge with bert goldberg

George Randol, president of George Randol Productions and Bert Goldberg, president of Bert Goldberg & Port, Inc., and West coast representative of International Road Shows, reached an agreement for a merger today that will make history in the Negro motion picture industry. These two potent factors in production and distribution of motion pictures for theatres that get most of their support from members of the race, have long realized the need for stabilization in this field.

Persons interested in the production and distribution of this type of motion picture, have for years sought a perfect solution for the problem that faces each producer in this field, that of finance. Because of the limited number of theatres available for the product, capital was not easy to attract. When a person was found with the needed money, their demands were such that no profit would come to the producer or the pictures would be little different than the ones made by white people.

Goldberg, after years of experience in distribution among theatres that cater to the Negro, associated with his brother Jack Goldberg of New York City, came to Hollywood several weeks ago. Looking up Randol, a friend of long standing, he laid before him a plan for a program of pictures that means the emancipation of the Negro as a producer, his financial headaches are over.

After weeks of planning and discussing, these two men, each a specialist in his field, have a working plan that will give the Negro better pictures and a regular schedule of release. There will be opportunities for boys and girls with ability to become writers and directors, as well as camera men and technicians.

There will be no door in the industry that will be closed to boys and girls of the race. However, one must meet rigid tests.

OLD PRODUCTS SHELVED

The practice of squeezing the person that is not in a financial position to resist, will no longer be the rule under this new set-up. There is sufficient money available to make the whole program of pictures, and since these funds come from a banking institution, not in Hollywood, no difficulty is expected.

All the products of George Randol Productions and Bert Goldberg produced before this agreement, will be either disposed of or shelved to make way for this great new era of quality pictures. The policy of the producers will be that the best is all that can be used, writers, actors, directors and all others will have to meet certain standards maintained in other major studios. The first year's program of twelve features and three specials is under way.

Under the present plan, Mr. Goldberg will have full and executive chare of distribution and Mr. Randol will, in addition to producing three special pictures a year, have full and complete charge of all production for the entire program.

Mildred Sennett Pupils Please Audience

The piano pupils of Mildred Sennett appeared in their second annual recital at the Avalon Christian church, Thursday, Oct. 12.

The girls were beautifully dressed in astel sades 22R dressed in pastel shades, and the boys, well groomed for the occasion, made a picture of loveliness. Their ages, with few exceptions, ranged from 4 to 12 years.

They were greeted by a kind and highly appreciative audience and the manner and ease in which they rendered their selections showed that their foundation must have been based upon patience and understanding.

studio carnival and dance to be big event of season

The first and greatest Studio Carnival Dance ever given in Hollywood. Everything you desire in entertainment. Every moment crammed full of something to do, see or hear.

4 huge Motion Picture Studio Stages to house the activities. 2 Red Hot Bands to suppl tantalizing music. Maestro Les Hite and His Boys on one stage, and The California Rhythmn Rascals on another stage. The jitter bugs can jitter, and the smoothies can dance to soft sweet music especially arranged for this rare occasion. Ad do you like good singing and concert numbers? Well, if you do--and who doesn't?--there is indeed a treat for you. Mrs. Bilbrew and her entire Independent Church Choir will be on hand and present a concert that will be the last word in pleasing entertainment. There will be held a big Beauty and Talent Contest with prizes to the winners. Do you, or have you any friends that qualify for the beauty or talent contest? If so, send their names in to International studio, 4376 Sunset drive, Hollwood.

There will be many producers, directors and talent scouts from the various studios on hand. This may be the opportunity you have been looking for; a chance to do your stuff before Studio Executives.

A studio carnival will be incomplete without the glamorous studio stars. So there will be STARS and more STARS. Not only will they be present, but they will sing, dance and do everything possible to entertain you and make your evening most enjoyable.

By the way, have you ever seen the inside of a Motion Picture Studio, where pictures are actually made? If you haven't, then here is your one grand opportunity to see how pictures are made. You may inspect sets where pictures are in production, sound equipment, cameras, lighting effects and the various props, with a studio technician on hand to tell you all about it.

Now for the carnival atmosphere and effect. There will be many concessions, food, drinks and many games. For the grandest time in your life don't miss it. All for the nominal price of 55c.

secrecy to shroud new production

Behind closely guarded doors, the most controversial film which Hollywood has photographed in many seasons went before the cameras this week.

It was John Stein beck's novel "The Grapes of Wrath," which many magazine and newspaper writers and organizations had petdicted never would be filmed because of its frank revelation of conditions among the Okies. The Okies are the Oklahoma sharecroppers who migrated to California from the Dust Bowl, expecting to find a land of promise and who, according to Steinbeck, found only brutal mistreatment.

FONDA STARRED

With Henry Fonda playing the starring role, that of Tom Joad, 20th Century-Fox studio heads ordered that no visitors whatsoever be permitted on the sets, and a cordon of officers have been posted around an outdoor location where an Okie camp had been built. Fearing that a new wave of protests might descend o nthem from Californians studio executives instructed Director John Ford to take every precaution to keep secret the scenario treatment of Steinbeck's novel.

Shortly after "The Grapes of Wrath" appeared on the book stands, it was purchased by Darryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox production chieftain. It was often reported during the weeks that followed that Zanuck had bought the story at the request of royalty interest or duke or hattie noels assigned role in rko's 'distant fields'

Augmenting an already heavy cast, RKO studio casting officials announced the addition of Hattie Noels, clever sepia commedienne to a role in that studio's forthcoming production "Distant Fields." The production, directed by John Farrow, stars Allan Marshal and Barbara Reed.

Miss Noels was cast in the excellent role by studio officials, after they had reviewed her work on the recent Eddie Cantor starred radio program, in which she pliayed the role of an illiterate sepia laundress who had just won a sweepstakes prize. She also completed a film role at the Universal studio titled "Little Accident."

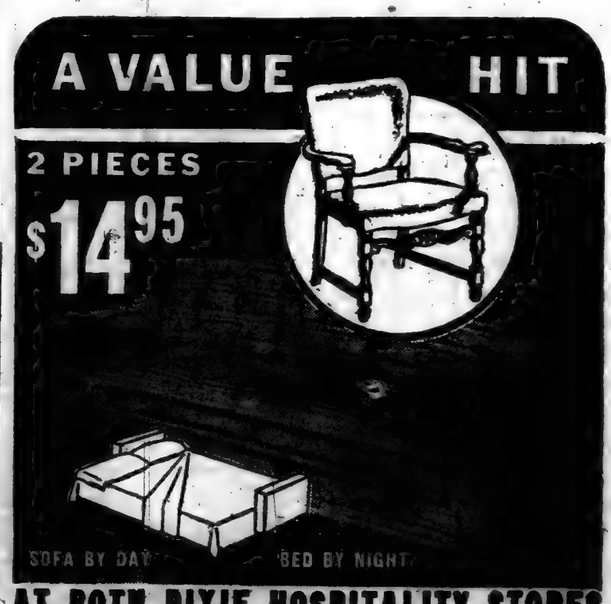
Other film roles in which Miss Noels has appeared is include "Gone With the Wind," "The Women," 'Our Leading Citizen,' 'Seventeen,' and several others. In addition to the above named members of the cast of her current picture assignment 'Distant Fields,' Miss Noels will appear with Patric Knowles and Helen Vinson.

intelligent jackass in 'mice, men'

Temperamental directors could well take a page from Lewis Milestone's book. The director, who is also acting as producer in the Hal Roach production "Of Mice and Men", was shooting the most gripping scene in the famous novel and play — where dim-witted Lennie, stroking the silky hair of Mae, the trouble-making man-chaser innocently strangles her.

The scene takes place in a barn and the temperature was 112. The actors were reaching the highpoint in the scene when the cameraman yelled "Cut", and told Milestone a mule's ears in the background had moved and ruined the take.

"That's the most intelligent jackass I've ever seen," Milestone excused him. "He knows good dialogue when he hears it."



Leigh Whipper, who played Crooks, the Negro stablehand in the stage play has the same role in the film version "Of Mice and Men".

HANK IN LOCAL FIGHTS; BRUINS TO MEET MONTANA

DOWN IN FRONT.

With J. CULLEN FENTRESS

BUSSINESS PICKS UP

● It appeared like times of old this week at the Olympic auditorium during the Jackie Wilson-Jackie Burke bout. Fans, both men and women, almost packed the place. A phenomenon unnoticed at the downtown swatatorium for the p a s t several months. In fact it has been surprising how the place could stay open.

What was the reason for this new interest. We judge it was because of the calibre of the card. Wilson, an artist of promise and 1936 Olympic Games boxing champion, was the drawing card. The fans have heard and read about his exploits in local rings and they know he does things with dispatch and finality, said things having to do with the art of knocker-outing.

Next Tuesday night the Olympic will probably be sold out because of the appearance three-in of Henry Armstrong, the world's welterweight kingpin. He meets Jimmy Garrison, who has qualified to trade punches with Hank because of his convincing win over Nick "The Greek" Peters.

Also on next week's boxing bill at the Olympic wil be Turkey Thompson who appears to be some shucks as a middleweight.

With the card this week being what it was and the card next week being what it should be, Bill Miller, the press agent just returned from a sojourn with "Uncle" Mike Jacobs in New York City, finds his job at the Olympic during this fistic renaissance made to order.

BASEBALL IN THE WINTER

● Joe Pirrone, organizer and president of the Winter league circuit, finds he has a tough row to hoe out at Gilmore Field in Holywood. The Hollywoodites are slow to go far a new attraction, be it sports or any other line. So until winter baseball catches on in the film capital, Pirrone is devising ways and means of enticing the cash customers.

This department this week is running an advertisement on this page which will pass two to the games during the next three Sundays at a saving of admission fees.

The Negro fans have been in the majority so far at Gilmore. They are already dyed in the wool Winter league ball fans. Although when Holywood wakes up these Negro fans may be outnumbered, they now are the ones who are making the Winter league go.

Wrigley Field, in the heart of the Eastside, is enjoying just the opposite in the way of attendance. Last Sunday, approximately 10,000 rabid fans saw Carl Dittmar's club made up mostly of Los Angeles Angels, play the ampico nine from Mexico on which there are four Negro ballplayers.

ON THE GRID FRONT

● Jackie Robinson was the fair-haired boy last Saturday as he personally led the UCLA Bruins to a tie decision with the Indians of Stanford. Robinson again sent sports experts into raving and rantings over his prowess as a ball carrier. twice he broke away for long jaunts, each time UCLA scores followed.

The Bruins, coming out of a tough Washington game, were sore and bruised and did well to even tie a Stanford eleven notoriuous for slow-starting. Playing in the Coliseum from now on the Bruins are going to be hard to stop the rest of the way.

Prep footballers in the Eastern, Marine, Northern, San Fernando, Southern and Western leagues of the Los Angeles City School district face inter-league competition for the first time tomorrow as the season opens.

The Eastside's Jefferson Democrats are eyeing the Southern league championship and face, of all teams, last year's champions, Fremont in its opener. Jordan in South Los Angeles takes on Huntington Park. Hubert Duke, the Negro all-league back of last season, is said to hold the secret of Jordan High's grid success--as he goes so goes Jordan.

L. A. Football Star Tosses Touchdown Pass for Xavier

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 19.—The Xavier University Gold Rush out razzle-dazzled the mighty Mad Magicians from LeMoyne college, Memphis, Tenn., to win 7-2 before a gala homecoming crowd here Saturday at Xavier stadium.

The much heralded wizardry of the visitors was put to no avail by an Xavier team that stole the show with a last quarter air attack featuring a Los Angeles grid star which gave the locals a grand total of 130 yards via the air.

The huge throng of alumni and students were thrilled in every moment of the game as Xavier marched on to her second consecutive win of the season, two conference wins, against no defeats or ties, through sheer superior power and passing.

Favored by a high wind, the LeMoyne eleven played in Xavier's territory during most of the first quarter as a result of LeMoyne halfback Hall's splendid kicking. In the closing minutes of the first quarter, Elliott, Xavier's triple threat quarter from Norfolk, Va., stepped out of the end zone to punt, resulting in an automatic safety for LeMoyne.

Xavier completely out rushed, out drove, and out passed LeMoyne, bringing the crowd to their feet in the last half. An eighteen yard pass by Tommy Mills of Los Angeles, to Farrow, Xavier fullback resulted in a touchdown. Elliott converted. The game ended with the Xavierites lateralling the ball seven times to gain thirty yards on an intercepted pass before being stopped after the gun had been fired ending the game.

Dave Clark Gets Raw Decision

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Dave Clark, Detroit lightheavyweight, was the victim of a hometown decision here last Friday night in the opinion of sports writers, when he lost a 10-round decision to Buddy Knox.

Clark out-punched and outsmarted Knox.

John Roxborough, manager of Clark, revealed after the bout that his charge will meet Melio Bettina in Detroit later this month and if he is successful in stopping Bettina will meet Gus Lesnevich who stopped him in one round last June.

BISHOP TANGLES WITH LANGSTON

MARSHALL, Texas, Oct. 19.—Marshall and East Texas have become excited over the announcement of a Bishop college-sponsored special train from Marshall to Ft. Worth Saturday, Oct. 21, in connection with the Bishop-Langston university football classic, following the Bishop-Southern 0-0 tie in the Recreational center here last Saturday. The game is to be played on Ft. Worth's famous Farrington field.

La. Normal Wallops Dillard

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 19.—An avenging Tiger horde from north Louisiana swept down upon a timid and unsuspecting Dillard aggregation and larruped them to the tune of 30-7 in the Blue Devil's first game of the season last Saturday. Rated as the probable winner by virtue of a line brought over intact from last season, Louisiana Normal more than fulfilled expectations. Dillard's crumbling forward wall allowed the Tigers to score three easy touchdowns and a safety in the first half and a single touchdown in the second to amass a score of 30 points to the Devils' 7.

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Oct. 19.—Jersey No. 33 which has been in mothballs since it was laid away by Benjamin F. Stevenson, Tuskegee's all-time halfback, was taken from under lock and key last week by Cleve L. Abbott, director of athletics and head football coach, and exhibited to a group of aspirants for berths on the Tuskegee Golden Tiger football team.

Coach Abbott told the candidates for the team about Stevenson's accomplishments on the gridiron, about how his exploits gain added lustre year after year, and also about J. B. Washington, the "father of intercollegiate athletics at Tuskegee", and something of the history and traditions of athletics at Tuskegee Institute.

White Kings Beat Giants in 10 Frames

Nicking Glover and McDuffie for 11 hits, Babe Herman's White King nine stumbled to a 10 inning 6 to 5 win over the Philadelphia Royal Giants Sunday afternoon at Gilmore Field.

It was the Giants' third straight loss in the current Winter League.

The scheduled doubleheader was cut short by darkness when the second game was called in the third inning.

Bassett, the catcher, and rightfielder Suttles led the Giants' battting attack. Lindell, White King pitcher, however, won his own game with two hits. Losing pithcer as MrDuffie.

Big Bill Watson Visits Detroit

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—Talking of blackouts, war scares and harrowing experiences, Big Bill Watson, first and only colored athlete to be elected to the captaincy of a University of Michigan varsity team, was in the city last week.

Touring Europe this summer with an American track team, Watson competed in 18 events during the tour, winning 16 firsts and two seconds.

Hank Fights Garrison at Olympic

Local boxing fans are slated to get their eyes full of the ring marvel of all time in the near future, in the very near future in one instance.

Matchmaker Jimmy Murray of the Olympic auditorium announced this week that Henry Armstrong, world's welterweight champion, would defend his title at the Olympic next Tuesday night against Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City.

George Parnassus, manager of middleweight champion Ceferino Garcia, subsequently announced to a now palpitating boxing public that Armstrong would meet his fighter in a title scrap here February 22.

Armstrong is the only fighter in boxing history to hold three world titles simultaneously, featherweight, lightweight and welterweight. Tuesday night will be the first time he has put one of his titles on the block here since he left his local haunts to climb to the heights.

Friday night, that's tomorrow, Hurrican Hank engages Ritchie Fontaine in a title bout at Seattle.

WILBERFORCE DOWNS LANE COLLEGE, 5-0

In looking at the Wilberforce University-Lane college score, it would seem that the opening game should have been chacked in the baseball instead of football column. The Green Wave of the 'Force started its 1939 football season off by beating a well coached, rangy, fighting Lane college eleven 5-0.

Bruins Bear Down For Montana Grizzlies Saturday

Bearing down this week in preparation for the University of Montana game here Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Coliseum were the Bruins of UCLA.

Fresh from a 14-14 tie with Stanford university at Palo Alto last Saturday, the Westwooders expect to continue their march thru conference ranks at the expense of the invading Grizzlies.

Jackie Robinson, the man-in-motion in the Bruin backfield, was the hero of the Stanford tussle, a tussle which almost saw the Uclans taste defeat for the first time this season. Jackie was directly responsible for both of the UCLA tallies. Runs of 52 and 50 yards by Robinson placed the oval in scoring territory. Robinson ran the latter distance on an intercepted pass in the fourth quarter.

The Bruins played hard and steady football and but for poor punting in crucial moments might have come away from the reservation of the Indians at least one touchdown to the good.

The most serious Bruin casualty as a result of the game last Saturday was Chuck Fenenbock, substitute for Kenny Washington, who reportedly sustained concussions. Others injured, though not seriously, were Les Kyzivat, Whitey Matheson, Ned Mathews, and Bill Overlin and up until yesterday they had not seen any action in preperation for the game here Saturday.

The Grizzlies so far this season have lost to the University of San Francisco, 12 to 7, and then barely defeated Montana State 6 to 0. Cece Hollingsworth, Bruin scout, reported this week that the Grizzlies were not at full strength for the latter game and that they have a passing attack that cannot be taken lightly.

Tampico Nine Loses Tilt

Getting nine hits off the slants of Chet Brewer, Carl Dittmar's Coast League All-Stars won a 5 to 3 victory over the Tampico Mexican nine Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Field before 10,000 fans.

It was the opening game of the International series and fans saw Brewer and Bell, both famous Negro players, for the first time as members of the Mexican team.

Modern Boxers 'Third Raters', Says Dempsey

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Arriving here last week to appear at a department store, Jack Dempsey former world's heavyweight boxing champion, told reporters that with the exception of Joe Louis, present day heavyweights are a "lot of third raters that wouldn't have been good enough for sparring partners 20 years ago."

He ridiculed the new fighters as "just a poke."

After crosses and losses men grow humbler and wiser.—Franklin.

Peace Plea

One of the metropolitan papers of this city came forth Sunday, October 15, with an article stating "a network linking mind and matter in control of health has been identified by science."

It does seem strange to the average mentality that with all the forces about us that make for Peace, we turn our backs on them and face a troubled world made so, we say, by three dictators.

If mind controls matter to the extent of regulating our physical ills, it is logical to reason that with the proper thinking we could subdue the European mad men who plunge the nations' over which they rule into war.

While we have taken no active part in this present war with fire arms, it appears that we are doing a whole ot of unnecessary agitation over the Neutrality Act and too much exageration over the air to bring about Peace.

From our own little corner, even though we are quite sure it will be ignored, we petition the President to designate a week of meditation in the interest of peace.

From The Jeffersonian

(Ed. Note: This editorial from "The Jeffersonian", paper edited and published by students of Jefferson has stimulated our determination to create greater community interest in what goes on at Jefferson Hi.

It has been reported by police officers that the rowdyism that has been charged to Jefferson students was and is perpetrated by outsiders who are early "quitterates" of local schools. They are seemingly without employment and form a loafers brigade that menaces school premises.

We congratulate the student body for making the move to clear up a situation that not only challenges the good name of Jefferson but also its cherished position in the athletic realm of our High School system.)

"Have you ever stopped to think and realize how the conduct of Jefferson high school has been discussed over and over by the community, and other high schools, the past term? It has appeared to be more noticeable during the past track season, when the Jefferson team traveled to other schools, and Jeffersonites traveled to and from the meets on street cars.

The conduct of the student body, as a whole, is outstandingly good in school. However, when ever it steps out of the school grounds, complaints pour into the principal's office and unpleasant rumors spread around. The habit of good conduct should be so well formed at school that misconduct would be unbelievably hard to show. One can accomplish a great deal by always having the end of good conduct in mind.

Hasn't it occured to you that only on account of a few misdemeanors, the school can lose its fine reputation and the respect of all concerned? It would be most annoying and disgraceful to all of us Jeffersonites, if we were to be completley ignored and left out of al inter-school activities after having always shown such aptitude on the field for these many years. What is the use of our team being victorious and having good sportsmanship if the cheering, enthusiastic spectators do not cheer and show their interest in the game. In an acceptable manner? Stop and consider it.

It is the duty of each individual to make up his mind to do the right thing at the right time, and if outside spectators, who sit and pose as Jeffersonites, present any comedy or misconduct, it is the duty of any Jeffersonite to inform such an individual that the school does not wish to have its standard lowered. It isn't through fist fights or loud talking that such arguments can be settled. Perhaps a gentlte tapping on the shoulder and an understanding talk with the person would be more successful."

Keep Children Off Streets

Launching a drive to keep children off the streets, and thereby cut down the "appalling number" of child injuries, the traffic committee of the Washington Board of Trade met to formulate plans for its national campaign this week.

Discussing the theme that even though children have playgrounds they will play in the street within one block of one, Louis E. Barrettt, district recreation administrator told the committee:

"Children will have to be attracted to playgrounds, and the main thing to do is equip them properly and supply proper supervision."

We find here a very strong and applicable hint to the local "powers that be" in the playground department. Although our recerational facilities here are some of the finest in the nation, we must continue the battle to KEEP OUR CHILDREN OFF THE STREETS.

Why Turn the Clock Back?

Having just celebrated the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Bill of Rights, the fountianhead of all democratic liberty, it is high time for America to take stock of her mental and spiritual resources.

In a world where democracy has been placed on trial because people have lost faith and self-reliance and weakly handed over their power to dictatorships, this country cannot safely ignore the slackening of faith, self-reliance and courage in our very midst.

Certain it is that the parlor revolutionaries, wholly lacking the support of the vast majority of people, do not represent as great a threat to democracy as the conscienless schemes which cannot lead anywhere but to confusion and disillusionment. With heartless demagogy they have not hesitated to exploit the sentiments of the aged and the needy by tempting and impossible promises. The means by which these fantastic promises are to be fulfilled cannot meet the test of honest inqury. The printing press money scheme, which California's 30-Thursday pension plan purposes, is condemned by a record of disasters covering the last three centuries.

The debacle into which money tinkering threw the American colonies is a matter of history. Yet we should not forget the warning picture of colonial governments, panic-srticken by the public's refusal to accept the worthless paper, being driven in desperation to impose fines and imprisonments on the populace—and to no avail. Only the establishment of a unified Federal government solved the crisis by expressly denying states the right to issue printing press money. Is California to turn the clock back nearly two centuries to repeat a fiasco which history has shown to be inevitable?

There are no magic formulas which can defy the proof of experience. Democracy does not trust to magic to solve its needs, but to common-sense, patience, and self-reliance.

(From 'The Calif. Progressive Review')

• ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

In the case of Russia and Germany, it looks as if the lion and the lamb have decided upon a little snooze together. An awakening is inevitable. Man cannot live by sleep alone. Methinks that when Herr Hitler awakes from his war slumber, he will be singing "I wonder who is eating on me now?"

NOTE TO WALTER E. SPEARS

Observing that you have been selected general chairman of the 1939 Armistice Day celebration, and that Peace is the theme to be stressed, the California Eagle and its many thousands of readers are asking that you emphasize the fact that we must first have Peace at home before we attempt to supervise its development in Europe.

It must be remembered that in the World War approximately 150,000 soldiers, officers and men went to France as colored Americans. They fought with others to make the world safe for democracy. After 25 years, democracy for these men and their kind has not yet come. But they still march with their heads high and their loyalty to this nation untrammeled by the foes of democracy. Will they march in vain once more?

If Proposition No. 1 passes . . . An estimated 900,000 "over 50" citizens would qualify for "30-Thursday" scrip warrants!

To supply the 900,000 it would take 117,000,000 warrants per month!

Cost of lithographing the 117,000,000 warrants would be $300,000 per month or $3,500,000 per year!

These staggering figures today were revealed by Robert A. Heffner, head of a local lithographing firm.

Heffner declared the Bureau of Engraving at Washington, D. C., uses only 100 tons of paper per month to turn out all the currency neded for all America, whereas the monthly warrant order, using specifications laid down in the proposed amendment, would require 230 tons of pape rper month--or ten carloads!

Heffner's figure of $300.000 a month ,incdientally, does not call for a profit, he pointed out.

These figures were based on warrant lithographing alone. In regard to the wto-cent redemption stamps which would be affixed to the scrip each week Heffner revealed that 507,000,000 of them would be required each month, at an additional cost of $25,000 per week.

• The Great Physician Speaks

By Carl E. Yaeger

(This article is fully protected by copy right. The opinions expressed in this column are those of the author.)

In a world torn by strife and hatreds—nation fighting nation, class hating class, race prejudiced against race—while little men who claim to speak in His name mouth pious platitudes, build more church buildings, and bicker over thumb-worn creeds.

In a world cursed with unemployment, poverty in the midst of plenty, waste and destruction in the face of hunger and want—idle factories, vacant farms, idle capital, and adle men—while pompus leaders smugly worship a god called gold, before selfish altars of greed, in temples dedicated to profits. . .

In a world filled with diseased bodies, broken homes, wrecked lives—where the dreams of women are turned to ashes and the hopes of men become dust—while the mases blindly follow leaders blinder than themselves. .

In a world like this, is there no voice to quiet the incessant din of conflicting economic theories, political philosophies, rabble rousing and misleading propaganda?

Is there no light to guide our faltering steps thru the dark morass of clashing religious creeds and worthless theological dogma?

Is there no truth that can strike from the helpless soul of man the cruel chains of ignorance, superstition, selfishness, poverty, misery and crime?

Yes, there is one. One who truly loved men, women and children; one who gazed with clear eyes upon human misery; one whose great heart overflowed with compassion; one whose keen mind accurately diagnosed each case and unerringly applied the remedy; one who preached a gospel, not of death and dying, but of life and living—"I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly". One who extended the invitation, "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest".

Feared by politicians whose chicanery He scorned, hated by religious leaders whose hypocrisy He despised and denounced, sneered at by the blind rabble whose empty creeds He criticised, they crucified His body, cloaked His true personality in theological legend and buried the vitality of His message in sacredotal dogma.

Yet thru all the years, His mighty spirit illumines the souls of the noblest and the best, and Humanitarian precepts are the stars of truth that ever beckons men to the heights of unselfish achievment.

He is still the Great Physician.

In this column He speaks again thru the pen of his servant. Here He will discuss the problems that beset this generation. Here the sick, the broken-hearted, the despised, the down-trodden and the friendless may send their problems and receive His remedy.

IT'S ABOUT TIME!

NEWS ITEM: Communists to be ousted from Government jobs.

• OTHER PAPERS SAY:

"Double-Edged Preparedness"

Editorial from The Kansas City Call, issue of Oct. 13.

UNDECLARED WAR characterizes this age. Therefore instant preparedness must be ours. Italy crossed the sea to lay hold on Ethiopia, a nation with a government and a history like its own. Japan does the same with China. Germany and Russia have swallowed Poland.

In protest against this new statecraft of dictator nations, the American republics have organized one of their first acts being to establish a safety zone around the western hemisphere.

But establishing the zone does not maintain it. It must be implemented with men and machines of war. They are the price of peace. Sad but true, we who covet no man's land, who are willing to offer our goods on price and quality with no pressure on buyers, live in a robber age.

Once we decide to protect ourselves, we incur the risk that we too will be lured into seeing how good our arms are, from which folly may Heaven protect us! But assuming that we hold to our present ideals, defense measures can be made to fit into our program.

These are days when unemployment is rife. Millions of men who cannot find work are being supported on a plan that bodes no good for our country's future. Why could we not take a million or two young men, and have them do the double service of being trained for our defense, and at the same time lessen competition for jobs? It could be mixed training which would fit them for peace as well as war. A year of obedience to orders would take from them the national habit of disrespect for law. Young men taken between the ages of 18 and 25 would respond to an idealistic program . A million of them carried through an intelligent and sympathetic course, and returned to their places in society would have a good effect on all. Crime would diminish. Defense would be ready. Not for war, but for peace, let's prepare

JERSEY JUSTICE

THE PROSTITUTION of justice on a basis of position, wealth, color, creed, or anything else is a deadly stab in the very vitals of democracy. And next to a jury no one in the United States has the grave responsibility of seeing that justice is carried out than a judge.

Yet, last week Judge Adrian Lyon sitting in the Middlesex County Court in New Brunswick, New Jersey, brazenly prostituted justice on a basis of color: he gave eight white hoodlums suspended sentences for their heinous crime of stripping a Negro woman and her husband bare and beating them as well as five other Negroes.

The mobbists who raided a farm near Cranbury, N. J., last August 11, to beat up the seven colored potato pickers, pleaded guilty and threw themselves on the mercy of the court. However, because a band of criminals plead guilty to a crime it should not act as a bar to meting out justice in the interest of law, order and society. This is especially so when criminals perpetrate crimes against persons because of color and because they are members of a minority group. For one may well say that because the hoodlums got off easy in this case other hoodlums will commit more dastardly crimes not only against a few helpless, migratory Negro workers but against anybody else they don't ilke.

These things Judge Lyon must have known. If he didn't he has no business passing sentence on anybody; and assuming that he did he still has no business sitting on a bench of justice, since he has clearly prostituted his office in this case.

The Cranbury case clearly shows again that there is no such thing as equal justice in Jersey. No doubt aware of this before they set out to commit their crime, the eight hodolums and the boy they took along with them were reasonably certain that they woud get off easy if caught. And "liberal" Judge Lyon say to that.

The Cranbury case is no different from any other one in which the personal rights of citizens have been outraged by those who trespass on the law. It would have been the same if it had happened in Mississippi. The only difference is that maybe the criminals would have been meted out a punishment that would have more nearly fitted their crime in Mississippi. —From the N. Y. Amsterdam News.

• The LAUNDRYMAN

THE CASE OF "Ham and Eggs" is come up for trial. Reams of propaganda, for and against, have ben showered upon bewildered John Public. I heard one aged enthusiast say confidentially the other night, "They ain't no way for it to fall through if we can once put it over." His listener—another grizzled oldster who seemed a bit dubious about the dadgum thing—said "How come they ain't."

"Because the man what's at the head of it can draw, and keep a drawing on the State treasury until the thing gets set."

I smiled inwardly as I realized that the speaker had the idea that the State's coffers are inexhaustible, that money flowed through them perenially. There are many other uninformed people who have much the same idea. Then there are others who frankly state that they don't care a rap about the possibility of the State getting in hot water financially, so long as they can get their Thirty bucks every Thursday morning.

This type of ignorant voters are the greatest menace to the perpetuation of the principles of Democracy. Unhappily, being or rather constituting a large percentage of the voting strength of the country, they will remain a sinister threat to the growth of Democracy until such time as Democracy stirs herself and makes political education a compulsory course in all public schools.

THE MOTHER COUNTRY

THAT ENGLAND still considers herself the mother of America and therby entitled to all the prerogatives usually assigned to that parent, is aptly illustrated by the following excerpt from Times magazine.

"An Admiralty man in London inquired last week whether the United States expects Great Britain to LET any nation or group of nations neutralize an area extending as far as 1000 miles out on the high seas.

"The London Times said out loud: "Any action taken by an American Navy to enforce such a declaration would amount to an act of war and nothing else."

Since Mother has spoken so positively, there seems to be nothing for her growing child to do but admit that she—through her appointed overseers in Washington—had made a misoue in putting forth such a declaration, and immediately disavow it gracefully. It might be a good idea henceforth to take things up with her—England—and secure her approval before making more high sounding pronouncements.

The superior man will watch over himself when he is alone. He examines his heart that there may be nothing wrong there, and that he may have no cause of dissatisfaction with himself. —Confucius.

• LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WORLD SUICIDE

Dear Editor:

I remember the morning England declared war upon Germany. I was among a group of people, who when upon reading the headlines, satirically rejoiced. I knew they were not serious about their rejoicing. They were part of a world that had become an armed camp and the realization that the crisis was at hand seemed to temporarily relieve their minds.

But the news that war had finally begun did not affect me that way. Something seemed to momentarily stun me. The thought that not nations were at war with one another, but people, average human beings—were about to embark upon wholesale murder. Not only did I think of the men that had to do the actual fighting, but of their loved ones left behind as well. The hearts that were being made to ache because it is natural for people to work about their loved ones when they are endangered; new war practices, the use of airplanes to demoralize civilians and non combatants is becoming common.

Then too, I wondered what effect this great holocaust would have on the rest of the world and upon the future. The world's trade will be seriously hampered, thus more unemployment will ensue. As a result of hampered trade, various commodities will become scarce, thus a great increase without wage increase. This trade impediment will cause business to drop so that it will make all efforts of relief and special business aid programs, etc., mere nothings; and all their purposes and efforts will have been in vain.

Also, after the war is won, if it is won, what economic or political advantages will be derived therefrom? The old proven saying, "No one really wins from a war" will more than every apply to this present conflict and its aftermath. Really the world is faced with international, political, economic and leadership suicide.

For days after that, I invariably found myself thinking about what I have just said. I decided therefore, to write down the thoughts as they came to me. These thoughts of expression you are about to read:

CIVILIZATION, WHAT NOW?

The inevitable has begun,
The nations have manned their guns.
What more can we expect,
When nations have lost their respect.
Thus has begun the great kill
With death dealers of mans' great skill.
To fight, kill, and die
eBcause a few diplomats have deliberately lied.

Thus is marked the destiny of the masses
Who have to combat all wars' weapons and gasses.
Such is a sad situation,
The result of many untactful insinuations.
Because of to many ideologies and creeds
There has sprung forth from man his hatreds and greeds.
Uh! we are the men that fight with bayonets.
Yes, we are the men that have to break thru the enemies' drag-nets.

We; Paul, Harold, and Carl are among average men.
Average men that must fight to make amends.
"For what, for whom" may we ask,
Do we perform wars' risky tasks?
It has truly been written, "To die for ones' country is glorious"
It has truly been proven that to live for ones' country and one's self is also glorious.
To find out the measurements of atrocities
One must figure the marvel to death with.

The cannon roar
The wounded groan.
The loved ones grieve
But the shells still scream.
Here you and I stand
But only atoms in this great world.
We pray for eternal peace
But we are not appeased.

What has happened to this so-called civilization?
Where mans' ingenuity has caused advancement beyond expectation.
Can it be that mans' great inventions
Are leading him to his own dreaded destruction?
Uh! we pray that this isn't so,
For not this way do we want to go.
For we were put on this earth to give life,
Not here to take life.

The world must bow its' head in shame.
Because it can put upon no one else but himself the blame.
Why is it that we have to fight and die.
Because a few diplomats have deliberately lied?
Why is it that we the masses
Have to fight with all wars' weapons and gasses?
Prayer has been used for a solution in seekink eternal peace.
But man's greeds and prejudices have rolled on as if greased by axle grease.

Oh! these darn fools,
Place such a gamble on speculative pools.
Man, blindfolded walks into self-made chaotic hell-pots.
Without for a minute meditating the consequences of an embroiling hot-pot.
Gee, isn't it sad when realized that he is the one who pays.
When he forgets the "Golden Rules" to favor exploitations for his own gains.

When a man prepares for a fight
He usually ends participating in a fight.
The same applies to nations,
For they usually end in deadlocked frustrations.
Such a realization is being proven before us now.
The outcome of this chaotic condition we know not how.
"History repeats itself" so they say,
Such few lessons have been learned from the past that everywhere will new dead lay.

Unity and the Duty of the Press

By WILLIAM L. PATTERSON, Associate Editor, CNA.

Life teaches those who will learn. Life moves. The struggles of the Negro people for freedom, for full and complete equality of opportunity will come, through the defeat of reaction, to fruition.

Life points in no other direction. And from life itself, we draw new strength, greater energy and still greater moral courage.

America faces grave struggles. Rising food prices, the attacks upon worker's rights, as expressed in the efforts to repeal the National Labor Relations Act and the Wage-Hour Law, are portents of the future.

In the sphere of Negro rights no lengthy review of the years of struggle is here necessary. Suffice it to say that in the sphere of national politics the anti-lynching bill did not come up in the first session of the 76th Congress. Its enemies—our enemies—prevailed.

New hooded men have ridden into Fountain Inn and Simpsonville, South Carolina. They flogged more than 20 Negroes. The American Legion, in session in Chicago, refused to reconsider its discriminatory practices against Negroes.

It is imperative that the Negro press should approach these questions so as to clarify the thought of the Negro people. This is an historic duty the Negro press cannot evade. Its role of leader also determines the fact that it must also be organizer and that it shall chart a clear course of action.

To assure this uniformity of action, a "get-together" of Mid-western Negro editors would play a vitally important role. We submit that the Chicago Defender, by reason of its widespread circulation and influence should take the initiative in calling such a conference.

Mobilization of the people for the passage of the anti-lynch bill should be one of the questions to be discussed. The protection of the interests of Negro labor and Negro business is another. How to secure funds for housing in Negro neighborhoods, for hospitalization and education are matters of far-reaching significance.

Such a conference would immediately strengthen the position of every progressive Negro paper. It would broaden the social base of these papers. It would establish their prestige as voices of true democracy. It would make of them a stronger force against the un-American and submissive activities of leading Legionnaires, the Klan, the Bund and others.

We pose this question. Gentlemen, shall we talk it over?

However brilliant an action, it should not be esteemed great unless the result of a great and good motive.—Hershenswald.

Make it thy business to know thyself, which is the most difficult lesson in the world.—Cervantes.

SHOT, KILLED PROTECTING KIN

by c. a. b.

MY ADDRESS last week centered about an attack against anit-semitism. I attempted to "head off" a growing ,though slight wave of anti-semitism among the Negro race in Los Angeles. I pointed out the close relationship between the two peoples, Jew and Negro—their mutual experiences in the debasing school of slavery and their joint experiences with racial intoierance.

In my mail this week, I found a striking letter from a studio police officer in Culver City named Bill McCrystal. The radio address was printed in the California Eagle and it was through this medium that Mr. McCrystal came across it Let me read you his communication:

"Dear Mrs. Bass:

By chance a copy of your paper came into my possession this morning. I became very much interested in the article relative to the racial controversy now existing between your race and mine. I am not a Jew, but an Irish-American of the Roman Catholic faith.

"Impressed by the article, a plea for religious and racial tolerance, allow me to offer my humble literary offering for publication in your paper in the hope that it may reach the hearts of those who seem to think that because of a difference in color of skin, some favored individuals should bask in the sun, while those of a darker texture, should sit in the shadows.

Yours very truly,
Billy McCrystal."

Enclosed was Mr. McCrystal's essay entitled "This Thing Called Color."

"During these hectic and troublesome times in Europe, when the peace of the entire world is threatened by the actions of a power crazed 'Dictator" bent on crushing all who oppose his will, when the peace and happiness of our own country is at stake, when rumors of sabotage and espionage on the part of foreign agents are on everyone's tongue, I think that our people should forget race hatreds and shoulder to shoulder, back to back, make war on an enemy that would cause a split between our respective races, rather than encourage this insidious destroyer by nibbling at his bait and quarreling between ourselves.

"From the early days of the "Revolution" down to the last "World War," the black man has helped keep the "Stars and Stripes flying over our land. From Valley Forge to the blood drenched field of Gettysburg, from San Juan Hill, where the gallant 9th U. S. Calvary (colored) saved the day and on to France where the blood of the blackman helped to baptize the "Hindenburg Line", never has the colored man been found lacking courage when called upon to defend his country in time of need.

"In science, medicine, art, music, stage, screen and radio, the colored race has forged ahead, all striving to live down the memories of the miserable existence their forefathers lived under; the horrible conditions that were the black man's fate in the dark Ages of our own United States.

"Those egotistical individuals who sought to break down the spirit of the colored race by wild rides in the night, decked out in fantastic regalia, making mockery of the cross and all it should stand for, failed in their dastardly attempts and only stiffened the backbone of the colored race to not stay behind in the shadows, but to take their place in the sun as God had intended, yes, had created them for."

Mr. McCrystal reveals a fine spirit of tolerance, one that is often lacking in white Americans today. American literature has so thoroughly stamped Negroes as either stupid, vicious, or comic, that it's very difficult for most people to conceive of them as scientists, professional men, and, most of all, soldiers.

So popular has the comic presentation of the Negro servant become that many Americans cannot divorce the theatrical Stepin Fetchit from the actual Negro worker, who feels not at all funny about his meager wages and the high cost of living.

The notion of Dr. George Washington Carver poring over test tubes and bunsen burners in his 77th year, appears somehow ludicrous. Yet Dr. Carver is recognized the nation's leading industrial chemist. His discoveries have revitalized great areas of the South and have resulted in the birth of more than forty separate and distinct industries. Perhaps the most remarkable aspect of Dr. Carver's work is his staunch refusal to share in the profits consequent to his continued discoveries in the world of chemistry.

Here is a truly significant American character, yet pra-

U. S. Refuses to Protest Panama's Ban on Negro

State Dept. Unwilling to Take Stand

NAACP Seeks Removal of Restrictions

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The U. S. State Department has expressed itself as being unwilling to make representations at the present time to the Republic of Panama concerning that country's refusal to admit non-Spanish speaking American Negro citizens, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced here today.

The expression of the State Department was a reply to a letter sent to Secretary of State Hull by the NAACP asking that the Government seek removal of the restriction against Negroes entering Panama "for the purposes of securing employment or for any other lawful purposes." The NAACP pointed out that the restriction against Negroes is an insult to more than one-tenth of the American population and thus an insult to the United States, and hurtful to the friendly relations between the two countries.

Section 15 of Panama's current laws relating to immigration reads as follows: "The immigration is positively prohibited of Chinese, Gypsies, Armenians, Arabs, Turks, Hindus, Syrians, Lebanese, Palestinians, North Africans of the Turkish race, and Negroes whose native language is not Spanish."

The State Department gave as its reason for non-action in the matter, the fact that "it is a generally recognized practice in the intercourse of states, that each government has the right to regulate and if necessary to forbid, the migration of aliens into its territory."

Admitting this fact, the NAACP, in a second letter sent to the State Department today, insisted that the Government would not be going beyond the bounds of friendly intercourse between states, if representations are made to Panama to abolish the restriction order affecting Negroes.

Action in the case of Panama recalls Mexico's abolition of a similar restrictive immigration ruling last March. The NAACP in that case, protested the ban successfully .

Dr. Carver to Get Award Tomorrow

To Present Award to Famed Scientist at Roosevelt House

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (CNA)—Dr. George Washington Carver, noted scientist of Tuskegee Institute, was one of three recipients of the Roosevelt Medals for 1939, it was announced this week by James R. Garfield, president of the Roosevelt Memorial association. The two other recipients were Major Gen. Frank R. McCoy, USA, retired, and Carl Sandburg, poet and author, both white.

The Roosevelt Medal award, established in 1923, is given annually to persons who have distinguished themselves in certain fields associated with the career of former President Theodore Roosevelt. The medals will be presented at a dinner at Roosevelt House, the birthplace of the late president, the 81st anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birth.

Of Dr. Carver, the citation says:

"Born of slave parents, and, in his boyhood, bartered for a race horse, he has won recognition as one of the foremost agricultural chemists in the country and as a vital factor in the economic and social progress of the South. He is best known for his achievement in connection with the peanut and the sweet potato.

"Out of the peanut he has made 285 useful products, ranging from face-powder and cheese to axle-grease and oils used in the treatment of infantile paralysis. He has transferred the substance of the sweet potato into 118 different products, including flour, starch, library paste, printer's ink, lard and rubber compound."

Congressional Leaders Confer On Lynch Bill

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Further discussions on the Gavagan-Wagner-Van Nuys federal anti-lynching bill will be undertaken early next week, when Walter White arrives in Washington Monday to confer with Congressional leaders on the pending legislation, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced here today.

Reiterating the Association's position on the bill, expressed in a statement issued last fortnight, Mr. White said:

"We do not intend to try to have the bill brought up during the special session unless it is clearly indicated that other legislation than Neutrality will be taken up by the Congressional leaders. We intend, however, to do everything in the way of protecting the prefered position of the bill on the House calendar."

Justice Dept. Probes Klan Outrages

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Two violent outbreaks of Ku Klux Klan activity in South Carolina, in which Negro citizens suffered brutal treatment at the hands of the night riders, are under investigation by the United States Department of Justice ,according to a statement made to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, by Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge.

The attacks against Negro citizens occurred in Simpsonville and Fountain Inn, South Carolina. In the latter town, the Klan attempted to intimidate Negro boys and girls at a National Youth Administration camp.

Yergan Says Soviets Put Stop to Hitler

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (CNA)—Dr. Max Yergan, executive secretary of the International Committee on African Affairs, speaking at a reception on the occasion of his recent return from Europe, declared that the Soviet Union "has definitely checked fascist aggression and "prevented widespread war in Eastern Europe."

"I regard the Soviet-German non-aggression pact, and the subsequent action of the Soviet Union as the one great contribution to world peace and democracy to come out of the conflict thus far," he said. I believe this to be true because the action of the Soviet Union has definitely checked fascist aggression, has prevented widespread war in Eastern Europe and has revealed the imperialist forces of Britain, France and Germany as being the instigators of the war."

Dr. Yergan went to The Hague, Holland, about five weeks ago, to attend the conference of the International Institute of Industrial Relations. He later visited London to confer with members of the International Committee on African Affairs there.

ABA Examiner Lauds Lincoln University

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Oct. 26. (Special)—Two weeks after his formal report to the effect that the new Lincoln University School of Law located in St. Louis, "was now worthy of admission to probationary status among the approved schools of the Association," Will Shafroth, examiner of law schools for the association, wrote President Scruggs of Lincoln University this week his congratulations "on the start which has been made toward providing sound legal education for colored students in Missouri."

According to Mr. Shafroth, his full report of his examination of the law school states that in respect to the library, the physical equipment, the number of full-time teachers, admission requirements and the length of course, the school fully complies with American Bar Association requirements.

John Hamilton Congratulates Dr. Carver

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.—John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National committee, today sent a letter of congratulations to Dr. George W. Carver of Tuskegee Institute, Ala., upon his selection to receive one of the Theodore Roosevelt Medals "for distinguished service in the field of science" on tomorrow evening.

Chairman Hamilton calls attention to the fact that the hoonr conferred on Dr. Carver illuminates the traditions of liberty and freedom of the American form of government, and the meaning of American democracy.

Fresno Slayer Executed in Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Oct. 26—William Green, 39, of Fresno, went to his death in the lethal gas chamber here last Friday for the slaying of W. G. Leek, 9-year old recluse who was supposed to have a fortune buried near his home.

Gauze was tied over the condemned man's eyes for the first time in the history of the chamber. The measure was taken apparently to spare witnesses the ordeal of watching Green's eyes roll as the fumes reached him.

Fourteen minutes after pills of cyanide had been dropped into a pan of acid producing the deadly fumes, Green was pronounced dead.

GOOD ADVANCE SALE FOR NAACP BENEFIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—More than two hundred advance sales of tickets for the NAACP benefit performance of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," at the Adelphi theatre, Nov. 16, were reported today by officials of the organization.

Maryland School Bds. Fight Over Equal Salary Issue

BALTIMORE (Md.) Oct. 26—When Walter Mills' case against the Anne Arundel County Maryland board of education comes up for hearing in the United States District Court here today, it will reveal a fight between the state and county boards of education in their effort to get out of a bad situation.

This is the second time that Mills, a schoolteacher at Camp Parole, Maryland, has had his case brought before the Maryland courts in an effort to force the board of education to pay him a salary equal to that of a white teacher doing similar work.

Last March, when attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People brought his case before Judge Chesnut, against the state board of education, the Court ruled that the fight should have been waged against the county board of education.

The NAACP attorneys have, therefore revised their case, and made the county board of education defendant in the present case. Now the County Board of Education answers that the State Board should be properly brought in as a defendant, too, or else "great confusion and embarrassment would result in the administration of the affairs of the public school system of Anne Arundel County."

The County Commissioners in doing this, have taken advantage of what is known as a third party complaint, a legal technicality. The hearing today will be on a motion to dismiss the answer given by the County Commissioners.

Mills is being represented by Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; William H. Hastie, and W. A. C. Hughes, Jr.

Penny-for-Thoughts Query Greets Man Saved By Penny

The fact that Bill Davis, Eastsider, was saved from serious injury when a bullet struck two pennies in his back pocket instead of his posterior proper brought forth a deluge of levity from wits and semi-wits employed on L. A. metropolitan sheets yesterday.

It seems that Bill was walking along Vernon avenue yesterday morning when he heard a gun report and felt a sharp sting in the vicinity of his hip pocket. Investigation into the matter at Georgia Street Receiving hospital revealed that two pennies in Davis' pocket saved him from serious injury.

And so the flood gates of jocose journalism were released in city rooms through L. A.

Head on one story in a widely circulated nightlite paper brightly quipped, "Lincoln's Head Saves Negro Again", while still another wagishly pointed out, "What a Break That Bill Davis Wasn't Broke!"

It was only in the late editions of last night's papers that the merry men of journalism got their creative minds off Bill Davis' posterior and back to America's posterity — or some such proper subject.

Throughout it all, Davis has maintained an unbroken calm, a great and impressive silence. Perhaps someone will offer him a penny for his thoughts! (ouch!)

New Insurance Program of USHA Hailed

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 26—Savings of more than 60 per cent in annual premiums levied for fire insurance on public slum-clearance rehousing projects, which will be reflected in a scaling downward of rentals charged low-income tenants, have been achieved by the United States Housing Authority, USHA Administrator Nathan Straus, announced today.

The new insurance program, hailed as another long stride in the USHA's drive to cut costs on low-rent housing projects, represents a reduction from $182,100 to $69,795 in premiums for three years for insurance on 44 projects constructed by the PWA Housing Division and now owned by the USHA.

This, in turn, means an average reduction in insurance charges against each low-rent dwelling of 4 rooms from about 30 cents per month to about 12 cents per month.

GETS BETWEEN SLAYER SISTER WHEN HE SAYS HE'S GOING TO 'SHOOT

Coroner's Jury Charges Man With Homicidal Intent at Inquest Yesterday

One sister lives . . . another is dead today as result of the love one of them had for the other.

Attempting to protect her sister, Georgia Turner, Mrs. Betty Moore, 33-year old housewife of 943 East 56th street, was shot and killed last Sunday afternoon in the former's home at 1257½ East 20th street.

Newton street police arrested John McNeeley, 35, 1238 East 22nd street, charging him with suspicion of murder.

According to an eye-witness account of the events leading up to the slaying, McNeeley, who had been keeping company with Miss Turner, came to the house Sunday afternoon and said he wanted some insurance papers which he had apparently left there.

ASKS QUESTION

He walked into the house, secured the papers and when he returned to the front door, Mrs. Betty White, mother of the dead woman, saw McNeeley partially pull a gun from his pocket, the account said.

"Is everybody happy?", he assertedly asked.

When Mrs. White said, "He's got a gun!" McNeele is said to have cried, "Yes, and I'm going to shoot somebody!"

Thinking that McNeeley intended to shoot the girl with whom he he had been keeping company, Mrs. Moore ran to him and in front of the girl and was shot, the bullet entering her left lung, eye-witnesses stated.

Mrs. Moore staggered thru the living and dining rooms before collapsing in the doorway of the kitchen where she was picked up and placed on a davenport in the living room by Jack Jackso 1430 East Adams boulevard, wi was one of several witnesses.

PICKED UP

McNeeley was picked up sho ly after the shooting by Newt Street officers when their atte tion was attracted at Washin ton and Central. They notic Rose Marie Moore running dow Washington with a hammer her hand. Questioned, t screaming girl told the office that a man had just killed h mother and was running dow Central avenue.

Picking the girl up, officer overtook McNeeley at 16 street and Central, placed hi under arrest and took him Newton street station. On M neeley's person, officers sai they found a .38 caliber re volver which contained thre empty shells and two loade ones and an insurance policy

Returning to the scene of shooting, officers found M Moore on the davenport. S was pronuonced dead by Newt street physicians.

Two bullet holes were found the ceiling of the living ro and one in the back of the livi room door, officers stated.

McNeley assertedly told lice that he shot Mrs. Moore self defense. Her body was moved to the county morgue.

At the coroner's inquest ye terday morning, a coroner jury charged the defenda with homicidal intent.

Charwoman at Federal Building is Dismissed

The tremulous lid that has fluttered over Los Angeles' Post Office department these many months threatened once again to take off for the stratosphere this week as reports held that Mrs. Lar McCarther, charwoman at the Federal building, had been arbitrarily dismissed Monday as the result of a recent altercation with her assertedly prejudiced superior, Mrs. Neddie E. Stanton.

The argument occurred Sept. 27, at which time it was stated Mrs. Stanton brutally slapped Mrs. McCarther. Charwomen in the building said that the two had been "fussing and fuming" for days.

After her dismissal, Mrs. McCarther attempted to contact Postmistress Mary D. Briggs, but assertedly was "shunted off" to Assistant Postmaster Davis, who is reputed to be anti-Negro and gured once in a discrimination expose of the P. O. depa ment here.

Mrs. Stanton, head char man, is said to be "fanatic prejudiced" by usually depe able sources, and it was poin out that her dismissal was asked by the Veterans of F eign Wars. It was also alle that she had been thrice in tigated by Washington offici but that in each insta "nothing happened".

Correspondence received Mrs. McCarther, notifying of dismissal, stated as cause she was guilty of "conduct becoming a postal employ Mrs. McCarther said that was never the aggressor in tercations with Mrs. Stanton.

The "vacillating" attitude high postal officials in the m ter has been widely condemn

Farm Credit Official Says Farmers Must Organize

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—"Of all the present-day needs of Negro farm life, none seems to be more important than the development of a consciousness of cooperative group action," says Cornelius D. King, new special assistant to the governor of the Farm Credit administration, in an article appearing in the October issue of Opportunity magazine.

"Cooperative group action is a most important instrument and must be used more, and participated in more largely, by Negro farmers," Mr. King continues. "They must see 'cooperation not merely as a method of doing business, but as a philosophy of action' by which to change world in which they live . Whenever and whereever sible, Negro farmers should coop rative associations. In dition, whenever there is a and conditions warrant it, should engage in local coope ive enterprises. Among coo ative endeavors may be menti ed syrup mills, grist mills, c munity canning plants, p bred bull associations, veget marketing associations and sumer purchasing clubs."

Mr. King also called for a awakening of the old spirit of Negro farmer toward own sentation of a similar figure in any important American drama or screen play would seem strangely ridiculous in the minds of a great majority.

As I say, Mr. McCrystal represents a rare American who has seen through the sham of race prejudice and come to the momentous decision that Negroes Are Human Too.

However, I noticed in his remarks a tendency to go the limit. That is, his violent reaction to the general misconception of Afro-America has colored his racial vision to the other extreme. Examine the sentence, "Those egotistical individuals who sought to break down the spirit of the colored race by wild rides in the night, decked out in fantastic regalia, making a mockery of the cross and all it stands for, failed in their dastardly attempts and only stiffened the backbone of the colored race to not stay behind in the shadows, but to take their places in the sun as God had intended, yes, had created them for."

Now, all of this from a white American is very comforting to me, although I know it isn't quite true. The "dastardly attempts" of the Ku Klux Klan were far from failures, as t figures of the disfranchisement in the South today will reveal. In fact, the Klan was so successful that it managed in the end to disfranchise five million white citizens along with the blacks. This is all verified in government statistics which hold that only 18 per cent of the total possible vote turns out at Mason-Dixon Polls.

The Klan failure was a moral, not an actual one. The Klan failed insofar as the ideals of democracy and free government are concerned. The Klan was very successful in decreasing Negro attendance at voting polls throughout the South.

The stiffening of the backbone to which Mr. McCrystal alludes took place only in rare cases. Usually, a Negro tenant farmer, let's say, would decide against exercising his franchise after a Klan horde, outnumbering him at odds better than 100 to 1, had swept down upon him threatening his life, family and home. However, sparks of opposition to the revived Klan were obvious in 1938 when black citizens of Miami, Florida, voted despite Klan warnings. This "will to vote," though, is a comparitively new factor in the racial situation below our Mason-Dixon line.

WE FIND that Germany and the Allies have decided at last to make a battle of it. The stark realism of war, then, has just now come to the Western Front, scene of identical carnage twenty-five years ago.

As World War No. 2 swings into high gear, humanity's wrath swells against the convention of boobs who violated the principles for which millions died when they turned the Versailles Peace confab into a game of butchery. Today, the world at large it paying once again the price of international greed.

Perhaps it is premature thought, but I must voice a hope that when the current conflagration draws to an exhausted close, that something aside from vengefulness and avarice will dictate the next international peace.

It is now painfully clear to thousands of Gold Star mothers that their sons died in vain. Died for a cause that was ruthlessly betrayed by the four old men who drew up the Versailles Treachery. This fact should make American Neutrality obvious to all. When a group of aged statesmen can violate the ideals for which men sacrifice their lives in a post-mortem of treaties, there is no reasonable argument to send American youth to the battlefields of Europe once again.

One of the most ironical twists of the present situation in Europe is the repeated statement of English Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that Great Britain will fight "until Hitlerism is destroyed." Certainly, Chamberlain knows that Hitlerism would never have been possible had it not been for Franco-British greed after the last World War. England today must sacrifice young and old to destroy the infant she brought into the world twenty years ago, for without Versailles, there could never have been Munich.

Young Singer in Recital Nov. 12 at USC

Pi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority is presenting Miss Pauline Wilkerson, youthful soprano in recital on November 12, at the University of Southern California.

Miss Wilkerson has made more progress, and greater strides toward greatness in less time than any known vocalist of her training.

Though born in Des Moines, Iowa, February 24, 1922, we can proudly call Pauline a musical product of Sunny California. She began studying music at the age of 15 under Madame Leontine Ridon. At present, she is under the instruction of Maestro Andrea Anayona of the Gray Conservatory of Music.

During her two years of training, Pauline has given five recitals. She has been presented in recital at Barker Bros. Auditorium under the sponsorship of L. E. Behymer. Besides being guest soloist at the First Methodist church at 8th and Hope, and at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood she has been soloist at the large race churches thru out the city.

She has sung the soprano solo, and obligatto of "Inflammatus," by Rossini with a chorus of 80, an accomplishment never before achieved by one of such a limited training.

At Polytechnic High school where Pauline is a senior, she has been soloist on numerous school assemblies, and has taken leading roles in operettas. Miss Adele Humphries, Girls' Vice Principal, says of Pauline: "In all my 25 years at Polytechnic, there has never been a girl here with a voice as glorious as Pauline's."

Pauline has sung over radio stations KFWB, KMPC, KMTR, and KRKD. She sings in French, German, Italian and Latin.

Besides her preparation for the oncoming Delta recital, Pauline is preparing for the winter season when she will give concerts at the larger clubs and churches throughout the state.

Entire Los Angeles is proud of Pauline Wilkerson. Those who have not heard her, have a great thrill in store. Who knows, a second Marian Anderson may be in the making.

Co-chairman Ernestine Beasley Nickerson, of the Delta Committee on Arrangements, says: "Nothing could give me greater satisfaction than the success of this recital. In presenting Pauline, Delta Sigma Theta sorority is rendering a noble service to the race."

Prominent Matron Back in City After Long Trip

Mrs. Emma Surrey, of E. 27th street, who is prominent in church, fraternal and social circles, returned Friday evening after an extended trip including stops in San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, Chicago, St. Paul, New York City, Boston, Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., as well as Vancouver, B. C., Seattle, Portland, and other midwestern cities.

Mrs. Surrey stated she had a marvelous trip, but she still is in love with the Southland.

Health Group Meets at USC

The Current Health Problem Committee held a very interesting meeting at the University Church, on the campus of the University of Southern California last Sunday.

A health skit was presented by the Committee followed by motion pictures. Dr. Ruth Temple, health advisor and founder of the Temple Health Institute, gave a most helpful and interesting talk on venereal diseases.

Rev. Wendell Miller, pastor of the University Church invited the Committee to meet with them again, and also stated that he would be the first of his group to have a blood test, and he would encourage each, and every student to follow in his footsteps.

This committee is composed of a group of young women who are interested in health conditions in this and other communities.

Miss Helen Dundee is the able chairman.

800 Take State Bar Exams

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Almost 800 students of law schools from New York to California this week attempted to qualify for membership in the state's legal profession, President Gerald H. Hagar of the State Bar announced yesterday.

A total of 793 prospective attorneys, the largest group since 1933, took State Bar examinations, given simultaneously at San Francisco and Los Angeles, Hagar declared. The quiz lasted for three days and began Monday.

Boys' Home of People's Independent Opens Doors

Following a complete reorganization of the staff, the Boys' Home, an institution sponsored by People's Independent Church of Christ for pre-delinquent colored boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years, re-opened its doors last week.

With Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of the church, as direct supervisor, Mrs. Hugh Ballentine has been selected from a large number of applicants as house mother, and Adrian Shields as supervising instructor.

The Home, a commodious 14-rom structure, is located on East 50th street. It is completely and modernly furnished, meeting all state, city, and county requidements for such an institution. Seeing the need for such a home for pre-delinquent colored boys after visiting local juvenile courts and discussing the matter with juvenile and probation officers, Rev. Russell began a campaign for the establishment of such an institution.

The property, which has a large lot ample for a various outdoor activities, was purchased by the church and opened last summer. It is a community project and expects to be maintained by contributions of all kinds from the general public, including food and clothing.

Business Bureau Holds First Banquet

The first annual banquet of the Southeast Better Business Bureau brought together the leaders from the various fields of community life. James M. Jones, president of the Association, lauded those progressive merchants who are responsible for the unusual building and remodelling activity that has taken place during the past six months that the organization has endeavored to stimulate business improvement.

Mr. Al Pryor, Executive Secretary of the Vermont-Manchester Business Mens' Association delivered the main address. He stated that the problems of this district were similar to those of his own. After pointing out the methods which have served sucessfully to improve their district he assured assistance in an advisory capacity in the future.

Councilman Rasmussen assured full cooperation with the district towards obtaining better lighting and sanitary facilities. He pointed out that the city is short of funds at this time but stated that he was aware of the need and would do all within his power to cause improvement at the earliest possible date. Among other speakers who assured full cooperation with the program were Judge Irvin Taplin, Judge Charles P. Johnson, McGeorge Randoll, Professor Dickerson, principal of Jefferson High School, Dr. Davis, Mrs. C. A. Bass, Mr. Carl Johnson, Mr. Jessie Graves, Mr. S. D. Patterson, Mr. J. Lewis, Reverend Baxter Duke and others.

Ardelia Anglin Presides Over State Clubs

The Executive and Reciprocity meeting of the California State Association of Colored Women's Clubs was called to order Thursday morning in the Granada of Sojourner Truth Home, by the newly elected State Vice President, Mrs. Ardelia Anglin.

She presided in a most capable manner, and a majority of the State Officers submitted the outline of work for the organization for the year.

A number of club reports showed an increased activity, and the Vice President's report for the past 3 months was commendable.

The Chairman of the Reciprocity Committee presented Dr. Ruth Temple as a guest speaker and her talk was received in a cordial manner by the club.

Mrs. St. Charles Edwards was appointed Chairman of the Committee on Reception honoring Past Presidents, and the second delegate to the "National," Mrs. Ada Brownlee, and Vice State President, Mrs. Ardelia Anglin.

The reception will be held at the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams blvd., Thursday afternoon on November 2, from 3-6 o'clock with an appropriate program.

Claims Farmers Must Organize

land—"a spirit that was characterized by clear vision, unfaltering courage, and an indomitable will on the part of individuals, recently liberated as freedmen, to anchor their feet deep in the soil of America,—"and a change in attitude toward what is often referred to as "book farming." Larger use should be made of governmental and other publications on agriculture by Negro farmers, he said.

bal masque set for saturday

New Orleans boasts its Mardi Gras . . . New York its famous "drag ball" . . . Hollywood has its own Artists and Models Ball . . . and Paris is noted for its matchless Beaux Arts celebration . . . but from now on, sepia Central avenue must be recognized for its splendid contribution to the festivals of the Hallowe'en or masquerade season. On the night of Saturday, Oct. 28, the Sepia Theatrical Writers Guild introduces in a big way, its own Bal Masque in a rather novel manner.

In introducing the first annual Bal Masque at the Club Alabam, the newsmen are featuring an impersonators contest and costume show. Reservations may be secured by calling the Dunbar or Clark hotels or the Memo cafe.

Tonight the famous Negro lecturer appears at the B-A building, 1708 W. Eighth street, room 207, regular meeting place of the Bohis' organization.

Thirty Golden State Mutual Agents Win Nat'l Honors

Thirty agents of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company were winners of National Black Cat Club awards in the national Hoodoo Day drive on Friday, Oct. 13, sponsored by the National Accident and Health Review, George A. Beavers jr., vice president and director of agencies, announced from the company's home office here this week.

With statistics showing a total of approximately 500 applications written with 30 men writing a minimum of 13 accident and health applications, it is believed that Golden State Mutual will again lead the State of California as it did on Friday, Jan. 13, and will equal, if not surpass, the former national rank which accorded it fifth place in the entire nation

Outstanding among the winners were James Parker of Los Angeles and T. R. Dunlap of San Diego who tied for first honors in the number of applications written, and Milton Alleyne, superintendent of the Los Angeles District No. 10, who qualified for an award the sixth consecutive time besides having six other men on his staff qualifying for national honors.

Also, F. Charles Buckner, Alvin D. Nurse, William H. Sharpe and Roy B. Simpson of the Oakland-San Francisco district; Stephen E. Boone, Bakersfield; Galvin D. Saunders, Fresno; Walter E. Freeman, Stockton; Theodore R. Dunlap and J. S. Williams, San Diego.

SEEK TO HALT JIM CROW PRACTICES ON WPA PROJECT

Local Congress Council Acts to Halt Practices At 111th Street School

Probe by Committee Discloses Negro Whites Segregated for Field Work

On reports that widespread discriminatory practices have been instituted in the WPA Housing Survey Project located at the 111th Street School in Watts, a joint committee of the National Negro Congress and Workers Alliance last week acted quickly to halt these practices. Following report of the committee's findings to the meeting of the congress last week, it was indicated that provisions of the recently enacted Hatch Bill, outlawing discrimination in Federal employment may be invoked, if other measures to secure adjustment fail. The Hatch Bill provides for criminal prosecution of officials guilty of practising discrimination on Federal jobs.

The project, which is conducting a survey of housing conditions in the southeast section of the city, is staffed by WPA workers, and operated under the supervision of the Los Angeles Housing Authority. Information secured by the survey will be used in determining needs in various areas for slum clearance and the building of low cost housing projects.

Investigation by the committee which included Robt. Strather, Jay Moss and Hursel Alexander for the congress; Dd. Himmelstein, the Misses Rickey and Hamill for the Alliance; and Miss M. Booker of the Orchid Girls club, disclosed that Negro and white workers are rigidly segregated for instruction and field work. Limitation of Negro workers in securing required data to areas inhabited predominantly by Negroes is an additional feature of the practices established by the project.

Efforts to fix responsibility for the inauguration of discriminatory policies finally led the committee to an interview with Mr. Williamson, associated with the local Housing Authority. Mr. Williamson's promise to correct procedures against which complaints have been lodged remains unfulfilled. In fact, Mr. Doyle, district WPA manager for the project, at a recent staff meeting claimed responsibility for the policy of segregation; cynically advised the Negroes to feel "superior" when segregated; and advised them to accept the situation on the project quietly.

Aroused by reports that the segregation policy is really designed to limit employment of Negro workers on the housing survey, since it is expected that enumeration of Negro areas will be completed within a few days, the National Negro Congress at its Council meeting last Friday, voted to press for action immediately from Herbert C. Legg, Southern California Administrator for WPA. Objectives will be to stop the rumored intention of moving all white workers from the project's present location, to another spot, leaving only Negro workers in the Watts area; and to press for the right of Negroes to be integrated into the housing survey project with the right to work in all areas. It is felt that such measures will assure the continued employment of Negroes now on the project, who would otherwise be dismissed as soon as the present area is completed, or in any case as soon as the relatively limited southeast area is finished.

Organization of a broad committee of leaders from all organizations in the city for immediate action on the matter was advised by the National Negro Congress. Hursel Alexander, Robt. Strather, Jay Moss, Commodore Wynn, and Mrs. Faustina Johnson were given authority to act for the congress.

Free Health Service in Area

Faced with the fact that many people in the area have not yet taken advantage of the free health service offered through the East Area Health Program, the Citizens' Advisory committee met Thursday in the offices of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company to consider ways and means of increasing the effectiveness of the program.

Special small group committees to work in limited districts of the area will be appointed, according to Norman O. Houston, chairman of the Citizen's Advisory committee.

The program, which provides free health examinations to persons living in the area bounded by Forty-first, McKinley, Jefferson, Thirty-Third, Hooper, Adams and Compton, is financed by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association with funds raised by the annual sale of Christmas Seals. Cooperating are the Citizens' Advisory Committee, and the Southern California Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association.

Further information about the program may be had by calling Miss Theresa Dixon, R.N. nurse in charge of the project, at ADams 9790

Girl Reserve Chairman is Confab Speaker

The Senior High City Wide Officers Training conference was held recently at Griffith Park. One hundred girls and leaders participated. Miss Harriet Robbins, chairman of city-wide G. R. committee, was the principal speaker. She gave the girls a challenge on "Facing Everyday Problems."

The senior division of the Jefferson Tri-Y group entertained new girls. Mrs. Jessie Lee Catley is adviser for the group, and Mattie Wiley, president. There are two G. R. groups from the Jefferson High school and plans are under way for a third group to be started under the leadership of Miss Blanche Wiley. The Lincoln Memorial Congregational church serves as a meeting place for these clubs.

The Girl Reserve Mothers' council held their first Fall meeting at the branch on Thursday. After a very stimulating discussion on the "Adolescent Girl," a social hour was enjoyed. This group will meet the third Thursday of the month, 7:30 p. m., and extends a cordial invitation to all mothers of Girl Reserves to become affiliated. Mrs. A. R. Mosley is the advisor, Mrs. Grace Lee, president. The Mother's council has several enthusiastic volunteers to help in the Community Chest Drive, namely Mrs. Camilla Gross, Mrs. Grace Lee, Mrs. Ruth Mosely and Mrs. Owens.

Among the new advisers added to our roster are: Miss Rhetta Jean Boswell, Mrs. Eunice Ashford, Miss Bernice Zebbs, Miss Mattie Wiley, all former Girl Reserves, and Miss Vivian Martin.

The Manual Tri-Y Girl Reserve club their installation services at the Bethel AME church. Miss Dorothy Guinn, executive secretary, was the speaker and gave a very stimulating and thought-provoking message. Miss Rosie Mae Sweeney is advisor for the group.

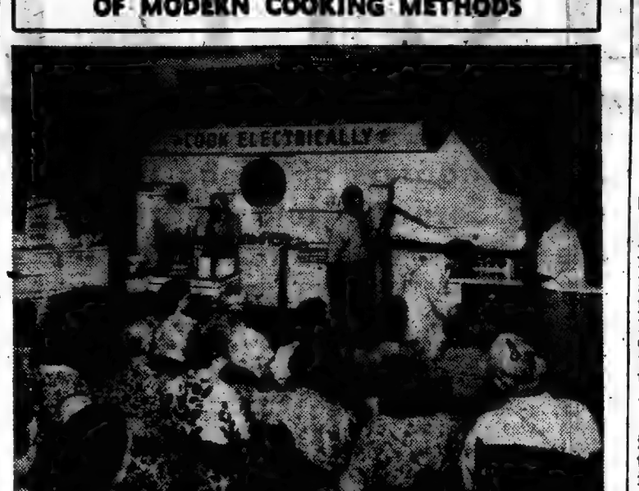
Industrial Club members are attending the Bi-ennial Convention of the Dining Car Waiters this week and will thereafter celebrate Hallowe'en with a party at 6 o'clock when Misses Rosie Mae Sweeney and Gladys Moore will lead in entertaining the club members and their friends with some interesting games appropriate for the season.

Miss Eleanor F. Brooks, president of the Industrial Club, was guest of the Household Employees Study club of the Pasadena YWCA, whom she addressed on the "Recent Household Employees Legislation." Miss Willie Clayton and Dorothy Lewis of the Industrial club represented their group at the city-wide Inter-club council this past week.

Young leaders of the YWCA, from all branches met at Mar Casa Balboa to discuss Problems

Health Probe Asked in Area

As a result of public demand for action by the business and profesional people, letters have been directed to the Mayor's office, the Health department and



At the annual banquet of the Southeast Better Business Bureau, Councilman C. C. Rasmussen, when questioned by Dr. Davis, admitted that he was aware of the undesirable conditions but stated that the city was short of funds to make improvements at this time.

Special meetings of the association are planned for Tuesday noons at the Swing-Hi cafe, which is located next door the Golden State Insurance Co. Many new members have joined and a general reorganization is in progress. The problem of street decorations for Christmas will be discussed and all persons are invited.

Free Admission To Modern Cooking

Free tickets of admision to Range Exposition featuring several of the most surprising cooking demonstrations ever conducted are offered by electric dealers throughout the city. Scores Firsts in 2 Civil Service Tests

The fact that Norman J. Allison scored two firsts in two examinations for civil service positions in the city government was revealed this week when it was announced by the Civil Service commission that out of 2102 applicants for the position of junior clerk, Allison was among the first three of the 1007 who passed with an average of 95.12.

Of the 400, out of 2151, who passed the examination for junior clerk typist, Allison was first with a point total of 94.31.

Formerly of Chicago, Allison has lived in Los Angeles for the past four years and until recently was manager of the Rossmore hotel here. He has served as secretary and clerk to Horace Clark of the Clark hotel and accountant for Benton Drug company.

Allison has also been employed by the Sheriff's department as state's clerk.

NEW RED CAP VICTORY SEEN IN FINDINGS OF WAGE & HOUR OFFICIAL

Salient Points Supported by Body In Old Fight Against Railroad Ass'n

CHICAGO, Oct. 26. (By Ernest Caloway)—A new victory for the International Brotherhood of Red Caps is seen in the fidings and recommendations of Dr. Gustav Peck, who last week presented to the Wage and Hour administration salient points supported by the Brotherhood in its year old fight against the American Association of Railroads on the question of tips and wages under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Dr. Peck, chief of the Hearings and Exemption section, was the presiding officer at the hearings on this issue last June. After examining the volumes of testimony, affidavits and briefs presented by the Brotherhood and the Association, he made the following recommendations:

"In the light of all the evidence there can be no conclusion other than that the pay roll records of the carriers for Red Caps generally do not accurately record the data as to wages paid. It also appears that there is grave legal doubt as to the validity under the Fair Labor Standards Act of the accounting and guarantee arrangement which the carriers have used. It is, therefore, recommended:

"1. That the Division take immediate steps through court action to determine the validty of the accounting and guarantee arrangement under which many red caps are employed.

"2. And, pending an authoritative Court decision determining the validity of the accounting and guarantee arrangement, that employers be required to keep records which show separately from other amounts paid as wages, the amount of tips which are claimed by the employer to be wages paid.

"3. It is also desirable that records kept by employers for employees engaged in occupations in which tipping may occur shall records the number of hours worked each week in such tipping occupations separately from the number of hours worked in other occupations, if the employee accounts for or turns over to the employer the amount of tips received from third persons."

These recommendations follow the charges filed by the Brotherhood against the railroads upon their attempt to evade the wage provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act by forcing red caps to report the amount of tips earned daily, which in turn were used on meet minimum of 25c an hour required by the law. Through this evasion of the law the American railway indu has withheld an estimated 000,000 in wages due red since the inception of the last October.

The basis for the hearing on the question of propo amendments of Part 516 (Rec to be kept by employers) of R ulations issued under section (c) under the Fair Labor St ards Act of 1938. The Brot hood strenuously opposed "accounting and guarantee" rangement adopted by the roads with volumes of fact figures and proposed an addit al amendment to this sec which would provide that ployers of red caps or hand-b gage porters shall not incl directly or indirectly in their cords of wages, extra wages, ditions to wages or total wa required to be kept by Sec 516.1 hereof any amounts rec ed by red caps or hand bag porters as tips or gratuities persons other than employ such as passengers and the In no event may tips or gratu to red caps or hand-baggage ters be counted as part of wages required by the Fair bor Standards Act."

SOCIETY

MRS. WILLA MAE HUDGINS . . . to be honored.

Prominent Deltas to be Honored At Presentation Tea at Home of Mrs. Bessie Burke, an Honoree

Plans are now underway for the Presentation Tea to be given by Delta Sigma Theta sorority at the home of Mrs. Bessie Burke, 1351 W. 37th street. The tea will be from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m., and the public is invited.

Several Delta women who are outstanding in both civic and social circles are to be honored because of their achievements during the past year. Among them are Sorors Bessie Burke, Juanita Ellsworth Miller and Willa Mae Hudgins. Mrs. Burke is prominent in the field of education. She is the only colored principal in the city schools. Formerly located at Holmes Avenue, Mrs. Burke, this year, has been appointed to the principalship at Nevin Avenue school because of her unprecedented ability in her work.

Soror Juanita Ellsworth Miller was recently appointed as assistant administrator to the County administrator of the State Relief administration. This is the first time in the history of the city that any Negro, male or female, has ever achieved such a high position in welfare work. Mrs. Miller, who was formerly the only colored auditor in the County Charities department, has worked her way to the top ranks of social service work.

Mrs. Willa Mae Hudgins has accomplished much in the scholastic field, being elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, honorary society at USC. At the present time, she is teaching in the Los Angeles City schools.

These women represent three of the most brilliant and charming matrons in Los Angeles society. Because of their intelligence, they are lovely to talk to, and because of their charm, they are lovely to look at.

The Central playground is having their annual Hallowe'en frolic consisting of booths, fun houses, and costume parade, Oct. 31, 7:30 to 11 p. m. Everyone welcome. Mr. Joseph Aleksi is director.

Pasadena Misses Attend Football Game

Miss Rebecca Washington and friend, Angie Thomas, of Pasadena, attended the Stanford-UCLA game last Saturday at Palo Alto.

From the game the pair journeyed to San Mateo to the home of the hospitable Mother Noble's.

After a timely visit, they proceeded to San Francisco and Oakland where they attended the Fair.

Returning, she visited friends in Salinas.

PASADENA MINISTER, WIFE ENTERTAIN VISITING MATRON

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan of 932 Manzanita avenue, Pasadena, honored Mrs. Grant Cummings of Houston, Texas, with an elaborate dinner party Sunday. Mrs. Cummings is the sister of Mrs. Buchanan and is vacationing in the Crown City indefinitely.

The table was beautifully decorated. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out.

Guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Devonport, Mrs. C. B. Brownlee, Hr. and Mrs. Jordan A. Willbourn, Mrs. Carrie Gordon Credic, Mrs. Grant Cummings, Mrs. J. E. Buchanan and Mrs. Ruth Washington.

After dinner the guests visited the Forest Lawn Park.

•CLUBS

The Orchid Club was entertained Wednesday evening by the president, Miss Laura Slayton and Mrs. Ellen Smith at a joint birthday dinner party at the Marble Inn cafe in South Los Angeles. The dinner table was made very beautiful with Hallowe'en decorations. Places were laid for 36 guests. After a delicious five-course dinner was served, dancing was enjoyed until the wee hours of the morning.

The Calyx club met at the home of the president, Mrs. Frances Smith. One new member was added to the club, Mrs. Hattie Parker, vice president, is still confined to her home. Mrs. Lillian Okray is also ill. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Peggy Toran, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Bertha Miller, asst. secretary; Mrs. Robbie Sneed, reporter. Next meeting will be at 1146 E. 42nd street, Miss Gladys Davis, hostess. Mrs. Robbie Sneed is reporter.

Beauty Salon Owner To Visit East

Joint Chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Hold Quarterly Meeting; Vesta Smith Presides

The quarterly meeting of the joint chapters, Sigma, Alpha Gamma, and Alpha Gamma Omega, of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority was held at the home of Mrs. Edith A. Jones last Sunday morning. Breakfast was served preceding the meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Vesta Smith, chairman of the joint chapters.

Noteworthy among the many plans discussed for the future was the joint chapters' plan to participate in the Alpha Kappa Alpha National Lobby project on Nov. 10.

The Far Western Regional director, Mrs. Essie Tucker, brought greetings from the northern chapters, Rho and Alpha Nu Omega.

Introduction of the AKA pledges by Miss Gwen Jones concluded a meeting that featured elaborate decorations of Ivy Leaf and gradenias, and was marked by the enthusiastic and cooperative spirit manifested by all present.

HONORS MEMBERS

The old and new members of the Ivy Leaf Pledge club of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, were entertained at a recent meeting by one of its members, Miss Jo Gaines, at her lovely home on West 29th street. The meeting was begun with the usual procedure and with the added introduction of the new Ivy Leaf members, who are:

Olga Burdette, Bonzell Fulcher, Wilma Mack, Josephine Spearman, Hope Speights, Bettye Wright, Bette Yarbrough, Eleanor D. Johnson of UCLA; Lorine Evans, Weslene Foster of SC; Marjorie Osborn, Rosie Mae Sweeney of Chapman; and old members: Mary Coleman, Jo Gaines, Murlah Eason, Corine Jones, Annis Lackey, Mildred Lightner, Gloria Newman, Blanch Wiley and Bessie Mae Williams of UCLA, and Sarah Collins, Helen Thompson of USC.

After the old business was taken care of, plans were made by this group of young co-eds for their coming annual dance, an dother affairs of the school season.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors who honored the Ivy Leaves by their presence at this meeting were the Misses Edith and Gwen Jones, Miss Martha Waugh, and Mrs. Emmett Ashford from the University of California campus; and the young deans of the Ivy Leaf pledge club, Miss Manila Smith, Miss Jo Blodgett, and Miss Inez Hamilton, respectively were present.

LA JOVIAL CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF JEWEL MOORE

The La Jovial club met at the home of Jewell Moore, 4717 Wall street October 19. Following a business period, bridge and po-ke-no were enjoyed by the members and guests. Bridge prizes went to: Addie Green, first; Thelma Lister, second; Ann Powell, booby. Po-ke-no prizes were also awarded. The meeting for November 2 will be held at the home of Mrs. Nell Saunders, 664 East Adams blvd.

Last Sunday several of the members surprised one of the popular members, Mrs. Katie Lewis, a patient at Olive View, with a visit, carrying gifts and beautiful flowers. Mrs. Lewis was deeply appreciative of the remembrances of her fellow club members.

Those who made the trip included: Messrs. and Mesdames "Babe" Saunders, James Mason; Mesdames Grace LaVigne, Ann Powell, Hazel Franklin, Aletha Atkins, Miriam Johnson, Addie Green, Fannie Dean; Miss Lenora Brooks and M. McClanahan.

DUDE RANCH GUESTS ESACAPE HEAT

Many people motored to Victorville and the Murray's Dude Ranch to escape the heat of the lower regions, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and other places, over the week-end.

Among the many visitors at Murray's were: Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Brown, Miss Elizabeth Kindred, George Chester, S. J. Sidney, Miss Vivinee Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Ewing, all of Los Angeles; Mr. Williams and party of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Lake Arrowhead.

Excelsior Dance At Elks Temple Was Gala Affair

Long will it be remembered! The eighth anniversary dance, given by the Excelsior Contract Bridge club on Saturday evening, Oct. 21, at the Elks' auditorium.

The rostrum was beautiful with a latticed fence, entwined with golden chrysanthemums, green foliage and the soft glow of crimson lights.

The hostesses wore satin of different colors, some with varishades of the same color. Most of the gowns were bustled. Conspicuous among them was the gown worn by the president, Mrs. Louisa Roan, which was of soft purple, with princess effect and trimmed with point lace.

The social hostess, Mrs. Theresa Felton, was lovely in white, the gown accentuated with a bustle-bow of red and white. Mrs. Isabelle Fairchild was a dream of loveliness in cerise, with a huge bustle bow; Mrs. Lena Warfield was charming in turquoise; Mrs. Gertrude Pryce was stunning in black; Mrs. Lillian Lazard and Mrs. Eva Gordon were petite and lovely in moss green. The lovely Mrs. Vivian Lee chose orchid; Mrs. Alva Eadens, white, Mrs. Edna Elgin, red; Mrs. Mattie Henton, rust; Mrs. Mayme Reed, peach, and Mrs. Clara Traelor, robin's egg blue.

The Benjamin orchestra played as never before, the eight hundred encoring every number.

Later at 3 o'clock a m., eighty guests and their hostesses were seated in the new blue and gold room of the Clark Hotel, at breakfast of fried chicken, hot biscuits, mashed potatoes, jelly and coffee.

The president, Mrs. Roan, spoke as toastmistress, and the social hostess, Mrs. Felton, presided with her usual grace and charm.

The beautiful decorations were furnished by Mr. Ralph Porter.

Wife of McCoy Minister Returns

Mrs. Louise A. Eldridge, wife of Rev. J. A. H. Eldridge, pastor of McCoy Memorial Baptist church, has just recently returned from an extended vacation trip throughout the West, Middle West and East, visiting the San Francisco Fair, Grand Canyon of Arizona, Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., New York and many other points of interest.

While attending the New York World's Fair, Mrs. S. T. Eldridge, Dr. Eldridge, a brother, is pastor of Berean Baptist church, Brooklyn, N. Y. She attended the National Baptist convention at Philadelphia, and also visited the National Training School for Women-enen and Girls, Washington, D. C., of which Miss Nannie H. Burroughs is president.

Mrs. Eldridge is president of the Mission Circle of McCoy Memorial and on the 5th Sunday evening, Oct. 29, she will give an outline of her entire trip. The hour will be 7:30 p. m.

Luncheon Honors Oakland Visitor

The home of Mrs. Lonella Green, at 1253 E. Santa Barbara avenue, was the scene of a lovely luncheon on Tuesday of last week honoring Mrs. J. B. Butler of Oakland.

Guests included Mesdames Clarence Martamdale, Dora James, Lenora Broady, Annie Mae Lacefield, and the honoree, Mrs. Butler.

Friends of Local Cafe Owner Pay Social Visit

'Tis said, "it happens to every man once in a lifetime," we don't know just what the author had reference to, but we mean that Priest Henderson, boss of the Harlem Cafe, 3525 S. Central, formerly of Topeka, Kansas, had the surprise of his life last week when a host of his town's folk paid him an unexpected call.

All of the friends were of his boyhood acquaintance and did they have a good time—reciting old and weird reminiscences, when Topeka and they "were young Maggie." They remained on hand 'til closing hours when all wended their weary selves to their homes, having spent some of the most enjoyable moments of their lives.

Those who greeted Priest were: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spears; Mesdames Marie Bertha, Bessie Phoenix; Walter Davis, Miss Odell, Kid Knott, Dick Porter, James Shute, John Roundtree and Jewel Oliver. They all acclaimed Priest as still "one of the boys," who is always glad to meet the boys and girls from home.

L. A. TUSKEGEE CLUB CONTRIBUTES TO INSTITUTE

The Los Angeles Tuskegee club last week made a generous contribution to the Nurse Training department of the Institute.

Due to improvements, increase in personnel and other necessary provisions to better serve the students enrolled in that department, the school had incurred a deficit, which had to be offset through contributions from its former students and graduates.

Former students, graduates and friends interested in this work pledged $125.00, part of which has already been sent to the school.

Additional contributions and pledges should be sent to the secretary of the Los Angeles Tuskegee club, Martha E. Campbell, 2084 W. 29th street, RO-9255.

The Tuskegee club meets the first Thursday in each month at 262½ S. Central avenue. Former Tuskeegans and friends are invited to attend. A. C. Cole is president.

Mr., Mrs. Soares Return From East

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Soares are returning this week from a two-months stay in the East. They have been visiting Mrs. Soares' mother in Philadelphia, friends and relations in Washington, D. C., Atlantic City, and New York. The Soares are returning home through San Francisco, where they will spend a short time seeing the Fair.

Houston Matron Guest in Pasadena

Mrs. Jo Ann Cummings of Houston, Texas, is the houseguest of her sister and brother-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan at their home on Manzanita avenue, in Pasadena.

Many courtesies are being shown Mrs. Cummings during her stay in the "Crown City."

POINTS

BY M. L. MILLIGAN

Duplicate bridge is fast replacing rubber bridge among the leading players of the city. However, for one or two tables rubber contract will continue to hold its own.

Elihu Sloan had three tables playing 15 boards using the Mitchell Movement Saturday nite. Ray Marshall directed. Mr. and Mrs. Beatty had a group of three tables Sunday nite. The results of all duplicate games will be published the last month in this year an dsuitable prizes awarded.

In the month of November eliminating contests will be held among the highest rated teams to determine the city champions, and the best individual players. More about this in a later edition.

Watch B. B. Bratton and Cliff March, their star is rising in the firmament of Bridge masters.

L. Woods, Dumas Watson, Geo. Fields, Wm. Heath and H. E. Newton were admitted as members into the sacred portals of the Contract Bridge Club Thursday night.

The C.B.C. has rented regular club rooms at 22nd and Hooper avenue.

THIS CARE WORKS WONDERS

FOR SKIN TROUBLED BY PIMPLES OF EXTERNAL ORIGIN

● Regular care can make a wonderful difference in the "feel" and comfort of a skin bothered with the pimply trouble mentioned above. Proper cleansing with Black and White Skin Soap is highly recommended. And then rub on Black and White Ointment. The Ointment acts as an antiseptic, germicidal dressing which goes right to work on the itching, soreness and burning of these externally-caused pimples.

When these discomforts become less and less noticeable, you feel different about your skin. You face the world with a different feeling. You get a chance to forget those embarrassing, disfiguring blemishes when the discomfort is relieved.

The 50c size of Black and White Ointment contains more than twice as much as the 25c size. Large bar of Black and White Skin Soap, 25c. Trial sizes both Ointment and Skin Soap, 10c. At five and ten cent stores everywhere.

ZELMA WATSON DUKE . . . sings Monday night.

Young Women's Club to Present Zelma Watson Duke in Recital Monday Evening

The Young Women's club of Hamilton Methodist church presents Zelma Watson Duke, dramatic soprano, in recital of all Negro compositions at Hamilton church on Monday, Oct. 30, at 8:30 p. m.

The club, in keeping with its tradition, is ever striving to present the best in artistic programs to the Los Angeles public. It feels that the presentation of this artist marks another step in the upholding of this tradition, and is therefore urging all citizens and visiting friends to be present and share in this treat that is in store for them.

Mrs. Duke needs no introduction to the general public of Los Angeles as she has distinguished herself by the performances she has given and by the energetic interest she has taken in the community for the two years of her residence here.

Among the community posts she has held with distinction are chairman of the South-Central Co-ordinating council and head of the Community Chest drive in that area. Although actively engaged in civic activities, Mrs. Duke has been presented in several brilliant recitals on the Pacific coast. Her voice, rare in quality and volume, commands a wide range, making it possible for her to sing an interesting variety of songs, and it is especially adaptable to traditional Negro songs and the modern evolution through which they have come.

Compositions by the following Negro composers are to be presented on the program: Coleridge Taylor, J. Rosamond Johnson, William Dawson, Harry T. Burleigh, R. Nathaniel Dett, Edna Rosalyn Heard, Harvey Brooks, William Grant Still and Hall Johnson. The last four named are living in Los Angeles and will be present at the recital. Three of them, Miss Heard, Harvey Brooks and Hall Johnson will accompany the artist when she sings their numbers. Four selections on program are manuscripts and will be heard by most of the audience for the first time.

The accompanist, Melba Hannah, one of Los Angeles' most versatile and brilliant pianists, will play a group of selections. The Knabe concert grand piano will give her a wonderful opportunity to interpret the very expressive numbers which she has chosen. Miss Hannah is graduate of the Chicago Music college and is the organist of the Avalon Christian church.

Women's Growth in Odd Fellowship Revealed

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26. (CNS)—The women members of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows in America constitute an important section of that pioneer fraternal and beveloent organization. Prior to 1858 there were no females in the order. Today they are legion; they outnumber the male members and they outnumber the male lodges. The female lodges are known as "Households of Ruth". The women members of the order are organized into branches corresponding to the so-called "higher branches" of the male members. Thus they have past most noble governors and military units corresponding, respectively, to past grand masters councils and the patriarchies to the male contingent of the order. These so-called higher branches of the Odd Fellows are made up of past officers of subordinate lodges and Households of Ruth.

Originally, the requirement for admission into households of Ruth was restricted to relationship to members of the male lodges. This is no longer the case, and any female of good character is eligible to qualify for membership.

"Ruthites"—as the female members are known—are seemingly more progressive than the men. They are more assiduous in their efforts to advance the interests of the organization. The Household of Ruth is truly Democratic; the members stand on an equal plane within the fold, with the Biblical Ruth as their guiding spirit.

MARY ALICE PARKER

The Ruthites have a conventional or legislative body which meets biennially in the even numbered years, at the same and in the same city as do the conventional boy of the male lodges. This conventional body of delegates from the subordinate Households of Ruth is known as the "Grand Household of Ruth", and its presiding officer is known as the "Most Worthy Grand Superior". Mrs. Mary Alice Parker of Washington, D. C. was elected to the office at the meeting in Atlantic City, N. J. in 1908, and held it for about 20 years. Following the death of Mrs. Parker, others who have held the are: Mrs. Alice Anderson of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Martha J. Wells, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and the present incumbent, Mrs. Lucy M. Hughes, of Cameron, Texas—all of whom have taken high rank in national leadership among women.

The Womens Patriarchy Auxiliary is a forcible demonstartion of what women are capable when given a fair opportunity. There are units of this military organization of women in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Deleware, Maryland, Illinois, Louisiana, Virginia and the District of Columbia. Notable records have been made by the auxiliary of the First Patriarchy Brigade, embracing units in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, under command of Major Charity A. Smothers, of Washington, D. C., and by the auxiliary of the Eighteenth Patrioarchy Regiment, embracing the States of New Jersey and Deleware, under command of Major Elizabeth Simons, of Westfield, N. J.

These units, or companies, are well drilled in military tactics, and engage in prize contests. They have their place in national local parades of Odd Fellows, and never fail to receive the lion's share of applause for their military bearing in their natty uniforms.

There is still another feature of the activities of the Women's Patriarchy Auxiliary, and that is the work of the 'Nurses' Units,' particularly conspicuous in the commands of Major Smothers and Major Simons. These units function under the leadership of Captain Nellie Walker and Captain Nellie Washington, in the First Brigade, and Captain Della Hebron, of the Eighteenth Regiment. The members of these units hold certificates of proficiency from the Red Cross organization for hospital and first-aid service. These services are rendered gratis at State and National conventions of the Order at the bedside of the sick members of the Order, and at funerals. On such occasions the members of these units are garbed in the regulation nurse's uniform and carry fully equipped kits, ready for any emergency.

Phoenix Visitors Leave for Home

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shaw, Rev. and Mrs. Rucher, and Mrs. Hale, of Phoenix, Arizona, departed for their home, Monday morning after spending a week in the city visiting friends and relatives. While in the city, they were guests on several sight-seeing tours, and at many social affairs. The party spent the previous week in Northern California, attending the general conference of CME Church, and visiting the San Francisco Exposition. All report an enjoyable time.

GOOD HEALTH

By RUTH J. TEMPLE, M. D.
Your Announcer

After a rest period devoted to other important and often very strenuous health tasks, we are happy to be back on the air and plan to bring you that which is timely in health news, plans, ideas, or advice. All persons in this or in any community interested in health and wishing to contribute to this weekly health broadcast are welcome to do so by contacting the announcer.

Nothing is so indicative of the state of progress of any group or individual as is the attitude thereof toward health. A child thinks nothing of health. A fool despiseth every thought of protecting or of guarding his health. It is only a nintelligent and matured mind that can grasp the real import of individual or of community health in its relation to all of the affairs of life.

To some of us who have been working for so many years, it is gratifying to find so much life and new blood being infused into community health movements. We note with pride how the youth from Hollywood to Belvedere and from Central Avenue to Watts are taking hold of the Community Health Association program. And because of the many clubs, churches, other institutions and individuals both in and out of this community which are calling on it the Community Health association has this week begun to revamp its entire structure so as not to limit nor to confine its efforts to any one location nor to any one institution, but to more fully carry out its original objects and be of help to all by cooperating with or assisting whenever requested to and to the best of its ability all communities and all health agencies whenever, wherever and however possible.

We watched with interest recent programs of the Current Events committee of the Community Health association in local churches and are pleased to see them put on a health skit and program at the University church near the campus of the University church near the campus of the University of Southern California last Sunday, and also a health tour one week from now in one of the classes on the campus of the Los Angeles City college. We are pleased with the progress of the East Area Health program for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis and to note the number of cases of tuberculosis and syphilis discovered.

These things indicate that groups in this community are working for themselves and are altruistic enough to contribute their time and energy to help other sections of our city in their health problems. While those, in turn, from other sections reach out and help us over here. This is as it should be and shows definite progress.

But mere "progress" is not enough at a time like this when social problems are so acute, when the economic situation is so critical. More than ever do we need goo dhealth in order to think clearly and to act with wisdom and discretion. And now as never before should all fully grown citizens resolve to act and actually do all within their power to secure good health to themselves and to their less fortunate neighbors.

Our time is up now. Your station is KWA (Keep Well Always) and your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D., is signing off until next week at this same hour. And remember, good health is your most valuable asset.

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

Perhaps the gayest prelude to the approaching nuptials of bubbly Angelique de Lavalade and her "Bun" Bratton was the Sunday morn breafast-shower at Bernice Barnum's place. Some twenty-two debbies and matrons were on hand. The gift pile was most impressive, comes word.

In the interim, there passes an intimate number of petit soupers and gatherings all centered around the bride-prospective. The wedding, as you know, occurs the third Sunday in November in the San Gabriel home of her sister. And 'Bun," as you probably don't know, is bearing up calmly, not at all nervous and doing quite well, thank you.

The night preceding the beforementioned affair, the Gay Westerners play hostess at their annual pre-Thanksgiving assembly. Nan Lee, Lolita Edwards, Flo Rucker, Bobbee Black and Ruby Terry are the G. W. Of it all, more anon . . . The welkin will be rung loud and strong this ensuing Hallowe'en ball as coming up for, around and by the Ghost Club. Last year's dance was shelved, if you recall. Accordingly, the entire village will be out for this one. Et comment und wie. And how! Still made up of the original roster of menfolk, the club is peppy as of yore.

A pair of perky, youthful and sleepless bachelors from eastern confines (Washington, D. C.) bounded into town last midweek and did a grand job of financially and socially supporting most of the how-dee-do spots. Affluent "Chick" Thomas and "Phil" Lewis, by name. Gay as gosh-all-get-out, both of them. MOST impressvie in their chauffeured custom-built limousine, by the bye! They'll return and summer here, and continue onto South America.

Chit-Chat . . . Wide-eyed out 'o' towners, me hearties, continues to troop in and out . . . . Windy City's colorful Gonzalez Motts left some moons ago, but folk still recall the round of socials for her. (Gosh, yes!) Chappie Blodgett's lovable "Ma" Moore, in Florida on business, will be home ere long, Chap reports with pleasure. (Villagers are wondering, too, Chappie, about the attentive male who hovers near you!) Ruth Ellington, who created a rather sizeable stir this past summer while visiting, has instructed her attorney to hunt a lodge for her within a 65-mile radius of L. A. Since she won't return to Paris next summer, she'll probably fly back here, she opines.

William Grant Still is giving up California for Manhattan. Dr. Curtis King barely missed the European fracas. He planned attending the Sorbonne this Fall! Musing: It's high wonder some ambitious soul hasn't done a book on Louise Beavers.

The way-way-back Monday night Assemblies may be revived, if vague plans afoot go through. Allah be willing, the tempo will be far gayer and colorful . . . Few village matrons possess the arresting charm of Mrs. Paul Williams, somehow. Perfect hostess, so much so that Athalia Scott and I recalled to a "t" a cocktail party she had last year when Athalia was visiting the Charley Blacks, from DeeCee.

The Lionel Hamptons arrive early Jan. for six weeks. He'll make a film. Exciting bit about their arrival is amusing word from Gladys that she'll certainly fetch her fabulous and famous furs for the girls to ogle over. Also slated for a town visit next summer is Dick Huey, he of "Three Men On A Horse" fame. Dick, I must report, has done QUITE handsomely for himself . . . Stella LaVigne will be a bride, have you heard? A hurried note from NY states that Simms Campbell's book on Negro Jazz is off the press. I seldom see Hortense Allen. Her medic brother's home is shaping up much to Howard and Hilda's delight.

Recalling the McCullough party: Swingy rhumba, that "Palm Springs" number written by the hostess and played by the band. Novel touch, and a useful one. Brava! . . . Few of the "young marrieds" are as adept at horseback riding as Ralph and Betty Vaughn. Hezz Howard may journey to DeeCee, he whispers.

That being that . . . period . . .

Legg Clarifies WPA's Lay-Off Clause

In a message clarifying the situation to those affected by the Work Projects Administration's "18-Month Lay-Off Clause," Herbert C. Legg, WPA Administrator today made the following statement:

"The procedure followed by the WPA in Southern California in relation to separations and reinstatements is covered in every specific detail by regulations from the Washington office. Inasmuch as these regulations are based on the 1939 Congressional Relief Act, they are uniform throughout the United States, and it should be distinctly understood that no State Division has any authority whatever to change this procedure. The Act requires the immediate separation of all workers who have been continuously employed over a period of 18-months, and in this case the word continuous employment means that which does not show a break of at least one full pay roll period within the 18-months.

"Following such separation, certain very definite steps must be followed before a worker is eligible for reemployment. In order that there can be no misunderstanding on the part of anyone, these steps are as follows: immediately upon separation, the worker may make application to the State Relief Administration for relief, but not until the expiration of a mandatory 30-day furlough period may the SRA forward a referral to the WPA. It should be emphasized that when the worker has made application for relief to the SRA, he has done all that he pesonally can do, or that anyone can assist him in doing toward re-employment by the WPA.

"The next action, to be taken by the SRA, is a careful determining of the applicant's eligibility for relief and referral to WPA. Should the applicant be eligible according to SRA standards, the WPA is so informed by means of a standard form. Upon receipt of this form by the Employment Division of WPA it is carefully reviewed, and from the information therein contained, the workers need category is established, and in the event that the applicant is found eligible for certification, he is so informed in writing. He is informed in the same manner if he is found ineligible.

VACANCY MUST OCCUR

"However, such notification does not mean that the worker will be immediately re-employed, for first a vacancy must occur for which the applicant is qualified, his need must be established to be greater than others of equal qualifications, and the State WPA Office must be in possession of sufficient funds and work quota to permit his employment.

"This is the full procedure preliminary to the re-employment of anyone seperated from WPA by reason of the 18-month clause of the 1939 Relief Act, and it should be thoroughly understood, that no action can possibly be utilized.

"It should be noted that from the time the worker makes application to the SRA, no information is available to him, and it is absolutely impossible for anyone to obtain information for him, until he is notified in writing as to his status by the WPA. Because of the mandatory procedure, it is impossible for anyone in the WPA to give out any accurate information as to when any individual separated because of 18-months continuous employment will be re-employed.

"One fact should be well understood by all concerned. The completion of the 30-day furlough period is but one step toward re-employment.

"It is hoped for those who are still in misconception despite the full explanation contained in the from accompanying each dismissal notice, that this statement will make the whole situation in regards to re-employment procedure perfectly clear," Legg concluded.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Roosevelt Urges 'Yes' Vote on No. 5

Joining forces in support of the California Oil and Gas Control ill which they consider of major importance both to California and the nation, President Roosevelt and former President Herbert Hoover have united in recommending a "Yes" vote on Proposition 5 on the ballot at the Nov. 7 election.

This endorsement by President Roosevelt, titular head of the Democratic Party, and Herbert Hoover, outstanding Republican, definitely has lifted this oil conservation bill out of the political arena and made it a question of public policy upon which both agree.

In his telegram of endorsement sent to Governor Olson President Roosevelt said:

"I am in full accord with the favorable endorsement by the Navy and Interior Departments of the California Oil and Gas Conservation law, the Atkinson bill, which will be voted upon at the special election on November 7. You know, as I do, that an adequate supply of oil at reasonable prices is vital to the well being of the people of California and the whole nation and also that oil is of paramount importance to the National Defense.

"Overproduction means waste and waste means higher prices, both for domestic consumption and for purposes of National Defense. My view is that the Atkinson law, if put into effect, will contribute to the best interests of the state and nation. You have my best wishes in your efforts to give this law a chance to prove its effectiveness.

Hoover in his letter of endorsement sent to the "Yes on 5" Committee said:

"The California Oil and Gas Control Act was urged and supported by the present national administartion through Secretary Ickes. It was supported by Governor Olson. Therefore it is not a partisan issue.

"Adequate supplies of low-cost oil must be conserved for the efficient operation of our industrial society. Ample amounts of oil must be kept available for National Defense. In my opinion the California "Oil and Gas Control Act of 1939" is necessary and desirable legislation. I therefore urge that the people of California give favorable consideration of this act by voting "Yes" on this measure at the special election to be held on November 7, 1939."

HOW PROPOSITION NO. 1 HITS YOU!

YOUR HOME
You can't use Ham and Egg warrants to pay your rent, your mortgage, or your FHA loan. You can't use them to pay for your furniture, rugs, icebox, and radio. Why? Landlords, building companies, and merchants know these so-called warrants are worthless. They can't accept them and stay in business.

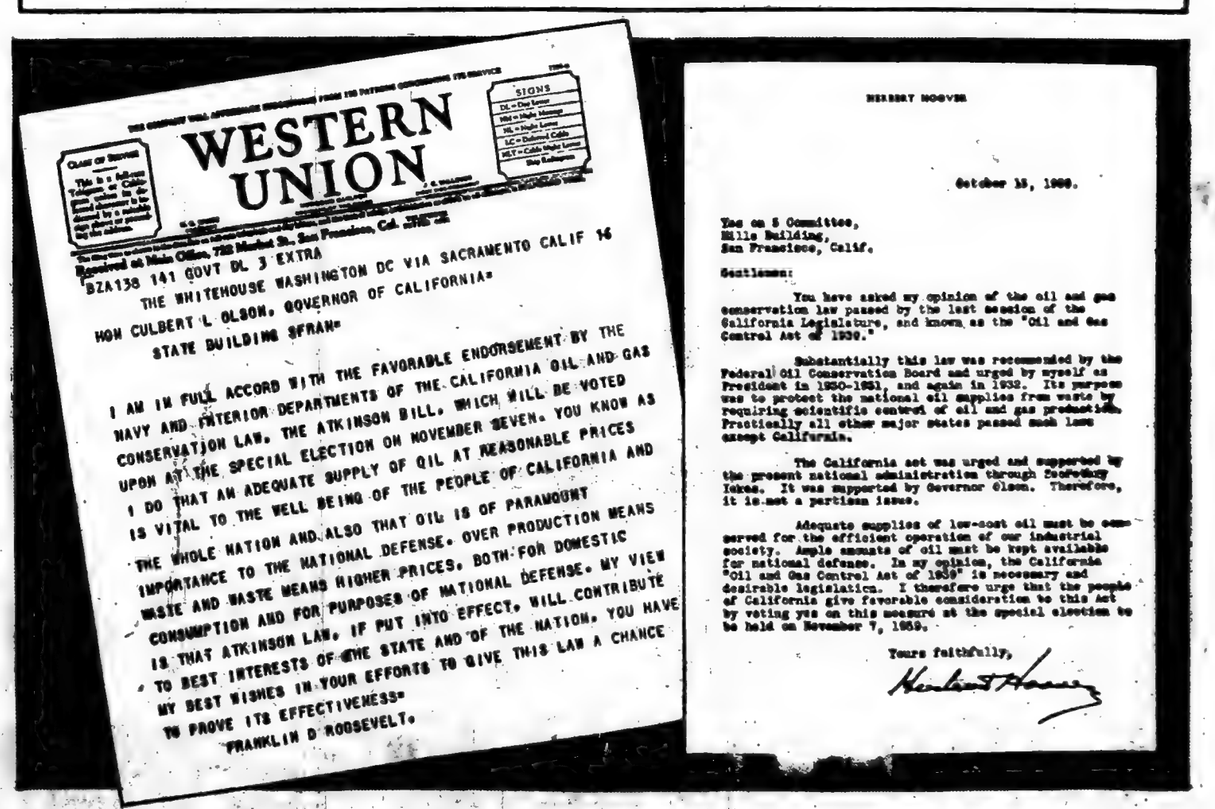
YOUR FOOD
You can't buy groceries, meat, and milk with scrip. Why? The grocer, butcher and milkman can't use worthless paper either.

YOUR CAR
Payments on your car and bills for gasoline, tires and repairs can't be met in scrip. Why? Finance companies, garages and service stations have to have cash.

YOUR CHILDREN
Schools can't operate on worthless warrants. Why? The state can't pay teachers, buy books and meet monthly expenses with pieces of paper which are worthless.

YOUR PLAY
Ham and Egg warrants won't buy tickets to movies, prize fights, ball games, dances, and barbecues. They won't pay dues to clubs or lodges. Why? Theaters, ball parks, clubs, and fraternal organizations can't take paper they can't spend.

YOUR HEALTH
Ham and Egg warrants won't settle doctor, dentist and hospital bills. Why? Hospitals, dentists and doctors require money —not paper—for their bills.



YOUR INSURANCE
You can't get life and health insurance, accident policies, and fire and theft protection for your family with scrip. Why? Insurance companies are prohibited by law from taking worthless paper.

YOUR JOB
You can't afford to accept Ham and Egg warrants for wages. Why? You would be working for paper you couldn't spend.

BZA138 141 GOVT DL 3 EXTRA
THE WHITEHOUSE WASHINGTON DC VIA SACRAMENTO CALIF 16
HON CULBERT L OLSON, GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA=
STATE BUILDING SFRAN=

I AM IN FULL ACCORD WITH THE FAVORABLE ENDORSEMENT BY THE NAVY AND INTERIOR DEPARTMENTS OF THE CALIFORNIA OIL AND GAS CONSERVATION LAW, THE ATKINSON BILL, WHICH WILL BE VOTED UPON AT THE SPECIAL ELECTION ON NOVEMBER SEVEN. YOU KNOW AS I DO THAT AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF OIL AT REASONABLE PRICES IS VITAL TO THE WELL BEING OF THE PEOPLE OF CALIFORNIA AND THE WHOLE NATION AND ALSO THAT OIL IS OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE TO THE NATIONAL DEFENSE. OVER PRODUCTION MEANS WASTE AND WASTE MEANS HIGHER PRICES. BOTH FOR DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION AND FOR PURPOSES OF NATIONAL DEFENSE. MY VIEW IS THAT ATKINSON LAW, IF PUT INTO EFFECT, WILL CONTRIBUTE TO BEST INTERESTS OF THE STATE AND OF THE NATION. YOU HAVE MY BEST WISHES IN YOUR EFFORTS TO GIVE THIS LAW A CHANCE TO PROVE ITS EFFECTIVENESS=
FRANKLIN D ROOSEVELT.

HERBERT HOOVER

October 18, 1939.

Yes on 5 Committee,
Hills Building,
San Francisco, Calif.

Gentlemen:

You have asked my opinion of the oil and gas conservation law passed by the last session of the California Legislature, and known as the "Oil and Gas Control Act of 1939."

Substantially this law was recommended by the Federal Oil Conservation Board and urged by myself as President in 1930-1931, and again in 1932. Its purpose was to protect the national oil supplies from waste by requiring scientific control of oil and gas production. Practically all other major states passed such laws except California.

The California act was urged and supported by the present national administration through Secretary Ickes. It was supported by Governor Olson. Therefore, it is not a partisan issue.

Adequate supplies of low-cost oil must be conserved for the efficient operation of our industrial society. Ample amounts of oil must be kept available for national defense. In my opinion, the California "Oil and Gas Control Act of 1939" is necessary and desirable legislation. I therefore urge that the people of California give favorable consideration to this Act by voting yes on this measure at the special election to be held on November 7, 1939.

Yours faithfully,
Herbert Hoover

Here's one place Democrats and Republicans agree! Urgent messages from President Roosevelt and former President Hoover point out danger to national defense from wasting California's oil. "An adequate supply of oil at reasonable prices is vital to the well being of the people of California and the whole nation and also that oil is of paramount importance to the national defense," says President Roosevelt in a wire to Governor Olson, supporting Navy and Interior Department endorsements of Proposition 5, the Oil and Gas Control Bill, on the Nov. 7 election ballot. "I urge that the people of California give favorable consideration to this act by voting 'Yes'," writes former President Hoover.

ANNUAL CONVOCATION AT INDEPENDENT CLOSES

3-DAY SESSION ENDS WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS; TELLS PLANS

Church to Establish Scholarships at UCLA, USC; Pledges $500 to Outdoor Life Ass'n

Considered by all "one of the most inspiring in the history of the church", the 24th annual convocation of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18t hand Paloma, closed a three-day session Wednesday evening of last week with the election of officers for the ensuing fiscal year.

Re-elected to the responsible position of church clerk was Mrs. Ruth Fowler. New trustees chosen for the year were Attorney David W. Williams, legal advisor for the church, and George A. Beavers, Sr.

Reports from all departments showed marked progress. The financial report revealed the amount received during gthe year far in excess of the preceeding one, with a substantial balance in the treasury, and the church free from indebtedness.

The report also showed that besides the various types of charitable work done by the church during the year, including distribution of large amounts of food, clothing and household commodities to the needy; the maintenance of a free employment bureau and clinic, $3,327.18 in cash had been distributed for charitable purposes.

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister, praised all departments and the congregation as a whole for the fine spirit of cooperation shown, and called attention to the increasing spiritual and evangelical growth of the church.

Plans outlined for the coming year include the establishment of two scholarships of $1,000 each at the University of Southern California, and the University of California at Los Angeles for deserving, needy students of the race; and a pledge of $500 to the Outdoor Life and Health Association. Last year Independent gave $325 to this Association.

chorus, and outstanding male soloists. The evening service will be a great men's mass meeting. The business, professional, government and Los Angeles County male employees will be represented by speakers and music. Follow the men through the day next Sunday and you will be greatly inspired.

At Unity Truth Canter, 1195 E. 55th Street, Sunday, Oct. 29 Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. sermon service, 11:00 A. M.

Sunday, 4 P. M. at the Independent Church, 18th and Paloma Streets, "The Wedding of the Fairies" will be given for the building fund. Thursday, Oct. 26 will be the last time you can enroll in the Impersonal Life Class taught by our Sister of Compassion. Remember the Hallowe'en Party, Oct. 31. Many prizes will be given.

Second Baptist church closed its 10-days' revival with a number of additions and great spiritual uplift. Dr. Charles Favors of Phoenix, Ariz., poured out his soul in the series of sermons he brought to the edification of all.

Next Sunday morning, Rev. Chalmer's Gaithers, president of our BYPU and Chapman College student, will preach, and in the evening, Rev. H. A. Foster, assistant and founder of Unity Faith Conference, will deliver the sermon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from Ezekiel: "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?"

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon is from Proverbs: "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." These passages from II Chronicles are also presented: "And the LORD appeared to Solomon by night, and said unto him, ... If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

The Lesson-Sermon includes these statements from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The design of Love is to reform the sinner." "The sharp experiences of belief in the supposititious life of matter, as well as our disappointments and ceaseless woes, turn us like tired children to the arms of divine Love. Then we begin to learn Life in divine Science."

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, Vernon and Hooper Avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, minister, the pastor will speak at the 11:00 o'clock service this Sunday, using as his subject: "A Name on the Roll" or "Numbered With Us". There will be no evening service for this Sunday. Instead the pastor and choir will be the guests of the Bethel M. E. Church, 80th and Hoover streets. The Pastor of our church will preach and our church choir will sing.

Excellent services were held the past Sunday at both hours. The pastor's message at 11:00 A. M. on: "The Religion Needed Today" was well received by the splendid audience present, he choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick was at its best, in rendering special music. You are cordially invited to worship with us at all times.

Services of the Wadsworth Seventh Day Adventist church at 40th place and Wadsworth avenue, Oct. 28. We are sure that all who attended the services last Sabbath, Oct. 21, received a very great spiritual blessing, as Elder O. A. Troy deliberated the subject of "A Full Religion and an Empty Purse".

Oct. 28, Sabbath School, Sabbath Morning, (Saturday) at 9:25 A. M and at 11 A. M. a visiting minister will speak. Also Sunday night, Oct. 29, we will have a visiting minister speak for us.

At Wesley Methodist church, Eighth and San Julian Streets, a large crowd was in attendance last Sunday to witness a mammoth Women's Day. At the morning hour, the audience was inspired by a message delivered by Mrs. Esther W. Stanton. At the evening worship, Mrs. Pauline Stemley addressed the women.

The Men's Day services on next Sunday will be totally interesting. At the morning hour, Dr. C. Y. Trigg of Baltimore, Md., will deliver a special sermon to the men. Music by the men's

Alliance Reelects Rev. F. A. Harris

Inter-denominational Ministers' Alliance re-elected Rev. F. A. Harris, president. Rev. R. E. Arrington conducted the devotions, and Dr. S. M. Beane was made chairman of the meeting while the election of officers was in progress.

The report of the Financial-Corresponding secretary, Rev. John A. Davis, was made, showing a balance of $19.78 in the Treasury. Other officers elected for 1939-40, were vice president, Dr. T. L. Griffith; recording secy., Rev. M. F. Mitchell; financial-corresponding secy.-reporter, Rev. John A. Davis; treasurer, Dr. E. E. Lightner; chaplain, Rev R. E. Arrington; sgt. at arms, Rev. F. L. Taylor. Dr. Charles Y. Trigg of Baltimore, Md., was presented by Dr. S. M. Beane, and made remarks.

The religious and current news was brought very ably to the Alliance by Dr. E. W. Moore. Dr. L. Stovall made remarks concerning the Tea given for the Rest Home over in Duarte. Mr. George W. Rochester, State Senator, spokein opposition to the "Ham and Eggs Pension Plan." He said that no one believed in adequate old age pensions more than himself, but we must not be led into the wrong channels.

Mrs. Pauline Keyes was a visitor and made remarks and exhibited her skill in reproducing Daniel in the Lions Den. Dr. H. F. Langford of the AMEZ church, Los Angeles; Dr. A. W. Ross, Pleasant Hill Baptist church; Dr. Favors of Phoenix, Ariz., all made remarks. Dr. Ross was given the hand of fellowship as a member of the Alliance.

Yaeger to Speak in Watts Sunday

"The Great Physician Speaks on Life and Living" will be the theme used by Dr. Carl Elliott Yaeger at the 11 o'clock services Sunday of Grant Chapel A. M. E. Church, Watts. He will also be the guest speaker at the 8 o'clock service at which time his theme will be "The Great Physician Speaks on Love and Marriage".

In these sermons, Dr. Yaegar will discuss the problems of health, romance and marriage.

Zion Temple

Bishop Sara L. Butler plans a highly spiritual friendship and rosperity service at Zion Temple, 1315 E. Vernon avenue, Sunday, Oct. 29.

Morning worship begin promptly at 11 a. m. Pastor will lecture from the subject "Slander." Open forum from 7 to 8 p. m. Evening services at 8 p. m. Thought for the week: "Man lives by the definite laws of God. Thru our religious rites we show forth our love and adoration to our Creator." You are invited to worship with us and take part in our ceremony of the Bread. Everyone is requested to bring a small morsel of bread. You will enjoy the fine singing of our newly vestured choir, under the direction of Miss Crumms, of Pueblo, Colorado.

Atlanta Area Council Most Successful

DARLINGTON (S. C.) Oct. 26. (By J. J. Lewis)—The Atlanta Area council of the Methodist Church convened at St. James Methodist church, here, Oct. 11-12, with Rev. D. E. Thomas, entertaining pastor, and Bishop M. W. Clair, resident bishop, presiding.

The session opened with Dr. W. A. C. Hughes, director of World Service Cultivation, presiding. It was the first council held since the plan of unification went into effect, bringing delegates and general officers from five annual Conferences of the Methodist Church; namely the Atlanta conference; Savannah conference; East Tennessee conference; North Carolina and So. Carolina conferences.

The theme of the Council was: "Building a Better Church."

• The Great Physician Speaks

By Charles E. Yaeger

They stood there in the divorce court—Mary and Bob.

Less than two years before they had met, fallen in love and married. To cynics who had warned of failure, they had said, "But our love is different."

Now their romance is dead, their love has vanished, and an innocent little child will know the tragedy of a broken home.

Is there no remedy for a dying romance—is there no cure for a sick marriage—is there no physician who can bind up broken hearts and restore a shattered dream?

Yes, there is the Great Physician. Not the pale cold Christ of the theologian whose sorrowful aesthetic figure roams the dim aisles of dogmatic religion. But the red-blooded jovial Man of Galilee, the Man whom little children loved, the teacher who inspired men to rejoice and be exceedingly glad, the Great Physician who still speaks and acts thru His appointed servants. What does He prescribe for these sick marriages?

Let us first examine His ideals. He believed that love should be eternal, that the one man should love the one woman, that the one woman should love the one man, and that they should go hand in hand down the path of the years together, the sweethearts of courtship days. "Let a man cleave unto his wife."

But precepts are not enough. Ideals, however lofty, are merely the mental picture of the contemplated temple. To actually build a temple plans must be carefully made, materials furnished and skilled labor employed. The temple of love is no exception.

If your marriage is to withstand the ravages of time your good intentions much be combined with understanding and skill; if your romance is to survive thru the years, your ideals must be backed up by practical wisdom and technique. "What men among you would start to build a temple without first sitting down and counting the cost."

He understood all the emotions of the human heart. He comprehended the disintegrating influence of changing social and economic environment, the corroding effect of outside attractions, the disruptive power of clashing temperaments and conflicting ideals, the frustrations of sexual maladjustments.

Nor did He underestimate the strength of these enemies of love and marriage. But His keen mind found the secret of their strength. They are strong only because their inner natures are unknown and invisible. Unseen they crawl into your home, insidiously they wrap their slimy coils around your romance, slowly they crush it until your marriage withers and begins to die.

But once discovered and exposed to the sunlight of Truth, they lose their power and are easily vanquished. For "Truth will make you free."

How to discover these unseen enemies that even now may be destroying your romance, how to apply the remedies of the Great Physician to your sick marriage. These vital questions will be discussed in the articles to follow. But in the meanwhile, if your romance is being shattered, if your marriage has grown sick, you can have your individual case diagnosed by obeying the following instructions:

1. Write your name, address, date of your marriage, the birthdate of yourself and mate. Fold this paper about a dime and enclose in an unsealed, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Put this into another envelope and address it to The Great Physician, care of California Eagle, 4075 S. Central avenue, Los Angeles, California.

'He Who Trusts God Must Keep Own Heart Free . . .'

The present age is heir to a glorious legacy of religious teachin gand experience, handed down in the Bible from patriarchs, prophets, and reformers, through many centuries of humanity's upward striving. The Master's commend (Mark 11:22) comes ringing along the corridors of time, "Have faith in God." Learning to trust God is the greatest lesson of the ages; mortals are prone to look in all other directions for help, turning to Him only when compelled to do so by their extreme need. But the voice of Truth still speaks, and mortals who heed its message find that afflictive experiences only turn them to God, and as they come to have more faith in Him they learn that in God are their salvation and safety.

Judging by the state of current affairs the world over, it might seem that mankind is surely in greater need of God's help than ever before. What with prolonged warfare, religious persecutions, racial hatreds, social instability, economic uncertainties, and the prevalence of disease and accident, the outlook for civilization and individual welfare sometimes seems to be very dark. But what an opportunity this can be for tuning to God! And how blessed are they who seek Him!

Perhaps the reason men are reluctant to trust in God is that they do not know Him; and indeed, to know God is the greatest of all blessings. . .

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discover and Founder of Christian Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 23): "One kind of faith trusts one's welfare to others. Another kind of faith understands divine Love and how to work out one's own salvation, with fear and trembling.' 'Lord I believe; help thou mine unbelief!' expresses the helplessness of a blind faith; whereas the injunction, 'Believe . . and thou shalt be saved!' demands self-reliant trustworthiness, which includes spiritual understanding and confides all to God". . .

Material conditions are not, then, the enduring realities of existence. Although the material senses may testify to the presence of evil or matter, they can never change the undying fact of spiritual reality. This spiritually founded conviction is a source of strength in times of trial, and is the basis whereon the demonstration of spiritual power to overcome adverse material condions is established.

It is recognized that human thinking is largely expressed in human experience. And it must be seen that intelligent thinking is good or spiritual thinking, reflecting God and expressing loving helpfulness to all men. The power of such intelligent thinking is little realized. But when the truth of being is understood and applied, it is equal to the demands of any human situation, however hopeless or wretched. Right thinking disarms evil and enthrones good, for it reflects the power of omnipotent God.

He who trusts God for protection and deliverance from danger an dpersecution must keep his own heart free from hatred and resentment toward the persons or conditions seemingly responsible for his predicament. How thoroughly the prophet Daniel must have spiritualized his thinking, to be able to salute the king, by whose decree he had been thrown to the lions, with that joyous greeting replete with forgiveness and love (Daniel 6: 21): "O king, live for ever." We cannot hope to destroy evil with more evil. God's way of freedom and safety for man is ever the way of brotherly love.

The Scriptural record abounds with proofs of the power of God to deliver those who put their trust in Him. The list of wrongs being suffered today by people in many lands is long and fearsome; but has not God delivered men from evils such as these many times before? Injustice, disease, terrorism, imprisonment, denial of civic rights, conifscation of property, exile, loss of home and friends—in all these things men have many times been "more than conquerors" through steadfast faith in God. What God has done for His people in olden times He can and does do for them now. This age is not lacking in spiritual talents, but the times require a vigorous and courageous exercise of them. Thus, through spiritual alertness and consecration, we may declare today, as did the Psalmist (Psalms 28:7), "The Lord is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped; therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise Him." —The Christian Science Monitor.

OVERLOOKED "MIDDLE"

We liked the Rev. Dr. L. Y. Trigg's analysis of present-day thought trends as concerns the Negro's continuous battle for equal rights. The Baltimore minister, in a sermon last Sunday morning, stated that the Negro places emphasis first on equal rights and then on security, without thinking of the second or in-between status of responsibility. In other words, the acquisition of equal rights means added responsibility as American citizens. Security then follows, the evangelist brought out.

BILL & SHIRLEY

Famed dancer Bill Robinson won a telephone raffle at the New York World's Fair and as a result 500 telephone kibitzers at the telephone exhibit there got to listen into a long-distance conversation between Bojangles and Shirley Temple in Hollywood.

One of the features of the Bell exhibit is a free lottery, which gives the winner an opportunity to call anyone he desires to talk to in the United States. The only difficulty is that all the other visitors to the exhibit are permitted to eavesdrop on the conversation.

Bill visited the Fair, won the lottery and promptly called Shirley on long distance, while the 500 delighted visitors listened in.

Action Filed Against U. Of Tennessee

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—A mandamus action against the University of Tennessee, to force that institution to admit six Negro students to graduate schools in university was filed in Knoxville, Tennessee, Oct. 18, by Carl Cowan, NAACP attorney acting for the students, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced today.

Action against the university was taken shortly after trustees of the institution refused to act on the six applications, although notifying the students that their applications had been received.

Sketch Subject: VIRGIL M. MORROW ... Electrical Contractor.

By Thelma O. Davis

One of the only three colored electrical contractors in this city, Virgil Morrow has progressed from employe to employer. He finds that the days are not long enough to fill the requirements of his rapidly increasing business.

Virgil was the seventh of 12 children born to Alexander and Angeline Morrow, on a timber farm in Birmingham, Ala. Though he was not born with the proverbial "silver spoon in his mouth," neither was he a child of poverty. The Morrows were "well livers," owning a timber farm and a saw mill which changed the giant trees into finished lumber.

Virgil attended grade and high school in his home town. His evenings were spent at odd jobs on the farm or at the mill. Being a precocious child, Virgil gained a wide knowledge of the lumber business.

At the age of 15, he had completed high school. Alexander Morrow, the ideal father, always seeking better conditions for his family, decided that they should live in a college town, so in 1918, the Morrows embarked on a new life in Des Moines, Iowa.

By the time Virgil entered college in Des Moines, he had chosen his life work and immediately began majoring in electricity. For the next three years, electrical engineering occupied his time almost to the exclusion of compulsory subjects.

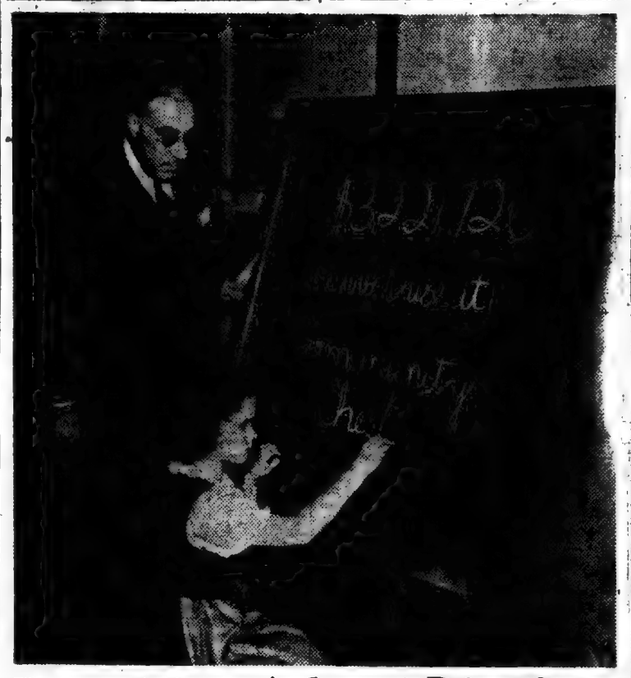
COMES TO L. A.

Yielding to an urge to become independent, Morrow left college in his junior year and established a plumbing and electrician's heart: the desire to make good away from home. Consequently in 1926, he sold the business in Des Moines and headed West with Los Angeles as his destination.

Shortly after his arrival in this city, Morrow obtained work as electrician for Seymour Electrical Co., 4200 S. Olive street. His record there is one of which anyone may be proud.

It was not long before Morrow became a victim of Cupid's arrow. In 1929, the year that Wall Street crashed, our subject proved that he had confidence in himself. On Thanksgiving of that year he was married to the lovely daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Griffith, Anna Mae.

After 10 conscientious years with Seymour Electrical Co., Morrow took the board of education examination for electrical contractor, and passed with high rating. In 1936, he established his own business which has increased with leaps and bounds.



COMPLETES MANY JOBS

Morrow has completed many jobs that are outstanding and a credit to his ability. He installed the first "indirect lighting system" among Negroes of Los Angeles at Mt. Zion Baptist church. This is indeed a work of art. The very expensive and difficult underground wiring in the home of Bill Robinson, famous star of stage and screen, required a thorough knowledge of electricity and artistic skill. Morrow mastered the job to the complete satisfaction of Mr. Robinson. No wires can be seen any place in the house; yet, the effect is beautiful.

Among many other places done by this master electrician are: "The Blue Room" of the Clark Hotel, "Memo" Cocktail lounge, Pilgrim Baptist church, Tone Wholesale Electrical Display Co., at 25th and San Pedro.

The installation of the huge pipe organ in the home of Preston Foster is a good indication of what Hollywood stars think of our subject's ability.

Employing two men steadily and sometimes as many as six, Morrow continues to be the same courteous, dependable gentleman of former days. He is a member of the Electrical Development league, a true Mason and an active member of Second Baptist church.

Exposition-Adams District Chest Workers to Hold Rally

Hundreds of Community Chest workers in the Exposition-Adams district will hold their final information rally at the Parish House of St. John's church, 515 W. 27th street, Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 10:00 a. m., in answer to the urgent call of the general residential district chairman, Mrs. Albert Crutcher. Mrs. Crutcher, who is well known here as the longtime president of the Children's hospital, which has served many local children, has been important in Chest work since its inauguration 15-years ago.

Mrs. Crutcher stated that every possible volunteer is needed this year to assist in securing the $3,221,720 required for the continuation of welfare and health services of the Chest's 88 agencies, which last year provided necessary assistance to more than 523,500 local men, women and children.

She further stated that workers must turn all energies to the solution of existing social needs to assure the further security and progress of the entire community.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Alvia Brockway, local chairman, assisted by Mrs. George W. Grimm, the following local prominent residents will hold important posts in the coming appeal:

Mrs. A. Lehr, colonel, Division 39; majors: Mmes. John Rigdon Moore, Dan B. Miner, Sumner Spaulding, Edward Joseph, Edward Melzer; Mr. Anton J. Meyer.

Mrs. Siegfried M. Herzig, colonel Division 40; majors: Mrs. J. C. Diliberto; Messrs. T. F. Turner, D. A. Boley; Misses Rose Moss, Margaret T. Morewood.

Mrs. Howard McKay, colonel Division 41; majors: Mmes. Dorothy B. Johnson, Albert Cheap; Mr. A. H. Selb; Misses Sarah H. LeValley, Alice Tieman.

Mrs. Juanita M. Farrall, colonel Division 42; majors: Mmes. A. J. Hartman, Mary E. Beall, Guy F. Moore, H. L. Mann; Messrs. Clarence R. Hinton, Clark F. Mead.

Mrs. Rudolph Marx, colonel Division 43; majors: Mmes. Ward Rolland, J. R. Cano, Clyde Ikerman, Rosa Silver, Wm. H. Leake; Messrs. Norman T. Johnson, Frank Scott, Ralph Walters.

Mrs. Laurence K. Gundrum, colonel Division 44; majors: Mmes. H. F. Whalman, Newell Jones, Ida Aldridge, Fred Haigh, Gertrude R. Hicks, C. D. Frederick, Joan Johnson Willis; Miss Mae Turner.

'KNOW YOUR SCHOOL, AND JOIN THE P-TA'

The membership chairman of McKinley Junior High P-TA, Mrs. Augusta Glover, has announced a slogan her committee is using, "Know Your School—Join the P-TA."

McKinley is one of the most recent schools to have a P-TA and already a surprisingly large number have enrolled. Thousands of women throughout the USA are members of P-TA, helping in the welfare of youth.

Much work is to be done, says Mrs. Glover. Mrs. Matilda Caldwell is president.

Ode to Joe Louis

Brown Bomber, of the squared ring,
The great and small your praises sing!
From far and wide they seek your camp;
For you're the 'tops', and you're the 'Champ.'

Your brilliant robe, your purple tights,
Your rippling muscles, 'neath the lights;
Your flickering left, your lethal right—
Your foe goes down before your might.

The great crowd roars! loud speakers boom!
Reporters crowd into your room!
Blackburn says "Lucky!" Mother cries "Son!"
You modestly admit: "I'm glad I won."

But wait, not all men wish you well;
They'd rather see you 'knocked to hell!'
They say "The Aryan is supreme!"
And "kill the nigger!" is their theme.

So take no more your graceful stance;
And show no more your shuffling dance.
But put your golden gloves away
And let the "white hopes" have their day.

But no, you stay and meet them all;
And let them vainly seek your fall:
Perhaps that when you reach your span,
The champ will remain—a colored man.

Anxious Father Wants Aid in Locating Son, 17

An anxious father, Re. Howard Coleman, 4114 Zamora avenue, appealed to this public this wee to help locate his 17-year-old son, Howard, Jr., missing for several years.

"It is a matter of life and death", Rev. Coleman stated; "and I must find the boy at once."

Since the youth has been away, his grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Harris, has died. The father is ill and would like the boy at his bedside.

A CHARITALBE REWARD

When last heard of young Coleman was in the Imperial Valley. About six feet tall he is brownskinned, has dark brown eyes, and weights between 160 and 180 pounds.

Anyone knowing of his whereabouts is urged to communicate with Rev. Coleman, who will send railroad fare to bring the youth here immediately.

1st Negro Cross Country Flier Plans to Open School

ALLEN PLANS TO OPEN AVIATION SCHOOL FIRST WEEK IN JANUARY

School Will Be Based on Democratic Principles, Allen Says; Also States Time for Negro to Train for Future of Air Industry is Now

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Back in 1932, Thomas C. Allen, then 25 years of age, and J. Herman Banning, both of Los Angeles, were hailed in the nation's press as the first Negro aviators to make a transcontinental flight from West to East.

The flight, with its accompanying hardships and harrowing experiences, was from Los Angeles to New York City and completed in 41 hours and 27 minutes actual flying time.

Attempting the return trip by air, the pair was forced down and the ship, an Eagle-Rock biplane, smashed up at Blairville, Pa., following a take-off from Curtis airport on Long Island.

A year later, Banning succumbed to injuries received in a crack-up at San Diego during an air circus exhibition.

FOUNDS SCHOOL

Allen, however, continues to "talk, eat and sleep" aviation. Experiences in the field for the past 14 years, during which he has flown in 26 states, has served to make him a competent and capable expert in things of the air.

This week he announced that papers of incorporation for the famous Thomas C. Allen Aviation School, Inc., had been filed with the State Corporation commission. To be incorporated in the amount of $100,000, Allen states his school will be open to students about the first week in January of 1940.

The school, which reportedly will be the third listed with the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles county, will be novel in that it will offer only one course, that of master mechanics. According to present plans, Allen says he will be assisted by a airplane mechanic, engine mechanic, blueprint reader, and a riveting, welding and metal work expert, all licensed.

THOMAS C. ALLEN

Practical instruction will be in addition to theoretical training, Allen stated. The course will be open to all students, regardless of race, creed or color.

CRACK-UPS BLAMED

According to Allen, each aviation student is required to complete nine months of actual experience with airplanes before being allowed to qualify for flying time. He says no student planes of the school will be allowed in the air until after the first two years of existence.

Saying that he has spent the past several years in contacting heads of the various types of schools and airports and aviation officials' compiling information and data, as it applies to the teaching of aviation, Allen, who lives in Alhambra, states crack-ups have been the direct cause of the majority of the failures of aviation schools in the past.

For that reason, he says, students enrolled in his school will not be allowed in the air until they have finished at least one year of training.

With a school and field combined he hopes to enroll 100 students for his first course. Those interested in aviation, who may apply for admittance will be required to pay $100 in advance for the course. That also holds good in the case of prospective students from other sections who may plan to enter the school, Allen said.

"There will be no provision for transportatio nor housing", Allen continued. "The student must not expect to come to the school and work part-time somewhere in order to pay for his course on time. His schooling will be full-time and his fees must be paid in full in advance."

Allen stated, to, that his equipment will be the latest and the best and will be paid for. Because his set-up will be in a position to attract the occasional flyer, the student and the operator, Allen feels that his students will receive the best type of training, suitable for subsequent employment in the field of aviation.

Although his school will be established along democratic principles, Allen in an interview, stated, "If the Negro is to be fitted in the future of the airplane industry, he should get his training NOW."

Continuing, Allen said: "There has been much talk about aviation and the Negro, yet there has been little done about placing or training Negroes for any openings that may eventually appear. Therefore, it is not the imm ate opening that should interest the Negro because few are trained in the production and allied crafts of the airplane industry. But as this country becomes more nationalistic and industrialists become more concerned about their foreign employes and sabotage, they will be replaced by any trained Americans available, Negroes included."

Since leaving here, Miss man has continued to enjoy ess as an actress, having aped in scores of plays, films radio acts. Her latest stage appearance was with the "Conjura" company. She served as technical director for the Warner Bros.' film entitled "Floyd Gibbons and Voodoo Fire," a film on Haiti.

Miss Bowman spent considerable time in Haiti making researches into the folklore of the Negroid peoples of that republic, and has succeeded in compiling her findings into a historical work. She has brought back songs, dances and a true picture of Haiti as it was, as it is, and what it can accomplish. Armed with her facts, the remarkable dramatic actress has often taken to the lecture platform when interested groups have sought additional light on the neglected peoples of the Haitian republic.

Critics have proclaimed Miss Bowman one of the foremost monodramatist in the country. Her dramatic portrayals of entire plays by herself, marks her as one of the outstanding actresses of all times. During her stay, it is expected that Miss Bowman may find time to lecture on Haiti or render one of her monodramatic plays.

evelopment of negro music raced in lecture by handy

EW YORK, Oct. 26, (Hugh iddell for CNA)—Some musaesthetes find it fashionable condemn "The St. Louis es," saying that it does not stitute "god music," revealed poser H. C. Handy in an enaming and highly informatlecture on Negro Music at Workers' School, this city. Good music, what is it? queri- the composer, and answered: a song lives for more than years, if everybody sings it over the world, if more than arrangements of it are made, helps to make life pleasantand stys something signifit, then it is good music. I hope agree with me."

Handy traced Negro music ck to its beginnings in Afon them to its development the South, where it was reolded by the Negro in early ndage, songs of protest, suffring and endless hope were ded to the Negro's chants and simple rhythms and tones he had by copying a great deal which words could not. And in his striving he arrived at a ew music tonality, which Handy demonstrated was woven o the texture of jazz before achieved commercial and culral recognition.

Handy showed how the songs on the levees, on the plantn, on the river boats in the south. He illustrated his point playing and singing variations on the piano. Whereas the average man would give one note to a leaf in Negro spirituals, the Negro would give from six to nine notes to a beat, in an effort to say in those tones more than the words say. Thus there was developed new unheard of "blue" legatos, the earliest form of swing."

jitterbugs acclaim ella fitzgerald as jamtown's jumpiest jive exponent

BY TED YATES

It happened four to five years ago on the stage of the Harlem Opera House at W. 125th street. Here, New Yorkers will tell you, were once seen some of the finest stage shows north of the Gay White Way. Two-a-day vaudeville was in vogue then. Many of the outstanding stars of stage and screen appeared—in person. All were headliners when Pa courted Ma.

Movies of the silent version had passed. Even the classical regulated ballroom movements so successfully introduced by Irene and the late Vernon Castle, were supplanted by a series of hair-raising dance steps. Radio had become a reality. The talkies and canned music had arrived, regardless of the protests of organized musicians. And, while Harlem remained the uptown Rialto, along W. 125th street, it was definitely not the Negro metropolis that it is today.

AMATEUR NIGHT IN HARLEM

At one of the performances, billed "Amateur Night in Harlem," a husky-throated 16-year old colored girl (one of a score of singers and dancers) attracted the attention of the late Chick Webb.

Whether or not it was a hidden personality, no one save the little band leader knew. Just what could be revealed, only time would tell. Surely no one but Chick Webb, the King of Drums, entertained the thought that THIS GIRL possessed a throbbing bit of swing in her voice. Everyone, down to the emcee, would have waved the unknown amateur aside and gladly awarded first prize to another. But, the vision of this youngster having such a superb delivery, vocally, was upheld—if only by Chick Webb himself.

Frightened to such an extent that her knees gave way when she made an attempt to dance (after her voice had failed to win the plaudits of a critical audience) Ella Fitzgerald drew the well-known Bronx cheer as she made a gallant try for "the big time."

Ella had scarcely time to retreat to a spot behind the wings, where she might break into tears, when the leader of America's greatest swing band approached and offered her a job with his augmented musical aggregation.

There was no halting of traffic on Harlem's crowded streets that night. No bulletins were flashed telling of planes stopping in mid-air. Ashcans were not toppled over. Lives were not endangered. Ella herself (though admitting later she would liked to have "screamed aloud her joy") calmly celebrated the dawn of a greater tomorrow by treating herself to a dish of peach ice-cream.

THE NEW CINDER-ELLA

Taught all the "ins" and "outs," coached by the demon drummer Chick Webb, himself, Ella was soon ready to command the attention of theatregoers. Her dynamic personality, backed by that fiery beat of the drums—the 'powerhouse drive' of Chick Webb-plus, the savage rhythm of the band, Ella Fitzgerald proved herself to be a swing sensation.

Immediately after her initial broadcast at the Savoy Ballroom known as "the Home of Happy Feet," the music world awoke from a deep slumber. Struck with astonishment, it excitedly and jubilantly greeted this new glamour girl of song. They tagged her, "the brownskin gal with the peach fuzz voice."

The advent of new songs of a modern variety gave Ella Fitzgerald a place in the sun. Singing ordinary tunes in her own inimitable manner, no vocalist "could touch her for originality." It was declared that she mad "just-so-numbers" 'hit' tunes. In a class by herself, the former amateur provided copy for radio editors—and, there was no limit to her fan mail.

THE QUEEN OF SWING

Chick Webb, in tutoring Ella, had by this time impressed his 'new find' with an unheard of whole-hearted interest in her career.

"Forget that there is another singer in the world," Chick would say from time-to-time. Then he would add: "Remember, Ella you are not an amateur anymore. You're tops!" And he would smile in that famous way of his that attracted everyone who knew him. Chick Webb wanted Ella to be original.

Harlem's favorite, who had won the title, "King of Swing" from Benny Goodman, in a battle of music that was just as spectacular to jitterbugs as the visit to America of the King and Queen, knew that in Ella Fitzgerald he had a queen—"the Queen of Swing." Ella wanted to do right by Chick Webb's kingly syncopation—and did.

MAKES DANCES POPULAR

Soon after Ella won her spurs, certain dance steps that had the younger generation, and older folks as well, in rhythmic hysteria, were introduced at "the cradle of swing," Harlem's Savoy Ballroom, where Chick's band played nightly. The Lindy Hop, Peabody, Big Apple, Shag, Susie-Q and recently the Boogie-Woogie, were "all dressed-up" in a torrid tempo by truckin', strutting Ella Fitzgerald.

ELLA WRITES A SONG

Born April 25, 1918, Ella Fitzgerald spent part of her earlier years in a New York orphanage. Her life, like that of the average orphan, was none too pleasant. But that life came into full bloom that eventful evening Chick Webb gave her a job with his band.

Starting her career at the paltry figure of fifteen smackers per week, which was paid to her by Chick out of his own salary, Ella at the very beginning was faced with the realization that it was a tough grind ahead.

She never once let Chick Webb down. It did not take Ella long. Once Ella got started also showed the world-at-large that she possessed eyes, ears and a "mellow" voice for music. Radio listeners and Bostonians, (the band was on tour) were "knocked cold" when Ella introduced for the first time her own modern version of "A Tisket A Tasket." Odly enough, soon after this a series of nursery rhymes took the world by storm.

Other songs were successfully introduced by Ella Fitzgerald. New America's Number One Songstress she sent Chick Webb's orchestra skyrocketing to fame with her sparkling vocal delivery which Chick had predicted

l. a. musicians in regular meeting

The L. A. Musicians Assn. held its regular monthly meeting on Sunday, Oct. 21. This meeting was devoted to the Young People, and the topic of discussion was "Why I Am Studying Music" or "Why I have given up the Study of Music." Prizes were awarded to Miss Emma Smock, violinist; Edith Owens, pianist; John Brown, Jr., pianist, Helen May, singer.

Mrs. Josephine Cooper of Philadelphia, was presented as guest soloist. Mrs. Gross, artistis whistler, also made contributions to the program. Miss Victoria Rice assisted as accompanist to both artists.

COUNT BASIE

After closing at the San Francisco World's Fair, where Count Basie is now appearing, he will return to Los Angeles to make his final West Coast appearance.

The largest dance fest in L. A. history is planned for Thursday nite, Nov. 2nd, when the Count and his accomplices move into the tremendous Shrine auditorium, which can swallow 8000 jitterbugs without a belch.

There will be no long waiting in line for tickets as four box offices will be functioning at full blast.

Also advance sale tickets can be purchased at Karl's Cut Rate Drug store, 4316 S. Central avenue, beginning today. Until Nov. 2, admission only 75 cents.—Adv.

bankhead gives gifts to twins

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 26.—When the stork brought Mona & David, twins, to race actor John Marriott and his wife, the star of his show, Miss Tallulah Bankhead, presented the youngsters with two lovely silver mugs, with their names engraved on each. Marriott appears with the famous star in the Broadway hit show, "The Little Foxes," produced at the National theatre, here, by Herman Shumlin.

Marriott shares minor honors with the veteran and capable actress, Abbie Mitchell, who are the only colored members of this drama of the South, which is being mentioned for Pulitzer honors. Pulitzer honors seem to be a habit with Marriott. Last year he toured with the Hart-Kaufman hit, "You Can't Take it With You". Year before that he was again on the road with "Three Men on a Horse", the George Abbott production. "Sweet River", another Abbott product, shortlived- but beautiful, saw Marriott in a role.

jack carter here for rko role

Jack Carter, excellent sepia stage and screen actor, arrived here Monday on the Santa Fe Chief Limited from New York. He is slated to begin work on a RKO studio production starring Orson Welles, noted New Yo and London stage actor.

The New York actor, making his first appearance on the coast, was quartered at the Dunbar hotel. "Heart of Darkness," title of the film production, will have Welles, "Man From Mars" ether dramatization several months ago had the entire nation jittery, as director as well as star.

Carter has been a stage succes in New York for years. He has also appeared in several all-sepia cast film and stage productions. Recently, he was starred in the Federal Theatre Projects play "MacBeth." His excellent portrayal of the labor boss in the labor play, "Stevedore," brought him nationwide prominence. The sepia actor will be the only actor of his racial group in the current RKO studio production.

berlin songs to be featured on swingo

The popular Friday night Swingo radio program broadcast from 8 to 8:30 over KFWB will feature the songs and compositions of Irving Berlin exclusively tomorrow evening.

Swingo is the new musical game where listeners secure Swingo cards from the stores of the Federal Outfitting company at no charge, and then guess the numbers played. This week, each of the 25 numbers printed on the Swingo card is a composition of Irving Berlin.

"Everyone is invited to come in and get their Swingo card and join in the fun," according to Mr. Mihm, manager of the Federal store at 4615 S. Broadway. "No purchase is necessary. Just visit the store and ask for your Swingo card."

rooney film held over

Song and dance, pathos and drama, form the background for the first co-starring appearance of Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in "Babes In Arms", which is now being held over for a second big week at the United Artists Theatre, 933 South Broadway.

As a companion feature the United Artists Theatre is showing Sidney Toler in "Charlie Chan at Treasure Island".

THE PETERS SISTERS
"Headline downtown theatre's stage fare."

trio shares honors with arnheim

The Peters Sisters, the sensational singing trio, appear in person on the stage at the Paramount Theatre during the current Fanchon and Marco five-star revue.

he great swing trio was recently acclaimed in both London and Paris. Upon their return from a most successful European tour, the girls next scored in an appearance at the Hollywood Bowl. Appearing on a program with many great artists, they were easily the hit of the evening.

The current show at the Paramount in which they are featured has a decided swing flavor. The name band on the stage is Gus Arnheim and his orchestra and one of the hits of the program is the personal appearance of Martha Tilton, the hot swing singer from Benny Goodman's orchestra.

Other attractions in the great stageshow include the famed Yacopi Troupe, one of Europe's most thrilling acts, and the dancing anchonettes.

ON SCREEN

The screen attraction is Lloyd C. Douglas' dramatic romance, "Disputed Passage" which centers about the problem of whether a man who devotes his life to science should ignore sex and all its demands. Dorothy Lamour, John Howard and Akim Tamiroff appear in the leading roles.

The story is that of John Beaver, a young scientist, who has to choose between his work and his love. The girl he is in love with is Lan Ying, an American girl born and raised in China. The problems raised by this unique situaiton makes for one of the most stirring and vivid emotional dramas to reach the screen in a long time.

THRIVES ON SPORTISTICS

W. R. "Bill" Shroeder, managing director of the Helms Athletic Foundation, released a Pacific Coast Conference Record book last week and we have just finished wading through the wealth of statistics and facts therein.

Mr. Shroeder and his staff should congratulate themselves on turning out an invaluable football manual.

The Pacific Coast conference, as it stands today, is the outgrowth of a break in rugby relationships between Stanford university and the University of California back in 1914 and the coast conference was organized the following year.

Walter Gordon, now an outstanding barrister in the Bay Region, was the first Negro to be named to an all-Pacific Coast Conference football team selection. That was the 1917 selection and Gordon held down one of the tackle berths as a California Bear. Now as a Bear scout he is rated as one of the best in the business.

Kenny Washington, the University of California at Los Angeles mainstay, twice gets mention in the manual. He was the conference scoring leader in 1938 with seven touchdowns for 42 points. Kenny also holds the distinction of throwing the longest pass completed to date in conference history. The history-making toss was made in the 1937 UCLA-USC game and was good for 62 yards. Washington, standing on his own 15-yard stripe propelled the oval into the arms of Hal Hirshon on the USC 23 and Hal loped the remaining distance to the goal line. From the scrimmage line, the play was good for 73 yards, the ball was in flight from the line of play exactly 50 long yards.

Kenny was standing 12 yards back of the line of scrimmgae when he let the ball go.

SOME PARTY

From all appearances, there will be quite a gridiron party out on the Coliseum turf Saturday afternoon. It was going to be quite a shindig anyway but add the fact that one of the invited guests to this conference fete suffered a surprising defeat last weekend at the hands of Gonzaga university and you get the idea.

The University of Oregon Webfeet lost to Gonzaga and as a result their football stock took a drop. The Webfeet aim to take that defeat out on the Bruins of UCLA.

Since 1928, the Webfeet and the Bruins have had 11 engagements. The Oregonians have captured seven of those tussles, including that of last year. UCLA hasn't won since 1937 when they scored the last of their four wins of this 11-year series.

Besides the mental angle in this game, fans will see the unveiling of Jackie Robinson not only as the man-in-motion of the UCLA offense but as the man-with-the pigskin. Coach Babe Horrell has had his charges working on plays the past two weeks which are designed to spring Jackie into the open.

ARMSTRONG DECISIONS GARRISON IN WELTER TITLE DEFENSE HERE

Jackie Wilson Fights Un-Named Foe Next Week at Olympic Auditorium

Taking nine rounds, welterweight champion of the world Henry Armstrong successfully defended his laurels here Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium against Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City.

Armstrong's hand was raised after the final blistering rounds of the 10-round bout by referee George Blake.

The Kansas City challenger took only one round, the fifth. Hammerin' Hank really turned on the heat after that canto and floored Garrison in the eighth. The Kansas Citian was exhausted at the final bell.

The champion, who weighed in a 138½, was never in danger of losing his bauble. At 139½, Garrison had only the fact that he remained upright in his favor as he receipted for a terrific beating in the last five rounds.

In the preliminaries: Al Smith and Henry Majcher fought a draw in the semi-windup, a substitute affair. Richard Polite, a newcomer here, and Johnny Verdusco supplied the prelim fireworks. Polite had Verdusco on the floor three times before referee Charley Randolph stopped it in the third round, awarding Polite a technical knockout victory. Billy Mitchell nodded Toots Bernstein; Charley Murray TKO'ed Tommy Lauer in two; and Indian Bert Velasquez scored a third round TKO victory over George Randy in the opener.

Jackie Wilson, who has scored nine straight kayo wins, headlines next Tuesday night's fistic fare at the Olympic, facing Chico Romo.

Democrats Upset Fremont, 6-0

Effectively defending their goal line in the last five minutes of the game, Jefferson High's Democrats upset a strong Fremont Pathfinder team last Friday afternoon on the Pathfinder field. The score was 6 to 0.

Tom Pollard, half of the Jeff touchdown duo of Joe Black and Pollard, found a hole over his own left tackle, cut back and galloped 19 yards for the Democrats only tally. The try for extra point was blocked.

Fremont's 190-pound left half, Phillips, sparked the Pathfinder drive toward the Jefferson goal line in the closing stages of the game.

Wiley Wildcats Play Southern

SHREVEPORT (La.) Oct. 26—The Wiley Wildcats and the Southern Jaugers will clash here in their annual State Fair of Louisiana grid classic on next Monday afternoon, Oct. 31. Last year the two teams battled to a 14-12 upset victory for Wiley for the only defeat suffered in 1938 by the championship Southern crew. This year, the tables are turned with the Wildcats presenting one of its best teams since 1933, whereas Mumford's eleven has yet to win a conference game.

Yankees Clinch Case

Jim Crow Baseball Doomed

The Yankees have just about clinched the argument for the immediate ending of the discrimination against Negro baseball players.

They have knocked over all the opposition from both leagues for the fourth straight year. Already the greatest team in history, they are coming up with rookies next year who will make them even better. There isn't a team on the horizon with even a faint chance of stopping them, of putting som esuspense and balance into the National Pastime.

Would the St. Louis Cards, as some think, have put up a better battle than Cincinnati? The Yanks would have romped over the Cards with more ease than they crushed the Reds. Make no mistake about this Cincinnati team. It was a pretty good team,—as good as the National league can hope to produce for a while with its present setup. Walters and Deringer are a pair of real pitching aces. All they did was slow up the Yankees momentarily. They prevented the full going batting picnic that the champs would have enjoyed against the weaker Card hurlers.

Everyone knows that the Yanks are too good for their opposition and are getting better. If they don't know that they don't know anything about baseball. Ask a scout for any of the clubs about young white minor league prospects. He'll tell you, "There's only ten and the Yanks have eight of them."

Something has to be done. And that something is so obvious that it can't be dodged any more. Not breaking up the Yankees, but giving the other managers a fighting chance to build up to the Yankees' strength by lifting the ban that prevents at least twenty great American players from doing their stuff in the big leagues.

The only team with a chance to beat the Yanks will have to have some of the great Negro players on it. And how the managers wish they could reach out and sign the Josh Gibsons, Mule Suttles, and Satchell Paiges.

They have already said as much. Players and sports writers have blasted the ban. It is strictly up to the magnates, Judge Landis, and League Presidents Frick and Harridge now to decide whether or not the game is to get a much needed revitalization by the introduction of a flock of talented performers. Or rather, it's up to the fans to let the magnates and co. know just how they feel about a situation that finds one great team all alone, and other teams hamstrung in their chances of giving them a fight by a ban conducted by a little minority against the qualified representatives of 15 million Americans whose skin happens to be dark.

FISK U. LOSES TO CLARK, 31-0

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Oct. 26—Considerably superior in virtually every respect "Hogmore" Robinson and his Clark football team beat Fisk University Saturday by a score of 31-0.

CROFT WINS ON TKO IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26—Lonnie Croft, Negro heavyweight from Phoenix, Ariz., technically knocked out Frankie Limas, Oakland, in the third round of a four-round bout here Monday night.

Women Cage Team Formed

The women's gym class at Jefferson Evening High school announces the beginning of the basketball season for the week of Nov. 7.

Three teams have been organized in the class to compete with the women's league teams in the community.

Among the new classes contemplated are a class in World Problems and Negro History. Those intereseted in these classes are asked to see Mr. Hairston, counselor at Jefferson Evening High school.

Gas Range Campaign Ends

The great "clock controlled" gas range campaign, launched in September by local gas range dealers, acting in cooperation with the gas company to acquaint Los Angeles home makers with this amazing modern automatic convenience, closes definitely on Oct. 31.

This fact was learned today from W. M. Jacobs, sale superintendent of Southern California Gas company, who stated that hundreds of families here and in other Southern California communities have taken advantage of the offer of a new "certified performance" gas range with an automatic clock control feature incorporated at no extra charge, made during the period of the campaign.

Jeff Grid Host to Washington

FLASHY BRUIN BACK TO ASSUME BALL-TOTING DUTIES SATURDAY

Fans to See Offensive Man-in-Motion Carry Pigskin from Scrimmage

The Bruins of UCLA will present their strongest speediest and most deceptive running attack of the season Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum when they tangle with the University of Oregon Webfeet in a conference game, according to information coming from the practice field out at Westwood.

For the first time this season, Jackie Robinson, the man-in-motion of the Bruin backfield, will do some leather-toting from scrimmage. Heretofore Jackie's most sensational ball-carrying endeavors have been confined to punt returns.

The invading Oregon Webfeet boast a line that has not been scored upon and a rather impressive record despite last Saturday's defeat at the hands of Gonzaga. They earned a 7-7 tie with USC in the season opener; trounced Stanford 10 to 0 and beat California's Bears 6 to 0. Tpuchdowns scored against Oregon have been made thru the air.

FULL STRENGTH

Bruin backfield material will be at its fullest strength for the Oregon tilt here. Besides, Kenny Washington, the UCLA backfield mainstay, is expected to be just as effective as ever. Leo Cantor and Bill Overlin at full will also shoulder part of the brunt of the Bruin offensive. Ned Mathews ,regular field general, will be assisted no end by Joe Viger, the blocking quarter who was so effective against Montana last Saturday.

The forward walls of both outfits seem about equal in offensive and defensive strength and if there is any edge in the battle fields it must go to the Bruins.

Hank Drops Fontaine 6 Times

SEATTLE, Oct. 26—Bounced his foe off the canvas six times all told, Henry Armstrong, world's welterweight champion technically knocked out Rito Fontaine, Missoula, Mont., in third round of a scheduled round bout here last Friday night to successfully defend his title. Armstrong floored Fontaine five times in the second round and once in the third before delivering the blow that brought a towel from the beaten challenger's corner.

Fontaine held his own thru the first round, but midway of the second, Hank's gloved dynamite exploded on the Montanan's jaw and Fontaine went down. From there on, Fontaine was up and then he was down. Part of the time he was up without a care and none of the counts was above four.

Armstrong weighed 139¾, and Fontaine tipped the beams at 136 pounds.

MITCHELL NODDED BY SHORTY HOGUE

SAN DIEGO Oct. 26—Billy Mitchell, Los Angeles, lost a close six-round decision here last Friday night to Shorty Hogue, white, of Jacumba. Mitchell displayed unexpected competition for Hogue.

Kenny Big Noise in Bruins' 20-6 Win Over Montana

Obviously playing under wraps, the Bruins of UCLA had an easy time of it last Saturday afternoon when they downed the University of Montana Grizzlies 20 to 6 before 25,000 fans in the Memorial Coliseum.

Kenny Washington, UCLA left halfback, was the big noise of the day, galloping up and down the field at will. He scored all three of the Bruin touchdowns on runs of nine, six and 11 yards.

Kenny brought the crowd to its feet in the first period when he ran 68 yards thru a broken field to place the ball on the Montana 15-yard stripe. Leo Cantor, Bruin fullback, picked up nine yards and then Washington found a hole to score standing up. Frawley kicked goal and the Bruins had seven of their 20 points.

Jackie Robinson, the UCLA man-in-motion, didn't carry the ball once from scrimmage but he did break away for 33 yards on a punt return to place the ball in Montana territory, setting the stage for the second touchdown.

BRUIN RESERVES WEAK

Coach Babe Horrell, was obviously shielding whatever he had up his sleeve from the prying eyes of University of Oregon scouts and USC players and coaches who were in the stands. The Bruin quarterbacks used about four plays all afternoon.

In fact, most of the game was played by UCLA third and fourth stringers. The Bruin reserves could not push over a score but did manage to keep the Grizzlies from scoring. Compared to the first Bruin eleven, the reserves appeared woefully weak.

With Don (Red) Bryan sparking a Montana march late in the final period against UCLA reserves, Butch Hudacek, 145-pound backfield ace, scored the invaders' only touchdown from the one-foot line.

Montana coaches and players were of the unanimous opinion that Kenny Washington is the greatest halfback the coast has developed in the last decade.

Joe Louis in Exhibitions

CHICAGO, Oct. 26—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis will appear in an exhibition bout tomorrow night at Flint, Mich., and on October 30 at Richmond, Indiana, his co-manager, John Roxborough said last week.

Other exhibition matches in several western cities have been tentatively canceled, Roxborough said, until he can confer with promoter Mike Jacobs who has Louis under contract for title matches.

TAMPICO MEXICANS LOSE 2 GAMES

Hopping on Chet Brewer and Porter, the two Negro aces, Carl Dittmar's Coast League All-Stars captured the international series at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon when they took two games from the Tampico Mexicans, 5 to 0 and 2 to 0.

Next Sunday, the Vera Cruz nine, champions of Mexico, with young Taylor, star Negro hurler, on the mound, play Dittmar's team at Wrigley field.

PIRRONE'S NINE DEFEATS SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 26—Joe Pirrone's Major League All-Stars won a 5 to 1 victory over San Diego here Sunday afternoon at Lane field in a Winter League game.

ALABAMA SHADES FLORIDA, 9-6

MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Oct. 26—A 35 yard touchdown sprint by Thomas Greene, Hornet flash, on the second play of the third quarter erased the six point advantage which Florida A & M had gained during the first quarter and set up the victory opportunity for the Hornets which came in the last two minutes of the game through Etson Wilkins, who, in his first play this season booted a field goal from the 15-yard line to give Alabama State Teachers College Hornets a 9-6 victory over the twice conference champions from Florida in a thrilling game at Hornet Stadium here last Saturday.

Xavier Gold Rush Among Few Undefeated Elevens

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 26, (Special to EAGLE by Charles L. deLay)—The "Notre Dame of the South," the flashy Xavier university Gold Rush of Louisiana, enjoys a clean slate to date, having defeated Tuskegee Institute 2-0 (The Tuskegee eleven recently downed Wilberforce, 12-6, at Soldier's Field, Chicago), and the clever LeMoyne College Mad Magicians, 7-2.

The Gold Rush journeys to Birmingham, Ala., to meet the Alabama State Hornets, who recently defeated Florida A. & M., national and Southern Conference champions, on Oct. 28. The Rush then trek to Langston, Okla., to meet the Langston University Lions, co-champions with Southern university in '38 on Nov. 4. Returning to New Orleans, the Xavierites encounter Morris Brown's Wolverines, current Southern Conference titans, in a night game on Nov. 10.

The Rush then hits the highways again to meet the vaunted Wiley University Wildcats in Waco, Texas on Nov. 7. The Xavier clan plays two Turkey Day classics: one in New Orleans on the "Roosevelt Thanksgiving," Nov. 23, and one in Florida on the customary Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30.

In the former contest, the Xavierites meet "Ox" Clemmons' shifty Lane College Bulldogs and then journey five hundred miles to meet Florida A. & M., champs of last year, at Tallahassee, Fla. The Rush then journey to Baton Rouge, La., to meet powerful Southern University Bayou Cats on the following week-end in the state classic, Dec. 9 (Southern was co-champions in the Southwest conference in '38). The New Orleans eleven closes a heavy season in a game with Prairie View's Panthers at Houston, Texas an Jan. 1.

ANGELENOS ON SQUAD

The Xavierites boast a four-squad team with some sixty-odd men on the entire squad. The flashy Rush boasts one of the best dressed teams in the nation, regardless of class, race or section, and several Californians are among the men who make up the first three teams.

T. Bush, flashy frosh backfield ace from Los Angeles; Edgar Reeves, soph back from Los Angeles, and the triple threat Mills brothers from Los Angeles, Tommy and William. Billy, as William is known on the campus of the university, has gained considerable fame as a climax runner, and Tommy's punting and passing have stamped him as a star.

It was a well aimed pass by Tommy Mills which enabled the Xavier eleven to eke out a 7-2 victory over the LeMoyne college team last week. Tommy's passes caused Coach Jack Adkins of LeMoyne to say that the Xavierites out razzle-dazzled the razzle-dazzling Mad Magicians of LeMoyne.

Kenny Leads Coast Scorers

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26—Scoring three touchdowns against University of Montana at Los Angeles Saturday, Kenny Washington, UCLA backfield ace, was leading the race for individual honors among Pacific Coast conference football players this week with 24 points.

"first lady of swing' carries on in absence of chick webb would startle yet give pleasure to a swing-frenzied world.

"A Tisket- ATasket" made a brighter day for the entire unit, let alone Ella. It was this song that earned Cinder-Ella the title, "America's First Lady of Swing."

Some of Miss Fitzgerald's best numbers are, namely: "You Showed Me the Way," "Goodnight My Love," "Don't Worry About Me,' and that popular swing ditty, "Well, Alright." However, there have been numerous requests, wherever the band pl requests, wherever the band plays, for Ella to render "That's Alright Brother," "Please Tell Me the Truth," and that humdinger, "Then Comes Love and Nothing Can Be Done."

A SOLID SWINGSTER

Benny Goodman, the swing exponent, who in more ways than one is responsible for the success of a number of noted bandsmen, is reputed to have offered Ella an amazingly high figure to join his organization.

The enchantress of swing feeling that she owed her sudden rise to fame to her sponsor, and guardian, Chick Webb, would not let anything sever their relationship.

Collectively and whole-heartedly Ella is acclaimed by jitterbugs throughout the land as Jamtown's Jumpiest Jive exponent. They say, too, if you're not a "hep cat" you just can't appreciate a solid swingster like Ella.

WINS FIRST PLACE

A magnificent dancer, Ella is loved by all the boys in the band who know her as a real pal.

Agents eyed her a commercial and in 1936 she appeared on the Lucidon program. Her appearance on the Camel program with Benny Goodman is still the talk of swing fanatics. Ellas fans tell of how "the sepian swing sister" got 'into the groove' when the band started to play, evoking all the savage rhythm and torrid tempo that established her as the sunny storm of song. Only recently Ella appeared on a program with George Jessel.

In winning first place in a score of contests as the nation's top swingster, Ella's name became a household word.

Singing became a business with Ella Fitzgerald. She appears on Decca Records exclusively. On the NBC network, the tremendous fan mail that follows her every broadcast, whether in New York or Chicago, is an indication of the girl's widespread popularity. But, no one need prompt this true modern Cinder-Ella, for she knows too well that had it not been for Chick Webb, critics versed in the art of modern music, would not have accepted her as America's First Lady of Swing.

"THE KING IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE KING!"

Just when he had become recognized as America's King of Swing, Chick Webb, at the height of a short eventful career, passed away at John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Maryland.

The victim of an accident in his youth, which marked him with a deformity and tubercular spine, Chick succumbed at the age of thirty after an operation.

Webb's funeral, held at Baltimore, his birthplace, was an ostentatious display, and effectively just as scenic as was his appearance at the Park Central Hotel in New York City. It was marked by the presence of celebrities and the nobility of Swingdom.

LOYAL TROUPERS

The appearance of Ella Fitzgerald with the famous Chick Webb Band a fortnight ago after the demise of the great little big man of swingdom was actually the first time that Ella was out "on her own" since becoming identified with the orchestral world.

There was no "powerhouse drive" of Chick Webb to lead her on. Inside her heart a heavy beat was pounding, while everything appeared cloudy before the sunny storm of song. Fourteen musicians, a master of ceremonies—minus their great little leader—worked under a mental strain. That seven-day engagement at Loew's State, unlike previous ones there and at the New York Paramount Theatre, will long be remembered by the unit as a tedious task. It proved beyond doubt the loyalty of troupers of the theatrical world.

Indeed the presentation of this celebrated swing band, led by Ella Fitzgerald, America's First Lady of Swing, to my mind was, and still is, like flying the Stars and Stripes.

"FATTY" AS MORTICIAN

Elizabeth Patterson, featured in Paramount's "Remember the Night", which has Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray in the starring roles, once played a lady undertaker in a stage play.

VIRGIL M. MORROW, electrical contractor, whose rise to eminence in his field is vividly told this week in "Occupational Sketches" (page 1B) by writer Thelma O. Davis.

"Build-Up": Way To Relieve Women's Pain

Many weak, run-down women are in a vicious circle. Their undernourishment often leads to what is called functional dysmenorrhea and its symptoms—headaches, nerviousness, irritability, intermittent cramp-like pains—from which many women suffer. Surest way to break the vicious circle is by building strength and energy, which so many find may be done with the help of CARDUI. It stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and thus helps in this "buildup-" of physical resistance. Women also report that, if taken just before and during "the time", CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

Gold's Range Sale Ends Soon

Nearing the close of one of the biggest campaigns in the history of the gas appliance business, Gold Furniture Company announced that the special sale of CP gas ranges will positively end October 31st. This special event is of extra significance to the buying public because with rapidly rising cost of raw materials entering into the production of gas ranges, a double saving is made available to the gas range purchaser who buys now.

The gas ranges offered by the Gold urniture Company in this special event all possess the twenty-two features of 'Certified Performance" a' torn used by the gas industry to designate a gas range having superior performance characteristics.

Leading research engineers, manufacturers and style designers have joined forces to produce a range of improved efficiency, convenience and performance, making cooking faster, cheaper, and better. Automatic lighting, automatic heat control taking the guesswork out of cooking, fast pre-heating oven and boilers—all these and many other features incorporated in the CP gas ranges are designed to help the lady of the house save food by reducing meat shrinkage, save health by preserving valuable minerals and vitamins in foods, save fuel by more efficient burners and insulation.

Mr. Gold, the owner of Gold Furniture Company, announces that by displaying in his vast showroom all of the leading makes including Wedgewood, Magic Chef, Roper, Gaffers and Sattler, O'Keefe & Merritt, he is making it possible for the prospective buyer of a new CP gas range to shop and make comparison in comfort and convienence.

Morris to Speak At San Diego Church

For the first time in more than 15 years, Dr. Morris will invade San Diego next Sunday, Oct. 29, when he will be the annual homecoming speaker at Bethel Baptist church, of which the Rev. Charles H. Hampton, president of the California Western Baptist State Convention is pastor. He will speak again at a union interracial meeting Monday night.

Fifteen or more years ago he was heard at the First Baptist and First Methodist churches (white) in this seaside city when he came here on a whirlwind California tour aranged by the Hon. J. B. Bass, last publisher of The California EAGLE.

Following a final Los Angeles appearance on Sunday, Nov. 5, he will leave for San Francisco and northern California and then return to Tennessee State college, Nashville, to resume his professional duties in December.

Dr. Charles Morris Delivers Lecture Series in El Centro

EL CENTRO, (By W. A. Payne)—Dr. Charles Satchell Morrhill visited Imperial Valley the past week arriving Sunday morning and returning to Los Angeles Tuesday. He was the guest speaker at the Second Baptist church, Sunday morning and evening. The congregation listened to his sermons with deep interest and appreciation. His messages carried conviction and inspiration.

Sunday afternoon he addressed the citizens, the University club sponsoring the program. After a violin selection by Mrs. Lucille Culberson accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Prince, Dr. Morris delivered the address, The New Emancipation. Following the address a 30 minutes informal forum was conducted in which Dr. Morris answered several questions therefurther informing his audience.

Monday morning he addressed a joint assembly of Washington and Douglass Schools. The young people responded so enthusiastically to his address that Dr. Morris as a encore took them into the realms of choice literature, discussing its beauty and reciting excerpts.

He addressed the citizens of the Valley Monday evening using as his subject "The Measure of the Man". Tuesday morning he addressed the faculty and citizens of the Wilson school.

During his visit he was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Augustus. Rev. and Mrs. I. N. Whitten entertained a number of friends in his honor at their residence Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Payne entertained in his honor Monday evening following his address to the citizens. Members of the faculties of Douglass, Washington and Dunbar Schools spent the social hour with Dr. Morris.

He is indeed an Ambassador of Good will and brings messages of good cheer and hope.

With a meeting that was very impressive, the members of Second Baptist Church led by their pastor the Rev. I. N. Whitten, conducted formal ground-breaking services last Tuesday evening. Wednesday morning the work of erecting the new church began. The church site is at Second and Brighton streets. The building as planned will be a beautiful modernistic stucco structure, seating approximately 300 persons. It is at the site of the former structure destroyed by fire December 12, 1937.

The building committee composed of the pastor, Messrs J. T. Bell, E. P. Perue, DuBois McGee, W. A. Payne, and Mrs. M. H. Burton announces the corner stone laying services Sunday, December 5; and the dedicatory services Sunday, January 14, 1940. Sunday, October 29 is Homecoming Sunday. Dr. W. R. Carter, of Los Angeles will preac hduring morning worship. Rev. W. M. Reed, pastor of the New Bethl Baptist church will preach during the afternoon services. The services of the day will close with a sermon by the pastor. A cordial welcome is extended by the church and its pastor.

Dr. R. W. Green, the recently appointed pastor of the local C. M. E. Church arrived in the city last Friday. Dr. Green formerly pastored the Berkeley C. M. E. church. He comes highly recommended and pledges himself to loyally cary forward the work that is assigned him in this territory. He preached morning and evening Sunday and was a visitor at the exercises of the University Club during the afternoon.

Rev. C. A. Harris, Presiding Elder of the San Diego conference visited Johnson's Chapel A. M. E. Church last Sunday, preaching the morning and evening sermons. All services were well attended. During the afternoon the pastor and members of Quinn Chapel A. M. E. Church worshipped with the local church tht Rev. W. E. Browning preaching the sermon. Local ministers and congregations joined in the service.

Mrs. Sophia Townsel, a pioneer citizen of El Centro died in Bakersfield last week. The remains were brought to this city for burial.

The funeral services were conducted in the Lemons Funeral Home. The deceased's pastor, the Rev. W. J. Taylor preaching the sermon. Interment in Evergreen

Among the relatives left to mourn the homegoing of the deceased are Mesdames Mary Hall and L. Fair, sisters; and Messrs Levi and George Craig, brothers.

Mother Hale of Los Angeles and Elder Green of Arizona conducted services in the Holt Avenue Church of God in Christ last Sunday. They will remain in the city several days.

The Wee Moderns Club an auxiliary of the Women's Civic and Improvement Club has begun its season's activities with a definite program that will carry it far into the year 1940. Last Sunday the young ladies gave a Tea at the Club House. The citizens of the community showed their appreciation of the efforts by turning out en masse. From five to six there was a steady stream of visitors. The beautifully decorated club room, the young ladies becomingly gowned, and the gracious manner in which they received and served their guests bespoke a high type of social training by the sponsors of the organization. The program calls for a number of servicable and attractive projects.

Mr. Felix Gray of Holt Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. R. Hayes of Orange Avenue have recently modernized their homes and are keeping abreast with the wave of improvements that has gripped the city. O nState Street the homes of Mrs. Alice Kirkpatrick and Mr. George Miller have undergone complete renovation. Other improvements are planned.

Miss Alberta Miller entertained a number of her friends at a party last week. Miss Miller completed her work with the Henrietta Beauty School last July an dpassed the State Board in August. She plans to begin the operation of a Beauty Shoppe within a very few weeks. She will be located in one of the store rooms of the Elk Building at Second and State Streets. She promises an up-to-date shop with all the conveniences of a larger city.

Miss Octavia J. Payne of San Diego spent the week end with her relatives.

The opening of the dove season has attracted many sportsmen to this section during the month. From Los Angeles and vicinity and San Diego and vicinity they come and apparently go away satisfied. E. J. Spiller of San Diego was a recent visitor combining business with pleasure. Mr. Spiller is third vice president of the Pacific States Association IBPOEW. While in the city he conferred with the President, W. A. Payne relative to the annual meeting to be held in San Diego in June 1940.

Messrs. A. Hartley Jones and business associates were business visitors here last Saturday.

Messrs. Theodore Dunlap and O. T. McWilliams of San Diego visited with friends last Sunday.

Mr. A. B. Grigsby agent of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company has been transferred to San Diego. Mr. Gilmore Tell, an Imperial young man has been assigned to this territory. Young Tell has been with the company for some time and has shown sterling business qualities.

Policy holdres here are pleased with this recognition of merit.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF VAL VERDE IS HONORED

Mrs. Hattie Bruce, a pioneer resident of Val Verde for the puast 15 years was honored Saturday night, on her 79th birthday, with a surprise party, sponsored zy Mrs. Harry Kinney and Mrs. Alice Gafford. The group of friends met at the club house, then drove to Mrs. Bruce's home, which she has recently had remodeled, then back to the club house where a delicious buffet supper was served.

Four generations were represented, there were Mecur.Bsr x sented, there were Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Zenola Clark, Mrs. Jane Strong. Mrs. Bruce was presented with a beautiful black and white crepe dress, by her children, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bruce.

Mrs. Taylor recited a poem dedicated to the guest of honor.

Mrs. Bruce responded with appreciative remarks to her loyal friends and thanked her children, and the following friends most heartily for the honor, and the beautiful occasional chair presented to her.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strong, Mrs. Jessie Reese, Mr. Rufus Portwig, Mr. J. Deerfield, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinney, Mr. L. Davis, Mrs. Carrie Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. John Beau, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Aztonia Valencia, Mr. and Mrs. L. Gafford, Mrs. Arthur Carper, Mr. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taylor, Mrs. B. Jamison, Mr. Colbert Bruce, Mrs. Anna Diggs, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clark, Mrs. Bessie Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wells, Mrs. Mabel Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cameron and Mrs. Madge Weaver.

Miss M. Benning, Mr. Releigh Summers from Pasadena, Mrs. Nora Holt and Mrs. Ada Blue and Son, were guests at the Taylor Ranch.

The swimming pool, completely filled with water was an attraction Sunday, many visitors brought their bathing suits, and enjoyed the first dip. However, it is not officially opened.

Mrs. Alice Lester and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cox visited the valley, last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Cox were so impressed with the place that they purchased a future homesite.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Steward are now comfortably settled as permanent residents in their new home on San Martinez road, opposite the park. Mr. Steward is 75 years of age, and has practically built the home himself, and does not take his hat off to young carpenters.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Hunnigan, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Branch, Mr. and Mrs. George Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Buttler, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Webster, Dr. and Mrs. aBiley, Dr. Ruth Temple, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Towns, were among many Sunday visitors at the park.

WILMINGTON CHURCH S. S. LARGELY ATTENDED

WILMINGTON, (By Ruth Battle)—Sunday School at New Hope Baptist church was largely attended. At 11 o'clock service, the message by the assistant pastor, Rev. James E. Palmer, centered about "let your light so shine that men may see your good works."

Three new members enrolled in our Sunday School. The box social given by the BYPU was quite a success. The Red Circle girls are all smiles under the leadership of Mrs. R. LeCarr. They are preparing for a tramp party; the little sunshine bands are progressing nicely. Mrs. O. Hicks, their leader, is very proud of her tots. Rev. S. L. Taylor, our pastor, has not returned from his much needed vacation. He is visiting Oakland, San Francisco, and Seattle, Washington; will return after the first Sunday. Miss Odessa Cole Taylor is enjoying her visit in Wilmington. She is a wonderful gospel singer; come to New Hope and hear her.

Mrs. J. H. Battle of 1414 K. O street, was hostess to a number of friends Friday evening in honor of her birthday.

Places were laid for twelve: Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Vann Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Jordan, Miss Odessa Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Battle, and children. Many beautiful presents were received. Table decorations were American Beauty roses and a gorgeous birthday cake. All enjoyed the evening.

The blue and red bird convention, sponsored by the Pastor's Aid Society, president, Mr. F. Jordan, and directed by Miss Odessa Taylor, was a financial success.

Mr. Sterling of Domingues St., Wilmington, was seriously injured last Tuesday and is in the General hospital. Mrs. Alma Dorricks is up again and well on the road to recovery.

Rev. Palmer, the assistant Pastor of New Hope Baptist church, invites all to attend the meetings and help him carry on the work while our pastor is away.

Long Beach Citizens Confer on Problems of Youth

LONG BEACH, (By Darthrela Vandiver Bouggess)—The Rev. Hayes Hayter of Grant Chapel A. M. E. church, the Rev. Thurston Lomax of the Second Baptist Church, Mrs. R. B. White, president of the Roland Hayes Study Club, Mr. Earl Miles, president of the Colored Citizens League, and Mrs. Darthrela Vandiver Bouggess, sponsor for Fidelis Hi-Tri, YWCA group were asked recently by officials of the Board of Education to meet, and conefr with them at the Board of Education Building on problems concerning the Negro youth of Long Beach. The Conference was a very successful one, and pointed out the way for better race relationships and understanding in the schools.

CLUBS

The Colored Citizens League, through the efforts of its energetic president, Mr. Earl Miles, has succeeded in having a "slow" warning sign to motorists painted across the two streets, Anaheim Blvd. and California Avenue, about half a block each way from the four approaches to the intersection. This has been a very dangerous street crossing with many accidents occuring there, and the club as well as its president are to be congratulated on their aid in minimizing the danger to life and limb.

At its meeting Saturday night, a letter from J. Pierson Hall of Los Angeles asking the support of the club for Proposition No. 5, the Oil Proposition was read. Attorney W. J. Finley spoke in opposition to the measure. After spirited debate among the members on the 'Ham and Eggs' proposal, the League voted unanimously to go on record against that proposition.

ROLAND HAYES STUDY CLUB

At the meeting of the Roland Hayes Study Club Wednesday evening the names of the nominees for office will be submitted to the group, and delegates will be selected to the annual convention in Los Angeles of the Woman"s Political Study Club.

YWCA NOTES

Mrs. Helen Irving, president, Mrs. Zelma Lipscomb, Mrs. Lorraine Higgins and Mrs. Grace Fisher of the Juliette Derricote Industrial Girls Club of the Y. W. C. A., accompanied by the Business and Industrial Girl's Secretary, Mrs. Mildred Crumley and her husband, Mr. Crumley, spent a very enjoyable and inspiring evening recently as guests of Mrs. Susie Prince at her home, 384 Vernon avenue, Pasadena. The invitation was extended to the club by the hostess in order that the group might meet her sister, Mrs. Derricote, mother of the late Juliette Derricote for whom the club was named.

CHURCH NEWS

Grant Chapel AME

Th epastor, the Rev. Hayes Hayter used for his subject at the Sunday morning services, "Come and See for Yourself". Sunday evening a program, sponsore dby Mrs. Marie Clay, was given by the choir. The Waist-Measuring Party given by the choir last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell was a great success, financially as well as socially. The silver tea Sunday afternoon, given at the home of Mr. and rMs. A. B. Walker, 1737 Chestnut avenue, as a choir benefit was largely attended and an excellent program was rendered. Next Sunday is quarterly meeting, and all members are urged to be in attendance at services. The Rev. Frank Harris, presiding elder of the Los Angeles District will speak morning and evening and at three o'clock in the afternoon, the Rev. Thurston Lomax of the Second Baptist Church, Long Beach, will deliver the message.

Second Baptist

The Second Baptist church was favored Sunday morning by a very inspiring discourse by the pastor, the Rev. Thurston Lomax, who took for his theme: "Help Thy Neighbor". This topic was very pertinent, and timely as the pastor was drafted recently to serve on a committee of the, "Help Thy Neighbor" club. Offices of that body will be opened downtown this week. Sunday evening an illustrated Bible lesson was given on the blackboard. Remember "Home-Coming Day", the first Sunday. Both choirs will sing at all services that day—the Senior Choir under th edirection of Mrs. Lomax and a musical feast is to be help that day.

SANTA BARBARA PRELATE'S WIFE IS CONFAB DELEGATE

SANTA BARBARA, (By Sally Smith)—For the past five weeks, Mrs. Ralph King, wife of Rev. Ralph King, has been in the East as a delegate to the Missionary Conference. While East, she visited many points of interest. She spent a few days in New York visiting the Fair.

Mrs. Helen McGowan, beauty operator, has returned to her home after a two weeks' stay in St. Louis. She was entertained by many relatives and friends, and witnessed the wedding of her father.

Miss Oogie Forney entertained with a lovely party at her home on Nopal last Saturday nite, honoring Miss Lucinda Smith on her 20th birthday. The guests enjoyed music, dancing and refreshments were served. All left thanking the hostess for such a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackman were visitors in Los Angeles Sunday.

A pretty tea was held Sunday evening at the Methodist Church, honoring Mrs. Edna Mae Frazier of Savannah, Ga.

Rev. Palmer, the assistant Pastor of New Hope Baptist church, invites all to attend the meetings and help him carry on the work while our pastor is away.

"Loyalty Day" to Be Held at Santa Monica Church

SANTA MONICA, (By Willie Louise Gilmore)—Rev. A. K. Quinn took for his subject Sunday morning "The Three-fold Aspect of Sin" and for the evening "The Strength of the Church."

Those who did not hear both sermons missed a spiritual treat.

Everyone is requested to attend one of the services the first Sunday in November, which is "Loyalty Day." The ACE League had for its subject of discussion, "Getting Along with our Associates," conducted by Ray Bartlett of UCLA. The very able president is Mr. Vernon Brunson, secretary, Mrs. Beulah Reid. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lulu Taylor, is planning some musical treats for the near future. Our dollar list is growing. Are you going to be the next to join the dollar every Sunday movement?

SUB DEB NEWS

By Opal Mae Allen

Among those expected to be present at the Pre-Hallowe'en Dance to be given Friday nite by the Sub Debs are the Social Counts of L. A. The club attended the "Slack" party given by the Sophisticated Seven Friday nite and it proved to be a colossal success. Club members will be announced by Boise Mitchell.

So, 'til Friday nite, your reporter will say "so long," cats, jitterbugs, gals, guys or what have you—hoping to see you at the dance!

THE GUMSHOERS

Spotlight . . . just 17 yrs. aged last July 25, a bubble of joy was delivered to the Knowles family, Hondo, Texas. The former answering to the name of Thelno. Life was fairly dull for little Thelno until his 7th birthday, for that was his first day at school. But his real joy came when his family decided to come to California. From then on he won glory for himself by proving himself a great track man and winning three medals of honor.

Around school, a story goes of the reason Thelno is such a good runner. They say it is because he once ran down jack rabbits in Texas. Of course, that's just conjecture. His ambition is to be a great clergyman; his hobby is running. Loretta Young is his favorite movie star. We wish him luck and hope that he excels in his chosen profession . . . Jason Gossip . . . always first with the worst . . . Tuesday nite for the first time Lillian "Duchess" Linly showed a little affection for "Hardrock." . . . some say she was just having pity on the poor boy because he tries so hard . . . We wish to correct a statement that appeared in Henry's column . . . it read that S. M. was a runnerup in a popularity contest. If we remember correctly, she withdrew and gave her support to her sister . . . Incidentally, Miss Sarah is leaving for New York Dec. 1, 1940 . . . What a laugh . . . One of the local Ladies' clubs asked me to have a contest to select one out of eight boys whom they have chosen to represent Santa Monica in a 'Glamour Boy" contest in L. A. soon . . . We chose Rosie Mitchell, the Royal 12 Queen to select one . . . they are as follows: Elmo Logan, Freeman Stewart, Fred Parks, Robt. Ware, Booker Allen, Earl Tucker, Lloyd T. Courtney and William Lyons . . . The boys will be selected on merits of dress, personality and poise . . . After a long, careful survey, we have concluded that John and Christine Moore are S. M.'s happiest wedded couple . . . So you are going to be married . . . Interesting and important is the fact that while the bride dictates the type of costume she would like to have her maids wear, they pay for every detail of their wardrobe, except the bouquets which are purchased by the bride . . . If our ambitions turned toward the collecting of pets we would chose as follows:

Northern California Baptist Sessions Held in Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, (By Anna Foster)—The general Baptist association of Northern California met in its 40th annual session the week of Oct. 11 to 15 at Beth Eden Baptist church, Oakland. These sessions were marked by much enthusiasm and inspiration. They were presided over by the energetic moderator and pastor, Rev. F. D. Haynes, of the historic Third Baptist church of San Francisco ,the oldest church of this denomination in California.

The association unanimously reelected Rev. Haynes for the fifth time to preside over the destiny of more than 22 churches for the next fiscal year.

Moderator Haynes, in his annual message pointed out that there must be a more liberal outlook if the Baptists are to present a program which will challenge the intelligence of a new day and social order. He also stressed the necessity of a more mutual CONSIDERATION of the youth's place in the general set up of the church, if we are to compete with the several movements which are making inroads upon our young people.

Other officers who will fill the cabinet with the moderator are Rev. C. R. Holmes, vice-moderator; L. J. Williams, Vallejo, secretary; L. N. Crawford, Sacramento, treasurer. The association will meet next year at Stockton.

Representatives of the Mme. Walker home and Booker Washington center were present at luncheon at the Palace hotel in interest of the Community Chest Drive. Father Flanagan was the train speaker.

Count Basie and his swing band are a great attraction at the International Exposition at Treasure Island. Crowds throng the Temple Compound to hear this talented artist and his group.

Mrs. Mabel Johnson, charming visitor from Leavenworth Kansas, was houseguest of her worker, Mrs. Louise Staff, at 1347 Broderick St. Mrs. Johnson was recipient of many social courtesies. She left for home on Oct. 14.

Wm. Bowers of L. A. was domiciled with the J. T. Wilsons in Sutter St. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pinkney have taken abode in the Wilson Flats.

The Martha Ann Wilson Club, a Federated unit, held its annual election of officers and chose Mrs. Pearl White as its president; Mrs. Adah Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Laura Davis, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Foreman, treasurer and Mrs. Esther Noble, chairma nof Religion.

Ted Lewis brings his revue to the Golden Gate theatre, giving two race men prominent places. Charles Whittier, imitator and shadow of Ted himself has rhythm in his feet which smoothly tap at his will. Shelton Brooks, "oldtimer in blackface", composer of "Some of These Days" and 'Darktown Strutters Ball", sang with great ease and pleasing ability his own compositions. The film 'Way Down South" with fine acting by Clarence Muse was a tetal. ...(well, anyway you see it). . .and join the thousands that desire to see the Negro pictured honorably and creditably for just "once".

BETTY HILL IN SAN DIEGO

Mrs. Betty Hill of Los Angeles spent several days in the City last week, attend the Republican Women's Convention. She was guest of the Study Club Friday at the home of Mrs. Lanning on Clay Street.

San Diegos' Negro Civic League Hosts Banquet

SAN DIEGO, (By E. B. Wesley)—The Negro Civic league, of which Mr. John Cloud is president, was host at an elaborate dinner Thursday night at seven o'clock at the now famous De Luxe cafe, 2963 Imperial avenue. The speakers on this occasion were: Mr. H. C. Warner, supervisor T. Leroy Richards, Dr. J. J. Kimbrough, who spoke on the activities of the club during the past year; Councilman Knox talked on "Recreational Projects;" Mrs. M. L. Fay, member of the school board, gave a short talk on the "Delinquency of Children;" Superior Judge Edward J. Kelly and Municipal Judge Dean Sherry each addressed his remarks to the fine work done by the league among its people. Mrs. J. E. Craft, president of the Colored Women's Civic League, told of "the Needs of the Negro in the 5th District;" Miss Ruth Richardson, our social worker, gave a brief sketch of her work. The officers of this organization, which is doing much toward race progress in this community, are: Mr. John Cloud, president and master of ceremonies at the dinner; M. E. Anderson, vice-president; Mr. Walter Queen, secretary; Mr. Sam Hart, publicity director; Mr. W. N. Ross, treasurer; Messrs. Gadson, Robinson and Brown, executive committeemen. The second Monday in each month finds this league busily engaged in business of interest to the race.

Mrs. L. H. Owens, wife of Rev. L. H. Owens, of Bethel AME church, returned from Chicago last week where she was a delegate to the AME Missionary Society Quadrennium, which convened in that city. Mrs. Owens, who is a teacher in the public school system of Imperial, left for her work Sunday after spending a day or so with her family here.

Mr. Bruce Curl, husband of Mrs. Mayola Johnson Curl, popular singer, was taken to Mercy hospital last week when he underwent a major operation. He is reported doing nicely at this writing.

Mrs. L. O. Hale of Los Angeles, State Mother of the Church of God in Christ, and Elder and Mrs. F. J. Green of San Antonio, Texas, motored down from Los Angeles Sunday, and were the guests of Elder and Mrs. James A. Jackson, 1703 Logan avenue.

Mrs. Lucy Norwood and Mrs. Winnie B. Pope have recently returned from Kansas City, Kansas, where they motored to attend the National Grand Session of the UBF and SMT of the world.

Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Norwood were royally entertained in both Kansas City, Kansas and Kansas City, Missouri. The trip was cut short in order that the ladies might return to Los Angeles in time to attend the National Baptist Convention.

Mr. and Mrs. James Woodford, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Malissa James, mother and sister of Mrs. Woodford, respectively, in company with Mrs. Naomi Robinson, motored to the city from Los Angeles to spend a day with Mrs. M. J. Curl and her mother, Mrs. E. B. Johnson, their long time friends. The guests visited the scenic spots of San Diego and old Mexico. Mrs. Moore will return soon to her home in New Orleans after being the guest of her daughtter for one year.

Elder James A. Jackson went to No Man's Land one day last week on business.

Elder and Mrs. Stamp of Los Angeles were week-end visitors of Elder and Mrs. James A. Jackson, 1703 Logan avenue.

Dr. Thomas, former president of the Western Baptist convention, and Mrs. Thomas, are guests for a few days of Mrs. Pauline Hayden.

A noon-day prayer meeting is being held at the home of Mrs. Mary Hart on 29th every day with most gratifying results.

Miss Ethel Brown was hostess at a smart cocktail party, Oct. 12. Those present were: Mmes. M. Williams, E. Jones, H. Kary, Woodson, Hardiway, A. Dedeman, A. Pope, A. Temple, the Misses Josephine Coke, Nadine Ford, Frances Huff, Messrs. M. Kary, E. Anderson, P. Moore, A. Newman, N. Davis and E. Rollins.

Mr. Roscoe H. Broyles of Santa Monica and Mrs. Annie Lee Arthur were quietly united in marriage by the Rev. L. W. McCoy Sunday evening at six p. m. at the AME Zion church in San Diego.

Race Relations Meeting

The United Presbyterion church will be hosts to the San Diego Race Relations society at its October meeting scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 29, 7:00 p. m. Supported by an excellent choir, the meeting will be opened by the minister, Rev. Boyd J. Patterson. The speaker for this meeting will be H. B. Schultheiss of the San Diego Coordination department. Mr. Schultheiss is well informed on the sociological conditions of America, and is an exceptionally interesting speaker. The subject of the speaker will be "The Races of Men". Gertrude Miller Hanna, a popular violinist, will entertain with two numbers. A feature on this program will be Manuel Cruz, the tenor with a silver voice. Dennis V. Allen, president of the Society, will preside. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Dennis V. Allen, president of the San Diego Race Relations society, was re-elected president to serve the sixteenth consecutive year as president of the society at the annual election of officers held Oct. 19. Other officers elected were: Dr. Max L. Sterne and Richard Krookston, first and second vice presidents respectively; Mr. Mildred Prendergast, reelected secretary; Dr. Sandra Underhill, treasurer; and Rev. K. T. Wong, chaplain. Members elected to executive board were: Arlate Orden, Gertrude (Jair) Toms, Maud Scritchfield, Elsie Perry, Stanley M. Gus, Bernice Cosgrove, Tom Prendergast, W. C. Watawa, Y. Nakadate, Rev. R. C. Rodrigues, Commander Frank Luckel, R. B. Santos, Chris Canta, Dan Rossi and Gilbert D. Judy.

Clay Street YWCA News

Mrs. John B. Kelso, of La Jolla, the first vice president of the Young Women's Christian Association of America, was the speaker. Mrs. Kelso used "The Call to the Sixteenth National Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association, Atlantic City, N. J., April 19-16, 1940, to open her address. The members of the Clay Street YWCA Committee of Management attending the meeting were: Mrs. Elethia Kinzy, chairman, Mrs. Lucille Brown, Mrs. A. E. Morgan, Mrs. Virginia Kemp, Miss Octavia Payne and Mrs. Chas. H. Hampton, the Executive Secretary.

Clay Street Committee of Management last Monday was built around "The YWCA of Tomorrow," by Mrs. Norma Kimball, President of the YWCA's of America, report on Standard Study was given by Mrs. Virginia Kemp, and the Branch Study was given by Miss Octavia Payne. Mrs. Elethia Kinzy, the chairman, presided during the meeting. The meeting closed by an informal presentation of "In Other Words" as given in the July and August Woman's Press. The wording was changed to fit our own organization. The members of the Committee presenting the play were: Mrs. B. Kinzy, Mrs. Gracie Goodwin, Mrs. Virginia Kemp, Mrs. A. E. Morgan, Miss Octavia Payne and Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton.

The Committee of Management is sponsoring a Hallowe'en Carnival Saturday evening, October 28. Starting at 5:30 p. m., there will be good music, sideshow, big country store with all kinds of bargains and fun, Hot dogs roasting in the fire, hamburgers, apples of all types and "The Bar Room Idea." A prize will be given the person masked that nobody is able to recognize.

The Household Employe club was organized last Thursday, Mrs. Arcola Andrews is president; Mrs. Vivian Mathews, vice president; Mrs. Luella Roberts, secretary and Mrs. Effie Ray, asst. secretary. This club was represented at the week end conference at Balboa Island, Oct. 21-22 by Mrs. Arcola Andrews, Mrs. Effie Ray, Miss Clara Collins and Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton.

The regular monthly meeting will be the second Thursday of each month at 4 p. m.

THE SICK

The Sunshine club reports the sick for this week: At General hospital: Mrs. Hazel Burns, Mr. Pink Manning, Howard Berry, George Armstrong; at Vauclain Home: Mrs. Arnita Banks, Miss Marian Miller, Benny Lucky, Theodore Steele; at home, improving: Mrs. Gwendolyn Mohand, Jack White, Edward Hatcher.

Mrs. Alma Yancy, a member of Mt. Zion Baptist church, is on the sick list this week. Richard Clark, father of Albert Clark of San Diego, is very ill in La Jolla.

Mrs. Viola McDonald, modiste, formerly of this city, is quite sick in a Los Angeles hospital.

daisy lee a hit in new stage play at san diego

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 26—The cast of "The Male Animal," which played here earlier this week before a capacity audience who witnessed their initial performance at the Coronado theatre, was worth the steady and lenghty applause it received. The show arrived here from Hollywood where it was rehearsed for its local showing here.

Boasting a well-balanced cast of "big name" film folk, "Male Animal" appeared to be everything its backers had predicted for it. Mary Astor and Lew Ayers head the cast, which includes Leon Ames and George McCormic and Daisy Lee Muthershed. The last named, is a sepia member of the cast. As "Cleota," she registers a beautiful performance.

Practically a newcomer to the stage, Miss Lee, who has had plenty of experience in films, runs the gamut of emotional acting. "The Male Animal" cast returns to Los Angeles where after a few more surburban showings, the show opens as "big scale" entertainment at the downtown Mayan theatre. Following its showing in the coast metropolis, the show and cast is slated for an early Broadway New York showing. "The Male Animal" also is being viewed as good picture material.

Must Certify For Benefit Checks

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 26—Unemployment insurance claimants today were requested by the State Department of Employment to certify on a specific day for benefit checks.

This announcement was made by W. F. French, chief of the Division of Insurance, who said the Department on Oct. 30 will inaugurate a daily, instead of a weekly, check-writing cycle.

Claimants, claimants certified on any day of the week they chose. Under the new system, regular days are assigned in accordance with Social Security numbers.

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.
Elijah Cooper, Treasurer, 2504 S. Central Ave., ADams 9025.
Seth B. Ray, Secretary, 2302 Griffith Ave., PRospect 5861.
William Melia Watson, Director of Publicity, 4824 S. Central Avenue, CEntury 22894.

REVELATION

In looking over some of the letters that come to me daily, I find that a good many folks would be much happier if they had someone to confide in. Sometimes their burdens become too heavy to keep within their hearts they must tell someone, or lose complete control of themselves. An example:

Dear Prof. Herman: "I am a well known woman, I work in the church, and travel with a nice class of people. But conditions in my home are so bad until feel that I must give up all of my associations or leave this town. I cannot pretend much longer.—

"My husband, has been going with a woman for almost a year and not only admits it to me, but is constantly seen out in various places with her. Having 2 children that wish to attend college, I do not want to break up my home. They need their father's financial support and affection. I could not tell my friends as I'm afraid it would only become a public issue. There is no one I can go to but you. What do you suggest?"

This and many other problems are brought to my attention daily. By using the knowledge that has been given me, and through the Science of Astrology, I am able to bring peace and happiness into their lives. Why not let me help you?

E. C. Dear Prof. Herman; I am writing you to let you know that I was well pleased with the information I received. Inclosed you will find one dollar to cover the cost of the Hindu Charm Bag, which has been so highly recommended for my use. I am confident that it will be satisfactory.

H. L. B. Does this young man mean me any good?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that you have given this man a considerable amount of your time for five years, and his going with another woman is the thanks you receive. He does not appear to be the right person for you, and it is better to find it out now, than after you are married.

R. C. What did she do with the fifty cents?

Ans. It appears that your room mate spent the 50 cents and had forgotten about it, that is why she accused you of taking it. It would be a good thing if you found other living quarters, as she is no true friend of yours.

S. M. B. Will I ever marry?

Ans. I vision you marrying in the near future, to a man of intelligence and character. You will meet him on a trip you will take soon.

B. G. Where can we secure our birth dates?

Ans. If you will write to the court hose in the place, state or country where you were born, they have a record of you and your sister's birth.

M. W. K. Where will I find W. C.?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that this man killed your brother and you are now in search of him. This matter should be turned over to the police. They will find him and bring him to trial.

L. M. H. Where is my mother?

Ans. Your mother is in a near by city, and has been there for two years. You may be aided in finding her exact address by consulting the Bureau of Missing Persons.

S. M. I am writing you in regards to the wonderful benefits derived from the use of your Prayer and Meditation Combination. It brings a sense of satisfaction and instills within me the desire to accomplish things which I believed impossible.

R. L. M. Will I be successful?

Ans. In regards to your question I find that you will succeed in finding work if you will make the most of the brilliant abilities with which you are endowed.

I. E. S. What are my friend's intentions?

Ans. It appears that your friend loves you and is true to you. He has the intentions of marrying you within the next five months.

L. M. P. Will my wish come true?

Ans. A careful analysis of your case show that it would be wise for you and your husband to have a physical examination to determine whether or not you are physically fit, to accomplish your wish.

S. W. F. Where is my money?

Ans. It comes to me that your money was hidden by you sometime ago, and the place has been forgotten. If you will look in the left hand corner of your bedroom underneath the rug you will no doubt find it.

C. L. B. Will he make a good husband?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals that J. P. has always been a lazy person, but in the past few months has shown a decided improvement. I vision him keeping his job and caring for you and your daughter after your marriage.

M. F. J. What vocation should I follow?

Ans. According to your Zodiac you have the ability to succeed along any of the following courses: Business, mechanical work or surgical. Develop your talents along any of these lines, and you will be a success.

M. H. The nature of your question requires a private reply. If you will write in for a private reply I will be able to give you some useful information in this regard.

E. F.W. What is wrong with me at present?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that there is nothing wrong with you, but it seems that you are living in a shell. Socialize more, come in contact with new groups and you will broaden your views and break this shell.

"Memories of Our Dear Loved Ones"

A darling mother, Malinda M. Pension, who departed October 18, 1917.

A devoted husband, Louis Hooker, who departed this life, October 25, 1938.

A loving sister, Ida J. Parks, who departed this life, November 25, 1938.

Sleep on dear ones and take your rest,
We loved you dearly, but God loved you best.
Just hold their hands precious Lord, for they tired and had rest.

"Servant of God well done!
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy.

"The pains of death are past:
Labor and sorrow cease;
And Life's long warfare closed at last,
Their souls are found in peace."

Rooming Plans At World's Fair Flop

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (C)—Hundreds of thousands of dollars were lost by Harlemites who made real estate, rooming house, restaurant and entertainment investments, hoping to profit from the New York World's Fair, which opened April 30 and closes Oct. 31, according to Emanuel Theodore, director of the Booker T. Washington Tours, Inc., 236 W. 135th street.

Over 20,000 rooms were registered in Harlem, and went begging, he said. The Elks' and other conventions did not remedy matters; visitors slept with other friends, many roomed in their cars.

Theodore attributed the loss to bad publicity, high admission fee to the Fair, national WPA dismissals, and a national and local warning to whites to "stay away from Harlem." Employment discrimination at the Fair was also an important element, he added, in keeping away colored visitors.

Magazine Prints Story Of Negro Who Organized First Air Raid Defense

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—The story of Camille Mortenol, the Negro soldier who became the "father" of air raid defense measures while stationed in Paris during the last war, is told in the October issue of Opportunity magazine by Mercer Cook, professor of French at Atlanta university.

Professor Cooks points out that Mortenol's achievement in guarding Paris against the full force of aerial attack was a tremendous one in view of the fact that military aviation was then a new development, and that the bombing of civilians and the use of poison gas were procedures that had never before been attempted on a large scale.

Mortenol's searchlights and sirens—crude ancestors of those that are seeing service today—made the nightly visits of the giant German bombers much less devastating than they might otherwise have been, according to Professor Cook.

The article reveals that Mortenol was born in 1850 at Pointe-a-Pitre, the largest city on the island of Guadeloupe. After studying at a Catholic school there, he won a scholarship which enabled him to continue his education at Bordeaux. Later he became the first Negro to enter the Ecole Polytechnique, the French West Point.

Graduated in 1882, he became an officer in the French Navy. From 1884 to 1886 he campaigned with the French Expeditionary forces in Madagascar. His service on this island won him the cross of the Legion of Honor and gained for him the friendship of the celebrated General Gallieni. It was Gallieni who appointed him to the all-important air-defense post in 1914. So effective was his work there that it won for him the title of Commander of the Legion of Honor.

MIAMI, FLA. CHURCH PREPARES FOR CHURCH WORKERS

MIAMA (Fla.)—The machinery of St. Agnes is now turning at top speed, refining plans in preparation for the annual meeting of the Conference Church workers, among colored people of the fourth province. The conference will be held in St. Agnes church, Nov. 7-9. Delegates from the 16 southern dioceses which comprise the province are expected to attend.

The Rev. J. K. Satterwhite of the diocese of Atlanta, Ga., is president of the conference, and the Rev. H. J. . Bornden of Atlanta, is secretary. The Rev. Julian A. Simpkins, vice president of the conference, and chairman of the program committee, predicts the most largely attended conference in the history of the province.

Monday night, Oct. 9, marked another forward step toward building a new St. John church on the site of 13th street and 3rd avenue. A few days prior to this historic event, members of both sexes were seen on the grounds clearing weeds and debris away.

The principal speakers were Attorney Lanton Thomas, Rev. J. R. Evans and Rev. S. A. Thomas. Rev. Drake, pastor of St. John's, stated that the building will be started as soon as plans are received.

Sam B. Solomon, who is our youngest business man, and who has the largest undertaking business in Miami, is president of the "Negro Citizens Service league," has a large following of registered voters and has this to say about the coming city election on Nov. 7, in regards to a change in the city charter.

"On Nov. 7, registered voters of Miami will have an opportunity to express their approval or disapproval of a proposed change in the charter of Miami.

"At the present, fine city commissioners control the affairs of the city. The commissioners are elected to office periodically and pledge to serve the interest of all the people of Miami. And now comes a proposal to change the charter, authorizing the division of the city into wards and electing a candidate from each ward. The duty of that candidate when elected, is to serve the interest of his ward alone.

"Such a plan invites a loss of power for the Negro voters, in that they would have the opportunity of selecting and electing only one of the five of seven who will control the affairs of the city government. That, in itself would place our power in a minority class, for a sole candidate would only represent a minority of the city council. Under this plan, racketeers might have possibilities of controlling and dictating to the person whom we would be privileged to elect."

Need Laxative? Take An All-Vegetable One

Don't let impatience lead you into harsh measures for the relief of constipation!

There's no use. A little spicy, all-vegetable BLACK DRAUGHT taken by simple directions, will gently persuade your bowels. Take it at night. That should give you plenty of time for sleep.

Morning usually brings punctual, thorough relief from constipation's sympatoms — headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, loss of appetite and energy. BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps to tone the intestinal muscles. It's economical, too. 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

Reemployment Report Ready

Labeling unemployment as a chronic economic condition, equally serious in periods of "war, peace, booms and depressions," the complete report of Governor Culbert L. Olson's Commission on Re-employment, which the Governor hailed as a "lasting contribution to the economic and social welfare of the people of California and of the Nation," was released today in printed form for public distribution.

Certain to attract wide national attention, the report culminates a most searching analysis of the unemployment problem—economic, social and financial—and presents data and conclusions described by economists as irrefutable.

Bad Check Warning Issued

Forgers and passers of bad checks are again operating in Los Angeles County with increasing losses to merchants and business people, according to Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz. In commenting on the situation, Biscailuz said, "We normally expect an increase in crimes of forgery and fictitious checks during the Fall and winter months, but all present indications are that this year conditions will be worse than ordinary, unless some defnite action is taken to suppress this type of offense."

Dr. William H. Jernagin Is Lauded

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26. (HNS)—Negro Baptists of the world have to reasons to be proud of the high type of Christian leadership as manifested by the distinguished Dr. William H. Jernigan who for almost a lifetime has been devoted to Christian work.

Dr. Jernigan graduated from the Meridan academy and later earned his degrees from Alcorn college and Jackson college in Mississippi. With an excellent educational back ground this renowned religionist assumed his task with much zeal. Today he is president of the National Sunday School and the BYPU congress, auxiliary to the National Baptist Convention, Inc., and has done much in behalf of the Negro youth.

Dr. Jernigan has traveled extensively, having made numerous trips to Europe and other parts of the world, he is always in position to impart worthwhile knowledge to persons in all walks of life, particularly on foreign affairs.

He is truly an authoritative leader. He was one of the speakers at the Baptist World Congress held some time ago at Zurich, Switzerland, and also the Baptist World Alliance Congress which was held in Atlanta last July. He is active in the affairs of the community in which he resides, and holds membership in many organizations including the Fraternal Council of Negro Churches in America. As chairman of the Trustee Board of the Washington Baptist Seminary, Dr. Jernigan has made it possible for many ambitious ministers to further their religious training. In addition he is chairman of the Stoddard Baptist Home and for the past 27 years has pastored the outstanding Mount Carmel Baptist Church which has a membership of 3,000.

He has been honored on numerous occasions in different parts of this country and abroad. This shining light among his people is fittingly listed in "Who's Who" and once received an invitation to the White House.

Opens First Hospital to Negroes

JACKSON (Miss.) Oct. 26—Costing $100,000, Mississippi, following in the footsteps of Louisiana, opened its first hospital to the poor last week. The "poor" in this instance, also includes Negroes.

The new building is an annex of the Mississippi Baptist hospital. The late R. H. Green, Jackson philanthropist, left the money for the building with a stipulation that at least five beds always be kept available for needy Negroes as long as the hospital stands.

Located on the ground floor of the building, the Negro ward has 12 private rooms, a men's ward with 10 beds, a women's ward with eight beds and a children's ward accomodating 10 patients.

The hospital, started in 1909, for many years was the largest hospital in the state, but there was not enough space for its free patients, especially Negroes.

"blossom time" at playhouse

Rolling up an imposing record of 500 consecutive performances in America's most sophisticated theatre city, New York, the musical, "Blossom Time" was one of the greatest hits offered by the Schuberts.

This outstanding show opened a two weeks' engagement at the Hollywood Playhouse, yesterday.

"Blossom Time", based on the life, loves and music of the composer-genius Franz Schubert will be produced for the Southern California Music Project by Julian Fowlkes, with Ruth Gillette and Paul Keast, heading an all-star cast.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

As the days get cooler, we begin to use the word "banquet" again. Even our home desserts are banquet desserts. New forms, new flavors and more elaborate dishes are in order. Guests expect them. The members of the family hope for them. Here's one:

Banquet Pudding

1 or 2 egg yolks; 4 cups milk; ½ cup quick-cooking tapioca; ⅛ cup sugar; ¾ teaspoon salt; 1 or 2 egg whites; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ½ to ⅔ cup diced preserved or crystallized ginger; ½ cup cream, whipped; nut meats, coarsely broken.

Mix egg yolk with small amount of milk in top of double boiler. Add remaining milk, tapioca, sugar, and salt. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 to 12 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Beat egg white until just stiff enough to hold shape. Fold hot tapioca mixture gradually into egg white. Cool — mixture thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, add flavoring and ginger, reserving 2 tablespoons ginger for garnish. Chill. Fold in cream. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with additional whipped cream, and sprinkle with ginger and nuts. Serves 8.

$150.00 a week

FOR HIGHWAYS, PLAYGROUNDS AND PARKS ✱ The Edison taxes, which amounted to $146,037 a week in 1938, play an important part in public welfare. They build new roads, highways, schools, playgrounds, help support the unemployed, and help to defray many of the costs of government. Seventeen and a half cents of every dollar you spend for electricity is turned over to local, state and federal governments in the form of direct taxes.

"Love Thy Neighbor"

Last week the Russian bear scowled over the border of tiny, debt-paying Finland with demands that amounted to an end of Finnish independence. Instantly, the entire Scandinavian group rose in protest, threatening unified action against mighty Russia.

Some observers interpreted this speedy response to the fact that Finland might serve as a Baltic Sea bridge for Russia, leading to later conquest of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. However, most experts agree that the show of Scandinavian unity is something far greater than mere expediency.

For centuries prior to the world war, this group of Viking nations had been at each others throats. Sometimes a strong Danish monarch managed to overpower the other Scandinavian kingdoms. Sometimes a mighty Norse emperor seized his neighbors. Frequently the belligerents were bound together by some great militarist, and always they fell apart again after the conqueror's death. Between the litte kingdoms, there were great walls of hate and jealousy, fear and distrust. A hundred years ago, when Finland was a Russian province, you could not have rallied a handful of Swedes or Danes to help the Finns gain their liberty. Today, great armies throughout the North Sea area stand poised to help Finns maintain that liberty. Obviously, something has happened among these people to bring out such unanimity of thought and action. As is often the case, the menace of a common enemy wrought unity in Scandinavia. When the last World War struck Europe, the little north kingdoms desired more than anything else to keep their precious neutrality. To do this, it was necessary for hated Dane and distrusted Swede to unite in conference. It was necessary for a Norwegian parliament to adopt articles of friendship with her suspected neighbor, Swed-

So the great Scandinavian diplomats met in solemn confab to thrash out ways and means of keeping their respective nations at peace. They knew all men experienced in the artifices and subterfuges of international politics, and they conducted themselves with customary diplomatic precision. Each concentrated upon making the sharpest bargain, and it was soon evident throughout Scandinavia that the great Peace conference wasn't doing so hot. In consternation, the delegates broke up and returned to their native lands, promising to reconvene shortly.

At the folowing conference, the game of diplomatic double talk commenced all over again, and members began to perceive that Pact No. 2 also was fizzling on their hands. Finally, a very wise old man rose with a shocking proposal. He proposed that the delegates forget their diplomatic training for the duration of that conference and concentrate upon objectives under consideration. He suggested that Dane, Swede, and Norwegian speak their minds freely and without fear. In desperation, the learned gentlemen decided to play the game this new way since they were so tired of wrangling, and home governments were becoming pesky about results.

To their shocked amazement, the conference ran smoothly from that moment forward. An air-tight agreement of joint neutrality was adopted, and no member attempted to place therein a joker at the expense of his neighbors. The agreement was so good that it successfuly maintained Scandinavian neutrality through the four years of carnage of twenty years ago. However, the conference had a more important and significant meaning. Once the veil of diplomacy was ripped aside, Dane, Swede and Norwegian observed that they were really rather similar creatures with common problems and common ambitions. Tentatively, they began to like one another; began to doubt the wisdom of twenty centuries of strife and misunderstanding. It was decided that the conference should meet even after the war and discuss mutual problems of Scandinavia--without diplomacy.

Thus started a series of conferences that have molded the Scandinavian bloc into a solid and unimpeachable unity. No longer is there fear and resentment between the North kingdoms, no longer conquest and devastation.

Today, the Scandinavian countries are allied in a faster confederacy than the United States of America. There is almost complete similarity of laws. Educational systems are identical throughout the countries, marriage laws are the same, extradition of criminals from one of the nations to the other is an automatic legal function — not a discretionary one as in America. More than these factual evidences of unity, Scandinavia has evolved a similarity of taste and culture that is equalled in no other group of nations in the world. A Dane is a hundred percent more similar to his Swedish neighbor in morals and culture than a Southern American is to his countryman from above the Mason-Dixon line.

The Scandinavian countries have found the answer to the world's most ancient problem: How to Keep the Peace. They have done it through honesty and fair play. It is as simple as that.

Contrast, if you will, the Scandinavian unity against Russia with the recent Anglo-Turkish Pact. For weeks, the world doubted on which side of the fence Turkey would topple. First, it appeared that Russia would draw the Dardenelles into her massive orbit; but, then, at the last minute Turkey changed her mind--decided to remain loyally with the British "Allies". This decision strangely coincided with an English loan amounting to a quarter billion dollars. Thus, the symbol of Anglo-Turkish friendship becomes a dollar sign. How permanent is such a friendship? How trustworthy its guarantees?

Can you imagine the predicament of the average Turk? His government has just sold his very life blood to the highest bidder. It must be a pleasant feeling.

Scandinavia has proved that international politics can be conducted on a basis of frankness and friendship. When will the rest of the world heed this great lesson? The answer lies hidden from us today. Perhaps when the great current conflict is over? It is strange that so many allegedly Christian nations cannot understand Christianity's most fundamental tenet: "Love Thy Neighbor".

Liquor Clean-up

Upset in the city's political situation this week was Buron Fitts new investigation into alleged corruption in the local liquor trade.

Regular readers wil remember a piece in the Eagle editorial columns a few weeks ago denouncing "the liquor situation" on Central Avenue. Thus, the Fitts investigation looks good to us.

For a long time, L. A.'s liquor trade has needed a careful scrutinizing. However, there is one suggestion we would like to make the District Attorney's office. While corruption and graft may flourish outside and around the little bottles, there might be even greater cause for alarm inside them, especially the brands sold throughout the Central Avenue district. Just a hint.

• ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

ON THE political horizon . . . — The substance of Col. Chas. Lindberg's speech circulated through the press a few days ago was nothing more or less than a warning to white people in Europe and the Americas that a fight to the bitter end between them bespeaks the end of western civilization.

Our indigents should be provided for with whatever it takes to make them comfortable and happy, but the enactment of such proposals as the Ham and Eggs measure is simply robbing Peter to pay Paul—and then hijacking them both.

Digest this, if you please:

California, to the rest of the United States, is a sort of political Madison Square Garden — perennial battleground for new economic proposals.

So said quiet, thoughtful Supervisor John Anson Ford today, upon his return from Washington, D .C., where he attended a conference on inter-American cultural relations called by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Listen to the admonition of the man who tries to be on the side of the people: Results of Ham and Eggs 30 Thursday were felt today by 1100 deputy registrars of voters, who claimed they were gypped 50 per cent of their wages. Mrs. Margaret C. Farrell, spokesman for the group, complained their county paychecks show a reduction from 10 cents to five cents for each voter's registration they obtained.

"We had to cut corners in meeting the expense of this extra Ham and Eggs election," explained Supervisor John Anson Ford.

MORE ABOUT HAM

The betrayal of sincere but gullible old people would be pitiable. But the fact that the YOUTH OF CALIFORNIA, for the rest of life, would be ground down under the enormous tax burden necessary to pay off for our folly—the cost of rebuilding prostrate business and industry, of refilling empty public treasuries with real money earned by the sweat of youth's brow, means tragedy equally stark. Unless such impossible something-for-nothing fantasies are done away with for good and all, unless the problem of reducing deficits, instead of creating new ones, is sensibly attacked, history can give this generation no defense when posterity accuses it of the betrayal of its own youth.

BISHOP OPPOSES 30-THURSDAY

The Right Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, bishop of Los Angeles, today addressed to all clergy of the Episcopal diocese a letter in which he foresaw sharp curtailment of all church activities, as well as jeopardy for the state's economic welfare, in passage of teh "30-Thursday" plan.

The noted churchman suggested that all congregations be urged to consider fully implications of the measure both as Christians and as good citizens.

His message said in part: "In my opinion the economic welfare of California, as well as the church life in the state are in jeopardy. My sincere concern over the effects of this proposed Amendment to our Constitution causes me to take this means of urging you to urge those with whom you come in contact to exercise their franchise on Nov. 7."

FOOD STAMP PLAN

"The food stamp plan will be entirely voluntary." Such was the announcement of Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough's office today, upon his return from Washington, D. C. where he had conferred with Mr. Philip McGuire, vice president of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, and Mr. James S. Allen, director of the Food Stamp Commodities corporation, concerning participation of Los Angeles county in the plan.

As announced last week in a telegram from Supervisor McDonough, the plan has been assured Los Angeles county following a survey by Federal authorities. This survey of relief conditions in Los Angeles which will be under the supervision of Mr. Jonathan Garst, regional director of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, division of the Department of Agriculture in Salt Lake City, will be for the purpose of informing local relief officials how the plan operates to adapt the plan to local conditions and to obtain cooperation of local banks, wholesale and retail merchants and relief agencies.

In discussing the success of obtaining the plan for Los Angeles county, (which plan will be administered by the Department of Charities), Supervisor McDonough said today, "Demands for installation of the Federal Food Stamp Plan in all parts of the United States have overtaxed the personnel of the Federal Surplus Commodies corporation and Los Angeles county is fortunate in being considered ahead of many other counties in states of many large areas".

Information contained in the statement issued by Milo Perkins, president of the FSCP on Oct. 10, will be of interest to local growers and merchants. Mr. Perkins stated that about one quarter of the stamps are being used for butter and another quarter of them for eggs. Approximately one per cent is being used and divided in the purchase of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Another American Problem

Editorial from The California Daily Bruin, issue of Oct. 20.

(Editorial from The California Daily Bruin, issue of Oct. 20)

YESTERDAY we were perusing the many exchange college newspapers which come into our office every morning from all over the United States. By chance our eyes fell on the editorial columns of the UNIVERSITY DAILY KANSAN, student newspaper of the University of Kansas. Not only our eyes, but our spirit fell after we had finished reading. Content of the editorial thoroughly convinced us of the necessity of directing our energies and attentions away from foreign wars to our internal American difficulties like minority prejudice.

Provocation for the DAILY KANSAN article was provided by the fact that a production of "Emperor Jones" with an almost all Negro cast will soon be presented on the Kansas campus. The writer was highly enthused and surprised at this event taking place on "a campus where the Negro problem has not been solved but merely ignored." His elaborations of the status of the Negro students on the campus made us acutely conscious of the tremendous task before this country's citizens in making the United States a working democracy.

DISREGARD FOR STUDENT

Incomprehensible to us is the utter disregard with which the Negro student is evidently treated at the University of Kansas. How can we possibly turn away from the American scene when such pretty phrases as "all men are created equal," "minority rights," "civil liberties," etc., are, for the most part, meaningless?

"The sad plight in whice the University Negro finds himself today is due, not so much to prejudice, but to sheer negligence on the part of the school authorities regarding his social and physical welfare." This sort of "neutrality" has given us today's national problems. There can be no neutrality, no neglect in our internal war. There's plenty of fight here at home in removing this kind of American difficulty.

DAILY KANSAN continues: "The Negro student body lacks organized life. There is only one large party a year given by the school, and very few activities are possible in such a disorganized group. In regard to athletics, the Big-Six rules bar him from competition, and local rules keep him out of intra-mural athletics.

PARTICIPATION FORBIDDEN

Negro students enrolled in physical education are not allowed to swim or engage in games with white students. Negroes take no real part in student government, nor do they have an organization to lend that unity which is so vital to any group."

The editorial writer of the DAILY KANSAN has proposed certain measures to alleviate the above conditions. Sad part about these measures is that they overlook the fundamental trouble and merely encourage more racial segregation only under better circumstances. Throwing the University of Kansas' Negroes a bone in the form of "a complete athletic program," "a permanent committee to supervise their social program," "a Negro district which would insure at least one Negro representative on the Student Council each year," will certainly make life happier for the individual Negro, but will it improve relations between Negroes and whites? We doubt it.

SEGREGATION NOT ANSWER

All the segregation in the world, no matter how pleasant it may be, will not bring about happy relations between minority and majority groups if tolerance of each for the other is lacking. Universit of Kansas might be nearer a solution if it directed its program towards having universal participation in all activities—whether participant be Negro or white.

If white students had the opportunity to mingle with Negro students, both woul soon find a broad plane of mutual interests. Acquaintance and friendship would make each group realize the basic human qualities of the other, the similar likes and dislikes, the same human needs and desires.

Only when there is full understanding can there be tolerance. And understanding can only be attained when opposing factions meet on the common ground of friendship.

• The LAUNDRYMAN

A situation which has recently arisen in Washington, D. C., as the result of "pressure tactics" brought to bear upon chain-stores by militant members of our group is worthy of sober consideration. According to Associated Negro Press reports, since the Negroes of Washington, D. C., won the famous "Right-To-Picket" ruling handed down by the Supreme Court, chain-stores located in Negro neighborhoods have simply upped and mvd their stores into white neighborhoods whenever picketing tactics have been resorted to by our group.

The press report states that within the last year, fully one-third of the chain stores of the Sanitary Market Corporation—a company which dispensed standard brands at exceptionally low prices—have either liquidated or removed altogether, rather than yield to picketing pressure.

It would seem therefore, that although our group won the decision as to picketing rights, yet the victory has proven a barren one so far, because it has not changed the employment situation in localized communities where hundreds of Negroes spend, but cannot secure work therein. The press report further remarks that the only people who have profited are the small-time Jewish merchants who operate in Negro sections. Freed of chain-store competition, they have the field to themselves and are making hay while the sun shines. Needless to say, neither their prices or the quality of their goods are on a par with those of the vanished chain stores.

The lesson to be drawn from this situation might be amply illustrated by the familiar saw, "Don't cut off your nose to spite your face." Militancy is vitally necessary in certain instances, and is alright up to a certain degree; but it should be balanced and directed by good commonsense and discriminating judgement. Carried too far, it becomes a boomerang and defeats its own aim.

In our Negro business section nere in Los Angeles, we have been very fortunate. Four of the largest chain store companies in the State have a number of our group employed as sales-people. In the final analysis, it will largely depend upon the alertness and ability of these Negro employes to render first-class service, as to whether the Negro sales-forces employed by these various corporations will be augmented or diminished. The quality of service which they render will ultimately prove a more potent argument for larger Negro employment than pressure tactics.

Militant agitation no doubt was instrumental in opening the doors of employment to them, but they must blast a road for themselves and for other Negroes for the rest of the way; blast it by courteous, prompt services, attentiveness to the need and desires of customers, and mindfulness in sustaining the business reputation of the corporation which employs them.

Exhibition of selected Chest posters and carteons in the Annual contest of the art classes of junior, senior and evening high schools will be held at the Los Angeles Junior Museum, Exposition Park, for two weeks, beginning Oct. 30, when honor awards will be made.

Dr. A. H. Giannini, general campaign chairman, and Miss Shirley select the Chest slogan for the appeal.

• GUEST EDITORIAL

We Have Common Interests; Let Us Make Common Cause

By William L. Patterson, from The Chicago Daily Record

"Early in the week, I was one among a number of guests at a banquet in celebration of the first anniversary of the entrance of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company in Chicago. The Golden State Mutual a number of insurance companies organized by Negroes doing business in Illinois.

A cross section of Negro life was present. There were insurance men, newspaper men, doctors, lawyers and business men. From each section the story told was a strangely similar one. From each section the story told was a strangely similar one. The pressure of monopoly upon Negro America weighs like a cloak of iron.

The main emphasis was against the discriminatory practices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. It refuses to sell certain policies to Negroes. It rigidly refuses to hire Negroes other than in the most menial positions.

It will not extend loans to Negro business; it will not rent to Negroes where it is a property owner.

Its record, on the whole, is in all respects un-American and subversive. For it is equally clear from an analysis of the Metropolitan Insurance Company that is is the enemy of the American people as a whole.

Those Negro business men were discussing their economic needs and difficulties. But what was so clear to a careful listener was that they were also discussing deep-rotted political and social problems.

Does not the Metropolitan strike at our political and social system when it segregates, jim-crows and caricatures us? Most assuredly it does.

An acceptance of this truth brings us, it seems to me, logically to recognize the common interests binding those of us who are both Americans and Negroes together. Ours is a people's Movement. This is profoundly true and crystal clear when we see that the press of reaction retards our development in every sphere of American life.

Economically, politically, culturally, we are forcibly and tyrannically held back whether we be businessmen, professionals, politicians or what not. We are bound by ties of common persecution. Is it therefore not realis- that we get together?

Most assuredly there will be difficulties in this. Each section of Negro America must be ready to make some concessions to the other. But on the basic and principal issues we can meet around a minimum program of action. We must if our sons and daughters are to be Americans in the real meaning of that great term.

Again, I say, let the Negro press come forward to lead in this struggle. America today calls for genuine national unity. We too are for this national unity, but not as second class citizens.

• LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A CORRECTION

The Editor:

I desire, through your paper, to make a correction about a statement that was made at the National Baptist convention which recently met in Philadelphia. However, I want it understood in the beginning, that my contending for policy and principle is no fight against any individual.

In this statement, I am endeavoring to preserve my own integrity, which is valuable to me. I have been connected with the National Baptist Convention since 1899, and have been loyal to all phases of its works, and as pastor of one of the best churches in our denomination and as president of the National Sunday School and BYPU, auxiliary to the National Baptist Convention, incorporated. I am not accustomed to making wild statements anywhere for the sake of argument, but in an endeavor to set an example to those that I lead and always to try to practice the Golden Rule with my fellowman in the spirit of Christ.

Now the statement at issue: When the committee made its report on amendments to the constitution at the National Baptist Convention on Saturday, a constitutional point of order was raised which would prevent any amendment being made to the constitution after the second (2nd) day of the Convention. However, the president of the convention states that the constitution would have to be amended in accordance with the provision of the constitution. Of course, that means that the amendment would have to be adopted next year at Birmingham, Alabama. The president further stated "I would like to have an expression from the convention on these proposed amendments the committee has offered." By common consent it was agreed.

When the clause in the report, that referred to the women's auxilliary of the convention, requesting them to amend their constitution which would remove the name of the National Training school at Washington from its objective, I objected to the motion to ask a question.

My question to the president was this: "Since the convention through its board of directors, has withdrawn its support from the school because the attorney said it was not legally connected with the Women's convention under the old charter and now since the Charter has been changed and made into a bi-racial board which gave the southern white women five members on the board and the northern white women three members and our own Women's convention nine members with the name of our auxilliary in the main part of the charter, what was his reaction as to the equity of the women's convention in the School at Washington now."

The president stated that he would let lawyer Jackson's letter of January 12th to Dr. Fuller answer my question. I said, "I am not talking about the old charter, but the new charter." To this, the president stated that the charter was changed last November, which I begged to differ that it was not changed then. But he insisted that it was changed and turned to that great audience of delegates and the public and stated "that what Rev. Jernagin said about that is not true," and therefore put the motion without giving me an opportunity to substantiate my contention; and the delegates and the audience went away with the impression that I was making a statement about something of which I had no knowledge, when in truth, I was more familiar with the change of the charter than anyone on the platform, including the president himself, except the secretary of the trustee board, Rev. I. A. Thomas, who was there, and would have substantiated my contention but was prevented. I had a certified copy of the charter in my briefcase in my room and would have explained that had I been given an opportunity, but being the last day of the business of the convention, there was no way left open for me to inform the delegates and the public as to the accuracy of my statement but through the public press, which I regret to have to do.

The new charter was not even signed by the proper authorities for a change until January 20, and was not accepted and filed for the change until February 13, 1939. I am allowing the record of the Recorder of Deeds to substantiate my statement.

Office of the Recorder of Deeds, District of Columbia.

"This is to certify that the foregoing is true and verified copy of Certificate of Amendment and Certificate of Incorporation of National Training School for Women and Girls, and of the whole of said Certificate of Amendment as filed in this Office the 13th day of February, A. D., 1939.

"In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of this office this 13th day of February, A. D., 1939.

"W. J. Thompkins, Recorder of Deeds, D. C."

The above proved my contention that the charter was not changed in November 1938, since no charter is changed until it is accepted and filed by the Recorder.

Finally, I will state that it is my honest opinion that when these controversial matters in our denominational work occur, it would be an educational asset to our constituency if all persons concerned who have valuable information on both sides were permitted to discuss these questions in the spirit of Christ without being charged of being an enemy or opposed to the administration, our constituency would be better informed and we could demand a greater cooperation in our denominational activities.

I am suggesting that petty jealousies, both in the auxiliary and the parent body stand adjourned which would enable the leaders of both conventions to reach more of the unreached talent and influential members of our denomination to assist them in carrying on in a finer way the great program that should be put over by the largest organization by Negroes in the world.

A Wasted Yesterday

Tomorrow never rolls around
Should you wait 'til you're gray;
Reflect and see today may be
Awasted yesterday.

The call to service you ignored;
Kind words you failed to say
Now sleep, mind you, with winds that blew
Some other yesterday.
Procrastination is absurd

When fields are ripe with hay;
Soon stars will gleam and sirens scream
A wasted yesterday.

VOL. 60 — NO. 30 | LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, NOV. 2, 1939 | PRICE 5 CENTS

POPE'S ACTION NEW HIGH IN PAPAL RECOGNITION OF BLACK SUBJECTS

Negroes Among 12 Missionary Bishops Consecrated for First Time in History

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 2—Marking the first time in Vatican history that a pontiff has consecrated a member of the race, two Negroes were among 12 missionary bishops consecrated Sunday by Pope Pius.

According to United Press dispatches, the Negroes were Msgr. Joseph Kiwanuka from Uganda and Msgr. Ignacius Ramaros Andratana from Madagascar. Among the 12 also were one Hindu, Msgr. Rocco Agniswana of India, and one Chinese, Msgr. Thomas Tien, apostolic vicar of Yangku.

Other nationalities represented were Swiss, Italian, Spanish, Danish, Mexican and American. The United States representative was Msgr William O'Shea of the Markknoll mission.

TOLERANCE 'SIGNIFICANT'

The Polish ambassador to the Holy See sent a note to Luigi Cardinal Maglione, secretary of state, declaring that the Polish government considered null and void the anexation of Polish territory to Germany.

Continued Catholic tolerance in racial matters was pointed to as "significant" in view of nationalistic ideologies now in vogue throughout central Europe and Italy itself.

Consolidation of native Catholics throughout "uncivilized" areas has been achieved through a consistent policy of recognizing local religious leaders. However, the appointment of two Negro Bishops by Pope Pius is a new high in papal recognition of black subjects.

Returns Here After Visit With Kin

MRS. LILLIAN GORDON

Mrs. Lillian Gordon, wife of the prominent young attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., who returned this week from a visit in San Antonio, Texas, with relatives.

Mrs. Gordon is a daughter of Charles Bellinger, late San Antonio real estate magnate and political figure. Bellinger was reputed to be one of the richest Negroes in the world, at one time caused a national sensation when he built a splendid mansion in the center of S. A.'s most exclusive white residential section. Some citizens protested to the city's Mayor, who responded "Charles Bellinger can build anywhere he d—— pleases!"

It was through the great Negro realtor's political influence that many benefits were acquired by San Antonio's black populace. Educational facilities, sanitation, street pavements in the black belt are all attributed to the titanic influence of this remarkable man.

During the World War, Bellinger operated a taxi service to accomodate thirty or forty thousand Negro soldiers stationed near San Antonio. Now sold, the concern is still successfully operating.

Mrs. Gordon, when interviewed this week, stated, "I had a lovely time, but how glad I am to be back!"

Lynch Bill Call Monday

MOB BILL WILL COME UP IF CONGRESS STILL IN SESSION -- GAVAGAN

Bill's Sponsor Says It Will Come Up If Neutrality Legislation is Disposed of

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2 — The federal anti-lynching bill will be called up in the House Monday if neutrality legislation has been disposed of in the Senate by that time and if Congress has not yet adjourned.

This announcement was made today by Representative Joseph Gavagan, sponsor of the bill in the House. At present the bill occupies a preferred position, standing first on the House calendar of legislation that is to be taken up during the regular session of Congress.

Representative Gavagan's announcement followed a statement issued last week by the National Asosciation for the Advancement of Colored People, which said in part:

"We do not intend to try to have the bill brought up during the special session of Congress unless it is clearly indicated that other legislation than Neutrality will be taken up by Congressional leaders."

Coincident with Gavagan's statement the NAACP issued a call for funds to support the anti-lynching fight, to meet probable emergency action in order to save the bill. The long filibuster waged against the bill in 1938 under the leadership of southern reactionaries left a large deficit in the NAACP anti-lynching fund.

The association also announced that more than 115,000 petitions calling for pasage of the bill, had been received to date.

Cops' Attack on Man Stirs Citizenry

L. A. Attorney Called to City to Fight Charges

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 2—Not within recent years has the Negro population of this city been stirred as it is now over the alleged brutal assault and beating of Leo True Renfro, 36, by Officers Vernon Furry and Benjamin Vanderpool of the Bakersfield City police. On the night of Oct. 8, according to Renfro's story, the policemen dragged him from his automobile and assaulted him with revolvers and night sticks, beating him into insensibility. Miss Thelma Miller, white reporter for the Bakersfield Morning Herald, saw the accident and wrote a graphic story in her paper the next morning.

Her vivid account of the beating stirred the citizenry of Bakersfield. Negro citizens have organized a Citizens Protective committee and called Atty. Curtis C. Taylor of Los Angeles to Bakersfield to take charge of the case and to head an organized movement to fight for the legal rights not only of Renfro but for the other Negro citizens of Bakersfield.

Taylor, who spent Monday in Bakersield investigating the case and conferring with citizens and officials, returning to his office Monday night, told reporters that when he conferred with Renfro in the Bakersfield County Jail the man's arm was in a plaster cast and his face and head showed evidence of a terrific beating. Renfro has been charged with possesion and transportation of narcotics, a charge which was filed, according to his attorney, several days after he had been beaten by the police and the story had been exposed in the daily papers. Taylor said that he is convinced that the charge is a frame-up and

REALTY PREXY

President of the only Negro Real Estate Board in the United States is Frank J. Whitley, above. With offices at 5504½ S. Central avenue, Whitley heads the local board which participated in the National Real Estate convention here last week.

Whitley came to Los Angeles from Kansas City, Mo. in 1921 and fitted himself for real estate by studying law, familiarizing himself with the aspects of the legal profession which govern real estate transactions. In recent months, Whitley was instrumental in pledging officers of the California Real Estate association to break down segragation barriers in the buying and selling of real estate.

Active in civic affairs, Whitley served as president of the Los Angeles Forum during 1938-39.

OLDEST DEMOCRAT TO CAST VOTE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—The oldest Democratic woman voter in Allegheny county will cast her vote in the special election on Nov. 7. She is Mrs. Mehalie Meadows, 101 years old, ex-Virginia slave.

Jurors Unable to Make Up Minds

A hung jury last week was the result of the trial of Archie Jones accused disturber of the peace in an "S" trolley car a few weeks ago.

At the time of Jones arrest there was much furore due to charges by him that the "S" car conducor had struck him on the head with an iron handle. The altercation between Jones and the conductor resulted from the latter's refusal to accept the colored man's assertedly irregular transfer.

During the trial last week, the conductor testified "I hit the n——". Atty. David W. Williams, attorney for the defense, immediately protested the epithet, Judge Ray Brockman became incensed with the witness for his usage, demanding from him a public apology to Jones.

The street car company presented eight witnesses against Jones, while the defendant depended on his own testimony entirely.

Eight jurors held out for Jones' acquittal, while four were convinced he was guilty. New trial is set for Nov. 30.

Chicago Mayor Tells 'Why' of Bousfield Job

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Assertedly self-designated leaders of Chicago's 250,000 Negro citizens received a rebuke last week from Mayor Edward Kelly. Following ceremonies which inducted into office Dr. M. O. Bousfield as the first Negro member of the Board of Education, the Mayor was waited upon by a committee, come to express their "gratitude" for the "honor" accorded a Negro citizen.

"But I didn't appoint Dr. Bousefield BECAUSE he was a Negro", Mayor Kelly rebuked them. 'Dr Bousefield was selected by my advisory committee because he was the ONLY man, regardless of race or color, qualified to fill the vacancy. His color didn't influence his selection in the least. His qualifications merited the post."

Young Specialist Announces Opening of Office on Avalon

Dr. Ronald N. Jefferson, physician, surgeon and specialist in infant's and children's diseases, announced this week the opening of his office Saturday for the practice of medicine at 4317 Avalon blvd.

Dr. Jefferson lives with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Jefferson, at 2134 West 30 Street.

The doctor has had extensive preparation for the specialist service he is now prepared to give.

After receiving his M. D. degree from MeHarry Medical college, Nashville, Tenn., Dr. Jefferson did work at the Provident hospital in Baltimore, and later served as resident physician in Pediatrics at the Provident hospital in Chicago, as a result of which he was granted a two-year fellowship in Pediatrics at the University of Chicago and followed his speciality at the Children's Memorial hospital of Chicago, and at the Municipal Contagious Diseases hospital of Chicago.

For some time Dr. Jefferson was in charge of premature and new-born service at the Provident hospital, and was assistant in charge at Provident Infants Clinic.

As a result of his researches, he, together with Dr. Roland B. Scott, is co-author of Admitted to the practice of medicine in Maryland, Illinois, and California, Dr. Jefferson is a member of the Chicago Medical Society and a Fellow of the American Medical Association.

'Boy Friend' Fires Shotgun Charge at Reunited Couple

The "boy friend" almost disrupted reconciliation plans of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Brown last Saturday night, police said this week.

Deciding to go back together after a separation of some six months, Brown, who lives at 11611 Hugo street in South Los Angeles, and Mrs. Brown, of 1727 East 42nd street, ran into difficulty with the latter's boy friend when said boy friend fired two shots at the couple, according to police reports.

It appears that Paul Lawrence Ballou, 22-year old laborer of 3313 S. Central avenue, who assertedly had been living with Mrs. Brown at the East 42nd street address, accompanied the reunited pair to that address to get some of his belongings.

When Mr. and Mrs. Brown came out of the house, ostensibly with Ballou's belongings, Ballou is reported to have said, "Hold on there!" and fired a shotgun charge which struck Brown in his hip. Police reported a second charge was fired at Mrs. Brown but missed its mark.

A brother of Mrs. Brown, William White, attracted by the shots, wrestled with Ballou and disarmed him. Ballou fled but later voluntarily gave himself up at Newton street station.

Booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, Ballou, who was accompanied by his uncle, told investigating officers R. C. Washington and C. W. Smith, "I didn't shoot at Mr. Brown. I was shooting at her (Mrs. Brown). I didn't mean to try to kill them; I only wanted to scare them."

Police said that Ballou had followed the couple in a car in which they recovered a shotgun and a rifle.

LABORER'S WIDOW GETS $4650

KANSAS, Kas., Nov. 2.—The widow of a laborer, killed on a Public Utilities project in July this week was awarded $4,000 compensation, $150.00 funeral expenses and $500.00 hospital expenses. The widow is Mrs. Blance Simmons; her late husband, Arthur Simmons.

DR. JACOBS UNDER OBSERVATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Dr. Harold Jacobs, son of the late Bishop Frederick M. Jacobs of the AME church, is under observation in the mental ward of the Brooklyn county hospital after he assertedly attempted to attack a woman physician, whom he was examining.

Claims No Brain in Man's Head

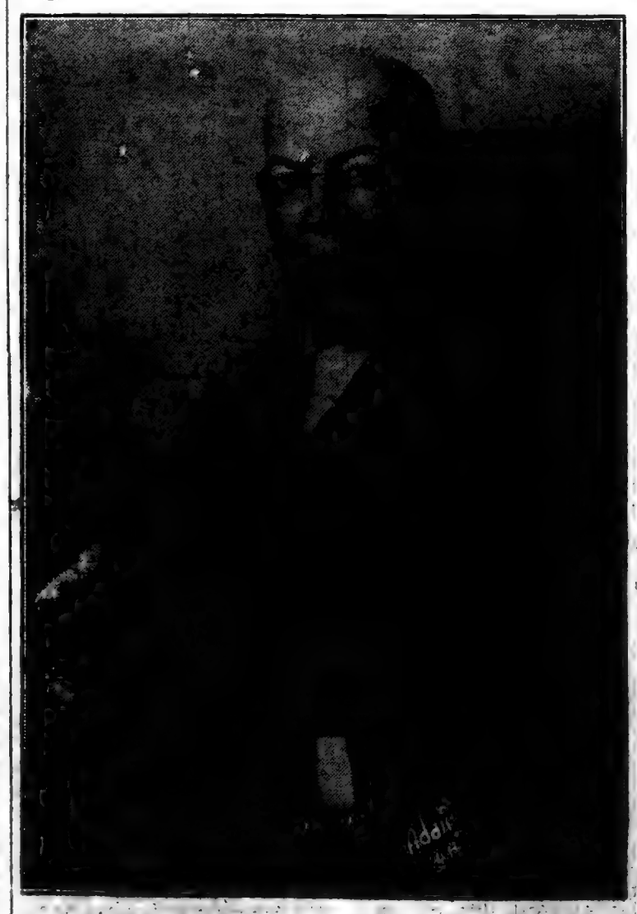
ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Nov. 2—An undertaker, testifying in a coroner's court here, claimed that when he embalmed the body of Louis Woods, 77, there was no brain in the head.

As Woods, struck by an automobile, had died at Homer G. Phillips' hospital here where authorities had stated death was due to pneumonia. An investigation is being conducted.

Norman O. Houston Urges "Yes" Vote on Proposition 5

"If the oil industry of California, one of the greatest sources of wealth for this state, is to be perpetuated, it is essential the people register a decisive 'Yes' vote on Proposition 5, the Oil and Gas Control Bill, at the Nov. 7 election," it was declared today by Norman O. Houston, secretary of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company.

"Naval experts have declared that if present wasteful operation methods are continued the oil fields of California will be exhausted in 30 years," Houston continued.



"This would mean that the huge payrolls that are now supported by this industry, as well as the wealth which comes into this state through sales of oil and oil products, would come to an end and thousands of families now supported directly or indirectly by this industry would have to find other means of livelihood.

"Common sense tells us," Mr. Houston stated, "that when our great politically opposite Democratic President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Republican former President Hoover and former Secretary of the Interior Wilbur meet on common ground to jointly approve Proposition 5, we should not be confused by the misleading statement of a minority group of oil operators.

"Oil is a natural resource. Once gone it never can be replaced. I therefore urge all those who have the welfare of California at heart to protect the income that now is derived by the production of oil to vote 'yes' on Proposition 5," Houston concluded.

REV. T. L. GRIFFITH SR. RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Rev. Thomas L. Griffith sr. pastor of Second Baptist church and veteran religious and civic leader, was rushed to Methodist hospital last night suffering from pneumonia.

JOSEPH BLACKBURN BASS—Late editor of The California Eagle who died Nov. 1, 1934. "J. B.", as he was affectionately known by all his friends, left an empty space against the sky when he died four years ago. Mr. Bass was a great student and scholar, a shrewd and experienced politician who "carried the ball" for racial progress through many administrations in Kansas, Montana, and California. However, we like best to remember him as the big man whom all recognized as friend. No, "J. B." is not forgotten, for he was a truly BIG man.

NOW DE SCRIPTURE SEZ:

That "thy gates shall be open continually". But for some perverse reason, my aunt just keeps on insisting that about the only gates that are open to most folks now-a-days are the gates to the relief stations!

Yours until the nations shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks.

—EUGENE HENRY HUFFMAN

On the sidewalk

by c. a. b.

I HAVE ALWAYS been a consistent church attendant. When I was too young to decide for myself, my mother decided for me. I remember very well that often Sunday mornings, especially in the Spring, when the sun made little golden pin lines between window and shade in my room and the birds united in a tuneful invitation of song and scene to come out and make merry, I longed to be free. But mother, who was chief magistrate of our humble, but well organized home, always decided that Sunday morning and Sunday school were the order of the day, and while I silently disagreed with her ruling, today I look backward and say she knew best. But with me there has always been a craving to become more closely associated with the birds and trees and all that makes up the great out of doors. It was this urge that prompted my cross country trip last May in an automobile.

While I was not so fortunate as Columbus in discovering a new world, I discovered many valuable things—first, that after many long year's struggle in the big city, there still burned in me a desire to become intimately acquainted with God from without rather than from within—the big city.

"Look at that clump of trees! Aren't they pretty? Let's stop there if just for a moment!"

"What's that?"

"Just a strong current whistling through the trees."

Soon we left behind this pleasant scene and travelled down what appeared to be an endless road, on either side of which lay an ocean of brown stubby hay. Grazing on the bosom of these long stretches were sheep, great flocks, too numerous to count. They were so like the hay they consumed in color that it was not without difficulty that we distinguished them from their surroundings.

Among the sheep, however, appeared to be a leader whose others followed closely without a dissenting word or backward glance". In fact, from among this animal family, symbolic of gentleness in the scripture, about the only sound one ever hears is an occasional Bah! Bah! delivered by a baby who has lost connection with its mother. Man, God's son, would do well to follow the sheep in this example of leadership.

But the long road has an end. After many dips and curves, just as night's curtain is drawn over the earth, other lights, artificial ones, begin to flicker across the low, rolling hills.

We are tired. The day has been exceedingly warm.

Wondering how much longer before we reach a place to stop, almost simultaneously we chorus "What's that?"

There on the side of the road in a little gulley a dim light tremblingly winked. We dropped down from the side of the road into a little cabin site. Tooting the horn brought forth a little, shriveled man. "Got a place for us tonight?", we asked.

"Yes, Wait until I get a light to show you how to get in—"

"OK"

Presently the little figure appeared with an old fashioned lantern. Between his wrinkled brow two beadlike eyes searched the faces before him. He stood stock still for a moment and then said feebly "If you're colored folks, you'll have to go on up the road."

Roads change from coast to coast and so do thoughts. I left the little spot asking myself the question: "What price color prejudice and who pays the bill?"

Last July, while addressing a meeting of both whites and Negroes in Richmond, Virginia, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, charged this nation with the responsibility of educating all the people of the nation for better citizenship.

The little man in the gulley was looking for business. He needed it to keep body and soul together, but his need was minimized by his prejudice. He had always heard that there were two social lines with regard to black and white in this nation that should not be crossed: eating and sleeping together. Furnishing a night's lodging in in one of his cabins, to him stood for breaking through one of these social lines—and after all, we cannot hold this man responsible for his attitude. He is but a spoke in the great wheel of race and color prejudice. Like Mrs. Roosevelt, many others before her time have felt that something should be done about the disregard shown the U. S. Constitution and its amendments in certain sections of this

Testimonial Given Nannie Burroughs

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 28—One of the most elaborate banquets and testimonials ever given one of our race by the people of the District of Columbia was tendered Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, president of the National Training School for Girls, last week at the Mount Carmel Baptist church, Rev. N. H. Jernagin, pastor, as a climax to a three-day session of the Baptist convention. Officials of all auxiliaries and departments participated.

More than 200 special guests, representing all sections of the city and vicinity, sat down to beautifully decorated tables to a feast that was "fit for the gods." A purse of $100.00 was placed in Miss Burroughs' hands amid thunderous applause.

KEEP CAR WINDOWS OPEN WHEN DRIVING

Now that cold weather may be just around the corner, motorists should avoid the habit of driving with all of the car windows closed, warns the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. At least two windows should be lowered slightly from the top to insure proper ventilation.

Closed windows not only expose the occupants of the car to the danger of carbon monoxide issuing from leaks in the exhaust system but also make it difficult for the driver to hear horns, train whistles and other warning signals.

Mrs. Bessie Gilmore Hostesses Mu-So-Lit Club at Party Den

Mrs. Bessie Gilmore was hostess Thursday to the Mu-So-Lit club in the monthly open meeting at Camille Party Den. Mrs. Dorothy McDonald assisted the hostess in receiving the guests and members. The surroundings were decorated in Fall colors and with Fall flowers.

A musical and literary program, arranged by Mrs. L. C. Mickey, program chairman, was presented. F. E. Kay reviewed a book. Mrs. Estelle Porter, recently returnd from a five months' stay in Honolulu, was guest speaker and was well received.

The hostess was happily surprised with many cards and gifts in observance of her birthday. Luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Humphrey will play host to the club on Nov. 9 in their W. 36th place home. Gladys Allen is president; L. Randall, secretary, and R. C. Jackson, sponsor.

SPANISH ORPHANS ADOPTED BY BODY

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Two Spanish orphans, refugees of the Spanish Civil War, have been adopted by the Negro People's Committee to Aid Spanish Refugees, through the efforts of Richmond Barthe, Negro sculptor, and other artists, and will be supported for a year in the Children's Colony in Southern France.

J. WELLINGTON HOLLAND

SIGMA LEADER

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 2.—Plans for the coming Grand Chapter meeting of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity in San Antonio at Christmas are in the hands of J. Wellington Holland, Chairman of the General Arrangements Committee. A San Antonian by birth and a graduate of Wilberforce University, Holland is Instructor of Chemistry at the Phyllis Wheatley High school, where the Kappas will have headquarters. He is also Commissioner of the Alamo District of the Boy Scouts. Mayor Maury Maverick, the only Southern Congressman to vote for the Anti-lynching Bill, will be one of the speakers at the conclave.

Cuts Woman Who Called Him "Names"

Stating that he cut her because "she called him names that he did not take off anybody", Willie M. Oakley, 34-year old janitor of 1635 East 43rd street, was arrested last Sunday morning by radio patrolmen C. W. Wheeler and Walter Coleman and booked at Newton Street station on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Answering a call to 1171½ E. 35th street that a "man had just cut a woman in her home", officers found Mrs. Annie Oakley suffering from a cut in the abdomen.

Searching Oakley, they found in his shoe a pocket knife he allegedly used.

Duke Sparks Jordan to Victory

With Hubert Duke, the flashy Negro halfback, soarking a fourth quarter offensive, Jordan High school's Bulldogs overcame a 6-point lead last Friday afternoon at the South Los Angeles school to beat South Gate 13 to 6.

Duke, who had been sitting on the bench with an injured ankle, entered the game in the last period and aided in working the ball down to the South Gate 6-yard strive where Alfred Daniels took it over for the initial score.

Peter Thompson, Bulldog quarterback, retrieved his own fumble a few minutes later and ran 55 wards to pay dirt. Duke kicked the extra point.

South Gate scored its lone tally i nthe second period when quarterback Eddie Anderson went over from the six-yard marker.

Riis' High's defending Eastern league champions, who took a 20 to 7 lacing last Friday from Bell's Vikings, will play host to Jordan tomorrow afternoon. Game time is 2:30.

Community Chest Seeks 3 Million Dollars in Drive

Undertaking to raise $3,221,420 to be expended for services in 88 agencies, the Los Angeles Community Chest campaign fired opening shots this week in a campaign destined to be the greatest in the city's history.

This year's goal is approximately the same as was asked by the Community Chest in 1927. Since that year, the population has increased at least 50% with a consequent increase in social problems and human needs. During the past few years, however, agencies have not had a corresponding increase in funds to meet the demands made upon them. Last year's $2,517,000 was less money than that collected during the first Chest campaign fifteen years ago.

In the past year hundreds of cases have been turned away. One hospital alone reports a waiting list of six months in advance of children in need of tonsillectomies . . . a necessary health procedure that effectively cuts down on future, costly health problems. Because of lack of money only a fraction of the boys and girls in our community are reached by character building, leisure time activities in group work agencies. There is a great need for more preventative work in the community, and the extension of those services which keeps homes from breaking up, prevent dependency and chronic indigence. Social and human needs too long unmet and neglected only add to the social problems of the community, resulting in future increased needs and a material increase in total welfare costs.

One of the reasons the Chest fund has not kept pace with growth in population is the fact that thousands of people give to the Chest once what they would give to one agency, forgetting to base the size of their gift on what they would give if approached 88 times during the year.

Eighty-eight Chest agencies spend annually in this community more than $5,250,000. The money raised by the Chest is the cogwheel which sets in motion the expenditure of this money on a business-like, efficient, economical basis. The difference between the amount furnished by the Chest and total agency expenditures comes from endowment, earnings and from those who can afford to pay part or full cost of services rendered.

Services of Chest agencies do not duplicate those of Government agencies. They continue in their endeavor to meet growing demands for services they have always given in the fields of family welfare, child care, health, and opportunity to young people.

The major objective of every Chest agency is prevention of dependency and disease, the building of self-reliance in people. These preventive services are of the utmost importance to the city since they definitely reduce cases which otherwise might become charges of public-tax-supported agencies.

The thesis that the government should do it all is contrary to every American tradition, diametrically opposed to all that we believe right and good in the American way of living. We have long accepted the fact that mass relief of the unemployed and the indigent can only be financed through taxes. But there are services given by private agencies which can be given better than through Government agencies . . . services which deal with an individual as an inrividual whether it be through hospitals, family or child care agencies, health agencies or youth organizations. Government agencies must be bound by rigid laws and rules. To be most constructive and lastingly helpful, social services cannot be so bound. Any contention that Government take over all social welfare is a theory that, if accomplished, would at one stroke deprive us of the right and privilege of voluntarily meeting our own community social problems by the best method calculated to preserve our American traditions.

What Price Patriotism!

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Nov. 2—What price patriotism A. young man living in New Jersey, seeking to serve his country by enlisting in one of the branches of the service, directed a letter of inquiry to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, expressing his desire and soliciting her assistance. The letter was turned over to the navy department, bureau of navigation, and under the date of July 28. 1939, he received the following:

"Dear Sir: Your letter of 26 June, 1939, addressed to Mrs. Roosevelt, relative to duty in the navy, has been forwarded to this bureau for reply.

"After many years of experience, the policy of not enlisting men of the colored race for any branch of the naval service except the messmen branch was adopted to meet the best interests of general harmony."

Hitler and War Forces Robeson to Change Mind

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—When Paul Robeson sr., famed singer and actor, vowed in an interview with the Soviet Press several years ago that his son, Paul jr., would never be educated in American schools, he did not foresee the possibility of Hitler and War.

Last week when the S. S. Washington arrived, carrying Americans stranded in war-torn Europe, on board were the Robesons and their son. Enrolled this week in a New York public school was Paul jr., now 13 years old.

Robeson paid his first visit to America since relinquishing his citizenship for Great Britain, early last Spring. Returned to America, he has commenced rehearsal on "John Henry", stage play, which will open a Broadway run on Dec. 27.

Force Board to Abandon Books of Ridicule

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2—The long fight waged by the Women's Civic League of this city to introduce books into the local school system that tell the truth about the Negro citizen and his relationship to American life, bore fruit last fortnight, when the superintendent of schools, Will C. Crawford ordered principals to withdraw "Little Black Sambo," a kindergarten story read by pupils in the third grade here.

Crawford acted after the league forced the issue, calling for an investigation. Crawford told the league following an investigation that the book had been used arbitrarily, as it was not listed as supplementary reading in the school list of such books.

The superinjendent told a delegation of league members headed by Mrs. J. E. Craft, that he would be glad to receive suggestions of books about Negroes, simplified for use in the lower grades.

country.

But always in our political, industrial and religious pastures, there are leaders, mostly self appointed, who lead their sheep (the American public) to the slaughter of racial antagonism.

Instead of attacking the real issues that cause the divisions in our ranks, the office seeking politician draws upon the race question in shrieks like those of the one-string fiddler to the end that the people's attention be diverted away from the real problem.

Throughout the South, politicians have centered their campaigns upon the Race Question for years. Great orators there have spent entire careers in verbal defiance of a mythical white supremacy. The mediocrity of southern statesmanship is recognized throughout America. By electing Race baiters term after term, the South has robbed itself of the intelligent, progressive leadership which it so sorely needs. Southern senators waste time deliberately in the United States Congress to deliver heated attacks upon Negroes. These sermons are attended by two or three representatives and serve only to clog the wheels of democracy. The southern Senator knows all this; understands that not one of his hearers takes seriously his ungrammatical eruption of slurs, lies, and accusations. Why, then does he speak? The Southern Senator speaks only so that his words may be distributed at federal expense among his constituents, for he knows that some Red Herring must be dragged across his trail of legislative incompentence.

Then, there is our sheep leader No. 2: the industrialist. Here is a very subtle fellow. Once again, in order to distract from the real issue, the employer often stirs racial enmity among his workers. If the mob is kept sufficiently occupied with interracial quarrels, it certainly will not take time out to examine a possibly faulty economic structure.

Also, reasons the industrialist, if race prejudice is perpetrated, he may be able to continue the sub-normal wage paid colored workers. He may be able to maintain that sub-normal wage level without revealing that it injures the white worker every bit as much as it does the black one. For, with such a body of destitute workers dragging the floor of the economic system, the general progress of labor is surely effected.

One of the cleverest strategems known to industrial reactionaries is the maintenance of a wall of race prejudice between workers with common problems and common needs.

Supplying the needed note of divine approval, we find the American clergy standing pat behind the program of politician and industrialist. The very fact of a separate, segregated church is a contradiction to the basic preachment of Christianity.

Except in a few outstanding cases where clergymen have distinguished themselves in the work of bringing about interracial understanding, there is a tremendous ecclesiastical wall defending spiritual aspects of American Race Prejudice. For years, southern pastors taught and preached that black people were not quite human and therefore not subject to Christ's statement that "all nations are of one blood". Today, there are few who cling to this faded theory, although the general foundations of intolerance are still tacitly defended by the average U. S. minister.

Thus the bogey-man of racial prejudice renders the politician incompetent, the industrialist unscrupulous, and the minister a hypocrite. The great mass of white people are led into intolerance and bigotry without knowing it, and the great mass of black people are prodded into weary submission.

Who pays the price of race prejudice? WE ALL DO!

3 Negroes at Demo Dinner

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2—When the Democratic party's annual dinner for campaign fund was held at the Penn Athletic club here, three Negroes, Austin Norris, State Legislator Crystal Bird Fausett and Rev. Marshal L. Shepard, were among over 100 persons paying $100.00 per plate for their dinner.

Mrs. Fauset is the only Negro woman in a U. S. state legislature and Rev. Shepard is the famed prelate in the midst of whose prayer at the last national Democratic convention, Southern delegates walked out.

MARGARET SCOTT HOSTESSES LA BONITA CLUB

Miss Margaret Scott was hostess recently to a party for La Bonita Bridge club members and friends and honoring Mrs. Stella Wilson, prize ticket seller for a cocktail dance.

The evening was spent playing bridge, following which a buffet supper was served.

Guests of the evening included the club members, Miss Georgia Brown, Mrs. Fannie Holmes and Misses Kay Harris, Sallie Foster, and Bonnie Adams of New York city; Messers. Ely Johnson, Henry James, Gilbert Broach, Elridge Cary and Drake.

Mrs. Laura Johnson carried off first bridge prize; Mrs. Myrtle, second; Mrs. Fannie Holmes and Henry James, guest prizes.

The party was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mosby, 9233 Baird avenue.

Solemnize Harris-Simpson Nuptials in Garden Ceremony at Foundation

The wedding of Miss Ruby Harris, of 1241 Glen Avenue and Clinton Lee Simpson, Jr., was solemnized by the Reverend Karl Downs in a beautiful garden ceremony at the Garner Music Research Foundation Sunday at two-thirty o'clock.

Wearing a seed pearl halo attached to a filmy veil and a beautiful gown of white chiffon over white taffeta and carrying a prayer book with a shower of gardenias, the bride was a picture of elegant simplicity as she came through the garden on the arm of her brother Paul Harris. Her only attendant as her sister Miss Kathryn Harris, who was charming in a gown of pink chiffon over pink tafeta, carrying a shoer boquet o asters. The little flower girls were Babbs Walker and Patricia. The bridegroom was attended by his boyhood friend and classmate, Lloyd Owens.

Ruby Harris was born in Pasadena and is a graduate of John Muir Technical High School. A faithful member of the Pasadena Community Sing Association and The Garner Chorus, Ruby as she is affectionately called by her friends and co-workers, has done much to help promote the work at the Garner Center. Little wonder that her pride became joyous as she mentioned some of the activities that had been hers to promote at the Center during the past six years.

Miss Freddye Ward, pianist, preluded the wedding service with a half hour of appropriate music. Mrs. Josephine Cooper, soprano, member of the faculty at the Center sang "Oh Promise Me", and Mrs. Netta Paullyn Garner played the Wedding March.

The sun had set in the western hills, the afterglow twilight and the full autumn moon had raised her lamp above when the legion of friends, members of both races, had extended their final congratulations.

Jefferson Evening Hi Offers Courses in Negro History

Jefferson Evening High school announced this week the beginning of many new classes for the current semester. Three new teachers joined the faculty last Wednesday. Mr. Tucker, who has toured the country on debating teams with the University of Chicago and Northwestern University on the problems of the Negro, offers a comprehensive course on the Negro in American history. In his course in world problems Mr. Tucker discusses with the aid of radio news broadcasts on Tuesday and Thursday the difficult problems arising from world wars and neutrality imbroglios together with national economic ideas for pensions and security. He also advises in a course called personal regemen how to adapt oneself to his job by personal regimentation.

Oral speech and personality development are offered by Mrs Brown, well known resident of Los Angeles, who knows the problems of the modern young woman in adapting herself in the duty of hostess, stenographer, business woman, or housewife.

Other classes opening Monday and Wednesday are bookkeeping and accounting by Mr. Ford, English for the foreign born and 10th Grade English by Mrs. Brown. All classes are free to the public.

INCREASE EARNINGS

Miss Brooks, experienced worker in the co-operative marketing field, began Tuesday to show her students how they might materially increase their incomes through scientific raising and marketing of poultry and rabbits in their back yards. With the cooperation of the S. E R. A. consumer education movement in Los Angeles, this promises to be an outstanding feature of the school.

Pace is New Bantam King

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—The world has a new bantamweight boxing champion today as a result of the abdication of Sixto Escobar, National Boxing association kingpin, who will enter the featherweight ranks.

Twenty-three years old and a carbon copy of his tutor, Johnny Kilbane, the new champion answers to the name of Georgie Pace.

Kilbane, who was the featherweight ruler from 1912 to 1923, discovered Pace on a city playground fight show. The new champion had 64 fights as an amateur, winning 60. Turning pro in 1936, with Tom Stanley as his manager, Pace has won 28 bouts and lost one.

Pace qualified for the NBA title by reason of the fact that Escobar refused to fight him and also because he has licked several boys who have beaten the Puerto Rican.

HERCULES BEGINS NEWS SERVICE

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Oct. 26. (HNC)—Returning here from New York City several days ago where he served as director of the Calvin Newspaper service, Eric L. Hercules, who had been associated with the late Floyd J. Calvin as feature writer, opened up offices in the fashionable M. I. C. building last Monday and has organized a news service bearing his name. Hercules, who recently wed the youngest daughter of Professor and Mrs. Robert L. Douglass of Johnson C. Smith university, was educated at Wilberforce and McGill universities. He has had considerable experience in the field of journalism and having traveled extensively likes the idea of giving to the public the constructive and progressive side of Negro life.

All Bousfields Are Educators

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Synomous with the word education in this city is the name Bousfield. With the appointment last week by Mayor Edward Kelly of Dr. Midian O. Bousfield as the first Negro member of the Board of Education, the entire Bousfield family became affiliated with Chicago education.

Dr. Bousfield's wife, Mrs. Maudelle B. Bousfield, became, with an appointment early in the Fall, Chicago's first colored high school principal, head of the Wendell Phillips high school in the heart of Chicago's Southside. His daughter, Miss Maudelle B. Bousfield, recent graduate of the University of Wisconsin, is now a teacher at Phillips.

About Bill and Fannie Robinson: To sell or not to sell is definitely not their problem, me hearties! Hasty note from Fannie denotes her amused indecision whether to be annoyed or cigarette ads. aid director! Luther, you know, goes merrily on knowing practically all of Chicago's flexible population. When they arrive here 'tis dependable Luther who goes to social bat. The man actually LOVES it, what's more.

With the energetic pre-opening of the New Negro Theatre season, Langston Hughes, at work on a novel at Carmel, will doubtless hie himself back to town for the flurry. The group played host Saturday eve last at a benefit cocktailer, at the home of the Ivan Johnsons, incidentally. A good bit of the village roster on hand, wandering in and out, much to their how-dee-do delight!.

Nice, very, again getting to see the Charles Matthew's (handsome couple), the Jeff Fowlers, tall, tan and terrific Ollie Terry, Ralph Vaughn (his Betty was ill at home with a cold), Dr. Cliff Gordon, the de Lavallade-Bratton duo, the Howard Allens (Howard, still lamenting his recent hunting trip flop) and others.

Mentioning Cliff Gordon: Somehow, Cliff reminds me more of Toby Carroll, in Oakland, than Toby does himself. Always gay and amusing, the latter is even brilliant at times. Neither subtle nor profound, he's still the best company in the world. As is Cliff.

Josephine Harreld, the pianist presented so very successfully last season by the AKA's, will return to our local concert stage sometime later in the season. Catherine Wilson goes east for an indefinite stay at this pennning. Plans are afoot for the formation of a local chapter of the national Girl Friends. It will be the first this far west. Frisco will doubtless set up another chapter, later. Splendid idea, and one which I've long wondered over.

Toki Schalk, Bostonian extraordinaire, arrives in early June for a few months cavorting. She'll board-an'-bunk with Chappie Blodgett. Also slated for an early June arrival here are the Sinkey Bournes, of Gotham. Sinkey in his few spare moments, admits impatiently his discovery of Helen Humes, Basie's vocalist.

Whatever happened to all that flurry about Marian Anderson's supposed altar plans with Dr. Razz (NY) Fisher? Jay Clifford, busy suing Britisher Cecil Beaton, is perhaps Fisher's closest friend, but Jay wearily confesses even he knows narry a thing about it all.

Recalling recent mention of Dick Huey's (hoped) visit next summer: For the wee hours, once there wasn't a place in Harlem that could colorfully compare with Dick's now-extinct cellar. There was always a delicious atmosphere of slight quarrels, and gossiping. Everyone drank a lot of red wine and discussed what Gerry had said and what Ruth had said and how Bill had thought it was marvelous anyway.

Ah, time.

Fred Avendorph, back in Chi, writes that he, too, will be out for the summer. (Gosh won't ANYONE stay home next summer?) Fred further inquires after Henry Starr. Henry, if memory serves is in Oakland. . .Social minded villagers, looking forward to an early arrival of Jimmie Lunceford, will learn here Piggie will NOT be out. Lunceford and Ellington are rather on the top-drawer side when it comes to their social life, you know.

This Dept. is sorry war broke out if for no more reason than deah Reggie Forsythe, vaguely supposed to revisit these shores sometime soon, won't. Few individuals anywhere are more colorful than deah Reggie. With his mink-lined greatcoat, malacca and amazing British accent, Reggie never fails to stun anyone within a visible radius. And, of course, there's his whimsical piano brilliance.

kin of shelton brooks arrive

The Dunbar hotel registered Sunday Mrs. Alice Boyd and Miss Thelma Jackson, both as residents of New York City. The visitors are mother-in-law and sister-in-law respectively of Shelton Brooks, noted songwriter and pianist of stage fame, now making his home here.

Mrs. Brooks awaits the arrival of other kinfolk while traveling by auto due here Thursday, when all will make known their intentions to reside permanently here. In the party to arrive today are Mrs. Shelton Brooks, wife of the songwriter, Shelton Brooks, jr., his finance, Laura Sepriano, Jack Scott and Anson Brooks, nephew of the writer of "Some of These Days" and "Dark Town Strutters Ball". Brooks is busy adapting the theme of the last named song for an all sepia film story.

Florence Mills Theatre Looted

Sometime between 12 midnight and 12 noon Wednesday of last week, the office of the Florence Mills theatre, 3511 So. Central Avenue, was burglarized, Albert Snadow, theatre manager, reported to police this week.

Snadow said the man or men hid themselves in the theatre and after it closed used a small screwdriver to open the door to the office, ransacked two desks and escaped with $10 in small change.

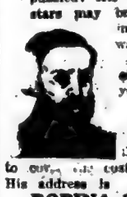
Laundress Betrothed to Prince Found in Newark

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—"Princess" Harriet Mercer, Harlem laundress who gained fame with the story she was going to Paris to become the bride of an African prince, was discovered in a Newark, N. J. hideaway by reporters last week.



Employing a pair of dark glasses, Miss Mercer said she had escaped identification be reporters when she returned to New York from a fruitless juant to Europe, four or five weeks ago. A laundress no longer, Miss Mercer is employed as a waitress in a Newark tea room.

The young woman created a nation-wide stir when she announce dearly last summer that she was going to Paris to become the bride of one Prince Batuola, famously rich African. The two had met, she said, at a social function given for the royal personage on a recent visit to America.

Reporters saw the young lady off on a steamer to France, but later received the sad news of a rift between the Prince and his American sweetheart. The war, current scapegoat, stood in the way of the wedding, Miss Mercer stated, but the two will plight their troth after the "international" complications have been smoothed out.

5th Housing Project in City Planned

Nicola Giulii, chairman of the City Housing Authority, announced today the appointment of an architectural group to prepare plans and specifications for the fifth slum clearance and low-rent housing project to be undertaken by the Authority. The architects comprising this group are: George J. Adams, Ralph C. Flewelling, Eugene Weston, Jr., Lloyd Wright and Lewis Eugene Wilson.

The site selected by the Authority for the proposed project is in the Utah area on the east side of the river—an area revealed by the Housing Survey to be extremely substandard in housing. Approximately 330 slum dwellings will be demolished by the Authority on the site before construction on the new housing project may be undertaken.

The men named recently completed the plans and specifications for the Ramona Village Project, also on the east side of the river. Bids in connection with the Ramona Village Project will be opened on November 8, with construction slated to start about December 1.

NAMES FOR PROJECTS

Giulii also made known the fact that names have been officially selected for three projects covered in an application for financial assistance, which was forwarded to the United States Housing Authority last month. These projects have heretofore only been designated by numbers, or the general locality in which they are to be constructed. The names are as follows: "Rancho San Vicente" for the project of 200 dwelling units to be constructed in the Sawtelle area. "Rancho San Pedro" for the propect of 296 units to be built in the harbor district. "Pueblo del Rio" for the 400-unit project in the southeast section of the city.

Will Enforce Compensation Law in State

George G. Kidwell, chairman of the Industrial Accident Commision, announces that a statewide program to rigidly enfor e the compulsory requirements of the California Workmen's Compensation Law is being launched.

The 1939 legislature put new teeth in the Compensation law by requiring each employer to conspicuously post at his place of business his insurance carrier's name. It is mandatory for the court to assess a fine of $300 in cases of persistent failure to procure compensation insurance and also the Industrial Accident Commission is authorized to enjoin the operation of an employer by court order until insurance coverage is secured.

NAACP Wins First Round Md. Teacher Salary Case

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2—In a three-cornered fight waged here in the United States District Court, Thursday, growing out of the case of Walter Mills, Camp Parole, Md., school teacher who is seeking to force the county school board to pay him a salary equal to that of a white teacher doing the same work, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, whose attorneys are representing Mills, came out on top.

At the hearing Thursday, both the local and the state boards of education were fighting to be absolved from connection with the case. In addition the county board took the position that if it was involved then the state board was involved too. The county board expressed its position by issuing a thrid party complaint. The hearing was held to give the state opportunity to argue its motion to dismiss the complaint.

DOUBLE RULING

Arguing that the question of the state board of education and the other state officers was decided in the former case heard last March before Judge Chestnut, who ruled that the case should have been brought against the county board of education Attorney-General for Ma asked for a dismissal third-party complaint. The ruled against him.

The Court also ruled the county board's attorn attempted to argue for al of the NAACP's original plaint. The NAACP attorn gued that no such motion be brought up without not them.

The Court ruled that the officers and other defe should all stay in the actio the final hearing.

The Court's decision m that when the case come for trial November 9, bot Maryland State board of cation and the Anne Ar County board of educ against whom Mills is bri the current action, will b fendants.

Mills is represented by L Ransom, professor of law Howard University Law S William H. Hastie, dean Howard Law School; W. Hughes, Jr., of Baltimore Thurgood Marshall, special sel for the NAACP.

MILDRED J. WALKER

Speaking of brilliant and interesting people: Mrs. Velma Watson Duke, dramatic soloist, was presented in a recital by the Young Women's Club at the Hamilton Methodist church Monday evening and held the audience spell bound when she sang Negro songs by our great Negro composers: Coleridge Taylor, J. Rosamond Johnson, William Dawson, Harry T. Burleigh, R. Nathaniel Dett, Edna Heard, Harvey Brooks, William Grant Still and Hall Johnson, whose ingenious arrangements have helped to win for us great distinction.

We also had the honor of meeting four of the composers who reside in our city, Edna R. Heard, Harvey Brooks, William Grant Still and Hall Johnson. The latter three accompanied the artist when she sang their arangements.

Mrs. Duke wore a black velvet gown with off shoulder straps, and brilliant metallic silver on shoulder straps, her corsage was of tiny pink roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Melba Hannah, an accomplished musician, and organist at the Avalon Christian church was the accompanist. She also presented several instrumental numbers. She wore a black gown of flat crepe with a dainty bolero jacket with criss-cross silver metallic stripes.

Another brilliant and attractive young lady is Miss Rose Alberta Bairpaugh who has recently come to our city with her mother, Mrs. R. A. Bairpaugh from Great Falls, Montana to make their home with their sister and daughter, Mrs. J. R. Carnes of 251 N. Bonnie Brae. She is an interesting pianist, and is a member of the following organizations: The National honor society, the Quill and Scroll International Honorary Journalistic Society, and a member of the Forum Girls Debate Society of Great Falls. Miss Bairpaugh is employed at the Eagle in the Advertising department. We are glad to welcome her to our city.

The Lilac Girls social club met at the lovely home of Miss Freta Myers last evening. The president is Mrs. Anna Washington, and the members are Mrs. Jennie Nesby, Mrs. Hazel Jenkins, Mrs. Alire Cotton, Mrs. Ella Cotton, Miss Freta Myers, Mrs. Myrtle Robinson, Mrs. Sarah Cage, Mrs. Adelene Williams, Miss Velva Peden.

The guests were Miss Minnie Whittenberg and Mrs. Addie Bradford. A delicious luncheon was served and the fun loving group played bridge until far into the night. First prize was won by Hazel Jenken, second prize went to Ella Cotton and Dora Johnson won the booby. The next club meeting will be the second Friday in November at the home of Mrs. Nesby on 25th street.

We are very happy to know that Mrs. Bessie Cole of 5104 Compton is recuperating from her injuries received in a street car accident. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

At her hospitable home on 49th street, Miss Charlie Cotton entertained the G. & H Girls club the other evening. All members were present and the guest included Mrs. Ruth Castron and Mrs. Addie Mae Curry.

Chauffeurs Frolic at Pre-Hallowe'en Fete

Chauffeurs frolicked last Thursday night in a pre-Hallowe'en dance at the LaVada Ballroom with the Colored Chauffeur's association as hosts. Members of the committee in charge included R. Bennett, U. S. Griggs, J. Walter Thompson and James Snow.

La Verne Floyds Fete Young Set

The younger set was entertained last week at a surprise party given by Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Floyd of Griffith avenue for their daughter La Verna. 16 young guests celebrated La Verno's 14th birthday. A turkey luncheon was served.

"Gridiron Frolics" Staged Tomorrow

Commemorating the ancient rivalry between Jefferson and Polytechnic High schools, the Junior Elks will present "The Gridiron Frolic of 1939" tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock. With music by George Brown, "Wizard of Swing", teen age socialites will "jitterbug" in the Elks' ballroom.

Jeffersons first string, favored in the altercation at Jefferson tomorrow, will be special guests of honor.

Surprise Birthday Party for Well Known, Veteran Eagle Employe Ends Three Weeks of Preparation

Clinfaxing three weeks of preparation, Mrs. Erline Solomon, well known in fraternal and church circles, entertained 75 guests Saturday night at a surprise birthday party for her husband, William M. Solomon, veteran California Eagle employe. Held at the couple's beautiful home at 1433 E. 48th street, the party featured a sumptoous buffet supper and birthday cake, three decks tall.

MRS. W. M. SOLOMON

W. M. SOLOMON

Mrs. Solomon had laid her plans well. Her husband, beloved as "Poppa" Solomon to EAGLE employees, was completely surprised. Returning from the theatre, he was scared almost out of his wits by the gathering of laughing friends.

Following supper, the piece de resistence of which was turkey, presents were opened with fitting ceremony by Mrs. Anna Morrow and cards read by Miss Belle Patton. Assisting Mrs. Solomon were Messrs. Lloyd Brooks, Horace Gordon, and James Rayford as waiters. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Evelyn Gordon, Mrs. S. P. Johnson, hostess; Mrs. Lillian Overr, assistant hostess. Serving were Mmes. Elmira Spencer, Jane Caviness, Stella Rayford, Florence Brown, and Clara Overr.

ENTERTAINMENT

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Mildred Jones at the console of the baby grand piano. Near the party's close, Mrs. Morrow fittingly sang the favorite, "The End of a Perfect Day." Departing, the guests wished Solomon many more "happy returns of the day."

Present were friends from Los Angeles and Pasadena, including: Mmes. La Guila Shaw, Venita Evans, Elizabeth McNeal, Daisy Watson, Martha Hardimon, F. P. Burns, Elsie Hollins, Franklin, Rix, Clara Cotterell, Louise Key, F. B. M. Brown, Eula Myers, Cravens, Adele Ashford, Charlotta A. Bass, Mozelle Te Outley, Leola Wilson, Ida Standard; Misses Belle Patton, Ruby McKnight, Bobbie and Bettie Lee Jones.

Messrs .and Mesdames Le Carroll, James Harding, Edmonds, Henry Burton, Henry Van Meter, James Woods, J. Fowler, Virgil Morrow, Sherman Overr, Herbert Mills, A. R. McClanahan, Wm. Butler, D. C. Settles, G. W. City, S. P. Johnson; Messrs. Walter Morton, Eugene Everett, L. C. Settles, R. S. Gordon, McAdams, Wm. Spencer, Charles Rufus, Otis Whiszar, Bill Lawson, John Kinloch, R. P. Solomon, Leonard Howard and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Settles.

A special present was received from Chauncey Northern, New York singer, who was the Solomon's house guest on a visit here last summer. Rev. T. L. Griffith, pastor of Second Baptist church of which Solomon is a member, was unable to be present because of illness.

Alpha Bowling Club and Friends Frolic at Club Alabam Jamboree

Halloween's night boasted no gayer social event than the Jamboree at the Club Alabam at which members of the Alpha Bowling club, the city's premiere men's social group, and their friends frolicked.

With peppy tunes by the California Rhythm Rascals, Dance Master Willie Covan was presented, and with him, a revue by his most apt pupils.

Guest of honor was Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle, adopted by the club as its 'Mother.' In appreciation of "Mother," the boys presented htr with a beautiful white reading lamo and a bouquet of flowers. At Mrs. Bass' table were her nephew, John Kinlóch, Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Jordan.

CROSS-SECTION

One of the most active groups of its kind in the city, the Alpha Bowling club is composed o a cross-section of civic and social-mnded young men from all over the ounty. Zenith Bradley, 1544 W. 36th place, is president. The complete club roster follows:

JAMES L. ARMSTRONG

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—George A. Parker, Dean of the Terrell Law school and national director of education of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, after much deliberation, today appointed James L. Armstrong, socio-economist, to head the National Essay and Poster contest to be held in conjunction with the fraternity's Silver Jubilee Conclave to be held here Dec. 27 to Dec. 30.

● CLUBS

The Tuxedo Social club met Oct. 19 at the home of Charles Jenkins in Hollywood. Roy Norman will be host to the club tonight at his home, 1608 W. 35th street. Richard Asbury is president; Charles Jenkins, secretary.

The University club of UCLA held its second meeting of the year Saturday evening at the home of Miss Gwen Jones. The meeting was called to order by the president, Tom Bradley. Following the discussion of university business, officers for this year were elected as follows: Tom Bradley, president; William Wynne, vice president; Willa Ashford, secretary; Hugh MacBeth, treasurer; Leonard Jewell, parliamentarian and Bette Yarbrough, reporter.

The meeting was then adjourned. Several visitors were introduced, and lancing and refreshments followed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Jo Gaines.

Company Officers Honored With Natal Party; Clerical Force Hosts at Hallowe'en Party

Last week-end was one of compensating social relaxation and fellowship in the assembly room for the hard working forces of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company. The fun began Friday evening with five officers being completely surprised with a party celebrating their several birthdays all occuring in October.

The birthday honorees were George A. Beavers, Jr., vice-president-director of agencies; Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer; Edgar J. Johnson, assistant secretary; Dr. H. H. Towles, medical director and Dr. F. T. Moore, also of the medical staff. With the exception of Johnson, each was "fooled" to the party believing it was solely in honor of Johnson, who, in turn, came to an agency get-together. Not one of them was aware of what was happening until the assemblage began singing "Happy Birthday" and calling each honoree's name

PRESIDENT'S IDEA

The idea of the party, originated by William Nickerson, Jr., president-manager of the Company, was carried out by A. J. Williams, supervisor of the Los Angeles district, iwth the help of the respective wives of the honorees and Mrs. Milton Alleyne, wife of the superintendent of L. A. District 10, Mrs. William Nickerson, Jr., and Mrs. A. J. Williams who will be long remembered by the celebrants for the salad. The five beautifully decorated birthday cakes were made by Mrs. Alleyne. Each boasted 21 candles and the name of the honoree.

A program of cards and dancing prevailed. At the intermission, greetings from the various staffs and departments culminated in a tribute to the work of the men by the Rev. Dr. E. W. Moore of Pasadena and responses by each honoree expressing appreciation and adding humorous details of the way each was induced to come to the party at the given time by their respective wives.

Clerical Force Hosts Co-Workers and Friends

Saturday night, black and orange invitations, were presented at the assembly rooms by masked guests of the Associated Office Employees to their Hallowe'en Frolic honoring friends and representative members of other Golden State departments.

The rooms converted into a modest hall by manipulating the sliding doors were decorated with a network of black and orange streamers and lanterns. The appropiate atmosphere lent itself easily to dancing from ten until two with the guests making intermittent trips in their various masquerade attire to the Hollowe'en barrel for cider and to the pop corn containers.

Directly responsible for the success of the party were Mmes. Eola Johnson, chairman of the social committee; Thelma Duncan, president of the employees organization; and Miss Adabelle Rivers of the social committee. Approximately 100 guests were entertained.

MRS. EOLA JOHNSON, popular young matron who is chairman of the social committee of the Golden State Associated Office Employees who entertained their friends and co-workers at a Hallowe'en Frolic Saturday evening.

Harmony Bridge Luncheon

Opening their Fall social season, members of the Harmony Bridge club hosted a bridge luncheon last Thursday at the Mus-Art Studio. One hundred and eight ladies were bidden.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Carrie Lewis, Miss Helen Black, and Mrs. Bennie Fair of Seattle; Mrs. Maude Woodruff of Denver and Mrs. Mary Carter of Portland, Ore.

Bridge prizes were won as following: Mamie Jewell, first, Dorthela Matthews, second; Louisa Roan, third; Capitola Robinson, fourth; Addie Holloway, fifth; Lottie DeVaughn, sixth; Lillian Jones, seventh; Mamie Waugh, eighth; and Bernice Fair, ninth.

Officers of the fashionable group are: Vernal Barnett, president; Jo Carper, secretary; Chloe Courtney, treasurer. Members are Louaida Hunigan, Stella Lay, Mattie Chase, Emma Morris, Edna McPherson and Millie Hopkins.

WOMEN PLEDGE "TRUE NEUTRALITY" VIEW OF WA

GOOD HEALTH

By RUTH J. TEMPLE, M. D.

From week to week we shall be happy to bring you through this broadcast the opinion and expressions of your community on this problem of health. This with youth. And each weeicttf week we have talked chiefly cidently we hope to talk a great deal to youth because youth and health and beauty of body and mind are usually very closely related.

While up in Val Verde hills yesterday I was pleased to see Gloria Russell and her little chum. I was surprised as these girls stopped and talked at length about the importance of health. They spoke of interesting plans which they are making with other juniors of the Community Health Association for a backyard picnic on the next "Third Sunday Community Health Day."

Mrs. Dudley, genial wife of the owner of the Dudley Inn at Val Verde, while not a youth gave a health story which youth can well consider. She stated that last summer she had been suffering with serious "fainting spells," and as she and Mr. Dudly were on their way up to a mountain resort in Arizona that she had one or two of these attacks. Mr. Dudley carried her up to their proposed camp. Here Mrs. Dudley forgot business worries, forgot "shop" and responsibilities and went to bed with sun down and lounged and rested each day. And during the entire remainder of her trip and since then up to the present date she has been feeling "just fine."

Now it is plain that many "fainting spells' are caused by serious physical conditions which would make a trip to the mountains dangerous—and no sane person should attempt to treat "fainting spells" without a most thorough examination by a competent physician. But it is equally true that very often competent physicians would find no medicine and no treatment was need save a few days out of tokn where the clear mountain, desert, or sea-shore air could make a new person out of an old.

All people need to live more in God's great open country and less in man-made cities. But especially is it true that the Negro race needs to learn the value of trading the dance hall, the pool hall and the card table for a small mountain cabin and the great wide fields and hills.

Thousands of dollars could thus be saved and hundreds of lives spared. One good form of health insurance is a day out of doors once in each week.

Try this prescription and write to our station telling what your results were.

Signing off until next week. Your announcer, Ruth J. Temple, M. D.

Baking for a Family of Thousands

Those accustomed to dealing in family size baking will be amazed at Ralph's huge bakery at 3617 W. Washington blvd. It supplies 27 Ralph's stores with 7500 times the bread used by the average family; uses a whole fleet of trucks to rush bakery delicacies to you oven-fresh.

Immaculate cleanliness is the first essential in Ralphs Bakery. The 85 men and women employees wear spotless white. Hardwood floor throughout the building add to the consideration shown employees and maintains absolute sanitation for the products. Here with bread making almost wholly mechanized bakery items are produced in mammoth quantities every day except Saturday.

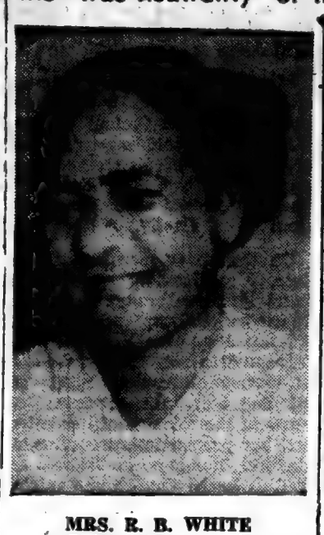
From giant mixers which handle enough batter for 90 dozen cup cakes at a time, to speed-increasing gadgets like a pump which punches holes in cream puffs and squirts them full of custard in a single motion, machinery makes possible this mass production.

BREAD-MAKING

Most impressive of the automatic equipment from the standpoint of size is that which handles thousands of loaves of bread daily. From the blending and aerating of the flour to the final slicing and wrapping, thermostatically controlled machinery and equipment does most of the work. Each department of the bakery is placed in the most efficient location.

DOUGHNUTS, TOO

Raised and cake doughnuts each have their particular sections in the building. The latter are made fro mthe beginning by machinery, even the sifting of the confectioner's sugar. The raised doughnuts are both fried and sugared by hand.



The feminine employees are prominent in the pastry room where cakes and cookies are featured. Some pour your pastel icings onto petit-fours and then garnish them with pastry bag. Others quickly ice cakes on a turntable with butter frostings and a spatula.

I may be somewhat naive in my convictions, but I feel that, if women really did their part against war, there wouldn't be any. And I think this applies to German, Italian, British, French, American women—women everywhere.—Mrs. Bennet Champ Clark.

men's Political Study club, meeting in its 10th annual state convention last Thursday and Friday at the Second Baptist church, passed five resolutions of local, state and national significance.

Opposition to a change in the procedure of Los Angeles County old age assistance was registered. The California Senate and Assembly was commended for passage, at the last session, of legislation barring aliens from the relief rolls and Gov. Culbert L. Olsen was scored for his veto of the same bill.

Resolutions were also passed in support of trade unions and organized labor and against Proposition No. 5 on Tuesday's ballot.

OCCUPATIONAL PATTERN

In her annual message, delivered Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Hill was concerned with the changing "occupational pattern" and advised her listeners that "training is the best answer to discrimination."

"Whatever your work," she said, "dignify it to the extent that you will receive recognition from it."

A pageant, "justice", written, by Mrs. Hill, who also composed two songs which were sung at the sessions, was staged by the ladies as a highlight of the banquet Thursday night in the Second Baptist church dining room. The pageant was in keeping with the banquet's theme, "Equal opportunity in the Army, Navy and Aviation for our youth."

136,000 HOMES

THE AVERAGE HOME in Los Angeles uses about 72½ kilowatt-hours of electricity every month.

In the same period of time, the Los Angeles Railway purchases locally and uses 9,860,748 kilowatt-hours.

That's enough electrical power to light and operate all the appliances in 136,000 homes—much more than one-third of all of the dwellings in Los Angeles—or all of the homes in cities the size of Washington, D. C., or Kansas City. Purchased here, paid for here, used here—the money expended for that electrical energy creates jobs and builds payrolls.

Nearly 10,000,000 kilowatt-hours every month—more than 100,000,000 every year.

Quite an asset to any city. . . . All of us in Los Angeles would go a long way to bring another industry here which would buy and use such a huge amount of electrical power.

n. y. swing arranger here

Localites Sunday doffed hats to Don C. Nunez, noted east coast arranger of "swing" orchestrations, who is here on the coast as advance man for the noted entertaining quartet of sepia artists known as Three Sharps and A-Flat. The young musician left the Dunbar hotel Tuesday where he was registered, for San Francisco, where the quartet is scheduled for an early engagement.

Nunez ,only recently resigned from the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C. While occupying the post with the Federal government, he served with Leonard Smith as associate arranger for the Howard theatre. He is now connected with Music Corporation of America. His excellent arranging talents have been employed by several leading "swing" bands units, including that of Louis Armstrong.

The young musician is of West Indian parentage, and possesses a jovial and engaging disposition. The Three Sharps and A-Flat quartet which he manages, are currently filling an engagement at Denver's swank Embassy Club. Other appearances of the swinging sepians include those at New York's Waldorf-Astoria, and Chicago's Sherman hotel. Nunez will return to Los Angeles following the San Francisco trip this Saturday. Movie and recording deals are in the making here.

UCLA Bruins Drill for Bear Tussle Saturday at Coliseum

Passing by Jackie Robinson and improved punting by Bruin kickers may be noticed Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Coliseum when UCLA plays gridiron host to their northern California relatives, the California Bears of Berkeley.

Coach Babe Horrell has had his charges drilling on punting and passing all week, for word comes from the North that the Bears boast a ground attack that bears watching.

Although not the passer that his running mate, Kenny Washington, is, nor Chuck Fenenbock either for that matter, it is believed that Robinson may prove an added offensive threat if he adds the role of passer to his gridiron repertoire.

The Bruins will probably be favored Saturday but observers who saw the one-time Golden Bears outcharge a strong USC line last Saturday in the first half are of the opinion that the Bruins may have another Oregon on their hands when it comes to devastating line play.

daisy lee cast in stage play

The cast for the stage production "The Male Animal" left here last week for San Diego, where they will 'break in' the production before a critical audience of the Channel City. The hilarious production is scheduled to be filmed upon the return of the cast here.

Daisy Lee, clever sepia commediene is cast in a sizeable role in the stage piece. She essays the role of 'Cleota' a rather pleasing and comical maid. The cast headed by such outstanding film names as Mary Astor, includes Lew Ayers, Leon Ames, and George McCormic. Following the San Diego showing, the stage unit moves on to Santa Barbara, and thence to San Francisco.

Several years ago there came to these western shores a young, vibrant and very versatile sepia actress. She was a member of a musical comedy show. The type of "flash" show that is rapidly dying out. Few people paid any exceptional attention to Lillian "Billie" Yarbo, during those trying days and nights. She was just one of the multitude of "struggles". But, today, it's different. The versatility of that little actress of the "struggling days" has proven its worth over the years. Today, as far as the sepia cinematic world is concerned, Miss Yarbo sits among the highest on the rung.

Two years ago, Lillian Yarbo got her start in films when she was cast in a comic role in Sol Lesser's "Rainbow Over the River" starring Bobbie Breen and featuring Louise Beavers. The sepia commediene's work was pronounced "excellent" in that production, and critics began in earnest to predict for her a great future. But, the screen show world, like that of its predecessor, the legitimate stage, is most exacting, and puts to the iron test all those who would aspire to stardom, or that of a celebrity. There ensued for the acretss, a period of inactivity and bitter yearning.

Yearning, however, was not all Miss Yarbo indulged in. She put about, seeking to learn those little tricks of screen acting and deportment, that more often spells success or failure to film aspirants. When the opportunity came for her to play the sizeable maid role in Columbia studio's "You Can't Take it With You", opposite Eddie 'Rochester' Anderson, the Academy Award winning film, proved to be a "new era" for the Yarbo woman in pictures.

AT UNIVERSAL

Scores of lesser roles in various studio productions since, have given her greater acting experience and splendidly for larger assignments that were bound to come her way. Big name stars and actresses, along with scores of directors and cameramen she has faced or worked with, have made Miss Yarbo 'quite at home' with top flight film people. She has consequently learned and adopted their philosophy. As a result, she is the owner of her own handsomely appointed home at 3751 Wilton place, and can produce at a moment's notice a neat figured bankbook.

Currently, Miss Yarbo, has a nice role in the Universal studio production "Destry Rides Again" which stars Marlene Detriech and Jimmy Stewart. Upon completion of the role at Universal, the clever sepia commedien goes over to the Walter Wagner studio, where she is slated for a role in "The House Across the Way" starring Joan Bennett, with Archie Mayo directing.

cordell hickman role dwarfs that of co-star

ALBANY (Ga.) Oct. 28—RKO studio in Hollywood suffered an added expense here last week when officials were forced to send by plane a child actor to replace another in its location film company working on scenes in the current production "The Biscuit Eater."

The child actor, Lonny (Baby) LeRoy, who was cast in the co-starring role with 6-year old sepia actor Cordell Hickman, failed to live up to casting expectations, and as a result, he was being replaced in the cast by 8-year old Jimmy Lee, who arrived here by plane Thursday from Hollwood.

Cordell Hickman, the sepia child star, because of his excellent performances thus far in the animal film production, looms as one of the "find" child stars of the year. Success in the "Biscuit Eater" film means to the sepia child actor a long term film contract with RKO studio. The lad may appear in a personal appearance performance at one of the theatres in Atlanta, Ga.

STAR TRIO TOGETHER

Paramount's forthcoming "Road to Singapore" will bring Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour and Bob Hope together for the first time. Both Crosby and Hope have recently completed Paramount pictures—"The Star Maker" and "The Cat and the Canary", respectively.

Turf Expert Visitor on Coast

Tony Tinner, widely known around Eastern turf circles, arrived here Sunday morning from New York, for a careful survey of local scenery. The young man is a seasoned veternarian. His stay in this city was short-lived because of an urgency that called for his presence at Bay Meadows on the Northern section of the State.

The visitor, who left here Tuesday, expressed a wish that "I could look over Eddie Anderson's stable." Understanding the ailments that often affect highbred racing stock and their cures, Tinner is regarded as a very valuable man about a racing stable. He expects to contact the Bing Crosby stables at Bay Meadows.

Tinner is the owner of racing stock himself. He is well known about the "Sidewalks of New York." He is the son-in-law of "Diamond" Joe ford, widely known as the "Black Mayor" of Atlantic City, having married his daughter two years ago, and to whom was born in August a 9-pound son.

ever b. hudson to appear in wilshire-ebell light operas

In what is considered an important stepping stone in local musical circles, Ever Brewer Hudson, promising mezzo-soprano who made an auspicious debut last May 28, passed tests and auditions before the Wilshire-Ebell Club entertainment committee last week.

This means that immediate preparations were made for an appearance on the program of this cultural club as one of the highlights of their just opened light opera season.

Mrs. Hudson, the only colored artist invited to make the audition, will render famous compositions of the old masters. One of the most difficult works rendered by her was "Gianina Mia." She also pleased with 'My Hero" from "The Firefly."

On the above mentioned May date, Mrs. Hudson, after three years intensive study under the famous Italian teacher, Mme. Adalina Dosena Formosa, was presented in rectial by the choir of Wesley Methodist church, at 8th and San Julian streets. Because of the richness of her voice and her perfect interpretation of classical numbers in Italian as well as in the English and spirituals, she was hailed as a new "discovery."

Following the Wilshire-Ebell audition, she also passed an interview at Paramount studio for a forthcoming picture.

To all you music lovers and dancers who didn't get a chance to dance to Count Basie and his fine band the other week at the Vogue ballroom, you will have another chance on Nov. 2 when they play a return engagement here at the Shrine temple. At the present time the band is swinging at the San Francisco Fair on Treasure Island, where they are fulfilling a two weeks contract.

Ceelle (guitar) Burke and his band is still swinging these nights at the Bal Taborian cafe in Gardena. Ceelle has a very unique combination. He is considered one of the finest steele guitar players in So. Calif. He also conducts a school for guitars during his spare time.

ONE REASON WHY TRINITY BAPTIST CHURCH IS FORGING AHEAD

THE TRINITY BAPTIST CHURCH, W. 36th and Normandie, is proud of its young people and offers them every opportunity for individual and group expression. This is the GOSPEL CHORUS with an enrollment of sixty-seven, which will sing the Morning Worship (11:00 A. M.) Services during the month of November. This Chorus and two other Choirs, one hundred voices, will be heard Sunday morning when the "ANNUAL FELLOWSHIP DAY" will be observed under the sponsorship of the LADIES' PROGRESSIVE CLUB and the USHER BOARDS. Mrs. Vides Shortridge is the Directress, and Miss Ines Smith, the pianist. Dr. J. L. Caston is pastor. The pastor's sermon topic will be "THE FOUR-LEGGED TABLE."

Three Days Designated As Community Chest Sabbath

Leaders of the Jewish, Protestant and Catholic religious groups of Los Angeles have designated ...ov. 3, 4 and 5 as Community Chest Sabbath for various places of worship, and Chest volunteers are urged to attend services on these dates, the eve of their starting solicitation for funds.

The dates for religious appreciation of the spiritual value of the Chest to the community were made public together with an open letter on behalf of the church and signed by his excellency, the Most Reverend John J. Cantwell, D. D., archbishop of Los Angeles; Remsen D. Bird, president, Federation of Protestant Churches, and Dr. Jacob Kohn, president, board of Rabbis, of Southern California. The letter in part read:

"Important welfare activities of our religious bodies receive funds from the Community Chest. These services are indispensable to the orderly and healthful character of our city. They are the evidence of our civilization, of our spiritual stability, and of our civic pride. The clergy of the city of Los Angeles unanimously unite in commending to all citizens the Community Chest appeal."

For the convenience of workers in the Central district during the campaign, headquarters have been opened in the YMCA, 1006 E. 28th street, and Battalions C, E, F, G, and H of division 44, may report there for special territorial assignments.

Announcement is made that Mrs. Ira Aldridge, major of Battalion C, has secured all but one of her necessary captains. They are: Mmes. Sadie Hicks, Anna Washington, R. R. Johnson, C. B. Brownlee, E. R. Baldwin, C. L. McAfee, and Miss Lelia Follis.

T. T. Collier, lay evangelist, will speak at morning services of the Wadsworth Seventh Day Adventist church, 40th place and Wadsworth avenue, Sunday. His subject will be "The Power of the Gospel".

The church is happy to announce the improvement of Elder P. G. Rodgers, pastor, from a recent operation. He is expected back in his pulpit this month.

Last Sunday was a great day at Wesley Methodist church, 8th and San Julian street. Large audiences filled the auditorium at both the morning and evening hours to witness the activities of the men on the occasion of their annual Men's Day Dr. C. Y. Trigg of Baltimore, Maryland brought the special message. The evening service was a men's mass meeting. Dr. A. A. Foster prominent local physician, was the principal speaker. At the close of the evening service the report of both women's and men's day was made. The women were the victors, the total amount raised $615.00

Sunday at the morning worship, Dr. Rakestraw will speak from the subject "Bought with a Price". The evening service will be a union service with Hamilton Methodist church at Hamilton. Dr. C. Y. Trigg of Baltimore will be the speaker and the music will be furnished by the Wesley choir. The Holy Communion will be administered at both morning and evening services.

At Hamilton Methodist church, E. 18th and Naomi Avenue, Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor, Sunday the Holy Communion will be administered at the 11 a. m. hour, the pastor delivering the Mediation. At the 7:30 p. m. hour joint communion service with Wesley will be held at Hamilton. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Charles Young Trigg, pastor of the great Metropolitan Methodist Church, Baltimore, Maryland. This will be the final appearance of Dr. Trigg, before he leaves for his home. The Wesley choir will render the music for this occasion, Mrs. Bertha Woolford guest soloist.

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, minister, this Sunday is "Communion Day". The pastor will give a "Communion Meditation" at 11 a. m. and administer the Lord's Supper at the close of the services. There will also be the reception of members into the church. At the evening service which comes at 7:30 o'clock the pastor will speak on: 'Dipped from the Stream." The choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick will render special music.

Family Day will be held as a special feature of Sunday's services at Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith avenue. Children of all generations are invited to come and sit together both morning and evening, bringing a basket for noon day dinner.

Both choirs of over 100 voices will sing at both services. Holy Communion will be observed at both services. Baptism and Hand of Fellowship will be extended to new members at evening services.

BYPU and S. S. Congres Set

RIVERSIDE—The BYPU and Sunday School Congress of Riverside will be guest of the Second Baptist church, November 24th through the 26th. It was announced by Rev. W. M. Thomas, pastor, that we are ready to make this the greatest meeting in Congress history. Preparations are being made to feed and house 500 people. Due to the seating capacity of the Second Baptist church, it has been definitely chosen to take care of the large delegation. The Second Baptist Church considers it a great privilege to be host to such an elaborate affair.

Premier Spiritual Event Slated for Nov. 12

The general public is invited to attend a premier spiritual event, an Interdenominational Missionary and Evangelist Forum on Nov. 12 at Christ Tabernacle AME church, 4612 Hooper avenue, the Mary Lee Circle, sponsoring the event, announced today.

Fred Baker, youth leader from First AME church, 8th and Towne avenue, will be the principal speaker. Full support has been promised from the Hollywood to Christ Tabernacle by Mrs. Estelle Ryan Snyder, civic, social and religious personality.

Evangelists and missionaries registered by the Forum to speak include: Evangelist R. B. Green, Mother Greer, Evangelists Cornelia Rose, Emma Hamilton, Rev. C. H. Davis, Miss Ada Russell, social worker. Music will be furnished by the Grant Chapel, the Christ Tabernacle, and a representative number from the First AME junior choirs, all under the direction of Prof. Garner. They will be augmented by the Silver Tone Trio of 8th and Towne and featured by solos from Charles White of Second Baptist church and Mrs. M. Howard of First AME. The Mary Lee Circle is the Junior Missionary League of the church of which Rev. C. N. Austin is pastor. The program will begin sharply at 2:30 p. m.

Dr. Yaeger to Speak Sunday

Using as his theme: "The Great Physician Speaks", Dr. C. Elliott Yaeger held capacity audiences interested at both morning and evening services at Grant Chapel AME church Sunday. Because of the enthusiastic responses, the pastor, Rev. I. S Wilson, is planning a special service in the near future.

Sunday, Dr. Yaeger will speak at the 8 o'clock services of the Church of God in Christ, 33rd and Compton. Rev. S. M. Crouch is pastor.

Dr. Yaeger will give a special lecture to women, Thursday night at the School of Better Living, 1252 E. 41st street. The lecture will begin at 8 p. m. sharp, and the public is invited.

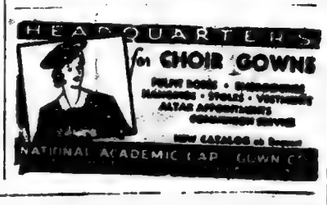
Ernest Shelbys Return from Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shelby (nee Ruby Cunningham) have returned from a reunion of the Shelby family in Memphis. Shelby is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Shelby of Memphis.

The couple with their two children, also visited friends in St. Louis and Denver. They were given a gala reception home by their many friends.



Little Miss Janice Shelby celebrated her fourth birthday in Memphis, with a party given by her aunt, Mrs. Fred Jordan, and Mrs Mabel Bently. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out, beautifully and many lovely gifts were received.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH!

Paul's words to the Ephesians, "Awake thou that sleepeth, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light," are the Golden Text; in the Lesson-Sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

A Scriptural selection includes these verses about Jesus from Luke: "And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: . . . And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee. And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone? But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts? Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house. And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Christ, Truth, was demonstrated through Jesus to prove the power of Spirit over the flesh,—to show that Truth is made manifest by its effects upon the human mind and body, healing sickness and destroying sin."

John Liddell Heads Choir at Temple

Newly elected officers of the Phillip's Temple Choir were announced last evening. They are John Liddell, president; Mrs. Lillian White, vice president; Mrs. Juliette Murray, secretary; Mrs. Lucille Turner, treasurer; Mrs. Nannie Burns, chaplain; and Mrs. Geneva Lancaster, reporter.

Due to her capabilities and interest, Mrs. Murray has been secretary for the past 15 years, beginning with the old Newton Street church. Mrs. Lucille Turner has been treasurer for a number of years and is a very capable and efficient treasurer, she is also very active in other organizations of the church. Rev. Lane Cleaves, pastor, states that Mrs. Burns is one of the live wires of the church and choir, and will add much to the spiritual life of the choir. Mr. John Liddell, our newly elected president, has proven to be a very useful member of the church in all of its organizations. George Longress, our past president, who recently sent in his resignation, has thoroughly proven his capableness in all of the church activities.

Outdoor Ass'n Drive Among Churches Begun

The Inter-denominational Preachers' Alliance today announced a campaign among all the churches for the Outdoor Life and Health Association's Rest Home at Duarte. Churches of Los Angeles and vicinity are requested to receive an offering for the Rest Home on Sunday, Nov. 12. A mass meeting in the interest of the Rest Home will be sponsored by the Alliance Sunday, Nov. 26, at 3:30 p. m, at the Second Baptist church. All churches will report the offering received the previous Sunday at this meeting.

"Y" Officials Meet Sunday In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Washington will again be the center of interest for YMCA officials and laymen Sunday when association men from all over the country gather exactly one year after the memorable Semi-Centennial conference to check over the results of the Expansion Fund Campaign and make plans for its successful completion. This campaign is for $125,000.00 to be expended over the next five year period for the extension of YMCA services, particularly to the under-privileged youth in the southern states, to men in industry and to the college campuses.

Channing H. Tobias, executive secretary, reports that very substantial progress has been made toward the goal during the past year and that there is every indication that the entire amount will be raised.

WAR NOTES

Floyd Snelson, nationally known fourth estater, writing in his "Harlem" column, gives his war impressions on his return to New York from Honolulu. Snelson says, in part:

"Refugees from Europe arriving daily bring home harrowing tales of the hell of war, directly from the battlefront of England and France. Today I was given a description of the experiences of some of my own people who arrived yesterday (Friday) aboard the S. S. St John, a vessel chartered by the U. S. government for the repatriation of its citizens. The ship made all manner of round-about courses to avoid submarines, probably not well to be given here. It had an entirely Negro crew, with white naval officers, and I understand many colored men were brutally treated and placed in irons during a hectic voyage, due to labor troubles. The press will probably break the detailed news later.

"Negroes deported: I have first-hand info given me by victims this afternoon, not only of the war itself, but a war against the black peoples of the world, for the one and only reason of being a person of color. England and France are deporting all American Negroes, many of whom have lived there for 10, 20 years or more, to avoid the responsibility for their safety in the war zone. These persons who adopted Europe, because of equal working conditions, to escape racial discrimination on this side, have lost their happy homes, being returned as cattle or freight.

"I am reluctant to mention names of the unfortunates, and protect them from further embarrassment; but they have been dumped ashore here in Harlem by the authorities, left to the mercy of friends. Most of them are penniless, without food or shelter. To complicate matters, their friends here are almost in the same distress, unable to lend them a helping hand.

"A noted Negro musician who has lived in Europe 20 years, is married to an Englishwoman, and they have two lovely (twin) children. His wife is in England, and he was refused a visa—the right to join his family, but was deported from France, and is now in Harlem, longing for his loved ones.

"Many instances were noted that European wives were forcibly separated from Afro-American husbands under protest probably never to meet again. The International dispatches reported, that two colored children refugees forsaken by English mother were adopted, and $20 was found pinned to their clothing, as a reward to the person who took pity and gave them a home. The names of the parents were not known, and probably never will be."

"WAY BACK WHEN"

Credit the following to Fay M. Jackson who covered the recent Dining Car Waiters, Local 465, second biennial convention:

"Robert E. Arrington, claiming to be one of the first dining car waiters on the Union Pacific, but now engaged in ministerial work in and around Los Angeles, donned his best frock coat and came out to the second biennial convention of the Dining Car Waiters, Local 465, to tell the boys how it was done 'way back when.'

"'In 1880,' Rev. Arrington began, 'there was a French crew of waiters on the first Union Pacific trains running between St. Paul and Portland.

"'There were no strong boxes than and the crew ate up all the finest steaks, drank all the wine. Company officials advertised for colored help and we proved efficient.

"'Eventually we were running on diners through five states. Times have changed greatly. Then we slept on beds that were not made up for weeks on end. We had little or no dicipline among the men who came in drunk and gambled their money away on both ends of the run.

"'I have converted many of the boys to a religious life and am proud to be one of you.' Arrington, modestly admitted being past 80."

GABBY BITS

While addressing the James Weldon Johnson club of Los Angeles City College recently, Mrs. Faye Allen, only Negro member of the Board of Education, was asked the question, "Do you prefer to be referred to as a member of the colored or of the Negro race?" "I always answer definitely, the Negro race," she stated. I agree with George Williams' statement that Negro is a good clean word and should be reported to for its original meaning and treated with respect." Stating that other races should endeavor to understand the Negro and his problems, Mrs. Allen said she considered Phyllis Wheatley, brought in this country as a slave at the age of 8, one of the greatest of American poets. Zelma Watson Duke, accomplished wife of the Rev. Baxter C. Duke, was roundly applauded Monday night for her appearance in recital of all-Negro compositions. In the windows of Allied Art Studio, near the Lincoln theatre, are two works of Louise Werbelmer which should draw raves from art critics. . .

Sketch Subject: EMILE MILLES . . . Powerhouse Operator for the Bureau of Power and Light.

By LILLIAN JONES

The fact that Emile Milles holds the responsible position of powerhouse operator for the Los Angeles City Bureau of Power and Light is only one of the sensational facts about this enterprising young man.

He entered the service of the Bureau of Power and Light about one year ago, as a technician in the testing laboratory. Six months later he secured his present position. In addition to the civil service examinations which secured him his first position and his present one, Milles estimates that he has taken about 13 of the Bureau's examinations for technical positions. He makes it a point never to miss a technical examination.

Station B, at which Milles works, is one of the three stations which receive Boulder Dam and San Francisquito Dam power. These stations set in operation the complicated processes by which Boulder Dam power, received in the station at 275,000 volts, is stepped down to proper voltage for domestic consumption, street lighting and industrial use. Chief responsibility of the power house operator is to supervise the process by which power received is transformed into the voltage required by the city's several needs. The work requires not only a high degree of technical knowledge, but executive ability as well. For, the operator must see that equipment in the station is kept in good repair, must know what to do when any emergency arises, and is generally responsible for the functioning of the station.

TEACHER

Milles also teaches electricity to adult education classes at Jefferson Evening High school. He has received special permission from the Bureau in order to teach. He is an accredited teacher, and has vocational arts certificates for both New York and California. Milles is tremendously interested in seeing developed within the community a corps of electrical technicians. Teaching, taxing though it is for him in addition to his regular work, is his contribution toward this end.

Interest in electrical and radio engineering has filled a large part of Milles' 33 years. He is a radio as well as electrical engineer, and holds the coveted Federal Radiotelephone first class license. He started in radio as early as 1920, when he built and began operation of an amateur short-wave station. He worked for several years as a ship radio operator before beginning college. He was employed for some time as an operator in radio station WHOM in New York City. He is a regular contributor of articles to such national radio technical magazines as Radio and Radio Today. Now, he is building at his home a fully equipped short-wave station, having dismantled a former one, in order to install newer equipment.

HARLEM RADIO CLUB

Milles knows the stimulation—to the individual and the group—which association with others interested in the same field produces. He cites the splendid example of the Harlem Radio club—in which he was a leading spirit—organized in New York City, at first among amateur radio operators, which now includes over 70 of the country's most outstanding Negro electrical and radio technicians. This group has built, and operates, a powerful short-wave radio station at the 135th Street YMCA in New York, which is the first item shown all visitors to the "Y." It has extended its membership to technical fields outside of radio and has done a great deal to encourage young persons to develop technical skills. The Harlem Radio Club serves as a clearing house not only for employment opportunities, but for exchange of ideas and information on new developments in radio and associated fields. During the memorable Forsythe-Anderson goodwill flight to Cuba, Central America and the West Indies in 1934, the Club, through its contacts in these countries, was able to keep in touch with the whole progress of the tour, and even scored clean beats over some the country's largest press services.

Milles sees splendid possibilities for the organization of a similar group in the West, with the initiative coming from Los Angeles. He feels that such an organization will be an invaluable medium for developing a corps of Negro technicians with skills in various fields—but especially in radio and electricity. It would encourage, and prepare, he says, more persons in the community to take civil service examinations for the technical positions open in various governmental agencies, and could even serve as a lever to integrate Negro personnel into technical posts in industry. He is willing to aid not only in establishing such a group, but in helping to give it technical guidance, and to build a short-wave radio station which could serve as a cultural and educational medium as well as a training laboratory. Certainly this is a project which some community organization should be interested in sponsoring.

As a further indication of the value of such an organization, Milles points out that apportunities are almost unlimited in electricity and radio. Moreover, much of the knowledge needed can be gained through practical experience, just as well as thru academic training. His own history is proof of this. For, although he studied three years at West Virginia State University, and two years at the University of Paris, his work at these institutions was primarily concerned with general science rather than the specific fields of radio and electricity. At West Virginia State he studied for a Bachelor of Science degree, and at Paris he took most of his work in aeronautical engineering.

NAACP Attorneys Try to Save Interracial Romance

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 2—Solemn NAACP attorneys fought this week to save the romance of Willoughby T. Wilson and his white wife, Mabel Willoughby, who have been jailed here for maintaining a home together.

Consensus of local opinion is that Wilson will be sent to the penitentiary and that his wife will be judged temporarily insane and given into the custody of her parents.

Adding an extra note of drama to the situation, Mrs. Wilson was rushed from jail late last week to undergo an emergency appendectomy. Her recovery is expected.

The couple met in Baltimore where Mabel was a waitress. She met Wilson, with other stevedores, in a restaurant where he took his meals. Their courtship was carried on by telephone.

TIPS POLICE

A relative of Mabel's who resented the marriage and "the happiness which followed", is said to have tipped off the police. Neighbors say both are quiet and minded their own business.

Police arrested Wilson at his work and Mabel at their apartment.

Mrs. Wilson became hysterical, and nurses were sent for to take charge. When her cries failed to abate, physicians were called in. They soon diagnosed that a serious case of appendicitis accompanied Mrs. Wilson's heartbreak. She was rushed to Emergency hospital.

Wilson is dark brown in complexion and is slight in size, about 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs about 130 pounds. He appeared visibly shaken at his booking.

Mrs. Wilson is about 5 feet 4, and weighs approximately 120 pounds. She has short brown hair, which is neatly combed back from her face and turned up in ringlet curls at the ends.

ZEPHYR AIDS ENDURANCE FLYERS

Pictured with the plane that set a new all time endurance record is the 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr car that was used by the ground crew for refueling the ship. Zephyr cars have a V-12 engine suitable for fast acceleration necessary for the refueling, as shown in the photo.

Delta Recital Group Makes Final Plans

Sorors Lillian Tyler, Anna Rosa Broyles, Ernestine Nickerson, Mildred Shores, Viola Brazley, and Eula Dean Ford, a committee of Deltas, which is planning a recital, met at the home of Mrs. Lillian Tyler to complete arrangements. The concert, presenting Miss Pauline Wilkerson, will be Sunday, Nov. 12 in the French Room of the Musart Bldg., 1324 S. Figueroa.

This recital, followed by a reception in the lobby of the French Room, promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the Fall season.

"Delta Sigma Theta sorority is very proud in being able to present Miss Wilkerson, and intends to make this recital one among many edeavors to encourage the young women of our race to the highest ideals of womanhood and accomplishments," committee members stated.

Ford, Zephyr Cars Meet Tests

Racing at high speed beneath the record breaking endurance plane, Ford and Lincoln-Zephyr automobiles met the rigid requirements of refueling cars in servicing the flyers who Thursday set a new mark for continuous hours in the air.

When the all time heavy plane record of 653 hours, 33 minutes was passed last Thursday afternoon, a 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr convertible sedan was being used by the ground crew for the refueling job. This was accomplished three times a day by loading 60 gallons of gasoline in the back seaat of the car and transferring the gasoline to the plane at a speed of approximately 85 miles per hour.

Flying extremely low over Rosamond dry lake in Southern California, the two aviators, Wes Carroll and Clyde Schlieper, transferred the fuel to the ship through a hose extending upward from the car.

Governor, Labor Chiefs Praise Diner Waiters

During the convention of the U. P. Dining Car Waiters which met here in its second biennial session, Governor Culbert Olson and labor leaders throughout the state praised the 600 railroad men of the West.

"I look upon your union as one of the most progressive labor organizations," Governor Olson declared.

Speaking for the state legislature, Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, lone Negro representative in that body, said: "We respect the role you play in a great industry; we admire the courage you have displayed in bringing dignity to your occupation."

Mayor Fletcher Bowron, of Los Angeles, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Don Healey, of Laborers Non-Partisan League of California, Fay E. Allen, Negro member of the L. A. Board of Education, Thomas L. Griffith, branch president of the NAACP and C. J. Haggerty, president of the California State Federation of Labor, also addressed the convention and sent greetings.

USC Faculty Member to Speak at YW

Today, Dr. Carl Knopf of USC will speak to the members of four branches of the YWCA on "Wishful Thinking" at the Central Branch YWCA, 941 S. Figueroa, 7:30 p. m. Women and girls of the Twelfth St. Branch will attend.

On Sunday, the Professional Girls' League, the Business and Professional Womens' club, and the Industrial club are giving a tea honoring Mrs. Eva Marcus at the 12th St. Branch YWCA at 3 p. m. Mrs. Marcus will talk about her experiences at the World Christian Youth Conference in Amsterdam.

Beginning Nov. 8, a large number of committee women of the Twelfth St. Branch will be working in the Community Chest Drive. Mrs. C. D. Frederick, Mrs. Joan Willis, Mrs. Mae Turner are majors. The YWCA is one of 88 agencies which receives money for support through the Community Chest.

COOPER'S DRIVING LICENSE SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Ralph Cooper, stage and screen star, known from coast to coast, has had his automobile driving license and certificate of registration suspended indefinitely as a result of his failure to satisfy a final judgement, according to announcement this week.

Looks Mean Everything

where hair is concerned. Follow the dressy way to good looks!

● Hair, like skin, needs regular beautifying help, to look its best at all times. That's why so many smart women count regularly on Black and White Hair Dressing. Helps hair to that million-dollar look—sparkling—radiant. Makes hair easier to arrange, too. Easier to put up in the many smart styles so popular right now. And you'll find the appealing fragrance of Black and White Hair Dressing an added asset to charm. Two kinds: White, 50c. Amber, 25c. Trial size, amber, 10c.

jazz will be 40 years old about xmas

BY BILL SMALLWOOD
Theatrical Editor

Down N'Orleans way, with 1940 a matter of a few months away, they will tell you that Jazz (they still refer to it that way) will be nearing somewhere in the vicinity of forty-years old or so after Christmas.

True enough, no one is quite sure just what year the thing was born, but they are all sure it first saw the light of day in N'Orleans.

The N'Orleans folk were great believers in advertising. In view of the popularity of the jazz orchestras, you can imagine they were greatly used in this direction. The band would embark in a wagon covered with streamers and publicity material and would play to attract the attention of the people. Often there would be many of these bands parading at the same time and whenever two rival bands met, they would hold a contest, to outplay the other. On one occasion, Satchmo Armstrong relates, the band he was in met another at the corner of Rampart and Perdido streets, Satchmo says: "Of course that was war between the two bands and we went to it, playing our strongest. I remember I almost blew my brains through my trumpet."

Riverboats were another essential in the earlier romance of popular music's birth. It was through the riverboats that the fame of jazz (swing?) spread, and many musicians actually worked their way North. A glance at the map will show that many of the place names so well known to swing music lovers are approachable by water. Memphis, St. Louis, Tishomingo, Paducah, Davenport. They have all given their names to the Blues. Even the streets have been immortalized in songs; Beale street in St. Louis is what Basin street is to N'Orleans.

It was from the wharf at the foot of Canal street that the riverboats would set off. These boats were not used greatly for passenger traffic but for excursion trips nightly.

Although it seemed both colored and white bands would play on the boats in Dixie, it was pianist Fate Marble's outfit that was the first colored band to ever make a long trip up the river. The band, which was exceptionally big in those days—twelve pieces—played on the boat making the excursions from N'Orleans through the winter of 1919-20, and in April of '20, they set off for the trip of nearly 2,000 miles up river.

Today, the cult of the comparative Northern few is still food and drink to N'Orleans folk. Swing no longer depends solely on the vitality of Dixie musicians who migrate northwards. Once it was true that for every musician, every band, leaving Dixie there remained many more who preferred the happier carefree life of their home town. But time has changed this.

Whether forty years hence music lovers will still retain their present-day sentiment or swng's aged forerunner still isn't particularly an issue down N'Orleans way. As long as they know it, the world—swing-mad or jazz-mad, either way doesn't matter—can go to boot.

Why, man. N'Orleans has an anniversary to attend! A birthday party for Jazz . . .

sepia radio show reported stranded at fresno

Reports reaching here last week told of the plight of members of an all-colored cast road show left "stranded" without funds or transportation at Fresno. The show folks were said to have been members of the "Harlem on Parade" cast which left here 10-days ago on a scheduled tour of the Pacific Northwest cities.

The report stated the show carried 16 persons, which included five in the band, five chorines and six principals. They left here after a $2,000 bond, covering their return passage, had purportedly been posted by Lord Steele, reputed backed of the show. The show was forced to cancel its engagement at Fresno after union trouble had broken out over the employment of the sepia musicians, which the local white union refused to recognize. To hire the white union musicians would have meant the ruination of the show.

Colored bandsmen, who left here with the show were said to have gotten on "O.K" from Paul Howard, secretary of the local colored union, to play the show.

This O. K. the Fresno white union refused to honor. Other difficulties which plagued the sepia show was the problem of finding suitable shelter for the colored troupe. Hotels in the town refused to accept them. Later, one hotel is reported to have agreed to accept the light complexioned members of the troupe, but not the darker ones.

A few members of the troupe who were able to make their own way back to Los Angeles, told of the hospitality and generosity of Mrs. Eleanor Meyers, a colored resident of Fresno, who graciously took several member of the chorus into her home and provided them with food and lodgings after learning of their unhappy plight. Mrs. Meyers lives at 132 Dunn street.

Sepia members who made the unhappy tour included Ray Flemmings, master of ceremonies; Dudley Dickerson and Olivette Fields, co-tars of the show; Myrtle Quinlan, Leonore "Little Bit" Brown and Eugene Jackson, principals.

lunceford here in january

Jimmie Lunceford and his band will appear for an undetermined number of weeks in Los Angeles in January at either the Trocadero or the Victor Hugo restaurant, it was learned from his New York booking offices this week.

This will be Lunceford's second recent visit to the Coast, having played here in 1937. On tour now, he will start a two week's coast-to-coast broadcast from Boston on Nov. 27; will start from Harlem about January 8 on a series of one night stands that will bring him to Los Angeles.

'double deal' first argus picture

'Double Deal", first production of Argus Pictures Inc., with Jeni LeGon and Monte Hawley as costars will be released here November 30, the studio announced this week.

The initial effort of Argus Pictures, a new major film corporation formed to produce Negro features, will be directed by Arthur Dreifeuss, former RKO and Columbia director. His associate si Dixon Harwin.

Miss LeGon, who had major in several recent motion pictures, including "Fools for Scandal", "Ali Baba Goes to Town" and 'Hooray for Love", has been insured by Argus pictures with the Golden State Mutual Life insurance company, harking the first time a motion picture company has insured a Negro star, Argus studio officials stated.

Supporting Miss Le Gon and Hawley, who is a famous Broadwa ystage and screen star, are Florence "Sulamai' O'Brien, who was a sensation in "Run Little Chillun"; Edward Thompson, Maceo Sheffield, Freddie Jackson, Shelton Brooks, composer o f"Some of These Days" and other hits, formerly or the great comedy team of Miller and Lyle.

Stating that the new program of Argus features will revolutionize the Negroe's contribution to the film industry, officials said that the pictures will oe released under the International Road Shows, Inc. banner. The latter organization was recently formed and is headed by Bert Goldberg, Jack Port and George Randol.

A gala Hollywood premiere has been tentatively planned for "Double Deal" with general release scheduled for Christmas week.

IS JOE BRUIN BOWL-BOUND?

Gaining momentum each succeeding Saturday, the grid machine of Joe Bruin, the University of California at Los Angeles opportunist, appears destined to batter its way into the rather exclusive confines of Pasadena's Rose Bowl—IF . . .

(1) A consistent punter can be found.

(2) Punt returns of the opposition can be minimized to a greater extent.

Judging on the basis of Bruin play to date that "if" looms rather large.

Poor kicking on the part of UCLA booters almost cost them two games of recent memory—those with Stanford university and the University of Oregon.

There is reason to believe that a club which may also be called opportunists like the University of Southern California Trojans for example, may not be acquainted with the intricacies of the "fumble-play" as was the Oregon Webfeet and take advantage of punts of the Bruin variety which have no yardage to them. The Webfeet had the rather monotonous habit of getting breaks on short Bruin kicks and failing to score when deep in Joe's territory because of fumbling when loss of the ball meant the difference between a touchdown and no touchdown at all.

Figures from Saturday's game revealed that average yards of Bruin punts reached the staggering total of 28. The Webfoot average was three less but is accounted for by the fact that the Webfeet were endeavoring to keep the ball out of the hands of one Jackie Robinson, the Bruin safety. The ball therefore was kicked out of bounds most of the time with no appreciable advantage to the Oregonians.

On to Point No. 2: Joe Bruin's charges kicked off four times and three of those times the Webfoot came waddling, rather effectively, back up the field. Total "waddling" yardage was 87 yards for an average of 29 yards.

Just as in the Montana game, Joe Bruin had difficulty in nailing the ball carrier until said ball carrier had approximated his own 40-yard line. All of which serves to keep Joe back on his heels and he HAS to break a Jackie Robinson, a Kenny Washington, or a Chuck Fenenbock away.

The Bruin machine, with good punting and effective tackling on kickoffs in addition to the good line (under pressure) and climactic running it now boasts, may reach the coveted Rose Bowl at the end of conference play.

But . . . it does seem to us that Lady Luck has been putting in some over-time in courting Joe Bruin to date.

ANOTHER PLUG FOR LOCAL "BIG 3"

Watching the Loyola Lion varsity outplay a highly touted Hardin Simmons eleven last Friday night at Gilmore stadium for a 6-0 victory caused us to add this plug to the innumerable that have appeared in print in recent years: Why not have a local "Big Three" composed of USC, UCLA and Loyola. The team that Loyola fielded Friday could offer a lot of opposition to either USC or UCLA. A city series between the schools would be a mighty attractive dish. Incidentally, Prof. George Barnard, who it is claimed has never missed a Loyola university football game over a period of 15 years, has named Al Duval, great Negro tackle, on his all-time Loyola Lion varsity . . . Publicity Director Ben Persons, in a UCLA release, says that the Bruins and the California Bears, Bruin foes this Saturday, have met six times. The latter has won four of the engagements, UCLA one and one was tied. The Bruins haven't toppled their country cousins from up north since 1936 when they won 17 to 6 at Berkeley . . . In passing, did you notice the standout play of Ray Bartlett, UCLA end, in the last half of the Bruin-Oregon thriller? . . . End Woodrow Strode, playing on the left side of the UCLA line, came in for criticism last Saturday by reason of the fact that the Webfeet were gaining a lot of yardage over the Bruin left tackle. Following the game, however, it was made clear that Strode had been trying to help his tackle stop the plays and thus was not piling up as much interference as he would have had he been concentrating on his position. Strode likes to play 60 minutes and when he was taken out for a spell in the first half it hurt him . . . Lack of good kickers this year is noticeable. Jefferson High school's Democrats, blessed with a fine running attack, failed last week to convert once after five touchdowns. One point may make a lot of difference somewhere down the line.

HANK, CEFERINO SIGN ARTICLES

Welterweight champion Henry Armstrong and middleweight champion Ceferino Garcia signed articles last week to fight February 22 for the Filipino's share of the title.

The bout will probably be staged at Gilmore stadium with Hollywood Post of the American Legion and Charley McDonald as promoters.

WILSON SCORES 10TH STRAIGHT K. O

High Jump Star at Lincoln

LINCOLN U., JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 26.—Winston Rogers, 18 year old high jump sensation of Indepensence, Kansas, is enrolled at Lincoln University. The long-limbed youngster, whose record smashing leaps were emblazoned on the sports pages of the nation's newspapers while he was still in high school, has placed himself under the expert tutelage of Lincoln's coach, Ray Kemp.

Rogers comes to Lincoln with a reputation begun when he was 13 years old as a freshman in high school. He is holder of the world's high jump record for junior high schools with a mark of 5 ft. 7½ ins. For two years Rogers was Kansas State High School champion. And in 1938 and 1939 when he was at the peak of his high school excellence, he won the University of Kansas State High School championship.

At the 1939 Kansas Relays Rogers cleared the bar at 6 ft. 5 5-8 ins., record high school jump of the year, and a better leap than Joe Batiste, Arizona youth who toured Europe this summer with the American track squad, has made. Rogers has jumped as high as 6 ft. 7 ins., and is given No. 1 ranking the high jump in the high school division of Spalding's Guide, authoritative athletic register.

Bruin Win Features Solo

Jackie Robinson Plays Grid Solo in Two Parts

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

A wide awake UCLA Bruin Saturday thrice punctured the University of Oregon Duck to sink Webfoot under a 16 to 6 score before 50,000 fans at the Memorial Coliseum.

Aided and abetted by 10 other Bruins, Jackie Robinson, hailed as the greatest ball-carrier in the nation soloed UCLA to their second victory in Pacific Coast conference competition.

Oregon's "fumble-play", a play in which they proved proifcient all afternoon, to their subsequent sorrow, led to the first UCLA score of the day. Jack Sommers, who played a whale of a game as usual, stood 30 yards out and booted the pigskin squarely betwenn the uprights for the Bruin's first three of 16 points.

JACKIE TAKES CHARGE

Robinson took charge of the rest of the UCLA scoring. Following an Oregon touchdown in the second period and with the score 6 to 3 in favor of the invader, Kenny Washington, the boy who balances the Westwooders, went back to pass. He took plenty of time, getting nice protection, and heaved the ball 52 yards down the field (43 yards from the scrimmage line) into the waiting arms of Robinson on the Oregon 23. Jackie went into his toe dance, confusing Oregon's Berry and Dyer, and then scampered to pay dirt. The play was good for 66 yards and sent Joe Bruin into the lead he never relinquished.

Half-time served as a sort of intermission for Robinson's solo, which was played in two parts. In the third period, the Bruins came into possession of the oval on a Robinson interception and on the next play, Jackie on a reverse went to his left behind several interferers saw an opening in the line and went into high gear. Heading for the sidelines, Robinson scampered 83 yards to a touchdown, John Berry. Oregon safety-man notwithstanding.

The Oregon backfied of Berry, Graybeal and Smith raised particular "Ned" with the Bruin forward wall most of the game, the Webfeet rolling up 15 first downs to UCLA's four but, as the saying goes, "you pay off on what the scoreboard says."

LANKY DYNAMITER TKO'S ROMO IN SIXTH ROUND AT OLYMPIC

"Turkey" Thompson Struts to TKO Win Over Bobby Yannes in Six-Round Semi

Scoring his 10th consecutive knockout, Ja Wilson, the lanky leather-dynamiter, belted C Romo into submission in the sixth round of t h scheduled 10-round bout at the Olympic auditorium Tuesday night.

Down twice in the sixth, referee Reggie Gilmore saved the Indian when he waved Wilson aside and awarded him a technical knockout verdict.

Counting the two times in the fatal sixth, Romo was on the canvas five times—once in the first, twice in the second and twice in the sixth. The first four bouncing acts were for nine counts.

Wilson had little trouble with Romo other than having a hard time catching up with him. The pair fought a six-rounder early in their professional careers with Jackie getting a close decision.

Reports circulated here this week have it that the lanky dynamiter will appear once more here—against Tony Chavez, providing Chavez gets over Mexican Joey Silva tomorrow night at Hollywood Legion — and then will head East for Madison Square Garden and promoter Mike Jacobs.

Wilson weighed 140½ and Romo tipped the beams at 136½.

Democrats Hold Field Day; Win 30 to 0

Jefferson's Democrats had a field day last Friday afternoon whe ntheir track-star backfield rolled up five touchdowns to grind Washington's Generals into the turf under a score of 30 to 0.

The Democrat tries for the extra point were all missed.

When the Democrats recovered fumbles deep in Washington territory in the first and second quarters, Tom Pollard, track star and backfield ace, scored from the four and three-yard lines respectively.

Joe Black, other half of the sprinting duo of Black and Pollard, broke away for 46 yards and a touchdown in the third quarter. George Sturdivant, another thorn in the Generals' side, intersepted a pass in this same period and galloped 66 yards to score.

The last Democrat score was rung up in the fourth quarter by Sam Matlock who tallied from the one-yard marker.

Polytechnic High's Mechanics will attempt to "fix" the Democrats tomorrow at Jefferson. The game starts at 2:30 P. M. Last week Poly won a hard fought 6-0 victory over the Roughriders of Roosevelt High.

Welter Champ TKOs Bobby Pacho

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Looking trim and sharp, welterweight champion of the world Henry Armstrong punched out a technical knockout victory over Bobby Pacho of Los Angeles in the fourth round of their 15-round title bout here Monday night.

Fighting in his usual style, Armstrong battered the Mexican veteran, who appeared out of condition, from pillar to post.

The challenger was reeling helplessly along the ropes under the champion's attack when referee Jack Bloom stepped between the fighters and stopped the bout after little more than a minute of the fourth canto.

Armstrong weighed 140; Pacho 140.

Royal Giants In First Win

Negro Nine Hammer Pirrone Flinger

Finding their Winter League batting eye of yore for the first time this season, the Philadelphia Royal Giants defeated Joe Pirrone's Major league All-Stars 6 to 1 Sunday at Gilmore field, in the first game of a double-header.

The second game was called in the sixth inning with the two clubs tied at 2 and 2.

"Happy" Hansmann, new Pirrone hurler, gave up three runs in the first inning and the Giants had their winning margin. Harvey and Carter, Giant's rightfielder and shortstop respectively, singled and came home on second sacker Jake Dunn's double. Dunn crossed the platter when "Wild Bill" Wright singled.

Dun led the Giant's batting attack with three of 10 hits. McDuffie, Giant's pitcher limited the Pirrone-men to six hits.

L. A. Railway Electricity Usage Cited

Consuming nearly 10 million kilowatt hours of electricity each month, the Los Angeles Railway is one of the greatest users of electrical energy in the State of California, statistics released by the company this week indicated.

"If the same amount of electricity were diverted to private usage," the report stated, "it would furnish all of the necessary energy to furnish all the light and operate all the appliances in 136,000 homes—as many homes as there are in the entire state of Montana and more homes than there are in New Mexico or Vermont."

The report further explained that a 100-watt light bulb will burn for ten hours on one kilowatt hour of electricity and that the use of more than 100 million kilowatt hours yearly by the Los Angeles Railway represents an almost unbelievable total of power.

"All of this electrical energy is purchased and used in the Los Angeles area," the report continued, "and it represents one of the major purchases of any utility in the state both on a monthly and a yearly basis.

KRKD to Broadcast Election Returns Tuesday Night

Radio station KRKD will broadcast all returns of the California Special election Tuesday night, it was announced today by John Austin Driscoll, KRKD general manager.

KRKD will be on the air with individual precinct returns from Los Angeles County as soon as the polls close at 7 P. M. Because all regular programs have been cancelled the station will continue broadcasting vote totals without interruption, until results are conclusive, Driscoll said.

In addition to giving the latest reports on the Ham and Eggs, oil conservation, small loans and chiropractic measures KRKD also will air returns on San Francisco's sizzling three-cornered mayoralty's election.

KRKD is located at 1120 kilocycles on the radio dial.

Man is Cut With Own Knife

Cut with his own knife early Monday morning, Dennis Rogers, 1402 East 48th place, was treated at Georgia Street Receiving hospital and subsequently released, police reports revealed this week.

Rogers told Newton Street officers that while he was drinking beer in a parlor at 4207 Central avenue, he became engaged in an argument with Jasper Ashford, 28, of 1184 East 43rd street. Rogers said he was cut when the latter took a Boy Scout knife from his (Rogers') pocket and stabbed him in the back and on the arm.

Officer LeRoy Kelly, who saw Rogers chase Ashford across the street from the beer parlor and hit the knife wielder with a chair, arrested Ashford. Both were taken to Newton Street station where Ashford was booked on a charge of suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. The cut man was removed to Georgia Street hospital.

L. A. Kin Attend Brother's Rites

Mrs. Mamie Modwell and members of her family left the city Oct. 14 by motor to attend funeral services for Mrs. Modwell's brother, Edd McDaniel, who died Oct. 13 in Lake Charles, La. Services were held Tuesday evening of last week from Sunlight Baptist church of that city, Rev. Jackson officiating.

Members of the family who attended from Los Angeles were: Edward McDaniel, father; Chas. McDaniel, brother; Henry Pierson, nephew, and Mrs. Modwell.

Chiropractic Explained By Dr. Zetar

Chiropractic is a science, Philosophy and Art, a natural system of restoring health without the use of drugs.

DR. ZETAR

The word Chiro comes from the Greek language meaning hand. Praktikos to do, hence the name to do by hand. Any one who is acquainted with the healing profession know that trained hands have wrought in the science of healing.

It is true that we use electrical therapy and physical therapy, but these are only adjuncts or one might say a valuable aid to a successful treatment. It is the scientific adjustments and manipulative procedures that really do the work.

Now let us see how that is done, in the study of anatomy we find that there are 12 pairs of cranial nerves, 31 pairs of spinal nerves and the autonomic nervous system (solar plexus to you), each one of these nerves has for its function primarily the control or regulation of the activities of hte body. The nerves that supply the glands give rise to secretion and it is the secretion o hte glands in our body that determine to a large extent as to whether we shall be normal or abnormal.

The nerves that supply the muscles cause contraction. The nerves to the eye give rise to sight, to the ears hearing etc. Now any interference along the path of the nerve fibers causes an altered function in that organ or part of the body, which that nerve supply. That interference might be due to nerve impingements in the spinal region, caused by mis-aligned vertebrae or pressure due to swelling in the adjacent tissues. Whatever may be the cause of the interference with the transmission of the nerve impulses that fact remains htat it causes an abnormal function of the vital organs in the body; that is the beginning of the cause of disease by lowering the body resistance.

Even the blood which is the life of the body is controlled by the nerves. The principles of Chiropractic have been practiced for more then 3000 years, but Chiropractic as we know it today became an established science in the year of 1895 by the late Dr. David Daniel Palmer.

A NEGRO WAS ONE OF THE FIRST TO BE INVOLVED.

A Negro jaintor named Harvey Lillard had been deaf for 17 years so much so that he could not hear the racket of a wagon wheel on the street or the ticking of a watch. Dr. Palmer made an inquiry as to the cause of his deafness and was informed that he man had exerted himself in a cramped, stooping position and that he felt something give way in his back and immediately he became deaf.

An examination showed that a vertebrae had slipped from its normal position. Dr. Palmer reasoned that if the vertebrae were replaced the man's hearing should be restored and after the adjustment was applied his hearing was restored.

Many courtesies were shown the young ladies. Miss Harris is the sister of Miss Gertrude James of this city, and Misses Foster and Adams were house guests of Mrs. Lethia Furey, 2041 W. 28th street.

• LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

"Grapes of Wrath," by John Steinbeck.
"Inside of Asia," by John Gunther.
"Black Folk—Then and Now", by W. E. B. DuBois.
"The Web and the Rock," by Thomas Wolfe.
"Factories in the Field," by Carey McWilliams
"Mein Kampf," by Adolf Hitler.

The books most frequently asked for during the past week at your neighborhood libraries are listed above. However, the books mentioned in the following paragraphs may be of equal interest to you personally even though they have not been as widely advertised.

If you have been keeping up with the books in the field of consumer education, you will surely not want to miss L. J. Gordon's "Economics for Consumers." It explains the prevalence of waste in current consuming practices and endeavors to point the way toward wiser methods. The subject matter is necessarily controversial, but the treatment aims at objectivity. The author indicates that the whole emphasis must be shifted from that which regards consumers as a mere source of profit to one which holds promotion of their welfare as the supreme purpose of the economic system.

HISTORY

If you are interested in new information of an historical nature, you will read "The Negro in Brazil," by Arthur Ramos. Translated from the Portuguese by Richard Pattee, this small volume is one of the first studies to appear in English treating of the role of the Negro in Brazil. The author states that Brazil is, without question, one of the nations of the new wrold which has been most profoundly influenced by the penetration of the Negro. Today, aside from the United States, no American republic possesses as large a colored population. From the very beginning of its existence, Brazil has received and absorbed the Negro. No caste system was created along racial lines, with the result that the Negro and the mulatto have been unrestricted in their participation in the larger process of cultural development. Brazil is undoubtedly a great laboratory of practical sociology, according to Dr. Ramos, the greatest living Brazilian authority on the Negro, who feels that the racial views and doctrines envolved in Brazil cannot fail to shed light on perplexing difficulties to be found elsewhere.

If you are intent upon improving yourself, you will appreciate Harry Hapner's handy volume, "It's Nice to Know People Like You." This is a practical book which emphasizes the fact that understanding other people is the key to developing a pleasant and likable personality. In brief, but interesting paragraphs, the author tells you the rules for sizing up other people, sensing their problems, and discovering their hidden motivations.

If you are interested in music, "The Story of the House of Whitmark from Ragtime to Swingtime" by Whitmark and Goldberg will furnish you material enough for many hours of pleasant reading. The past fifty years of the stage and song is revealed here through the lives and experiences of the Whitmark brothers, famous music publishers. Actors, musicians, composers—many of them brilliant personalities—march in an endless procession through these pages and include the names of James Weldon Johnson, J. Rosamond Johnson, Harry T. Burleigh and Paul Laurence Dunbar.

Negro composers triumph under magic wand of duke

BY EUGENE HENRY HUFFMAN

Yes, my Dears, just precisely like the Fairy Godmother in the story of Cinderalla the gorgeous Zelma Watson, wife of the Duke of Avalon," made a spectacular appearance on the platform of Hamilton Methodist church the past Monday night and proceeded to conjure up one of the finest musical programs ever presente dto an Eastside audience. And what an audience! Mrs. John Jacob Astor and all her plush horses were there! Yes sir! And what I mean, in all their glory! Unh Hunh

The "Duchess" presented a very pleasing picture in bronze, old ivory, pink, and a stunning gown of black pan velvet. Or was it?

Anyhow, "pan" or no pan, the lady was a picture of loveliness and graciousness that will live long in the memory of all who were fortunate enough to behold her. And how she did sing!

It isn't at all necessary to touch upon Zelma Watson Duke's musical background and experience. It is already well known and appreciated by all music-loving Los Angeles. So we will exult solely in the triumph. Not her personal triumph, but the triumph of every composer whose works she chose to wave her magic wand:

Taylor, Dawson, Dett, Burleigh, Still, Hall Johnson, Brooks, Heard—our own Edna Rosalyn if you please. And Lordy, what a musician, what a beautiful woman—that Edna—and what a "Temperament!" Hee Haw Haw!T

Zelma Duke has an almost phenominol voice, especially in the upper range, and she sings with great musicianship. But her first real ovation did not come Monday night until she sang Hall Johnson's "Birthday Song." Notwitstanding she had electrified her audience with Edna Heard's "Sahara Song" from an original opera composed by that gifted lady:

Stormy applause also greeted "The Duchess" when she "dared" to sing a Harvey Brooks number "What A Song Can Do" with Mr. Brooks himself at the pyeanna. Yass Sir But this evidently was more because of her daring, the time, the place and everything rather than because of her splendid rendition of the "swing" number. Mrs. Duke's greatest ovation came at the conclusion of Edna Heard's "Tempest in the Upper Region," "Troubled Mind" to you, Silly.

Melba Hanna came very nearly breaking up the vocal concert when she got the spotlight and rendered three concert numbers on the giant Knabe. Mss Hanna's interpretation of Nathaniel Dett's "Bacarolle" brought a reverent silence and a flow of tears from many eyes. It was with difficulty that the Duchess reclaimed her audience after the talented Melba had performed. Melba Hanna Will surely go places in the musical world before she sheds this mortal coil—if she will.

Is Duke is not a very highly emotional or moody artist. She captivates her audience by sheer force of her splendid training, power, and personal charm. And, I'm inclined to think that she is just a little too far "on the other side" or something to put an awful lot of the "soul ary" in the oppressed Negro into her "spirituals." Listening to Duke sing a spiritual is almost precisely like listening to Grace Moore, Galli Curci, or Lily Pons suddenly "going Negro." Mrs. Duke would be very wise if she would employ considerably more of the compositions of such moody and temperamental composers as Hall Johnson, Edna Rosalyn Heard, Dett, etc. For it became qoite evident these altogether Negro composers stirred the fair Zelma to emotional depths and brought good old sugar cane molasses tones out of her voice tnat few of her listeners had heretofore suspected her of having. Well Alright!

Parallel to Local Morals Case Uncovered in New York City

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A parallel to the sordid case in Los Angro Board of Education employe gro oBard of Education employe convicted of a morals complaint, preferred by two white women, has been uncovered in this city, with the races of the principals reversed.

Magistrate Joseph DeAndrea this week had under advisement evidence against Michael Vallon, white schoolteacher-lawyer, accused of making indecent advances to a colored domestic, Mrs. Ruth Suber, on a subway train.

Three detectives last week arrested Vallon, without complaint from Mrs. Suber when they assertedly observed indecent motions in his reflection through the window of the subway. Mrs. Suber testified to Vallon's actions, but said she was paying no attention to him.

In an effort to ascertain whether Vallon could have been seen by detectives, who said they had numerous complaints of men annoying women on the subway systems, Magistrate DeAndrea held a re-enactment of the occurrence on a subway last week.

The case approximates the incident in Los Angeles last Summer in which a school truant officer was convicted of indecent exposure on a complaint made by two white women.

Homecoming Day Observed at San Diego Bethel Church

SAN DIEGO, (By E. E. Wesley)—Sunday was a special homecoming day at Bethel Baptist church, this city, of which Rev. Charles Hampton is pastor, as Dr. Charles S. Morris, professor (on leave) of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State college, Nashville, delivered three eloquent sermons at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The choir directed by Miss Octavia Payne with Miss Edna Henry at the piano, sang.

Mrs. G. B. Young, wife of Bishop G. B. Young of the 10th Episcopal church of the AME church, Waco, Texas, is the house guest of Mrs. Alex McPherson on Franklin avenue.

A party of San Diegans, composed of Mmes. Ellen Storey, Alex McPherson, R. H. Larning, Emma Thompson and M. L. Brown, motored to Los Angeles a few days ago to attend the Women's Political Study club convention, details of which are found elsewhere in the paper.

Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Patterson and Mrs. Jackson were Monday visitors in San Diego from San Bernardino, guests of Rev. L. H. Owens of Bethel AME church.

Rev. J. T. Brown of the House of Prayer has just returned from an Eastern evangelistic tour. Mr. and Mrs. Edward James of Calexico were over night guests of Mrs. R. H. Lanning last week and were also guests at an informal banquet given in their honor.

Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary of the Women's Political Study club of Los Angeles, was in attendance at the Women's Republican convention, held in this city a few days ago. While here, Mrs. Hill addressed the local unit of the Study clubs of which Mrs. Cassie Patterson is president; Mrs. R. H. Larning, secretary; Mrs. Alex McPherson, acting president, while Mrs. Patterson is recovering from a recent illness.

An interesting educational mass meeting was held Sunday afternoon at Logan AME Zion church, sponsored by the Ministers' Wives Alliance of which Mrs. M. L. Brown is president.

Ira Lipscomb, one of the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lipscomb, sr., of this city, is making for himself a record as a young minister. Recently, he was guest preacher at both morning and evening services of North Oakland Baptist church during the Junior Church's activities. Mr. Lipscomb is a student at San Diego State college.

Out of town guests at Simmons Hotel are George Higgs of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gutherie, Lawrence, Kas.; Rev. and Mrs. J. Holland, Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Wilson and daughter, June Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garrett, Des Canso; Harry Davis, USS Honolulu; James Harrell, USS Concord; Conrad Wright, USS Sampson.

Mrs. Helen Kary, president of the Best Yet club was called to Santa Barbara because of the illness of her mother.

The Bide A'Wee Bridge club was guest of Mrs. Cuney White Wednesday evening, Oct. 25. Mrs. Edith Wilkinson won first prize. Mrs. Cassie Patterson was the club's guest.

Darley Brawner was host to the Best Yet club at his home Saturday night.

CHURCHES

Mrs. Elizabeth Kincaid, evangelist, preached a sermon, "Walk With God" at Sunday morning services of Bethel AME church last Sunday. The church's new building will be ready for services Sunday, the pastor, Rev. L. H. Owens is confident.

Sunday will be first quarterly meeting.

Dennis V. Allen and Dr. Max Sterne, president and vice president respectively of the San Diego Race Relations Society were guests of the Los Angeles branch of the California Race Relations Society at a banquet at the Roslyn hotel.

Hugh E. MacBeth, president of the society, was toastmaster. Among the distinguished guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Browning of London, England and Mme. Laura Bowman, a Lafayette Player and recently from Paris.

Several very interesting musical numbers were presented for the entertainment of the guests. Among these were three readings by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew; soprano solo by Mrs. Josephine Webster Cooper; a whistling solo by Mrs. Deette Gross. Prominent representatives of several city departments were in evidence.

An overflow audience faced the speakers.

AME CHURCH IN CALEXICO IS PROGRESSIVE

CALEXICO, (By Pearl Herron)—Fountain Chapel AME church is recording progress under the leadership of Rev. R. F. Jones and the Sunday School, also, with Roosevelt Nisely and Mrs. S. B. Gillium in charge.

Second Baptist church reports similar advancement.

A surprise birthday party honored Mrs. Jackson last Friday night, and on Saturday night, Mrs. Viola Herron was surprised with a birthday party by friends.

Mrs. R. W. Bostick and daughter, Geraldine, spent the week-end in Imperial with Mrs. Bostick's mother.

Miss Jane Hampton and Miss Pearl Herron spent Friday night at the Herron's "Rancho Grande," north of Hopvill.

hattie noels hits new heights in film world

RKO studio signed Hattie Noels, excellent buxom sepia screen actress to a role in its current film production "Distant Fields" this week. The opus stars Allan Marshall and Barbara Reed with John Farrow occupying the directorial roles.

With the announcement of the addition of Miss Noels to the cast, RKO casting officials listed Patric Knowles and Helen Vinson as other notables in the cast which starts shooting this week. The clever sepia actress who was swept to fame when she appeared in the role of an illiterate sepia laundress who had just won a sweepstakes over Eddie Cantor's broadcast show, is revealed as ascending newer cinematic heights in landing the present lucrative film role.

In addition to the assignment to "Distant Fields," Miss Noels has been ratained by the Walt Disney Cartoon film company, to lend her voice and hefty figure to the technical department to work on, while they prepare their latest full length cartoon film "Pinnochio" for the screen. The cartoon, billed as a sequel to "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," looms as another box office record breaker. Troy Brown, who left here a fortnight ago for New York, where he joins the cast for the stage showing of "Midsummer Nights Dream—In Swing," has been sought for one of the cartoon ballet roles.

Central Ave. District Realty Board
We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernel of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.
These are the ambitions and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.
Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 81o E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.

Prof. Herman

The ASTROLOGER

To Assist You In Making Wise Decisions

Specialized Study of Your Personal Problems

FREE: Your question will be answered in this column ONLY when a clipping of this feature is enclosed with your QUESTION, YOUR FULL NAME, BIRTHDATE and CORRECT ADDRESS. For private reply, send twenty-five cents in coin and stamped envelope for my ASTROLOGY READING and receive by return mail my FREE OPINIONS on any THREE QUESTIONS. Address all communications to PROF. HERMAN, the ASTROLOGER, care of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 4075 So. Central Ave., Los Angeles, California.

It is interesting to note that in this group, we find "Mental" control, a distinguishing characteristic. They love to have reservations, and are very cautious and suspicious. These people are usually stable in their contacts, and generally manage to secure their positions early in life. However, their judgment, is often very poor.

Coldness in contacts with others is usually expressed, and when "Scorpionians" are convinced of a truth they can be horribly blunt. If injured they are a relentless enemy. And yet, at the same time, it is possible to win a deep and lasting affection from this type and to gain a loyalty which cannot be shaken by circumstances.

Sincerety is the keynote, in their love affairs as well as life in general. If their judgment is strengthened in proportion to their peace of mind, then the results will be excellent. This group may be termed as the "cream of the crop".

Let Prof. Herman give you an analysis on your birth-date.

I. A. Will my husband and I succeed?

Ans. According to your luck stars and guiding planets, you and your husband will be able to purchase this lot you have in mind, and pay other bills as well. It will take some sacrificing and careful managing but you will accomplish this desire.

Mrs. C. B. K. Will I be able to get this person to come back?

Ans. It seems that you have had a boarder with you and he moved away because of your present location. But if you move back he would be only too glad to return, as he liked your home and food very much.

D. C. J. Where did I lose my ring?

Ans. Concentrating upon your question I find that you lost your ring in a public wash room. You were washing your hands, and took it off. I am sorry, but I do not vision your finding it.

J. E. F. What steps should I take?

Ans. Probing into this matter it seems that you are interested in advancing and wish to know if you have started out on the right foot, you will have, and just keep up the good work. Study hard and you will not be sorry.

B. R. I enjoy reading your column each week, and wonder if you would be so kind as to answer this question for me. Who broke the lock on my screen door?

Ans. The answer I find in regards to your question is that a child was playing at the door, and in so doing unfastened the lock, thus enabling the stranger to take the article from your closet.

B. G. Which one should I marry?

Ans. Concentrating upon your question I would advise you to wait until you have definitely made up your mind which of the 2 girls you are in love with. There appears a possibility of your meeting someone soon, and there will be no doubt as to whether you should marry her or not.

N. W. Will I marry again? Will I have success in getting my property? Where is my brother?

Ans. Only one question is answered in the column, if you will write in for a private reply, I will be glad to help you.

E. E. Dear Prof. You said that thru faith, I would be able to obtain the desires I had and you were right. I am hoping that others will read this, and realize that they need not wish for things and never obtain them.

L. R. M. Can you describe the nature of my complaint?

Ans. In answer to your question I find that it would be wise to consult a reliable physician in regards to your complaint, and follow his advice closely.

A. J. Is it safe for me to change my locality?

Ans. Your lucky star and guiding planet, reveal that a change at this time would be beneficial. You will meet with much success and many opportunities will greet you upon your arrival in the new city.

A. L. D. Should I choose what I have in mind for my work?

Ans. Probing into this matter I find that you are talented along beauty lines, and beauty culture should be your vocation. You will succeed because of your ability to design coffeurs.

M. P. What can I do?

Ans. It appears that it would be wise to put your mother in the care of a good physician as soon as possible, and try to give all of the comfort in life that she has missed to her. She has spent many nights worrying about you, and the time has now come when you can prove your love for her.

E. R. Dear Sir: Just a few lines to let you know that the prayer and meditation combination along with the charm bag has really turned things around in my home. My husband is better, he brings his money home, and my home is now one of peace instead of worry. Thanks to you, I feel like a new woman again.

E. B. Will I enter school?

Ans. I vision your uncle providing you with the necessary funds to enter college this spring. You will be happy there, as this has been your desire for two years.

E. W. W. How can I keep her at home?

Ans. It appears that your wife has been going out almost every evening, and you have become tired of this. It would be wise for you to find an interest for her at home. Be a better companion to her. Cultivate similar habits which will make your evenings pleasant.

List Services at Angelus Funeral Home

MOORE

The church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home was filled to capacity when the last rites for Mrs. Betty Moore, victim of a shooting, were solemnized last Friday. Rev. H. Mansfield Collins presided, with burial in Evergreen cemetery.

The young mother of two children was born in Louisville, Ky., and had lived here 11 years. Besides her children, she leaves a husband, Leon Moore; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy White; two sisters and a brother.

JOHNSON

Final service for Mrs. Louanna Johnson, 847½ E. 27th street, was held in church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home last Saturday with Rev. J. W. Price officiating and burial in Lincoln Memoral Park.

The deceased, a native of Palestine, Tex., succumbed at her home, Oct. 25. A son, William J. Johnson, of this city, and other relatives, survive.

CLAGETT

Rev. S. M. Crouch, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, 33rd and Compton, conducted the obsequies for Mrs. Elizabeth Claggett in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home last Monday. Mrs. Claggett succumbed at her home Oct. 26 after living here 13 years. She was born in Nashville, Tenn.

CASTLE

Killed in an automobile crash at Washington and Atlantic boulevards Oct. 25, the last rites for Mrs. Lula M. Castle, 1650 1-4 E. 27th street, were held in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Castle was born in Franklin, Va., and had made Los Angeles her home for 17 years. Her husband, Charles M. Castle, is still in the hospital suffering from minor injuries. Interment was in Lincoln Memorial Park.

CRISP

Arrangements for the funeral of Lee Andrew Crisp, World War veteran of 1031½ E. 27th street, are being made by the family with the Angelus Funeral Home. He died at the General hospital, Oct. 29. A native of Sulphur Springs, Texas, he had lived here four years.

MASSEY

The body of Lewis Massey arrived from Kansas City, Mo., Tuesday, with a sister of the deceased accompanying the remains. A brother, Clarence Massey, of 1336 E. 23rd street, is arranging for the final rites with Angelus Funeral Home.

McKAY

The funeral of William L. McKay, 1162 E. 58th place, was held in the church chapel of Angelus Funeral Home Wednesday morning. He died Oct. 29 at the General hospital. A native of Belize, Honduras, B. W. I., he had lived in California 3 years.

His widow, Mrs. Alice McKay, and other relatives survive. Burial was in Lincoln Memorial Park.

In Memoriam

MOTHER AMANDA WEST

More and more each day we miss you.
God, for us the wound has healed.
But there still remains sweet memories.
That is within our hearts concealed.

Peaceful is thy rest dear mother.
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly
In after years we'll do the same.

Ernest (Red) Taylor, asserted two-time loser and well known Central Avenue character, was acquitted of charges of assault with a deadly weapon preferred by Solomon Gray after a spirited defense by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor who represented him in a trial before Judge Thomas L. Ambrose Tuesday. Gray had charged that on the night of Sept. 20 he had caught his wife, Eunice Gray, in the company of Taylor at the intersection of 37th and Paloma streets and that when he accosted them he was assaulted by Taylor who stabbed him in the throat and inflicted several other deep wounds in his body.

At the trial however, Gray's pretty wife testified against him and in behalf of the defendant, and at the conclusion of the trial, Judge Ambrose pronounced Taylor "not guilty."

CLAIM ATTACKS BY KU KLUX ON RACE SKIPPED BY DIES COMMITTEE

Chairman of Denver District Resigns General Chairmanship; Portland '41 Site

B-U-L-L-E-T-I-N

Following regular sessions of the Second Biennial Convention of Dining Car Employees, Local 465, at a meeting of the General Executive Board on Saturday, George W. Halsey, newly elected general chairman, resigned the office. This action automatically made John E. Hargrove of Los Angeles, elected secretary-treasurer by the convention, general chairman. He declined, however, in favor of Elder G. Scott, incumbent. Hargrove continues in the office of Los Angeles district chairman.

The United States Government was urged to dissolve the Dies committee because of its attacks against peace organizations, organized labor, and for not conducting serious investigations into the activities of the Ku Klex and Vigilantes (California's very special brand of kluxers,) by the Dining Car Employees, Local 465, of the Union Pacific system in a special resolution sent to Attorney Frank Murphy this week.

In addressing the second biennial convention of Dining Car Waiters here, general secretary Rufus C. Long, who reported for the resolutions committee, advocated that the body go on record as condemning any drive against the Bill of Rights and all violations of American Civil Liberties.

The resolution stated that general hysteria created by the Dies committee under the alleged investigations of so-called "Un-American Activities" was a part of definite preparations for America's entry in to World War II.

"The committee has not conducted serious investigation into the activities of the Nazi Bund, Ku Klux Klan, the Silver Shirts, the Knights of White Camelia, Vigilantes, and similar subversive groups which threaten the existence of the Bill of Rights and American Democracy," the resolution read.

NEGRO THREATENED

While this report was being made, news came to the convention that a Negro had been threatened with lynching in Modesto, "because he sat on a platform with white women." Vigilantes armed with rope and fagot, went to the home of the man where he was told to leave town or "take his medicine." He left town.

The tactics of the Dies committee are similar to those used in Germany and other fascist countries which led to the destruction of labor and fraternal organizations and finally churches, was further charged by the diner workers.

Other progressive measures supported by the conclave representing more than 600 colored waiters of the Union Pacific western district, were petitions to President Roosevelt to keep America out of war; endorsement of A. Philip Randolph for membership on the Railroad Industrial Committee of the Wages and Hours Division of the Department of Labor.

Discrimination against and segregation of Negro workers by trade unions was scored by the Ogden delegation.

William E. Miller, delegate from Ogden, declared that thousands of Negro workers are joining the AFL without adequate representation in executive bodies.

NO COMPENSATION

The convention went on record for a vigorous campaign to get Negroes into all executive councils of labor federations, central trade councils in International Unions and the general council of AFL.

It was disclosed through proceedings of the conclave that none of the families of men killed or injured in the recent wreck of the streamliner, "City of San Francisco," had received compensation for their loss.

Because the company claims that the wreck was caused by sabotage, the Federal Liability Act does not compel Union Pacific to pay these injured employees nor consider claims of families made destitute by the death of the Negro workers.

A spirited election of officers resulted in naming George W. Halsey, chairman of the Denver district, as general chairman, and John E. Hargrove, of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

Former Secretary Rufus Long reported $5,583.25 as dues collected; a defense fund amounting to $1,287.50; and death claims of $1,575.

PORTLAND IN 1941

Treasurer E. R. West stated that deposits of the local totaled $25,791.87. A credit union maintained by the organization for emergency loans charges 1% interest and showed $1424.66 paid in shares. Loans since the inception of this department amount to $2440.42.

Elected to represent the Dining employees at the forthcoming International convention were John R. Braggs, the general chairman and secretary-treasurer.

Portland, Oregon was named the convention city for 1941.

juanita terry impresses in concert debut at barker bros

Juanita Terry, star pupil of Joseph Zoellner sr., was presented Saturday afternoon last in a piano recital, her first, at Barker Brothers.

It was Miss Terry's debut as a concert pianist, and by far a most impressive occasion. It left no doubt in the minds of those who heard and watched her that she doubtless will go far. Her program was not a flexible one as to choice, but rather served as an effective means of stressing Miss Terry's exceptionally versatile range and mastery. Chopin predominated, which she did brilliantly.

Her conception of Bach's "Preambule" was flawless. The highlight of the program however, was her absolutely perfect rendition of the difficult "Rondo Capriciose" by Mendelssohn.

Miss Terry, as are most artists whether finished or in the preliminary stage, showed signs of extreme nervousness at the beginning, but as she got into the program this passed. She has nothing to fear, except a faint and obvious self-mistrust.

The audience was intimate, and exceedingly appreciative.

All-Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently.

Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative."

This ingredient enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. And it is the main reason for the punctual, thorough relief from constipation that most often follows next morning after you take BLACK-DRAUGHT. The millions of packages used prove its merit. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

War Picture

We learn this week that Czecho-patriotic rally in the face of German slovakian citizens of Prague staged a opposition when they celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of "Czech independence" last Saturday.

Fragmentary reports reaching us from that heavily censored nation hinted that several deaths occured and that fighting was widespread.

And perhaps the ghost of a certain French general is slyly laughing in Europe's ghost world today, for the spirit of Napoleon Bonaparte certainly could render Herr Adolph Hitler some wise counsel.

It was Napoleon who attempted for France what Hitler today attempts for the Third Reich. It was Napoleon whose early victories were directly responsbile for his final defeat.

Bonaparte invadea his neighbor's countries. He used deception, lies, diplomacy, trickery, and force. He cheated ceaselessly, violated his word, completely befuddled less brilliant but more honest minds. He was highly successful. The yoke of French imperialism spread over central Europe like a vast, dreaded scourge. Napoleon outgeneraled the militarists; outbargained the diplomats.

To date, Adolph Hitler has accomplished similar feats. With a complete disregard for truth and honesty, he has become the most competent international crook since the little Frenchman. Like Napoleon, he has confused both Army and diplomatic corps of his enemies. But —again like Napoleon—he has neglected one vitally significant factor, —the factor that wrote 'FAILURE' in giant, red-blood letters over the life of the little corporal. Both forgot that nations are greater than their generals and their statesmen, that no final victory is won until a patriotic, though defeated people are bereft of their spirit.

Here, then, we encounter one of the greatest parodoxes of the ages. Though defeat may ruin a nation's leaders, it usually molds a fierce and binding love of country in the hearts of the millions of average citizens. This simple truth has wrecked tyrants' schemes since the beginning of time.

Napoleon learned this when he conquered a broken and divided Spain,—a nation that was ripped asunder by rival political and revolutionary pressures. However, the insolence of French troops and the revolting effect of "foreigners" on Spanish soil evoked the first popular patriotism Spain had known for six centuries.

Our own history is a fine example of this "turn-about" effect of high handed conquest. Stupid George Third of England might have saved a tremendous Empire for Britain had he not forced Thirteen spiteful and suspicious colonies into their first unity—a unity inspired by the arrogance and duplicity of the British foreign policy.

So the news story from Prague this week must be reckoned as more than an isolated incident with no lasting message. Written in the death of four or five Czech citizens Saturday is the destiny and the defeat of Adolph Hitler. There is no military "putsch" or coup d'etat that can alter the hearts of patriotic COMMON CITIZENS.

The mistaken belief that Federal and state agencies can contend alone with the tremendous problems of charity in Los Angeles has done much to hinder the Chest program. It should be fairly obvious that the eighty-eight highly specialized organizations operating thru the Chest are in a much better position to administer to many of the people's needs—needs that are confused and forgotten 'mid the rigidly regulated charity of governmental agencies.

Of particular importance to East-side subscribers is the fact that the Community Chest, throughout its existence, has adhered to a fine policy of interracial understanding and tolerance.

• ON THE POLITICAL HORIZON

As the Ham and Eggs battle swung into high gear this week, Mayor Fletcher Bowron came out flatfooted in a radio address against the 30 Thursday scheme. The Mayor said that he had been threatened repeatedly not to speak out against the proposed state constitution amendment.

Crux of the executive's statements was that high Washington officials (including the President) whom he has just visited are opposed to the measure.

Along with the Mayor's blast this week, there comes also a stunning piece of news from Samuel R. Mercer, secretary of the Industrial Welfare Commission, following passage of a resolution by the Commission. Wages in the state of California must be PAID IN CASH. The commission also stated that acceptance of warrants in payment of minimum wage requirements would not be allowed.

Mrs. Margarete Clark, enforcement officer, and Chief in the Industrial Welfare Division, upon motion of John C. Packard, was "authorized and empowered by the commission to issue a statement to all employers of the state of California, through the press, that in the event of the passage of the Ham and Eggs amendment, employers be advised that the minimum wage orders of the commission require payment of wages in cash and not warrants."

"Senior citizens, don't trade your jobs for the prospect of receiving 30 pieces of paper for life!"

This, in substance, was the consensus of prominent Los Angeles employment agents to employed persons 50 years of age or over who consider abandonment of present positions in anticipation that the "Ham and Eggs" amendment will be enacted.

"Any older person who now has a job knows what he is up against in competing with younger persons for employment," declared Robert T. West, partner in the Organization Builders Employment Agency, one of several such concerns consulted in a recent survey which disclosed that executives all predict the "30-Thursday" plan would offer no solution to the unemployment problem.

To add insult to injury, it has been further revealed that complete disruption of the California Unemployment Insurance Act would result from adoption of the amendment.

The warning comes from J. L. Matthews, of Covina, chairman of the California Employment Commission. "The commission's action of last Friday in adopting a resolution against the "Ham and Eggs" plan on the ground of its conflict with the Federal Social Security program has been substantiated by statements from Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Federal Social Security Bureau, and Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator," Matthews declared.

'Altmeyer has said that the '30-Thursday' proposal would cost every employed worker in California an average of $625 a year" he continued. "Last Saturday, in Washington, in ordering a thorough legal investigation of the "Ham and Eggs" measure, McNutt boserved that 'if California should decide to substitute state warrants for dollars and propose to match Federal contributions with warrants instead of money, the Federal Security Administration could not continue to put up dollars to match paper that is not money."

Even President Roosevelt, it seems, is not safe from attacks by Ham and Egg proponents. This was revealed here today by William H. Anderson, former president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, and a life-long Democrat, who made public an article in the October 20th issue of the "The San Diego Californian" carrying the heading "Roosevelt Betrays American People."

The article calls President Roosevelt a "traitor to the American people," citing as a basis for this statement his expressed hope "that California will not experiment with the fantastic and unworkable 30-Thursday scheme."

"If President Roosevelt is a traitor for safely and sanely expressing his disapprobation of this wildest of all wild propositoins, then commend me to all such traitors," Anderson declared.

Note on a Little Publicized Proposition

Midst all the fuss and fuming anent Propositions No. 1 and 5, it is a relief to run across a fairly sane and logical press announcement concerning an election running mate of the two muchly contested measures.

"In presenting Proposition Two at the Nov. 7 election, the chiropractors honestly and fairly have analyzed and criticized their own shortcomings. Without dodging issues, they have acknowledged that California chiropractic should raise its own standards.

The proposed amendment was devised by leaders of the profession, who keep stride with the times by taking post-graduate courses and adopting latest tried and proved methods.

Chiropractic science steadily has gone ahead since the long ago, when the present law was adopted in 1922. Because of this progress, the existing code is outdated. It fits chiropractic like a child's shoe on an adults foot.

By the proposed bill, the profession would require higher education for its newcomers. This competition would compel the present corps of laggards to keep pace. The amendment further would provide adequate state supervision of chiropractic colleges.

All costs of this radical housecleaning would be borne by the chiropractors themselves, without imposing one cent of additional burden on the taxpayer.

THE TRAP

The WORLD THIS WEEK

RUMORS OF PEACE this week meet the cross-fire of rumors of impending major offensives on the Western front during this stärngest of modern wars. History has probably never run up the curtain on so curious a drama. The combatants all seek peace—with honor, and the most urgent pleas for peace come from the man who has been loudest in proclaiming the military might of his country. And the one country that has most firmly professed its opposition to aggression—in the past!—is blandly proceeding to gobble up great chunks of the Baltic region for itself. Like culprits caught with loot by an officer, Hitler and Stalin are saying, in effect, to Britain and France "Don't shoot, mister! We've had a change of heart." Do culprits have a change of heart? Sometimes, but it's the exception rather than the rule. Which is what worries Britain and France over accepting any peace pledge. Is it the rule or is it the exception? That is the question!

MORE PROMISES

As promisers of the more abundant life—for a minority at the expense of the wage-earning majority—sponsors of the Retirement Life Payments Act have been unsurpassed. With the Nov. 7 deadline drawing near, ham-and-egg promoters are producing bigger and wilder promises, even though these patently violate the terms of the pension act itself! Such is the brand new promise which asserts, in contradiction to the act, that the so-called "warrants" can be exchanged at full face value for lawful money at any time 30 days after date of issuance. No words anywhere in the ham-and-egg proposal support that claim. Perhaps, as many Californians suspect, the administrator-dictator of the plan proposes to raid the State's public funds in order to make good these extravagant promises—while the money lasts!

MOVIES HAVE A BIRTHDAY

The little black box, with its flickering celluloid strips, into which Edison peered in 1889, has since grown to huge dimensions. Today, the fiftieth anniversary of the motion picture is being celebrated in theatres throughout the country. From a mere "filler" between vaudeville shows, used by managers to clear the house, the motion picture has become a magnet drawing 85 million people weekly into the movie palaces of America. As historic milestones in its progress from a music hall novelty to an art and an industry, stand "The Great Train Robbery" of 1903, "The Birth of a Nation" in 1914, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" in 1921, and "The Jazz Singer" in 1927. As a genuine force for education, motion pictures are only beginning to hit their stride. This Fall it is estimated some five million pupils of secondary schools will be enrolled in classes or study groups for the discussion and analysis of worthwhile pictures. And fifty, even forty years ago, people said of the movies, "Just a fad—they'll be gone before the snow flies!"

CURING CRIME

There is nothing comforting in the statement of J. Edgar Hoover last week that over 19 per cent of all persons arrested this year have been under voting age. Addressing the International Association of Police Chiefs in San Francisco, the FBI director spoke plainly when he declared, "We cannot dodge the issue or argue that these fact; result from youthful folly." Equally true is that strict law enforcement does not provide "a cure" for crime. Facing the nation's law enforcement officials is the task not only of apprehending criminals, but of discovering how criminals are made, how and why youths start "to go wrong." The fight against crime must seek the roots and sources of crime. Punishment is not enough. To the habitual criminal's way of thinking, crime still pays. In the two-fold job of preventing crime, as well as enforcing law, with the best weapons which scientific procedure and methods can provide, lies the surest means of curing the youthful folly that leads to disaster, and warped and broken lives.

RELIEF—1788 STYLE

Even for the reliefer, the world is a better place to live in than it used to be, the Workers' Alliance to the contrary notwithstanding. Unearthed by the WPA workers at Barre, Mass., the other day was an account of how relief was administered in 1788 in that town. Bluntly, the records report that the community voted "to sell the poor at Publick Ocation to the lowest bidder for one year at so much per week." The record speaks for itself, and in tones that, to the modern ear, seem brutal. Today it's the taxpayer who frequently feels that he has been put on the auction block!

The ablest man in all the walks of modern life are men of faith. Most of them have much more faith than they themselves realise.—Bruce Barton.

Would you end war? Create great Peace.—James Oppenheim.

• OTHER PAPERS SAY:

A Woman Talks

By LILLIAN JOHNSON, from The Baltimore Afro-American.

There lived a woman near our home when I was a child, who had a peach tree that bore the prettiest fruit that I think I had ever seen, but nobody ever tasted the fruit at its best.

Every year, the branches would be loaded with large peaches that turned from green to a golden yellow and in the next day or two, the tops of the fruits would glow with a lovely red color.

But the women never allowed anyone to pick any of the fruit. When it smashed to the ground because it was overripe, she would gather it, and then the neighbors and their children would be invited to have some.

"This is a nice large one," she would say. "It has only a small spot and you can eat around that."

And so it would continue thru the season until a heavy rainstorm came and the too-ripe fruit would all fall to the ground, with not a perfect peach in the lot.

There are still persons with forbidden fruit trees.

There are housewives with lovely dishes and solid silverware that always find strangers eating from them. There are soft cushions that are never crumpled, fireplaces that glow only for expected guests.

There are tired mothers who, nevertheless, are able to smile for strangers. Children who save their best manners for company, and fathers who save their companionship for people on the outside.

These are the people who pick their fruit from the ground of life.

These are the people who die without ever having really lived at all.

Marrying Off Gaines

Louis Lautier, AFRO columist, says the NAACP knew of Lloyd Gaine's disappearance several months ago but kept it a secret. Without him the association cannot go on with its suit to compel the University of Missouri to admit him.

NAACP officials are reported as saying that Gaines instantly walked out on them when they declined to make him certain monetary advances for his personal support. The association, in refusing, said that it was not marrying him, but defending him in the courts.

With Gaines gone, however, it might have proved cheaper for the NAACP to "marry" him.—Afro American.

• The LAUNDRYMAN

THE BOTTLE-FEEDING of millions of un-weaned Americans with potential war propaganda has already begun. Already, the nipple is being inserted in their unsuspecting mouths, via newspaper headlines shouting to high heaven about the American freighter "Flint" having been seized by the Germans and interned at the Russian port of Murmansk.

Perhaps unintended by the editors, but nevertheless true, is the fact that the undercurrent set up by perusal of these articles leaves the average reader under the impression that Russia and Germany have done us wrong; that they have somehow infringed upon our rights as a sovereign nation by seizing the "Flint".

I daresay over a million copies of this potential war propaganda have been distributed and read in the U. S. A., instilling in many impressionable minds a tiny but irritating injection of distrust—the inevitable fore-runner of hate. Almost every daily in the U. S. head lined this event in glaring letters.

Yet nowhere, so far as I know, has anyone seen headlines the known but little publicized fact that Great Britain has not only seized and convoyed several U. S. ships into her far flung ports, but has actually seized and tampered with U. S. mail found on said ships. This information may be had from last week's issue of one of the nation's leading periodicals. It is not head-lined there however, being tucked away in an inconspicuous place. It does state though that the Department of State has made a protest to Great Britain concerning it.

Why these infringements upon our sovereign rights by Britain are soft-pedalled, is well nigh incomprehensible to minds of less than diplomatic caliber. Is it that we have an inhibited fear of Great Britain as some children have of their parents even after they have reached maturity, or is it that we condone from her, actions which we actively resent from others, on account of her similar language and customs? Is one's brother or cousin any less guilty of malfeasance if he throws a rock at a hearse, then let's say, Tony Pinello who happens to be a "Wop" and lives in Little Italy?

RED RUSSIA

THE BLUNT Soviet note handed to the British ambassador last week in which the Soviet government denounced the stringency of the British blockade, was indeed a straightforward pronouncement. It stated that the British regulations gravely endangered the health and lives of peaceful populations, and that Russia regards as wholly unfounded and arbitrary the obligatory calling of neutral ships at British ports. The note further informed Britain that Russia reserved the right to claim compensation for losses suffered by Russian institutions or individuals, from British contraband control.

Some newly arrived visitor on the Earth-plane—from Mars perhaps—who had previously read the current histories of both the USA and Russia; if presented the Soviet note with the identifying name deleted would be more than apt to attribute this straight from the shoulder declaration to the U. S. A. rather than to Red Russia.

GOOD SPORTS COLUMN

Dear Editor:

It was very kind of you to forward the clipping of your J. Cullen Fentress' most interesting column, which chiefly concerned the Helms Athletic Foundation Pacific Coast Conference Football Record. I can assure you that we greatly appreciate the fine mention which Mr. Fentress made of our compilation.

I very much like the manner in which Mr. Fentress writes. His column has originality, it is easy to read, and is forceful and to the point. I am sure that he is building a large following of interested readers, all of which is of value to the EAGLE.

In my estimation, a good sports column of local creation, can do more to increase a newspaper's circulation than any other thing.

Thomas Addresses Students on Race Relations Subject

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—In an address before the student body of Washington university, St. Louis, Missouri, Jesse O. Thomas, acting executive secretary of the National Urban league, said:

"Because racial prejudice and racial intolerance, together with a struggle for economic supremacy, threaten to engulf the civilized world in the most devestating war known to mankind, it would seem appropriate that we in America, so far removed geographically from the scene of action, should give some intelligent concern as to how the various race elements in our country might live together harmoniously and helpfully.

"It is significant that so large a percentage of persons here assembled comprise the younger element. The people who make up our citizenship all speak on language. The aims and objectives of all Americans insofar as they embrace our national culture are identical. No group of American citizens owes allegiance to any other flag or country. We read the same papers, books, periodicals; we profess the same religion; and we salute the same flag. This ought to make it much easier for us to find a common denominator as a way of life than is true in many countries where they have different language-speaking groups, many conflisting religious cults, and contradictory political philosophies," Mr. Thomas said.

Continuing, the Urban League executive stated, "The Negro has been identified with every phase of American culture since the foundation of this government. He has performed every duty imposed, from the battle fields to the legislative halls, with efficiency, fidelity and patriotism. He has never betrayed a trust or refused to answer his country's call Crispus Attucks, the first matyr of the American Revolution, gave his life that white men might have freedom and democracy even though he was still a slave.

"In every institution in the nation where the Negro has been permitted to enroll as a student on the basis of comparative excellence of work done, he has achieved distinction. Where he has entered industry, he has met the standard in unit production. Through his art, music and literature, he has enriched American culture. Having met every test, he has earned the right, after more than three centuries of continous citizenship, to inquire as to why he should be denied participation in the social heritage on an equal footing with other race elements. As an American citizen, he is interested that his country shall reach the highest possible stage of development."

Concluding, Mr. Thomas said, "He knows this cannot be done so long as a double economic standard and racial differentials are inflicted upon ten per cent of the most loyal and patriotic segment of our population. He today is knocking at the doors of industry, shops, school houses and legislative halls for admission—not as a naturalised but as a natural-born American citizen."

Aged Due to Profit from 'Ham-Eggs' Defeat

RICH POLITICIAN AMBUSHED, KILLED

CALIFORNIA EAGLE

VOL. 60 — NO. 31 LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, NOV. 9, 1939 PRICE 5 CENTS

on the sidewalk

by c. a. b.

"O, Law, fair form of liberty,
God's light is on thy brow,
O, Liberty, thou soul of law,
God's very self art thou.
O, daughter of the bleeding past,
O, Hope the Prophets saw;
God give us law in liberty,
And liberty in law."

SOMEONE HAS SAID that the necessity of government is furnished in man's social and moral nature.

It seems to me this is a profound statement. The plan of creation was based on law and order. Let's see the first chapter of the Book of Genesis, "In the beginning, God created the heaven and the earth" and so on down the chapter Moses, the author of the Genesis, tells us that the earth was without form and was void and in darkness. We then take it that up to this time what we call the earth was a great expanse of darkness and that the mighty power that Moses designated as God has always been and will always be.

In one plan of creation, we observe, first, law and order,—Study the plan briefly: First, the Earth was put in form; light was turned on, a great light to rule the day and a lesser light to rule the night. Great bodies of water divided the land; lofty mountain peaks frameworked both land and sea. God commanded that the Earth bring forth fruit in season, and that "the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creatures that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the Earth—and these God blessed, commanding that that they be fruitful and multiply."

And when this much of the task of creation was completed God, or what we have been taught to think of as the Trinity, said, "Let us make man in our image, after our ilkeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the Earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth."

According to this biblical document, we get our first law enforcement Act. After God had created male and female in his own image, He called them into Court and blessed them, and then said unto them "Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the Earth and subdue it."

Now in this first order of the Court we substantiate our first statement that necessity of government is furnished in Man's social and normal nature. Creating man in his image is equivalent to the investment of God's power in man in proportion to his willingness to receive or assimulate. In the charge given man to possess, to multiply, to increase, and to have dominion over everything that creepeth, in no wise do we find a statement to the effect that I have made some men stronger than others and I want the strong to reign over the weak—if necessary make them the slaves of mightier masters.

Scientists and geologists have been either stingy or backward in revealing just why we have Earth divisions knows as the torrid and the frigid zones. These widely diversified climates produce differences in skin pigmentation and hair growth among the human specie unlike in color and physical feature. And in this they serve a definite purpose in the Universe—monotony shock absorbers. If time were all Spring, Summer, Fall or Winter—if all the grass was one color, all the flowers red, Earth's scenes would become so monotonous we would perish for the want of diversion.

Again in the plan of creation, since God endowed man with power to rule over the world, He realized that no doubt this would be the test of man's ability to govern first himself and to become a part of the great governing body of all things.

What we termed "Civilization" had its early start in Egypt, but we are wont to place the early march of Western civilization in Europe. Europe, at the present, invites sympathy rather than reverence. So may we turn our attention to those nations that are struggling to hold fast to some brand of peace—our own nation, for instance, and her close neighbor republics.

In this country, despite the effort to do so, nothing scientific or otherwise has been able to prove that the Black man, morally or socially is incapacitated to be governed or to govern. "United we stand, divided we fall." is a hackneyed expression but nevertheless a true one. Since correcting its own mistake of inflicting serfdom upon the Black fraction of its populace, it has inconsistently lived under two laws—one for white Americans, another for Black Americans; and because of this tampering with the true spirit of democracy this nation has been struggling to rid itself of a law enforcement sleeping sickness that threatens destruction from within more potently than from without. This argument of course, begs the question. "Is the Black Man sincerely sinning in an effort to break down the two forms of govern-

E. P. Booze of Miss., Dead in Mystery

Was Husband of GOP National Committeewoman

(Special to California Eagle)

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. Nov. 9—Eugene P. Booze, wealthy politician, who stood by while two white policeman murdered his sister-in-law, was dead here today, shot from ambush by an "unknown assassin".

Subject of nation-wide censure for alleged implication in the killing of his wife's sister, Booze died Tuesday in a Greenville hospital. Near death in the same hospital is his chauffeur, Andrew Polk, 29, wounded as he tried to protect his employer.

Husband of Republican national committeewoman from Mississippi, Mary C. Booze, Booze was standing beside the white officres, summoned by him from neighboring towns, last Oct. 1 when they fired 10 shots into the body of Miss Estella Montgomery, sister of Mrs. Booze and daughter of the founder of this all-Negro town.

Miss Montgomery was killed as the officers sought to eject her from the home her father built, allegedly purchased by Booze at a foreclosure. The murder shocked the entire nation because of its brutality.

Booze was shot Monday night as he left his office, accompanied by Polk. Threatened with forcible ejection from this town by irate citizens, the Republican leader had been advised to go away until public indignation over Miss Montgomery's death had subsided.

On his death bed, Booze decried any connection between his own shooting and the murder of his sister-in-law, blaming a "political feud" for the tragedy. The link, however, has not been ignored by authorities seeking the slayer. Members of the Montgomery family and persons outspoken in condemnation of Booze are being questioned by police.

Stories of hatred between Booze and his wife's sister came to light with Miss Montgomery's death. Booze had been brought to trial, through the slain woman's efforts in 1934, on charges of having poisoned her father, Isaiah Montgomrey, who founded Mound Bayou in 1888. Administrator of his father-in-law's estate, he was exonerated.

Since then the two had been wrangling in Mississippi courts for possession of the Montgomery home. Claiming that her patent on the land had been upheld by the federal government in a recent decision, Miss Montgomery returned to Mound Bayou on Sept. 30 from St. Louis, Mo. where she had been living since she was ejected from the house in 1934.

Only eye-witness to the shooting of the woman was Booze. Other members of the Montgomery house, of whom he, at one time had said, "I wouldn't mind their staying in the house, but I don't want Stella there", had all been invited, by Booze, to his house for an ice cream social.

CLAIMED SELF DEFENSE

Booze told a jury that "If the officers hadn't acted instantly they, instead of Stella Montgomery, would have been killed". He claimed his sister-in-law attacked the policemen with a knife.

The officers were white men from nearby towns of Merigold and Cleveland, Miss. The entire police force as well as the administration of Mound Bayou, is colored.

Summoned at the request of Booze, the officers ordered Miss Montgomery to leave the house. When she refused, the violence ensued. Ten bullet wounds were found in the dead woman's body, two in the back,

2 Bunco Artists Victimize Woman in Downtown L. A.

The story of the pocketbook trick used by bunco artists was re-enacted last Thursday noon in downtown Los Angeles and the victim lost $38.00 in the telling.

Mamie Calmore, the victim, told Newton street police that Thursday noon she was shopping at a perfume counter at the May company, Eighth and Broadway, when she was approached by a "Mildred Turner" who immediately engaged her in conversation.

When the pair neared the sidewalk, on leaving the store, Miss Calmore related, the "Turner" woman pointed to another woman who appeared to be picking up a pocketbook and asked if she noticed her. The woman, who picked up the alleged pocketbook, told the pair that it contained $1200.00. Stating she was going to turn the money over to her boss, the woman left and when she returned a few minutes later she asked Miss Calmore how much money she had.

Miss Calmore said she had a small amount. The woman who had "picked" up the purse suggested that Miss Calmore give her what money she had and she would take it all to the boss to be divided equally among all three of them. Miss Calmore gave the woman $38.00

Leaving again for a few minutes, this woman, tabbed by police as Suspect No. 1, soon returned and "Mildred Turner" put up her money, Miss Calmore said.

WAITS FOR AN HOUR

Both suspects suggested then that Miss Calmore wait for them in the shoe department of the company, that they would be back and give her her share of the "found" money.

Miss Calmore waited . . . for more than an hour.

Today, police are on the lookout for two bunco artists—No. 1, brown of skin and small of build, about five feet tall and 115 pounds in weight who was dressed on the day in question in a wine-colored dress; No. 2, "Mildred Turner", light brown and a scar on her cheek, about five-five at 135 pounds and 30 years old, who was dressed in pink sweater, black skirt and black shoes.

New Pension Plans Get Underway

"Yes" and "No" Votes on Eastside Run Neck and Neck

Improverished oldsters all over the Nation stood today to profit by the hullabaloo caused in the body politic by "Ham and Eggs", California pension plan, beaten at the polls Tuesday for the second time.

With final and complete returns of the special election on "30 Thursday", and four other propositions, due this morning, it was estimated late last night that "Ham and Eggs" had been defeated two to one, and by a margin of one million votes.

As the political hurricane, gathering momentum since the gubernatorial election last year to hit Los Angeles in full force Tuesday, subsided yesterday, pros and cons "Ham and Eggs", most controversial measure since Repeal, began to pick up the pieces.

Almost to a man it was agreed the election had served to focus attention on the problem of old age security to the extent of making it a potent plank in the 1940 presidential leection. Federal provision for the aged has been suggested by economists and political leaders all over the country as the only feasible solution.

NEW PLANS

With smoke from the burning of "Ham and Eggs" barely cleared away, new pension plans, modified by the state's rejection of the defeated plan, already sputtered in the political cauldron. First new plan came from Lieut.Gov. Ellis E. Patterson, only high state official to stick to an endorsement of "30-Thursday". Patterson proposed $60.00 per month to persons 60 years and over, in contrast to the defeated $30.00 per week in warrants to persons 50 years and over.

A seconds suggestion of old age relief came from Gov. Culbert L. Olson, who repudiated his 1938 endorsement of the original "Ham and Eggs" plan. Gov. Olson tentatively suggestde $100 per month to unemployed oldsters.

On the Eastside, which with the rest of city, county and state recorded an unprecedented vote, Yes on "Ham and Eggs" raced almost neck and neck with No to the finish line. In several precincts, freak votes, half Yes and half No, were tallied; for example Precincts 416, 391 and 412 returned 142 Yes and 142 No; 110 Yes and 110 No; 100 Yes and 100 No; respectively.

Precinct 391 at 941 E. 35th st., was within almost a stone's throw of the Eastside headquarters at Jefferson and Central, of "Ham and Eggs" supporters.

On Proposition 5 second most controversial measure on the ballot, Propositions 2, 3 and 4 Eastside voters returned decisions about parallel to the city at large.

Assemblyman Hawkins and Hargrove NAACP Speakers

The regular meeting of the local branch of the NAACP will be held Sunday at 18th and Naomi streets, at 3:30 o'clock.

An open forum will be held and members and friends of the Association are invited to be present at the meeting and take part in the Forum discussion.

The theme of the Forum will be "New Horizons for the NAACP." Special phases of the topic and their leaders are:

Legislative problems, Assemblyman A. Hawkins; Labor problems, John Hargrove; Social Service problems, Anna Fields; Youth problems, Robert Brooks.

Clarence O. English will serve as leader of the forum.

News flashes for the day will be given by Fay Allen, member of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Ernest Whitman, famous New York vocalist, will be the soloist of the day. Whitman is known throughout the East as a star of the radio, stage, and a featured motion picture player. Miss Zorrita Steptoe of Baltimore, will act as pianist for Whitman.

Future of Negro Women in Industry Bright, Group Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—The National Council of Negro women voiced optimism over the future of Negro women in industry last week thru speakers at the fifth annual convention at the Harlem YWCA, where nearly 500 delegates from all parts of the United States gathered.

Weekly wages of $16.50 for hair dressers working a thirty-hour week and salaries of $14 for laundresses and employes of confectionaries are the average received by Negro women, according to Miss Kate Papert of the New York State Department of Labor. Forty cents an hour, she added, was the minimum for Negro women working in dry-cleaning establishments.

Enthusiasm marked the meeting, the first of its kind dealing with favorable reports concerning working Negro women. Miss Papert told the delegates that it was mostly due to their efforts that the New York State Wages and Hours Bill was passed.

"The State Department of Labor is waging a great fight against chiseling employers," she declared, "and is doing a great thing by making adjustments with employers in informal hearings rather than bringing them to court."

Municipal Court Justice Charles E. Toney offered encouragement in the group's social and labor program, which is a progressive movement favoring legislation for the security of the 5,000,000 Negro women in the United States.

The present scarcity of jobs for Negroes was cited as making youths apathetic rather than anti-social in their attitude, said Miss Helen Harris, local director of the National Youth Administration, who struck the only gloomy note in the proceedings. Miss Harris, however, said that NYA was doing its best to teach youngsters the rudiments of business.

A plea for the ending of racial prejudice was made by Miss Rachel DuBois, an instructor at Columbia University. She urged new citizens to remember the arts they learned at home and to use them to good advantage.

Officers elected at the session were: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, re-elected as national president; Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, first vice president; Mrs. Christine Smith, second vice president; Mrs. Addie Dickerson, treasurer, and Mrs. Florence E. Norman, recording secretary.

Widely commented upon this week was the appearance of famed screen, stage and radio actress Laura Bowman on the Negro Newspaper of the Air, KGFJ, 8:15.

Matt Henson at Byrd's Farewell

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (C)—Matthew A. Henson, acknowledged discoverer with Admiral Peary of the North Pole in 1909, was among the guests Saturday night at the farewell party for Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in the Ford Building at the World's Fair. Henson was not alone the only Negro in Peary's expedition but was the only man with him at the pole. Henson reached the pole before Peary. The farewell fete was given by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, director of the American Museum of Natural History.

PLAN COURT ACTION FOR CROSSWAITH

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (C)—Further court action is being taken immediately to reinstate Frank R. Crosswaith's name on the ballots for City Councilman for Manhattan despite the decision of the Board of Elections. So far, the lower court to which the Independent Citizens' committee, headed by A. Philip Randolph, had appealed, has refused to reverse the decision of the Board of Elections.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, will appear tonight as the feature of the Negro Newspaper of the Air, KGFJ, 8:15 p. m. Mrs. Bass is scheduled to discuss the late Charles Bellinger, political ruler of San Antonio, Texas.

Young Pianist Thrills Studio Audience

With a clean-cut, brilliant technique and poetic insight attributable to an older pianist, Yvonne Cole pleased her audience Saturday evening in a piano recital ranging from the classics to the moderns.

Little Miss Cole was presented by Marguerite Bitter and Lorenza Jordan Cole, at the studio of Miss Bitter to a capacity house. Her program consisted of numbers from Bach, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Liszt, Debussy and William Grant Still.

Well Known Tenor Incites War Protest With Spiritual

PASADENA, Nov. 9—Geo. R. Garner, well known tenor, resident here, incited a mass protest against war with the singing of the spiritual "I Ain't Gonna Study War No More" at the New World Federation of Methodist Women, meeting at the Hotel Huntington last week.

Garner, guest soloist at the Federation meeting, led the 1000 delegates in a fervent rendition of the spiritual, unwittingly sounding the keynote of the convention, when after singing the solo, he waved the entire assemblage into a spontaneous chorus.

A surprise incident on the Federation's program, the spiritual was sung enthusiastically by the women, gathered from all over the nation.

Lovelorn Column Will Appear in Eagle, on Air

A new and inspiring column is set to appear in next week's edition of the California Eagle. Penned by THE FRIENDLY COUNSELLOR, the series will devote itself to sympathetic advice to the lovelorn and spiritual consolation to the heavily laden.

The COUNSELLOR will appear on the Negro Newspaper of the Air Monday evenings also. The time is 8:15, the station, KGFJ, 1200 on your dial.

Letters to the FRIENDLY COUNSELLOR will be answered through his column or, if preferred, by private mail. The names of all communicants will be held strictly confidential, the Adviser promises.

So, don't forget, come next Thursday, hunt for the FRIENDLY COUNSELLOR!

Second Baptist Pastor Improves

The family and friends of the Rev. Dr. T. L. Griffith sr., pastor of Second Baptist church, received heartening news today as it was reported that following a blood transfusion Tuesday night at Methodist hospital the venerable prelate was improving in his battle against the ravages of pneumonia.

The minister was removed to the hospital early last week.

Visited by members of his family yesterday, Dr. Griffith was apprised of election results and expressed his approbation of the will of the voters.

London Mother Leaves $240 to Care for Kiddies

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (C)—In a London dispatch here recently there was a story concerning two colored children evacuated from London and who were unwanted by anyone in the village of Herefordshire. In desperation the billeting officer took them home. While undressing them there was found this note pinned to their clothing: "To the woman who undresses my babies tonight, with thanks for looking after them. God bless you." And $240 was in the envelope.

CATHOLICS PLEDGE RACIAL TOLERATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.-(C)—At the National Catholic Federation Convention which met here Oct. 28, the Catholics pressed for a resolution to repudiate racism in this country. The resolution was passed. The resolution guarantees full educational opportunity by Catholic institutions of higher learning to colored men and women and emphasizes that a people should not be deprived of proper living conditions or employment for which they are qualified because of color.

LOUISIANA WOMAN, 113 YEARS OLD, DEAD

COTEAU, La., Nov. 9—Death dissolved the oldest Negro couple in Louisiana, perhaps the oldest in the country, when the wife of Oscar Raymond, who himself is 109, died here this week at the age 113. Seven children survive.

Ask Governor to Probe Mo. Mob's Open Terror on Negro

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Governor Lloyd C. Stark, of Missouri was urged to conduct a thorough investigation into the open terrorization of Negro citizens in the town of Oran, Mo., last July by a mob of whites, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced today.

In a letter sent to the Governor, the Association backed up its call for a probe with signed affidavits. According to the affidavits, one of which was signed by the Rev. P. J. Rogers, one of the victims and a prominent resident of the town following outline of the story is given:

A mob of whites descended upon the Negro section of the town July 15, forced the Negro citizens from their homes and then ordered them to "leave town by sundown." When they returned to their homes sometime later they found their property damaged and many of their belongings stolen.

111th St. School Has Nothing to Do With Project

Unintentionally, a recent story in the EAGLE regarding discrimination existing at the Housing Survey Project in Watts, identified the 111th Street school administration as being connected with the practices on the project. The school administration is not in any way connected with the project. The Housing Survey, is a WPA project, and is simply located in the school building.

"We apologize for any erroneous impression which may have been made, and trust that the general public will note this correction," the local council of the National Negro Congress, which released the story stated today.

Colored Railway Trainmen Air Grievances in Virginia

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 9—The General Grievance committee of the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen have protested to the Norfolk and Western Railroad company unfair working conditions of Negro switchmen and brakemen on the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

The Negro switchmen and brakemen are working under an agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen is the bargaining agent for switchmen and brakemen on the Norfolk and Western by virtue of the fact that their members represent a major-ity of the switchmen and brakemen working on the Norfolk and Western Railroad. The Railway Labor Acts gives the majority of the railway workers i nany class the power to negotiate agreements covering all the railway workers in the same class.

The white brotherhood will not admit Negro switchmen and brakemen to membership and the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen claims that the Brotherhood has taken advantage of its majority position to negotiate agreements which cripple Negro employment and deprive Negro switchmen and brakemen of their seniority rights.

The Association is also fighting a similar case of discrimination against Negro switchmen on the Southern Railway in the Knoxville, Tennessee, yards.

The Association of Colored Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen, last July entered into a working agreement with the International Association of Railway Employees, Inc., another group of Negro Trainmen, whereby both Associations will pool their strength to fight these cases of discrimination. The International Association, with the assistance of the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen, is fighting a case on the Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railway where a senior colored fireman, Ed Teague, was taken off his run and displaced by a junior white fireman, under an agreement negotiated between the railroad and the rotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (white).

The NAACP is helping both Associations on the Teague case.

In the conference which the General Grievance committee of the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen had in Roanoke with the General Superintendent of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, the General superintendent stated that he did not been aware of the discrimination against the Negro brakemen and switchmen and would make a personal investigation.

The Association of Colored Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen and the International Railway Employees are represented by Charles H. Houston and Joseph C. Waddy of Washington, D. C. and J. Henry Claytor of Roanoke, Virginia.

Jeff Evening Hi School to Edit Journal

William T. Smith, well known newspaper man and author of published fiction, began his first week as instructor of journalism and creative story writing at Jefferson with the announcement that the class has already begun interviews for an early issue of the Jefferson Courier.

Besides the work of composing and editing the school paper, the class will tour local newspaper offices, police stations and other news sources to collect data for the school paper and to learn journalistic methods. Arrangements are already being made to interview local editors of the California Eagle, Neighborhood News, Sentinel, News Guardian and Daily News.

This work when taken in connection with Mrs. Brown's course in Oral English and Mr. Tucker's classes in World Problems and Negro history gives a well rounded experience for those interested in salesmanship and business, stated Smith.

61 Officers to Re-Live World War Days Saturday

Among the celebrants in the annual observance of Armistice Day, Saturday this year will be the members of the 92nd and 93rd Division Officers Association. All were commissioned officers during the World War and are 61 in number, living in and about Los Angeles. They will get together at the home of Capt. Charles W. Owens, 2131 W. 29th street, to relive verbally the days of 1917-18.

The Officers of the Association are Lieut. Leslie King, Commander; Major Moody Staten, Executive officer; Lieut. Thomas E. Green, Finance Officer; Lieut. Journee W White, Laison; Lieut. George Randol, Judge Advocate; Lieut. Leonard Stovall, Chaplain; Lieut. Percival Everett, Officer of the Day and Lieut. Dennis McMatthews, Adjutant.

POST NEWS

Members of Lt. Col. James M. Beck Post No. 2681, VFW, are urged to assemble at 17th and Main street at 10 a. m. Saturday to participate in the Armistice Day parade, expected to be the largest parade ever held in Los Angeles. The Ladies' Auxiliary will form at 18th and Broadway at the same hour.

Commander Moody Staten is especially anxious for a large turnout from the Post. Led by LeBlanc boys and girls band, comrades are to attire in caps and uniforms, or white shirts, dark ties and dark trousers. However, Commander Staten declared, lack of either of these items is no reason for absence.

"Come anyway" he said.

Comrades are reminded of the National Encampment to be held in Los Angeles next year. They are urged to pay their 1940 dues so that the post will be in good standing and have an opportunity to win another cup for re-enlistments. Payments may be made to the Quartermaster Leon Stewart, 5421 Ascot avenue, CE. 2-6803 or at the clubhouse, 5403 Central avenue. The Post will meet at Patriotic Hall, Nov. 15.

An open house meeting of Frank Ernest Post No. 2134, V. F. W., was held Friday night at Patriotic Hall with 100 percent attendance. Special guests were Department Commander Billy Lull, Ambassador at large Maier, Comrade Captain Gregg, Fifth District Commander Joe Lamb, President of the Women's Auxiliary of the County Council Elsie Watson, District President Pauline Reed, Commissioner Toney Entenza, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, Mrs. Hawkins, Past Commander Norman O. Houston, Commander Buffalo Post Nolan Hines, S. P. Johnson, president Conner-Johnson Mortuary.

Shields, formerly of Evanston, Ill., trains the youngsters, termed 'victims of circumstance," in agriculture, horticulture, poultry, woodwork and general manual training. Five youngsters are living at the Home now. The capacity is 18.

Gives Lie to Need of Test for Domestics

Says Compulsory Exams for Syphilis Are Not Needed

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—The compulsory examination of domestics, cooks, waiters, barbers and beauticians to determine whether they have syphilis, is wholly unjustified, because "9-10th per cent of all infections with syphilis are acquired by means of one or another form of sexual contact and by this means only."

This was the revealing statement by Dr. Joseph E. Moore, of Baltimore's Johns Hopkins University, in a speech before the New England Post Graduate Assembly of Harvard, in Cambridge, Massachusetts, Tuesday.

Acclaiming the statement of the Hopkins Medical professor as a scientific truth which cracks another link in the chain of prejudice built up against Negro citizens in this country, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People urged the United States Health Department to include this type of sane investigation in its program on the treatment of the disease.

"A great deal of this distorted handling of the program of syphilis eradication in this country has been aimed at these citizens purely on the false assumption that Negroes are more susceptible to syphilis than whites."

3500 PART-TIME NYA JOBS OPEN TO YOUNG PEOPL

NYA'S "LEARN WHILE THEY EARN" PROGRAM PROVIDES JOBS IN STATE

Young People Between Ages of 18 and 25 Eligible for Employment Under State NYA

More than 3,500 part-time jobs for young people between the ages of 18 and 25, who wish to 'learn while they earn,' are open immediately throughout California in the of the National Youth Administration, according to State Administrator Robert Wayne Burns.

Work pay averages from $18.00 to $21.00 a month for 60 hours of work experience, plus an opportunity for specialized experience which will lead to the jobs in private industry, Mr. Burns states.

ALL ELIGIBLE

It is no longer necessary for a youth or his family to be on relief to be eligible for employment under the NYA. The NYA is now certifying its own applicants and provides work in a wide variety of types of employment for deserving young persons from families of inadequate income.

Any young person interested in NYA employment may apply or call the local supervisor, William Mahu, 1206 Santee St.

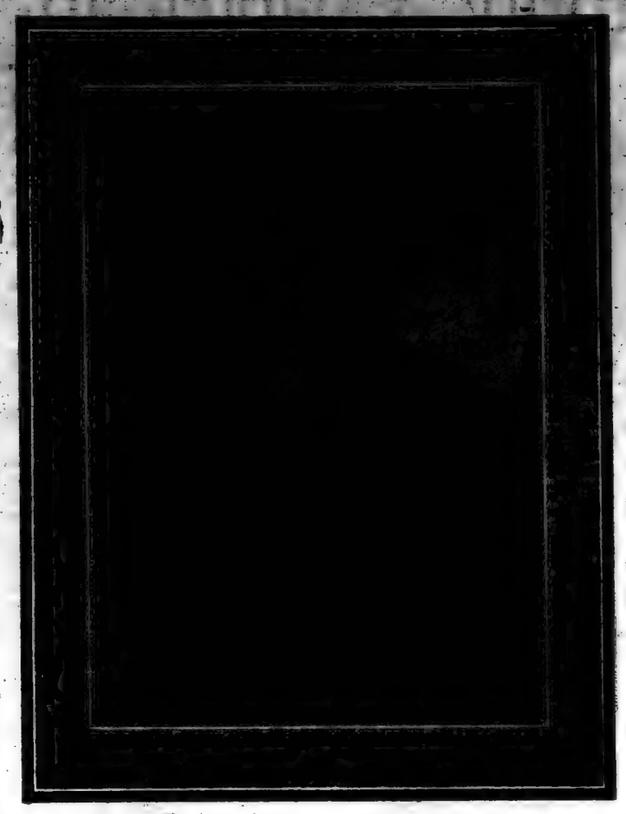
Plan Turkey Day Services Nov. 23

Plans are already under way for the annual Union Thanksgiving services of New Hope Baptist church and People's Independent Church of Christ, "next door neighbors," Thursday morning, Nov. 23, at New Hope. Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of Independent, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. The combined choirs of the two churches will furnish the music.

Musical Will Benefit Boys' Home

For the benefit of the Boys' Home on E. 50th street, the California Welfare Association will present a musical Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in the main auditorium of People's Independent Church of Christ.

Outstanding radio, stage and screen personalities will participate, making this one of the most enjoyable afternoons of the Fall. Included among those scheduled to appear are: Clarence Muse, Hattie McDaniels, Mme. Sul-Te-Wan, Clarence Hargreaves, and William Gillespie.



The California Welfare Association was organized three and a half years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Henrietta Humes to help the children of the West Temple district. Since that time, the Association has purchased two lots for Sunday School and recreational facilities for the children; secured employment for 195 persons; provided recreation for more than 150 children. Members of the Prayer Band visit the sick and needy, carrying food, flowers and money where needed. No funds have been solicited for their work; all has come from free-will gifts.

The public is urged to rally to the support of this organization in their efforts to help the Boys' Home, one of the most need institutions in our community. The concert is open the public, and is under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Pender, chairman of the program.

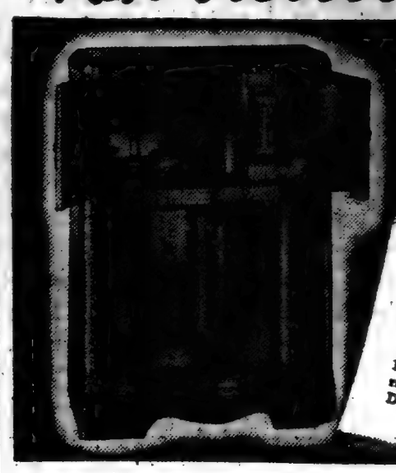
Dr. W. D. Carter, the pastor invites the public.

Will Speak at Independent, First A. M. E.

Minister-Educator Concludes 12-Week Sojourn in State

Following a 12 weeks' sojourn in California which has carried him to every section of the state, and before audiences of both races, Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, professor of English and director of publicity at Tennessee State College, Nashville, will be heard at two farewell meetings Sunday at Los Angeles and Pasadena.

At 11 o'clock he will be the guest preacher at Independent church when it is expected that hundreds will hear him in the theme "What Makes A Great Church?" He will leave Monday morning on the Sunset Limited of th eSouthern Pacific for Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma and other points in the Southwest en route to Nashville.



Sunday night at 8 o'clock Dr. Morris will be the guest preacher at the First AME church ,corner South Vernon and Kensington avenues, Pasadena, of which Dr. J. M. Brown is pastor. The veteran minister who served for several years in this city is retiring from the pulpit of the Pasadena church and this will mark his last Sunday as the active leader.

With appearances slated at more than 30 colleges, high schools and churches in six weeks in Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Tennessee, Dr. Morris will be almost constantly on the move. It is expected that more than 50,000 persons will hear him between now and his arrival in Nashville the middle of December. He will speak at Prairie View, Houston Municipal, Southern university, Leland college, Alcorn, Alabama State Teachers, Miles Memorial, Florida A. and M. and other institutions of higher learning in the deep South.

Dr. Morris is the elder son of the late Charles Satchell Morris, Sr., one time pastor Abyssinian Baptist church, New York City. Dr. Morris, Sr., was for several years secretary to the celebated Frederick Douglass and married his granddaughter. Dr. Morris, Sr. is a grand nephew of Bishop Daniel A. Payne, founder of Wilbreforce university, and the great grandson of the founder of the Tulane Avenue Baptist church New Orleans and the historic Third Baptist church, San Francisco. He is a cousin of Mrs. Marguerite Roxborough, wife of the manager of Joe Louis and the cousin of Radford Morris, financial secretary to the boxer. He declared on Monday that he was so impressed California that he expected to return here in February to stay permanently.

PAULINE WILKERSON. . . . sings for Delias

Pauline Wilkerson, 17-Year Old Soprano, to Sing Sunday in French Room of Musart Building

In a gala social event, as well as a musical treat, Pi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority will present Miss Pauline Wilkerson, 17-year-old soprano in recital Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p. m. in the French room of the Musart building, 1324 S. Figueroa street.

Headed by an imposing list of patrons, Society and music lovers are expected to turn out en masse. To Delta has come much acclaim for foresight in recognizing the talent of the young singer, who may become a second Marian Anderson.

A senior at Polytechnic High School, Miss Wilkerson reportedly has made great strides, despite limited training. Born in De Moines, Iowa, she is a musical product of California; studied for two years under Madame Leontine Ridon. She is not a pupil of Maestro Andrew Anayons of the Gray Conservatory of Music.

SIXTH RECITAL

Sunday's affair will marke the young singer's sixth recital. Under sponsorship of L. E. Behymer, she has been presented at Barker Brothers auditorium. Guest soloist at First Methodist church, 8th and Hope streets, and at First Presbyterian church, Hollywood, she has sung also at the large Negro churches of the city.

The soprano solo and obligato of Rossini's 'Inflammatus" has been sung by Miss Wilkerson, with a chorus of 80, an accomplishment achieved by one so young and new to music. At Polytechnic, she has taken leading roles in operettas and is heard often in school assemblies. Miss Adele Humphries, girls' vice principal of the school stated:

"In all my 25 years at Polytechnic there has never been a girl here with a voice as glorious as Pauline's".

Schooled in French, German, and Latin,, Miss Wilkerson has sung over stations KFWB, KMPC, KMTR, and KRKD. The Delta recital will be the first of several concerts by her to be given at large clubs and churches throughout the state.

PATRONS LIST

A partial list of the recital's patrons follows:

Other guests present were Miss Gwen Duseau and Miss Blanche Wiley, the advisor of one of the Jefferson Tri-Y's. The highlight of the meeting was a round table discussion of the problems that faced the clubs. After the discussion, games were played and refreshments were served.

• SOCIAL CHATTER AND INTERESTING PEOPLE . . .

By MILDRED L. WALKER

One of Los Angeles most interesting personalities is charming Helen Chappelle, publicity manager of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The Weldon Atkins of North Bonnie Brae has just returned by motor from a very pleasant trip on the Coast. Mr. Atkins sends a howl or something or other about it being cold up there, but I see it didn't deter their fun, for I hear that the socially prominent couple was immediately whirled into a constant round of gayety and parties galore. They also visited the Fair.

The Royal Chancellors met at the home of Mr. Harold Lloyd Oct. 27. According to the dots on their calendar they are planning big things this season. So don't be surprised if you are whirled into one swanky affair after another. The Chancellors wish to thank the Cudahy Puritans club for the cordial invitation to their formal Armistice Day dance. Mr. Harold Lloyd is President of the Royal Chancellors, and the next meeting will be at Mr. Nolan Duplesses Nov. 10, on East 23rd street.

After the regular meeting of the Smart Set Social Club, a delectable repast was served by its charming hostess, Mrs. Juanita Lloyd. A gay motif of Hallowe'en colors featured the decorations. High scoring in Contract bridge of which the Club is progressing wonderfully, under the direction of Mr. Robinson, was played throughout the evening.

After putting the finishing touches (with great praise) on the Duke-Hannah recital presented by the Young Women's club the other evening at the Hamilton Methodist church, it would be only fitting for us to pause and praise the Young Women's club for their amazingly good taste in selecting the type of gowns that brought out their true loveliness. They were captivating in formal gowns of varied pastel shades, and corsages of white gardenias. The officers and ushers were Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress, pres.; Mrs. Carmelita White, vice president; Daisy Brooks, treasurer; Nettie Gresham, financial secretary; Gladys Collins, Mres. Mattie Keys, Georgia Brown, Vivian Martin, Lucille Wyndon, Sidonia Wilson, Chaplain. There are 23 members including Rev. Beane, pastor.

The Ambassadors Social club held their regular meeting at the home of Mr. Taylor Wednesday evening, Nov. 1st. The business meeting opened at 9 o'clock with Mr. Jessie Walker the president. Applications of Mr. Jones and W. Burney were accepted. After the discussion pertaining to the swanky holiday dinner at the Clark Hotel for the Ambassador's wives and sweethearts. Members present were H. S. Boughton, La Mar Hardsman, A. B. Foreman, E. J. Irwine. A delicious repast was served, and a good time was had by all. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Boughton, 1565 E. 51st Place.

KAYCEE MATRON IS 2-MONTHS' VISITOR IN LOS ANGELES

Mrs. Blanch Conway a native of Kansas City, Kas., and sister to Mrs. Carrie Miller of So. Los Angeles spent two months at the residence of Mrs. Miller.

During her stay, Mrs. Conway visited many of the most interesting sights of the city. Among others she expressed her delight at the Pomona Fair and Griffith Park Planetarium.

A number of entertainments, including sight-seeing trips, luncheons, breakfasts and dinners were given by Mmes. Olivia Constance, Edgar Barker, S. L. Eggleston; Mr. and Mrs. A. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, Mrs. Alice Jones, Mrs. H. Bradford, Mrs. Eva Morris and Mrs. L. Boyd.

Volunteer Christian Club Has Hallowe'en Party

The meeting of the Volunteer Christian club last week at the home of Mrs. P. B. Wiggins, 1666 E. 115th street, took the form of a Hollowe'en party. The Wiggins' home was decorated with real corn stalks, pumpkins, oil lamps, and a black witch's pot of red fire coals.

Participants were costumes depicting farmers, witches, French maidens, Dutch ladies, school girls, old fashioned ladies, milk maids.

A Country dinner, featuring Virginia baked ham, was served. Soft drinks were dipped from a china well with an old gourd dipper.

Following regular business meeting, games were played with ducking for apples providing much hilarity.

AKA Chapter Fetes Visitors to 'Big' Game

Alpha Gamma chapter of Alpha Kappa Alha sorority entertained visitors to the California-UCLA game with a Kaffe Klatsch, Saturday morning at Sojourner Truth Home. A large yellow chrysanthemum was presented to all ladies. Refreshments were served, after which the morning was spent dancing.

Northern visitors present were Misses Mabel Lockett, Eulalia Pernetter, Eleanor De Claybrook, Patsy Brewer, Lillian Hylton, Vivienne Swanigan and Bernice Elliott. Messrs. Lionel Wilson, Norman Burdette, William Boswell, George Bruggan, Eddie Moore, Thurston Davis, Loet Allen, Jas. Allen, Jr., Sylvester Hardimon, Frank Collier, Buddy Sims, Willis mHaywood, Jr., and Austin Hoosman.

THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES HOLD LITERARY MEETING

The Literary meeting of the Thrifty Housewives was held in the home of Mrs. Wylma Windsor, 218 E. 41st street, last Thursday. An interesting program was presented by the Literary chairman, Mrs. Mary Grimes from the theme, "The Spirit of Youth." Members of the club engaged in a round table discussion on "Youth, Their Problems and Achievements." The commendable style in which the women handled the subject was attested to by the visiting guests, Mesdames D. Gross, L. Smitherman, J. Eldridge and V. Kyle.

Mrs. D. Gross, whistling soloist, dedicated two numbers to youth. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. Smitherman.

The hostess, Mrs. Windsor, served a delicious "finger luncheon." She also presented each member and guest with a corsage of violets and rose buds, the club's flowers.

The Art meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ellen Rhodes, 1508 E. 20th street, Nov. 16.

Ivy Leaf Pledge Club Meets at Home of Member

The Ivy Leaf Pledge club of Alpha Kappa Alpha scorority met at the home of one of its members, Miss Corine Jones, on W. 45th street, Wednesday of last week. Two new members, Misses Anita Beverly and Melonee Temple, both of UCLA, were welcomed by the club.

The meeting was devoted mainly to the perfecting of plans for the club's forthcoming annual Fall dance to be held on the Westwood campus, Nov. 22.

Honoring the Ivy club by their presence at the meeting were sorors Helen Owens and Vivian Martin of Sigma chapter; Cora Beth Tucker of Alpha Gamma chapter and Violet Aldridge of Alpha Gamma Omega chapter.

Alpha Phrateres Install New Officers

Beginning a new club year, Alpha Fratereres, associate club of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority on Los Angeles City college campus, installed new officers Oct. 27 in a ceremony held at the home of Miss Dorothy Thomas.

Solemn and impressive the ceremony inducting into office Miss Edythe Bruce, president, and cabinet, was held by candlelight. Miss Bruce replaced Miss Jewel Harris at the head of the Phrateres. Other offices are:

Miss Gwendolyn Duseau, replacing Miss Janice Quon as vice president; Miss Esther Turnes as secretary in place of Miss Joyce Dancer; Miss Geraldine Stewart succeeding Miss Marjorie Osborne as treasurer.

Other members of the club are Misses Pauline Boutte, Audrey Duseau, Bessie Scott, Alma Peake, Dorothy Thomas, Vivian Marshall, Marjorie Scott, Valerie Morton, Margrete Palmer, Winifred Allen and Duane Hartsfield.

Advisor of the club is Miss Violet Aldridge.

Euvalda Ballard Becomes Bride of Joseph Morris in Impressive Ceremony at AME Church

BY MILDRED L. WALKER

Before a huge gathering of socialites, Miss Euvalda Ballard, socially prominent daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Ballard of 773 E. Orange Grove, Pasadena, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Morris, of Los Angeles, Sunday, Nov. 5 at 4:00 o'clock.

The ceremony took place at the AME Church with Rev. O. M. Brown, pastor, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, Euvalda presented a picture of beauty in a gown of ice blue satin with long train. Her long gloves were of blue tulle, and her matching halo type tulle veil was held by a coronet of orange blossoms. A bouquet of white gardenias with streamers of white satin completed the costume. The Maid of Honor was the bride's sister, Miss Merline Ballard; the matron of honor was Mrs. Jackie Williams, they wore similiar taffeta gowns of peach moire with full skirts with bustle effect and tiny puff sleeves. They carried a bouquet of varied colored seasonal daisies, and wore small flower hats. The bridesmaids, Charlotte Hartsfield, Dorothy Micheau, Edith Jones, and Jessie McDaniels, wore similar gowns of peach moire with a full skirt and tiny puffed sleeves and a small flower hat, each carrying a bouquet of varied colored seasonal daisies. The flower girl was little Donna McRiley. She wore a dainty pink satin dress and carried a small basket of flowers. The ring bearer was little Eugene Marshall, handsome in a black velveteen suit.

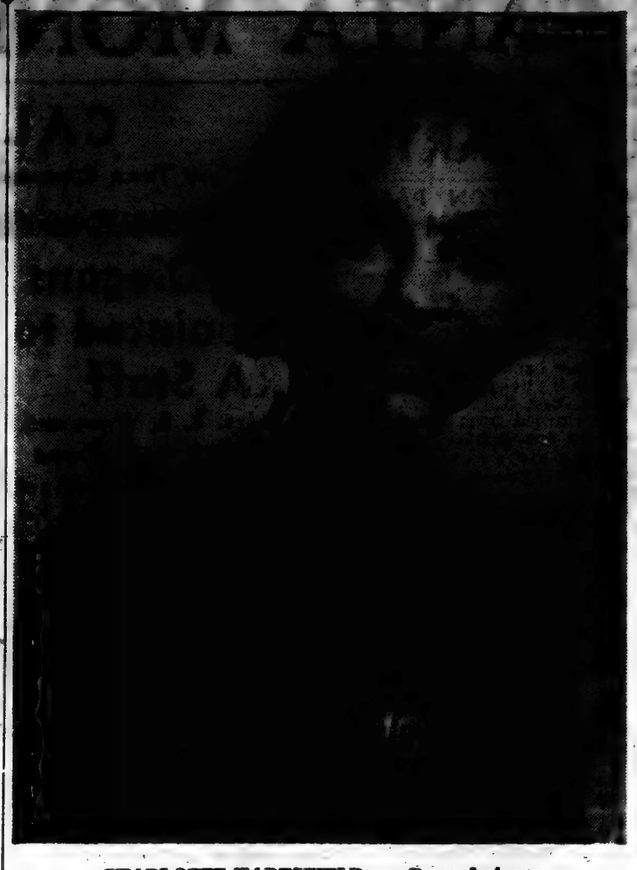
Negro Composers Acclaim Mrs. Duke



Monday evening, Oct. 30, one of the finest gatherings of music lovers ever assembled in Los Angeles greeted the renowned dramatic soprano, Zelma Watson Duke, in one of her greatest triumphs. The concert, sponsored by the Young Women's Club of Hamilton Methodist church, was given in the church auditorium, and elicited the following comments from the several well-known composers.

"The recent recital of Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke was a most enjoyable occasion, particularly interesting from the two different points of view. First, it made quite evident the artistic growth of this fine singer since her recital of a year ago. Second, it demonstrated conclusively that there is a wealth of song-material by Negro composers which should be heard more frequently. The vocal enodwments of Mrs. Duke are too well-known to need commendation at this time." —Monsieur Georges La Peyre, teacher of many famous singers.

"She has a magnificent voice and first class singing talent. With further development she is the perfect type for the heroic Wagnerian roles."—Hall Johnson.

In a personal letter to Mrs. Duke, William Grant Still said, "I want to commend you on your astuteness in selecting a program of works by Negro composers. Rarely has this been done before in Los Angeles, and all too often I have had occasion to lament the lack of such interest on the part of our own artists. Then I must add that I sincerely like the quality of your voice—I am partial to dramatic voices anyway, and I admire your sensitive phrasing."

Harvey Brooks made this statement: "I have attended many concerts over a period of years of some of the world's greatest artists, but never have I listened to a finer voice than that of Mrs. Duke. Her taste in selecting composition by Negro composers was a rare treat and should be duplicated often."

Charlotte Hartsfield Designs for Morris-Ballard Wedding

The exquisite gowns worn by the bridesmaids, and the maid of honor at the Morris-Ballard wedding were designed by Miss Charlotte Hartsfield, student at UCLA and president of the Alpha Kappa sorority. The gowns worn by the bridesmaids were delightfully styled by the G. Fisher Photometric system, and were of peach moire.

The maid of honor, sister of the bride, Miss Merlene Ballard, was gowned in rose moire with heavy bustle effect, this dress also being a creation of Miss Hartsfield.

The Photometric system was invented by Mrs. Grace Fisher Atkins, and is used by the Oviatt Company, and it has received the endorsement of a number of the movie stars who wear clothing which has been created by this system.

Alpha Phi Alphas Set New High at Tenth Annual Football Prom; Rhythm Rascals Get in "Groove"

ELKS' AUDITORIUM SCENE OF FRAT'S ANNUAL "BIG GAME" FROLIC

Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity set a new high for dance-givers to aim at in the Tenth Annual Football Prom hosted by Alpha Delta chapter Saturday night at the Elk's auditorium, following the U. C. L. A.-California football game.

Some 800 fashionably garbed couples danced from 11 p. m. to 3 a. m. to the music of the California Rythm Rascals in the festively decked first floor ballroom, fittingly hung with Bruin and Bear emblems and banners.

The Alphas attained a zenith of gayety, relaxation and camaraderie without the boisterousness which has characterized certain similar affairs of late. They achieved this by strict attendance to the door, admitting only those listed on the register and armed with admit cards.

TRADITIONAL AFFAIR

Pleasantly informal, the dancers were variedly garbed, spectator sports costumes predominating. The dance has become a tradition of the annual football rivalry between UCLA and California, and UCLA and Southern California, the latter game still in the offing.

To the Rhythm Rascals, smooth aggregation of swing dispensers, is due a large share of credit for the dance's success. The band's music and its variety of rhythms, from waltzes to torrid swing, were warmly applauded.

At a judicious point in the festivities, the stars of the U. C. L. A. football team, Kenny Washington, Woodrow Strode, Jackie Robinson, Alphas all, and Ray Bartlett, were introduced to the cheering dancers by Alpha Delta president Edward Strong. Singin gof the Alpha hymn followed.

The Junior Church and choir contributed the major part of the program with leaders of various religious groups representing with music and speeches. A large audience of all races attended and the program was one of the best ever held in the Bay district. At the close of the services, Mrs. Itasca McCall, chairman of the program committee, presented the Rev. W. P. Carter and wife who stood surrounded by members of the Junior Church and a host of the friends of youth who were also introduced by the Pastor and Superintendent of the Sunday School, J. A. Reese. Included were Mayor Gilette, Chief of Police Dice, Mrs. Allen and several members of the Juvenile department. A. W. Murray, NYA representative, Mrs. Evelyn Warren and daughter and a number of others from Los Angeles were present. The choir led the grand march to the building which was decorated profusely with beautiful flowers by a committee in charge of Mrs. Georgia McQueen, including Carl Henderson, J. G. Braun.

Calvary Boys Plan Dinner

The KOT's of Calvary Baptist church will sponsor a Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 21 for the Boy's Division of the Church. The oKt's, which is a boy's club, was recently organized by the Sunday School assistant superintendent, Joel Johnson. At their last meeting, the members elected William Dudly to the office of Chief Ranger. Other officers elected were as follows: Deputy Chief Ranger, William Quals; Recorder, Arthur Robinson; Treasurer, Joseph Warren. The membership includes Eugene Taleber, Anderson Monroe, Willie Patton, James Jones, Marshal Warren, Allen Waters Jr., Fred Setwart, James Lyons and J. P. Quals, Jr. The KOT's expect to affiliate with the local Young Men's Christian Association in the near future.

Calvary Baptist Usher Board met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivory Johnson.

The beginning of the winter socials was marked by a Hallowe'en party which was enjoyed immensely. Those present were Mrs. Bessie Washington, advisor; Mrs. Underwood; Messrs. and Mesdames Willie Cowan, Riley Clark, Misses Doris Knowles, Dorothy Kavanaugh, Marguerite Duckworth, Messrs. Joel Johnson, Julius Johnson, Charlie Fortune and Compton, who recently became a member of the Usher Board.

Moore motored for a two weeks trip with their mother and friends. All enjoyed the trip.

Sub-Deb News

The regular meeting of the Sub Deb club was held Wednesday night in the home of Clotilde Fortune, with the president, Eddie Lee Alexander, president Initiation of one new member, Minnie Duncan was in order.

Plans for a mother's Thanksgiving dinner were discussed. Mrs. Le Vert Payne, advisor, gave an interesting talk on how to make meeting instructive as well as entertaining and how to raise money for the club.

The girls of the club seemed interested in "Ham and Eggs." A fifteen-minute discussion was led by Phyllis Quinn and will be continued next week.

In closing, your reporter would like to make clear the rumor that is going around concerning the Subs Debs and the Sophisticated Sevens. These two clubs are in no way running competition. Both clubs were organized, for and in the interests of Negro girls of Santa Monica and not for competition.

The Annual Hallowe'en Party, sponsored on Oct. 31 by the Women's Business and Civic club was enjoyed by a large group of members and friends of the club.

The prize for the person remaining unidentified longest was won by Mr Gilbert McCarroll.

The affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hill on Delaware street, Santa Monica. Mrs. E. McQueen is president and Mrs. John Milan, secretary.

WILMINGTON PASTOR RETURNS FROM VACATION

WILMINGTON, (By Dorothy Carr)—Sunday School at New Hope Baptist church was largely attended Sunday morning. The entire school was overjoyed by the class banner and the attendance chart presented to the school. Rev. S. L. Taylor, pastor, has returned from his vacation. He was the guest of many churches while in Oakland and San Francisco and will probably return in the near future to conduct a revival in one of the leading churches of Oakland.

At the 11 o'clock hour, Rev. Taylor brought the message. The deacons and mothers of the church entertained the congregation with an old-fashioned basket dinner as the first Sunday of each month is the old time rally day. The public is cordially invited to worship with New Hope at all times. The fashion show, sponsored by the choir, directed by Mrs. U. V. Taylor, was a grand success financially. Miss Ruth L. Battle received first prize in sport wear; Miss Cleopatra Taylor, 2nd prize in sport; Miss Maggie Taylor ,first prize in house coat; Master Richard V. Carr, first prize for the best dressed young man. We were indeed happy to have Sister Mattie Pace with us Sunday. She is the sister of the pastor, also a mother of the church. Mother Carr and Mother Hicks are on the sick list, both are also mothers of our church. We wish them a speedy recovery. The BYPU was largely attended Sunday evening.

The executive board members of the San Diego Race Relations Society were dinner guests of officers and members of the Tijuana, Mexico Rotarian Club, Thursday evening, November 2. The Rotarian club of Tijuana is recognized as the most exclusive and popular club of the border city. The dinner and entertainment given in honor of officers of the San Diego Race Relations Society was held at the swank Marianna Club and Cafe. The visiting guests were introduced by Senor Juan J. Robles, prominent banker of Tijuana and Jack Swed served as toastmaster. Dennis V. Allen, president of the San Diego Race Relations Society was speaker of the evening and acknowledged courtesies shown the society officers, and expressed deep appreciation for the genuine hospitality so abundantly showered upon him and his staff. Several other officers were called upon and made short speeches. The unexpected but most agreeable surprise of the evening was the appearance of J. E. Saroi, the Mexican baritone and his accomanist on the musical program of the evening. Senor Saroi is recognized as one of the world's most noted singers. The famous baritone had just arrived from Mexico City, according to reports. In addition to Mr. Allen, others officers of the San Diego Race Relations Society making the trip were: Dr. Max Sterne, Chris Canta, Mrs. Elsie Perry, Miss Bernice Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Mames Krooskos, J. C. Yipp, E. B. Abi, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. V. Pendergast, Mrs. Maud Scritchfield, Dr. Sundra Underhill, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hewitt and Mrs. Max L. Sterne.

CHURCHES

At Bethel AME church, 31 and K. street, with Rev. L. H. Owens, minister, services were held in the new church altho, it has not been formally opened yet, announcement of which will be made later. S. S. at 9:30 A. M. had an unusually large attendance, and the interest manifested by both teachers and scholars was quite apparent. Miss Nadine Redmond, the efficient superintendent, was able to cope with the situation of supplying instructors for the overflow of pupils.

At 11 a. m. Rev. C. A. Harris of the Bethel AME church, the new presiding elder was introduced by Rev. Owens, and conducted this service. "The Lord's Supper", Luke 24:19 was the subject upon which Rev. Harris spoke with a fervor that was far reaching.

The large choir directed by Mrs. Josephine Wilson was heard to a better advantage than it has been for some time previously.

Mrs. L. H. Owens in her rich mezzo voice, sang, "Open My Eyes", and the Holy Communion was administered to many worshippers. Mr. Newton, by conversion, became identified with the church.

The ACE League at 6 p. m. opened with Mrs. Rosa Baker, president, and a very interesting meeting was held.

Presiding Elder Harris preached a soul stirring sermon at 7:30 P. M. on "Conscience." The choir again supplied good music with Miss Lucille Leftridge as pianist.

Wednesday night, November 1, marked the first service held in the new home. The prayer meeting was led by Mrs. Rosa Baker.

The Love Feast was observed on Friday night with an encouraging attendance.

The church was beautifully decorated, and was very attractive in its pure white communion dress, it being an Quarterly Meeting day.

At the Calvary Baptist Church on the Corner of Crosby and Julian Avenues with Rev. J. L. Branham, the pastor, Sunday School was held at 9:30 a. m. Mr. E. J. Botts the superintendent was in charge. The lesson was reviewed by Rev. W. T. Melton.

Morning services were at 11 a. m. with the pastor, Rev. Branham in charge. He delivered an inspiring sermon, with the music for the service being supplied by the Junior Choir.

BYPU was held at 4 p. m. with Mrs. Lovella Roberts, president, presiding at the meeting.

The evening services were at 8:30 and the Holy Communion followed the regular evening services, with a great many visitors attending this service as well as all the others held Sunday.

The music of the church is under the direction of Miss Maurine Dedman, who is the director of the Choir, and Miss Oliva Fay Phillips, the organist.

The Church of God in Christ, at 1705 Logan avenue, with James Jackson, the pastor held Sunday school at 9:30 under the direction of Mrs. M. Pressley, the superintendent.

Largely attended morning services were at 11:30 a. m. and Elder Jackson delivered the message.

YPWW with Miss Myrtle Pressley, the president, in charge was held at 6:30 and was enjoyed by all who attended.

At 8 p. m. the evening service was opened, and after the sermon with all the solemn splendor necessary for the occasion the Holy Communion was administered.

Santa Barbara State College Women Reorganize Club

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 9— The Les Femmes de Clique, a club composed of women students attending Santa Barbara State College, has reorganized again this year. Several business, and social meetings have been held this year with various members entertaining, graciously, at their homes.

Four new members have been admitted to the club, they are the Misses, Jean Stapler, Doris Brandon, Shirley Curry, and Dorothy Chapman.

The initiation for these new members is being carried on, the ceremony will climax Sunday, November 19. On that day, if the girls have complied with the initiation rules to the satisfaction of the members of the club their names will be officially added to the roll of the Les Femmes de Clique.

The officers who have been elected for the ensuing year are: President, Miss Phyllis Hoxie, vice-president, Miss Earline Hopkins, secretary, Miss Shirley Curry, and treasurer, Miss Venice Mayois.

The following are members of the club: Lucinda Smith, Doris Brandon, Jean Williams and Dorothy Chapman.

Miss Callie Callahan, whose wedding with Herbert Thomas is set for Sunday, November 12, at the home of Rev. H. B. Thomas was feted last Thursday.

Mrs. Bernice Simpson entertained last week with a linen shower in her honor. About 30 guests attended, and brought many lovely gifts.

Sr. Francis Ford entertained last Tuesday night with a Hallowe'en party in honor of the Beacon Light Sunday School Class, and the College set.

The guests came appallingly disguised as ghosts, and witches. Those greeted by the host were: Mrs. Alice Shands, Mr. Earl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, Miss Lucinda Smith, Phyllis Hoxie, Shirley Curry, Helen J. Ford, Jean Williams, Dorothy Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hinten, Mrs. Margaret Simpson, Jean Stapler, William Hill, Larry Pickens, De Melvin Dennis, Leon Calenian, Frances Lang, Doris Brandon, Bernice Majors, Leona Purnell, Geraldine O'Gorra, Mrs. Helen Meyers, Mrs. Clarence McGowan, and Mr. Nelson Lang.

Red apples, bananas, pop corn, walnuts, gingerbread, doughnuts and apple cider were served as refreshments. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the guests throughout the evening.

Mr. Rudolph Morgan of Los Angeles, visited friends, and relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Maxwell, a nurse of Denver, Colo., was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Tarver last week.

OAKLAND FIGHTER KAYOED BY BURKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9— Sid Brent, Oakland, was knocked out by Jackie Burke, Ogden, Utah middleweight here Monday night in one-half of the main event.

C. Johnson, pastor, of the Mt. Zion Baptist church at 3045 Greeley Avenue held services throughout the day. Following the regular schedule Sunday School was held at 9:30 a. m. and with morning service being held at 11 a. m. BYPU met at 6:30 p. m. and was followed by evening services at 7:30 with Rev. Johnson delivering the usual good inspiring type of message.

At the Phillips Temple CME Church at 2933 National Ave., Rev. Phillip N. Moore, pastor, held splendid services beginning with Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. and then the morning service at 11 o'clock.

The League met at 6:30 p. m. and the evening service at 7:30 concluded the program for the day.

The Trinity Baptist Church at 3146 Oceanview Blvd. with Rev. J. Harold Brown, the pastor, reports the Missionary Society of Trinity has just recently closed its annual bazaar which was a wonderful success.

Sunday was Family Day at the church with a large number of families in attendance. Dinner was served during the day, and proved to be a lovely affair.

Sermons at both morning, and evening services were delivered by the pastor, Rev. Brown.

At the evening service, Holy Communion was administered, and Sunday School was held at the regular time of 9:30 a. m.

BYPU was at 4:30 p. m. with the attendance at this meeting the largest of the year.

Rev. J. Harold Brown, who is the Moderator of the Progressive Baptist Association of Southern California, spent three days of last week in the Imperial Valley looking after matters pertaining to the association's work. At El Centro the pastor is assisting in the supervision of the building of a new church.

The Sunshine Club reports the sick for the week: At General Hospital we are sorry to report the following are patients: Mrs. W. M. Kidd, Mr. Pink Manning, Mr. Howard Berry, Mr. George Armstrong. At Vaucluin Home we report the following: Mrs. Arnita Banks, Mrs. Leola Jones, Miss Marian Miller, Mr. Theodore Steele, Mr. Benny Lucky, Mr. Joe Douglas. At Home we are glad to report the following are improving: Mrs. Esther Hollomon, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Mohand.

Study Club of Long Beach to Meet

LONG BEACH, (By Mrs. D. V. Bougress)—The Roland Hayes Study club will have regular meeting Wednesday night at which time the delegates to the recent annual convention of the Women's Political Study club, Mrs. R. B. White and Mrs. Lotus Taylor Miles, will make their reports.

Civic League

At its regular meeting Saturday night, the Colored Men's Civic League heard arguments, pro and con the present campaign issues. Speakers for Proposition No. 5 were J. Finney and Herman K. Barnett of Los Angeles. Opposing this proposition was Mr. Finlty from Los Angeles. After brief remarks by the president, Earl Miles, and discussion by the members, the club voted unanimously against Proposition No. 1. Visitors present were Mrs. Charles Watkins of the Roland Hayes Study club and Mrs. Brown, wife of one of the speakers, who also made a few inspiring remarks.

Assorted Flowers Club

The Assorted Flowers club will observe their social night tonight, at the home of the president, Mrs. Katherine Howard, 1028 E. 12th street. Each member will bring a guest.

With The Churches—

At Grant Chapel AME church, Oct. 29, the audience sat enthralled at the message delivered by the presiding elder, Rev. Frank Harris of Los Angeles.

The "Willing Workers" dinner in the church dining room Saturday night was a great success. Sunday afternoon, James Hayes, member of the Trustee Board and leader of Class No. 1, gave a very delightful silver tea for the benefit of the December rally at his charming home, 1125 Myrtle avenue

Our pastor, the Rev. Hayes Hayter, and his wife, are now domiciled in the newly remodeled parsonage and the Pastor's Aid club is planning a housewarming soon.

Home-coming Day was observed at Second Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Thurston Lomax and his congregation Sunday. Both choirs rendered music to a full house at morning and evening services. The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie Mae Craig, and the Gospel Choir, in their new Dubonnet red taffeta robes, under the direction of Mrs. Lomax, charmed their audiences with their musical offerings. Sunday afternoon, a free basket dinner was served to all. Guests from Zion Hill Baptist church, Trinity Baptist and Hamilton Methodist church, all of Los Angeles, were present. Sunday night, Holy Communion was administered, made beautiful and impressive by the new white communion robe of the pastor and the beautiful music rendered by the choirs with organ accompaniment by Mrs. White.

ST. PAUL BAPTIST SENDS MINISTER TO HONOLULU

St. Paul Baptist Church Sends Pastor and Wife to Honolulu on Quest for Health

In token of their deepest appreciation and their sincere desire to bring happiness, health and long life to their pastor, the members and friends of St. Paul Baptist church, gladly and without hesitancy, sent Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Williams off on an ocean voyage to Honolulu, Hawaii, for an unlimited stay, the trip being made wholly in search of health.

In recent years, Pastor Williams has undergone terrible strain and excruciating affliction due to a nervous breakdown and other complications, all of which were brought about by exertion and taxation in a struggle to put over the great church program. This voyage is not for the purpose of having a vacation or a good time, but an effort to regain sufficient health to go on with the great program the Lord has enjoined upon him.

During his 9 years pastorate here, Rev. Williams, through his clean cut life of precept and example, has won the highest respect and admiration of the citizenry, both white and colored, to the extent that he has great standing with men of the financial as well as the spiritual realm, and his church unanimously voted and extended to him a "Call for Life", with the alternative that he need not preach himself, unless he so desired--but they would rather that he reserve himself to lead and direct the great and magnificient program he has planned and outlined with such care and painstaking, and to utilize and develop the splendid talent of the host of young ministers under his tutorshi and at his disposal.

At the cost of his health, and with great sacrifices, Rev. Williams has gained many outstanding achievements that will remain through the years as milestones for success in Kingdom building and community development. Upon first being called from the successful pastorate of various creditable churches in Kansas, full of health, vigor and vitality, one of his first acts was to completely re-organized all auxiliaries, from the Deacon Board down, and to devise plans to pay off all stagnant indebtedness of some $7900.00 which was accomplished in a short space of time.

Because of his Christ-like love for humanity and his burning desire to help others less fortunate than himself, he opened a commissary which served the community well, and later created an Emergency Fund Bureau superceding all previous charitable groups in that hundreds of dollars are kept on hand to care for the poor, the needy and the less fortunate regardless of race or color--and to especially take care of St. Paul members who may fall a victim of circumstances. Revenue is by free will offering given through the Lord's Storehouse.

Later, he led his members into a remodleing program of the church and Bible temple. People are saying much about the church with its massive and impressive equipment including a $7500.00 pipe organ, better than $300.00 public address system, 4 pianos, choir robes at a cost of $960.00, a church well seated with hundreds of dollars worth of chairs and pews, and yet not owing one dime to anyone.

It is understood that St. Paul is one of the most outstanding evangelical churches in the state of California. It is also understood that it is one of the best organized churches on the coast. The unique manner in which Rev. Williams has organized all auxiliaries and departments is interesting as wel las phenomenal. There are 30 separate and distinct auxiliaries functioning independently, and yet co-operating to the highest degree. Among these are some unusual groups.

They have what is known to be a Highway and Hedge Movement. This movement is so organized and systematized that thousands of people are contacted each month. Hospitals, jails, and sick rooms are visited and many people converted and saved through the processes of this movement, including the work of the All Saints Traveling Prayer Band.

St. Paul comprises five churches in one, and constitutes a state convention within the confines of its own membership. Four of the churches are recognized as departmental churches, with their individual pastors, presidents, and full staff of officers operating independently of each other. This unusual and progressive idea and impressive movement not only provides a way to develop young preachers along pastorial lines, but serves as a medium through which the parent church is able to utilize and develop the talent and services of the entire 1800 constituetns of the church. Along with this, the movement serves to facilitate the financial and spiritual development of the church in a very outstanding way.

From a mission circle averaging frmo 8 to 10 members of elderly people, it has developed into a progressive Missionary Movement with young and old, including men as part of its constituency with 3 presidents, a missionary choir, a supervisor, and one hundred members enrolled which makes up the biggest Missionary Movement in the state.

The church has singing units comprising 4 choirs plus an orchestra with some of the finest musicians and directors in the state.

All over town, here and there and everywhere, especially since it's understood that St. Paul church has a reserved fund way over a thousand dollars cold cash in reserve to help the destitute, it is emphasized, without fear of successful contradiction that there isn't another baptist church in all of the coast states that has a fund like his one.

Fair minded people both in and out of the church are going to note and appreciate the fact that our publication bureau, headed by one of our fine young women, involving an expense of better than $350.00, giving employment and experience in journalism and printing to a number of our young people, isn't to be lightly considered.

Another outstanding phase of our program is our St. Paul Baptist Pall Bearers Bureau, unusual and unique in its organization. Another is the Condolence, Resolutions, and Courtesy Bureau, which looks after the deda and the bereaved by way of providing floral offerings, drafting resolutions, obituaries, and consoling the bereaved. People have pointed out the unusual and systematic way our financial budget is handled by our Contribution Bureau comprising a staff of educated and intelligent workers.

In consideration of the foregoing facts, the church believes these two things account for their tremendous success. First, the fact that they have a pastor who lives the life he teaches, he is honest and bighearted, and unusually liberal. And last, but not least, it is conceited, concluded and proclaimed even by sinners and the most casual minds that God is sanctioning, approving and blesisng our church program and all its policies.

With all the above mentioned facts, Pastor Williams has made it difficult for the one who is to come after him. His bigness towards the church is unusual, his financial contribution of $100.00 per offering is just a common occurance. He has saved the church hundreds of dollars in many business deals that otherwise would have cost much more.

Therefore, it isn't surprising that St. Paul, the unusual church has stood hard by their pastor during his ailing periods, and at no time has there been even an attempt at declining to regularly grant the pastor an indefinite leave of absence, with the understanding that all expenses are covered by the church, to go and come at will, and whercver he desires to go.

While Rev. and Mrs. Williams are recuperating and enjoying the sunkissed skies of Honolulu, the first assistant pastor, Rev. F. L. Taylor, with the splendid co-operation of ministerial staff, officers and members, is carrying on in a most unusual and successful manner.

Good services were enjoyed by an appreciative audience at the Christian Church at 33rd and Hooper, with the Rev. Frederick Mitchell as the pastor.

Rev. Mitchell brought a series of sermons on the subject of appreciation of the "Kingdom of God on Earth," versus "Human Governments." The church is in a healthy condition and is not only promoting the spiritual benefits, but moral and economic conditions as well, through the East Side Community Center, which is a placement bureau.

The public is invited to attend all services.

Last Sunday at Wesley Methodist church, Eighth and San Julian streets, Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, minister, a large audience filled the sanctuary at the morning worship, and were greatly inspired by a sermon intellectually illuminating and heartwarming by Dr. Rakestraw. The evening worship was a union service with Hamilton church. Dr. C. Y. Trigg of Baltimore delivered the message.

Sunday at the morning hour, Dr. Walter C. Buckner, district superintendent of the Los Angeles district, will be the speaker. The nurses organization of the Los Angeles County hospital will be our special guests. The evening service will be sponsored by the senior choir under the direction of Prof. Norton E. Dennis, at which time they will present their regular monthly musical.

Services were well attended Sunday at Metropolitan Baptist church, 42nd and Hooper avenue, Rev. J. E. Pius, pastor, preached in the morning and in the evening Rev. G. Venable spoke.

Members, friends, and well wishers of Unity Truth Center, 1195 E. 55th street, will be guests of Mrs. B. June Cobb, leader, Friday night at 8 o'clock, in a business and social meeting.

"Looking Ahead for the Good of Man" will be the sermon subject Sunday morning at Abyssinia Baptist church, to be delivered by Rev. L. D. Stevens, pastor. Ground breaking services will be conducted at 3:00 p. m. at 4417 Ascot avenue, by Rev. W. M. Thomas of Riverside. The Young People's Society will sponsor a Fashion Show and program Friday night at Wesley Community Center, 1029 E. Vernon avenue.

Services will follow the usual order on the Sabbath, Saturday, at the Wadsworth Church of Seventh Day Adventists, 40th place and Wadsworth. Dr. R. I. Rodriguez will be the speaker at the morning hour.

On Sunday night, services will be of an evangelistic nature with the song services beginning at 7:30.

At Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper avenues, Rev. E. E. Lightner, minister will speak at the morning service Sunday on: "The True Source of Satisfaction". The choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick will render special music. At the evening hour, 7:30 o'clock there will be a miscellaneous program of music.

Splendid services were held the past Sunday, at both hours. The Pastor administered the Lord's Supper at the close of the morning service. There was one addition to the membership at this service.

Dr. E. W. Moore, veteran minister of Pasadena and president of the Ministers' Alliance, whose dramatic sermon of last Sunday morning and evening stirred the congregation of Second Baptist church, will preach again Sunday morning. In the evening, Dr. Chas. D. Douglas will preach. A Hi-Y program will be held in the afternoon. Pauline Keys, wonder girl, will appeal Monday night in a memory exhibition. Family day was celebrated with success last Sunday. Dr. T. L. Griffith, pastor, is much improved from last week.

Clayton Russell Guest Speaker

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of People's Independent Church of Christ, was guest speaker at the monthly education meeting of the Boys' Home of the Los Angeles Federation of Protestant Churches on South Westmoreland Tuesday evening of last week. This was the third time that the boys themselves had requested the popular young minister to talk to them.

Rev. Russell told of his European trip, and discussed the responsibility of American youth in contributing to world peace.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Henceforth know we no man after the flesh." These words of Paul in his second letter to the Corinthians are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from the book of Acts: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things; . . . For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, state: "Mortal man is the antipode of immortal man in origin, in existence, and in his relation to God." "The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. They are the emanations of Him who is Life, Truth, and Love. Immortal man is not and never was material, but always spiritual and eternal."

"THE BISCUIT EATER"

The meaning of "biscuit eater", as such, has had us somewhat for the past few months because we have read accounts of the filming by Paramount studios of a motion picture entitled "The Biscuit Eater".

Point of our confusion was whether or not "biscuit eater" had to do with the love a person had for that very enjoyable and satisfying form of bread. And if so, we knew several persons who could qualify for THE biscuit eater.

Our confusion has been cleared up very satisfactorily, however, by Terry De Lapp, director of Paramount's publicity, who tells us that in this case "The Biscuit Eater" is a dog story.

"Somehow, every so often," De Lapp says, "a dog story is written that commands—and deserves—the attention and admiration of the world. Such a story is 'The Biscuit Eater', which first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

"It is a story of a dog, a white boy, and a Negro boy. In the South, in hunting parlance, a 'biscuit eater' is a hunting dog not worth his salt. Such a dog is the hero of this story. But with him, in his ignomy, are the two boys. How they make a champion of him, how they brave the attacks of mere humans who don't understand the relationship between a boy and his dog, is the basis for one of the most heart-tugging, most deeply emotional pictures ever filmed."

In light of Mr. De Lapp's nutshell resume of "The Biscuit Eater", we feel ashamed to have even thought that the title might have referred to a person's love for the biscuit.

Theatre-goers who got particular delight out of the film "Man About Town", which presented comedian Eddie Anderson in a meaty and decidedly unusual role may get themselves ready for another one of Jack Benny's films titled "Buck Benny Rides Again". Those who have read the script say it is Benny's funniest and again Eddie "Rochester" Anderson appears in support of his "boss".

ATTA MAYOR!

We liked the way Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago worded the reported rebuke to assertedly self-styled leaders of the Windy City's 250,000 Negro citizens on the occasion of the recent appointment of distinguished medico and civic leader M. O. Bousfield to the board of education of that city.

Waited upon by a committee who had come to express their "gratitude" for the "honor" accorded a NEGRO citizen, Mayor Kelly is said to have told the group that he did not make the appointment because Dr. Bousfield was a Negro but because, as a selection of his advisory committee, the physician was the only man, regardless of race, creed or color, who was qualified to fill the vacancy.

All of which leads one to wonder if it isn't possible to become too racial. Mayor Kelly rightly let qualification be the sole determining factor in his approbation of Dr. Bousfield for the position on the board.

GABBY BITS

Isabelle Clifton, local and nationally prominent YWCA worker, recently returned from the nation's capital and other eastern points, reports that Clarence R. Johnson, well known in coast labor circles and now identified with governmental agencies, has recovered from an illness which had laid him low. Mrs. Clifton really gets about over the country . . . In observance of American Education Week, tenth grade students of Jefferson High school this week issued invitations to parents and friends to visit the school today on the occasion of open house and see for themselves "the methods employed in America's greatest and most vital business — education of youth — in order that he might participate in the problems of American life, whether they be political, economic or social" . . . Increased interest in activities at the East-side high school on the part of the public is noticeable, as one witness the attendance on their part at Jefferson's grid games.

Laura May

Rooted deep within my being
Free from symptoms of decay
Free from ruthless, fickly fancy
Is my love for Laura May.

While I live, faith shall sustain me,
Though she tarries far away;
Distance is absorbed and sweetly
I abide with Laura May.

Brother, sister may disown me
Mom may falter for a day
Understanding arms enfold me
When I reach my Laura May.

Sketch Subject: ELEANOR F. BROOKS. . . Instructor, Vocational Agriculture, Specialist, Poultry Culture.

By FLOYD C. COVINGTON

Note: The sketch of Robert H. Ware, appearing here Oct. 19, was written by Floyd C. Covington.)

To most people a chicken is merely a feathered fowl or the entree for a Sunday dinner. To Eleanor F. Brooks, the chicken—a specie of the poultry family—is both a laboratory for research and the foundation of a specific home industry.

This is an age in which women continue to threaten the ocupational domain of what was formerly considered exclusive male regions. It is with both pride and distinction therefore that our "Sketch Subject" has garnered the success laurel of being the only woman of her race in the State (and doubtlessly several other states as well) pursuing this unique field of vocational agriculture.

Miss Brooks, however, delimits her field to her specialty of "modern scientific poultry raising and production." She again proves in her continuous efforts to gain for "poultry a speaking voice" in the reconstructive efforts of a male social system, that a pioneer will find homesteading space.

Miss Brooks was born 32 years ago in eastern Colorado. At the age when most girls were sentimentally fondling dolls she was developing an objective love for poultry raising on her grandfathers' farm. Her grandfather was one of the early settlers in Colorado, having entered there immediately after the Civil War, homesteading on several sections of land. He began poultry raising by trapping and domesticating wild turkeys, later establishing a large poultry business.

The early educational years of our sketch subject included elementary training in Whittier and Emerson schools of Denver. Her High school work was completed in Grand Island, Nebraska. To this was added university training in the Agricultural College of the University of Michigan. Topping this were two years in nurse training in Old Provident hospital in Chicago, subsequently followed by two years of experience as laboratory technician in the Children's hospital in Detroit, Michigan.

TRAINED AS NURSE

This background was merely additional equipment toward the ultimate goal of our subject. "My nurse training enabled me later get over squeamishness in operations and surgical experiments in poultry," Miss Brooks confessed. This change from a direct interest in the health of the human to the biological processes of poultry was quickened by the political statement of a famous American. In replying to a direct query of "why are you in this direct field?" Instructor Brooks stated most succintly: "A famous American stated 'one chicken in every pot . . . two cars in every garage.' To me this is upside economics. You can eat two chickens at one meal, but you can drive only one car at a time. If industry had gone into mass production on cars, why not with poultry."

From 1930-37, poultry entered the billion dollar field in industry and now ranks second only to dairy production in agriculture income. The trend, besides being upward because the supply is far below the demand, is toward specialization — hatcheries, meat and egg production, etc.

Our sketch subject, now an instructor in the evening classes for adults at Jefferson High school, considers the class room but one step toward the real laboratory which she considers to be the normal backyard of the average citizen. In a series of articles under the title "The Rooster Crows" appearing recently in a local newspaper, she stated: "I wish to present certain ideas and facts about poultry to city-dwellers in a simple and understandable manner. I wish to stimulate more interest in present poultry keepers, to inspire or re-awaken the inclination of others who would keep poultry, but for numerous reasons, have delayed the venture . . . . In these days of economic stress, when we are casting about and seeking a way to make both ends meet, allow me to introduce her majesty, THE HEN. She will show us an immediate way out of our budget dilemma."

Eleanor Brooks is sincerely imbued with the idea that there really should be more than two chickens in every pot. So consistently does she believe this that she has become an authority in her field. She discusses with ease and conviction the battery brooder system of raising hundred of poultry flock in the normal backyard with expert, scientific and sanitary methods. The fact that she has piloted her way by grim determination into a positive niche of our educational system, via the civil service method, leads one to believe that poultry production, to Miss Brooks, is a new economic frontier offering mass production possibilities.

Miss Brooks, who already has a small plant at Vernon and Wadsworth avenues, hopes to manage or supervise a modern, scientific battery brooder factory on a cooperative basis.

Chest Appeal Opens Thruout City

Volunteers in Central Areas First in Field

With the opening of the Community Chest appeal throughout the city, hundreds of workers are in the field in the Exposition-Adams seeking to quickly secure the district quota of $19,000, according to announcement of Mrs. Alva Brockway, chairman.

Volunteers in the Central areas battalions, C, E, F, G, and H, of Division 44 were among the first to take their field. Mrs. C. D. Frederick has the distinction of being the first major to secure complete organization of colonels. They were Mmes. E. E. Lightner, Oliver Artis, Lawrence Bowdoin, B. L. Boswell, W. C. Faulkner, Curtis Moore, J. W. Hardon, Adele Bieze, and A. R. Moseley.

Other captains in various battalions who have enrolled, in additio nto those names heretofore published are: Mmes. Lloyd C. Griffith, Myrtle Hughes, W. F. Johnson, Nancy Windle; Misses Louise Clark, Elizabeth Dunnigan, Mimosa Machabie, and Leonard Stovall.

Leaders urge that local residents made their contributions at the earliest possible moment that the community work of providing for the less privileged may be accomplished speedily and the volunteers freed to pursue their private interests.

MISS TURNER RESIGNS

Announcement is made that Mrs. Genevieve Wade has been apointed major of Battalion F. to replace Miss Mae Turner. Miss Turner resigned to accept an important business position.

First reort luncheon is on Friday noon at the Biltmore Hotel, when honor guests will be district leaders and solicitors. A record attendance is indicated, C[illegible] eadquarters states. Leaders [illegible] that all workers are [illegible] attend.

[illegible]er that citizens may have a better understanding of the status of Chest volunteers, district leaders have jointly issued the following statement:

"No solicitors for Chest funds, officers, directors, nor committeemen are paid for his or her time. Nearly 18,000 volunteers annually engage in the community service. If workers attend luncheon or dinner meetings necessary to conduct Chest business, each pays his or her own way.

NOTED AUTHOR CLAIMS PROPAGANDA INDIRECT CAUSE OF BITTERNESS

Jew Used as Scapegoat to Excite Humiliated Germany, Author Says in "Opportunity"

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 9—A program of propaganda directed by the Germans against the black troops, sent to fight them on the Western Front by England and France during the last war, was indirectly the cause of Germany's present bitternest toward the Jews, according to Claude McKay, noted Negro author of Home To Harlem and Banjo.

Writing in the November issue of Opportunity, Journal of Negro Life, McKay points out that during the World War and for many years thereafter, while the "Black Watch on the Rhine" was maintained, the Germans were taught by their political leaders to hate the Negro regiments billeted in their territory. They were told that the French desired to humiliate Germany to the utmost by dominating its people with savages, and they were warned that the possible "hybridization" of the French through the infiltration of Negro blood constituted a real danger to European civilization.

HITLER RECEPTIVE

Adolf Hitler was among those whose minds were receptive to this poisonous propaganda against the Africans ,the writer says. "Although it started when he was unknown, three years before the Munich putsch, his Mein Kampf reveals that his extraordniarily alert mind was attuned to every echo of the grievances of the defeated German nation. Probably as he brooded over the idea of Mein Kampf, the issue of Nordic superiority and African inferiority might have appeared as live as any."

But Hitler, being a realist, soon realized that the Africans were merely the pliant instruments of a victorious power, and also that although Africa was vastly rich, native Africans possessed no great individual wealth or political power, McKay continues. And for this reason he began to look about for another scapegoat with which to excite the pride of humiliated Germany. The Jew, comfortably ensconced in Germany, possessing enormous wealth and political power, and stirring Hitler's imagination with the attractive possibility of loot, seemed to offer the best possibilities. And so in place of the African scapegoat, Hitler put the Jew.

Didn't Believe in Doctors, Dead

Not believing in doctors because of her religious faith, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins, 68, of 1569 E. 51st street, lay dead in the County Morgue this week.

Charles H. Russell, son of the dead woman, told police that his mother, who was a member of Father Divine's church, had apparently succumbed to a series of strokes early last Monday morning.

swing holds sway today at para

Swing will hold sway on the stage of the Paramount theatre with the new program opening today, when Fanchon and Marco present the sensational roadshow attraction, "The Mikado In Swing". The screen will offer the outstanding Paramount picture, "Our Neighbors, the Carters".

"The Mikado In Swing" which has proved to be one of the most unusual and hottest stage innovations of the past 10 years has won great acclaim all over the country. The production scored a great hit in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles and in coming to the Paramount stage this sensational legitimate theatre success will be presented at regular Paramount theatre prices.

STELLAR CAST

This modern swing and streamlined version of Gilbert and Sullivan's great operetta is brought to life by a stellar all-colored cast numbering more than 60. Among those appearing in the leading roles are Florence O'Brien, the Sula Mai of "Run Little Chillun"; Marguerite Chapman, Gertrude Saunders of "Blackbirds" and "Shuffle Along"; W. H. Gillespie, Jess Lee Brooks, Alonzo Thayer, Billy Mitchell, Charles Holland and Irma Young.

In addition to the principal roles there is a large swinging singing chorus of musical merry-makers which provides the show with a rhythm and tempo seldom equalled on the stage.

On the screen, "Our Neighbors, the Carters" is brought to life by a fine cast including Frank Craven, Fay Bainter, Edmund Lowe and Geneviève Tobin. Charles R. Rogers directed this picture for Paramount which has a story of remarkable humanness. The situations and events of the engrossing story are as real as life itself and the rare entertainment quality comes from the fact that here is a story which everyone will live as they watch it unfold.

Jordan Upsets Riis, 13 to 7

Led by Hubert Duke and Peter Thompson, Jordan High school eliminated the Riis Vikings from Eastern league title consideration last Friday when Jordan won an upset victory, 13 to 7.

Outplayed, Jordan's Bulldogs got two scoring opportunities and used them both. Duke caught a partially blocked punt in the first period and scampered 25 yards to pay dirt. Thompson intercepted a pass and ran 46 yards for the second Bulldog tally.

Kenny Wilson scored the Vikings only tally from the Jordan three-yard line.

LUTHER KING WILL SING AT DILLARD U.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9—California tenor, Luther iKng, is scheduled to be heard on the 1939-40 Dillard university lyceum season, it was announced today.

GERTRUDE SAUNDERS, as "Katisha", appears to be surprised as Billy Mitchell, "Lord High Executioner", pops the question in the "Mikado In Swing" which opens today on Paramount stage.

george randol chosen as czar of new combine; plan large advertising campaign

By EARL J. MORRIS

The colored motion picture industry has now grown up and an extensive program is being instituted for major output. Following a series of conferences, plans are being drafted to make the incoming motion picture season, 1939-40, one of the greatest in the history of all-colored cast films.

Bert and Jack Goldberg, veterans of the theatrical business who piloted Miller and Lyles' "Shuffle Along" which put Negro show business into the million dollar class and, sky-rocketed the name of Mayme Smith into the constellations as a pioneer recording artist, are the central figures motivating the stimulus to the Colored Film Industry.

Never before in the history of the group in the film colony has such an intensive program been drafted. Jack Goldberg remained in New York, while Bert invaded Hollywood 10-weeks ago and made negotiations for three film producing units.

THREE PRODUCING UNITS

The International Road Shows, Incorporated, and controlled by the Goldbergs, will serve as a parent body to the three film production group. The George Randol Productions, Inc., will be one of the producing groups. Ernest Steiss Film company was organized and the gigantic combine saw the birth of the Argus Picture Company.

Dixon Harwin, youthful New York banker and Arthur Dreiffus, noted film director, planed from New York to head Argus Pictures as president and director respectively. George Randol film company was already intact with George Randol as president and Attorney Curtis Taylor as treasurer.

These three producing units, which are operated on the same basis as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and United Artists studios, have laid down a major film output for the 1939-40 season, now starting, for 15 feature pictures with an all-colored cast.

RANDOL FILM CHIEF

But what can be regarded as one of the most important steps in this major set-up is the fact that George Randol has been chosen as production chief for all three film companies in the combine. This in itself is a signal honor to the colored American for his efforts on the American stage and in the film industry.

George Randol's position to this alliance is the same as Darryl F. Zanuck's at 20th Century-Fox or Hal Wallis out at Warner Brothers studios. Randol is well qualified to hold this important post in the film industry due to the fact that he has held practically every position in the business from actor, technician, script writer, director, producer and president of the film concern which bears his name. In each of these positions he has been listed and credited by the various trade publications.

RECOGNIZE NEGRO PRESS

But what might also attest to the fact that the colored motion picture industry has grown up is that recognition for the first time in the history will be given to the Negro press.

Randol, by virtue of his position as production chief, and Bert Goldberg, along with attorneys, are negotiating with a colored agency to draft plans to fix a substantial advertising budget for Negro newspapers.

Bert Goldberg stated to this writer that motion pictures are the order of the day. This combine will be run on the same basis as any studio in Hollywood. And the Negro press is vitally important.

Randol commenting on the colored newspapers said, "The Negro press of today is one of the greatest mediums to reach a rapidly growing colored motion picture audience. Therefore, in planning out budgets for each picture, I, in my capacity as production chief, must regard the Negro newspapers as a necessary factor to the complete production of pictures, just as we have to build our budgets for actors, crews, cameramen and technicians.

15 FILMS A YEAR

"We intend to produce a picture every 30 to 45 days, making a total of 15 pictures for the year. A newspaper campaign will be laid out from Hollywood thru the colored advertising agency for each picture. This we feel, will augment the advertising copy, which exhibitors will place locally on each film drama," Randall stated.

The Argus Picture Company has just finished on scheduled shooting time, the first action picture of the new combine. It is entitled, "Double Deal," with Jeni LeGon and Monte Hawley in the stellar roles. Edward Thompson, Shelton Brooks, F. E. Miller, Maceo Sheffield, Florence O'Brien, Freddy Jackson are cast in this initial film. The picture is slated for release Dec. 1.

With Argus Pictures having completed the Jeni LeGon Monte-Hawley film they have a schedule of five more pictures to complete for the remainder of the season. The Ernest Steiss unit is slated to go into production immediately on the first of their six films a year. The George Randol Productions will make three super-specials, whose film running time will exceed the general feature length.

All units will have to toe the mark in meeting their production schedule because International Road Shows, the parent group and distribution agency will post a cash bond with theatres in key cities to deliver the product on scheduled date or forfeit the money.

This combine will enable the theatres to play the pictures in big time manner. The colored motion picture aduience is assured of the best obtainable in pictures, dealing with themes that the Negro will be proud to see. It also will insure motion picture employment the year round for colored actors and actresses. The Negro press, which has contributed greatly to an infant industry insofar as Negroes are concerned, will come in for a share on a paid basis.

If his band would play three and one-half days without stopping more than five minutes between pieces Duke Ellington claims his portfolio would probably get an entire airing, and with repeats, He doesn't care a hoot about anything that is only a half-hearted attempt to portray Negro music. It must bt the real thing or nothing, Duke says. (See Bill Smallwood's theatrical column, Notes on a Scratch Pad).

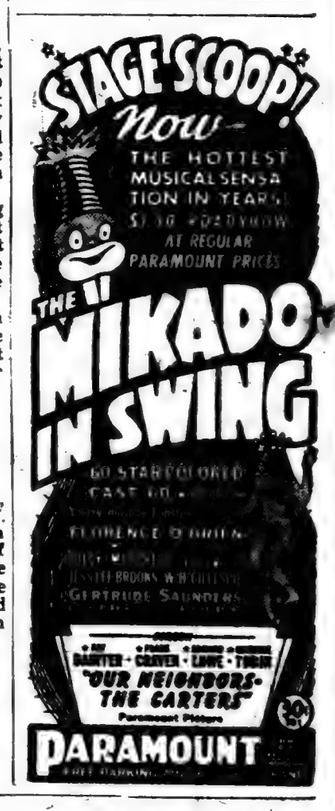
seeks 2 girls for roles in film series

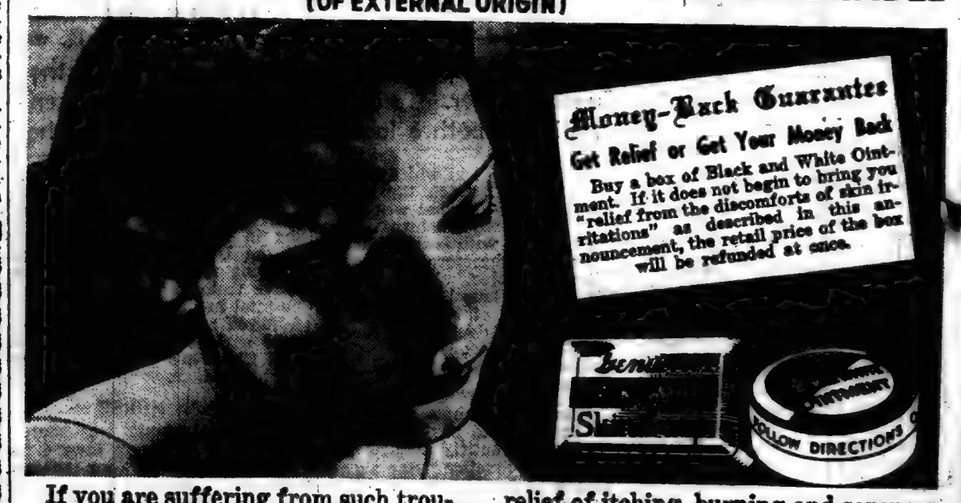
Clarence Muse, actor of screen, radio and stage announced last week that he would seek two girls for roles in a series of six pictures, entitled "The Lovejoy Family", the first of which will be called "Harlem. . . Here We Come"! depicting the life of a normal family in these times.

According to rumor the young ladies who have first choice at the present time are Margaret Whitten, Theresa Harri., Mae Brooks, Artie Young, Florence O'Brien and Daisy Bufford.



Supreme Pictures Corporation is planning this series and Muse has signed a three way contract as actor, writer, and co-director with the company.

muse gives little theater a push



A little theatre movement, sponsored by the 28th Street Y. M. C. A. has started off with a bang. Under the tutelage of Clarence Muse, director of the hit "Run Little Chillun", the group is laying the basic ground work for an extensive expension relative to Negro films.

The Itching, Burning, Soreness of PIMPLES (OF EXTERNAL ORIGIN) ...CAN SURELY MAKE YOU FEEL MISERABLE

If you are suffering from such trouble you know the above statement is a true one. Why continue to be miserable—do this:

Go to your druggist and get yourself a package of Black and White Ointment and a bar of Black and White Skin Soap—it's a famous "combination".

First, cleanse the affected part of dirt and other material by washing with mild, super-fatted Black and White Skin Soap. Next apply Black and White Ointment. It acts as an antiseptic-germicidal dressing in the relief of itching, burning and soreness of superficial pimples, blackheads and acne of external origin.

Use Black and White Ointment also to relieve itching, burning, soreness due to dry eczema (salt rheum tetter) of external origin, or simple ringworm or minor parasitic skin irritation.

The 50c size of Black and White Ointment contains more than twice as much as the 25c size. Large bar Black and White Skin Soap, 25c. Trial sizes of both Black and White Ointment and Skin Soap are sold for 10c at all five and ten cent stores everywhere.

WINTER LOOP UPSWING

Hampered somewhat by a change of scenery and lack of advance notices on some of their stars, the Philadelphia Royal Giants are beginning to come into their own in the Winter League circuit.

The Giants, whose usual home field is White Sox Park, moved into modern and spacious Gilmore Field this year. And because the field is located in Hollywood, some of the regular winter league patrons figured the jaunt into the movie capital was too long and too expensive.

Then, too, the Negro nine was without some of the usual faces in the lineup. Players like Satchell Paige, Bell, Porter and Willie Wells are not with the club. Therefore, the fans have had to get new favorites. Of course, Mule Suttles and One-Wing West are cavorting about the diamond as usual.

Boasting a comparatively new (to local fans) hurling corps, the Giants have found their batting eyes and are giving their pitchers the support to which they are entitled. Once in a while, a flinger will get "hot" and won't need much support.

Take "Lefty" Glover of the Baltimore Elites for instance. Last Sunday, Glover nicked the corners for a no-hit, no-run game and thus became a candidate for baseball's hall of fame. Only three balls got past the infield. That's real pitching as history will prove. It's the first time since Lou Koupal, hurling for Pirrone, turned the trick in 1927 that a double zero effort has been turned in.

Now with Glover and McDuffie pitching airtight ball and batters like Jake Dunn, Suttles, Pepper Bassett and "Wild Bill" Wright swinging the old willow no wonder the Negro nine has won three and tied one of their last four games. They now lead the winter loop by a half game. Joe Pirrone's All-Stars are in the runner-up position.

Too, the Giants have become accustomed to their home field and that helps. Making that shaky start of the Giants shakier was the fact that the opposition this year is of a higher calibre and the club was not hitting on all "six" enough to hold its own.

Everything seems rosy now, however, and winter league attendance figures are expected to boom right along with the new-found batting power and pitching brilliance the Philadelphia Royal Giants boast.

REMEMBER NOV. 17

The date of Friday, Nov. 17 may go down in sports history as one of the most significant in the annals of boxing. For on that date in the assembly room of the State Athletic commission in the State Building, the Holywood Post of the American Legion will air before the public and the commissioners the reasons why Negro fighters do not appear in the Hollywood ring.

The status of those reasons, be they adequate or inadequate, will be determined by this new commission which is headed by Jerry Geisler.

For many years, the attitude of the Hollywood Post and its asserted discrimination against Negro fighters has drawn forth barbs from the metropolitan and weekly press and sportsmen in general. The fact that a date has been set for a hearing of these charges and counter chrages has been due to the present commissioners and their desire to see all athletic activities under their jurisdiction conducted in a manner which conforms to the principles of democracy and Americanism.

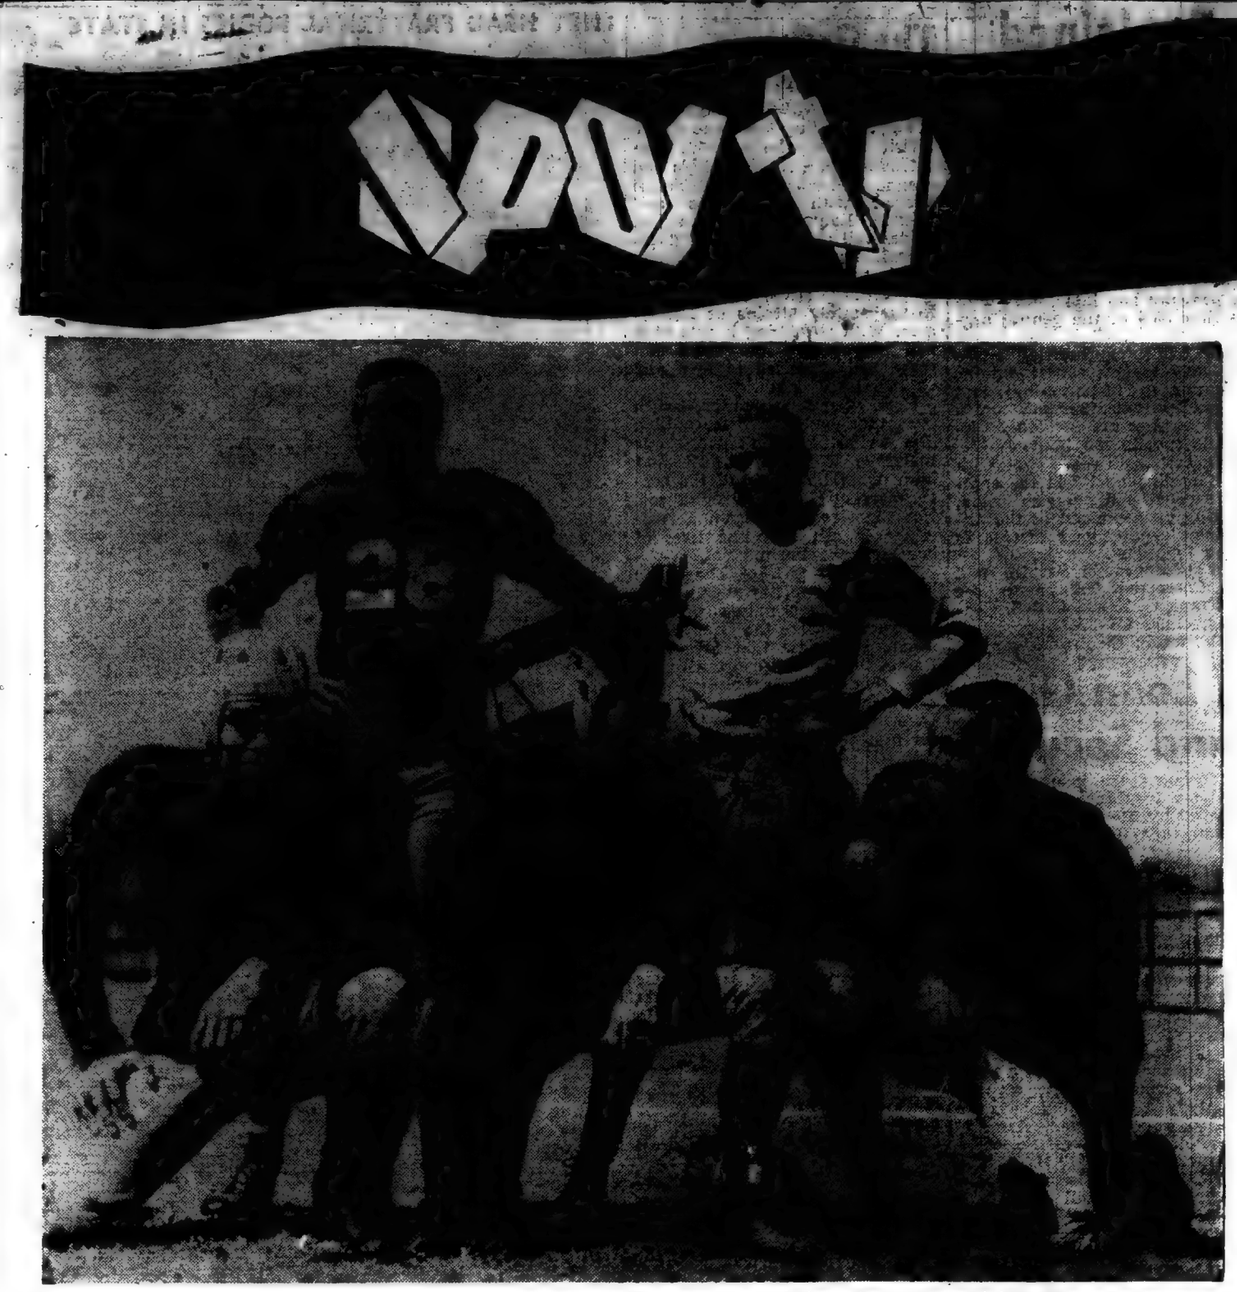
BRUINS AND THE BOWL

One gets the impression after watching the Bruins of UCLA week after week that they are one of the greatest gangs of opportunists to ever wear cleats. Booming towards a conference championship, they have confidence and a cooperative spirit (something noticeably lacking for the past couple of years) which serves to make them the makers of their own scoring opportunities. If they do get into the Rose Bowl, in our humble opinion, it will be one of the best things (if not the best) that ever happened to Pacfic Coast conference football. And that goes for the nation as well for we have long had the opinion that sports, as UCLA has had the courage to undertake the program, is the most logical media through which to effect world peace and all it implies.



If for no other reason, we should like to see UC LA and her Bruins go through an undefeated season, get the Bowl bid, and prove to this nation that its peoples can play together in the most approved manner as sportsmen, upholding as they do so the democratic principles as outlined by the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

We don't think we would be going too far if we said that this Bruin gang thinks to a man that on Dec. 9 before a packed Coliseum they will have not only dented but punctured the armor of the mighty Trojan.

SHORTS IN SPORTS

There are reports making the rounds that the County Council of the American Legion is going to take over boxing at the Olympic auditorium. According to expert opinion, it will be the greatest thing that has ever happened to local boxing . . . . Eastside sportsmen wouldn't be wasting their time if they got their heads together and began looking into the posibilities of setting up a boxing and wrestling club . . . We understand that Jimmy Liddel, Eastside favorite, will appear on next week's card at the Olympic. Jimmy has only recently returned from Chicago and way points.

UCLA'S HEAD Coach Babe Horrell, kneeling center, is talking over battle plans here with some of his big guns as the Bruins eye their Nov. 18 engagement here with the Santa Clara Bronco. On either side of the coach are seniors Woodrow Strode and Kenny Washington. Jackie Robinson and Ray Bartlett are standing. Kenny was the big noise in the Bruin win over the California Bear last Saturday.

Quail and Pheasant Season Promises Limits to Nimrods

Pre-season surveys conducted by the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California reveal that pheasants and quail are plentiful in most sections of the State and that many limits should be bagged when the season opens Nov. 15.

Pheasants of the Chinese ringneck variety, males only, may be taken this year from Nov. 15 to 20 inclusive. Closed to hunting are Amador, Calaveras, El Dorado, Marin, Nevada, Plumas, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, Trinity and portions of Siskiyou, Merced, Fresno and Modoc counties. The bag limit remains at two per day, with not more than two in possession at any time.

The Sacramento and Owens valleys are expected to produce the best hunting.

GOOD SEASON

Because of the mild winter and early spring, quail are numerous and a good season is predicted. Hunters will find most of the birds at lower elevations this year because the general dryness of the high country has forced them down. The season continues through December 31, and the bag limit on quail in the aggregate species remains at 10 per day and 20 per week. Not more than one daily bag limit may be possessed by any person during one day.

Southland hunters should find likely spots in Imperial Valley, along the Colorado River north and south of Blythe, the Owens Valley from Lone Pine north, the Greenhorn and Piute mountains in Kern County, San Luis Obispo County in the mountains between State Highway 1 and U. S. Highway 101, and along the foothills of Tulare County in the Porterville-Visalia area.

Fans Holler as Seaman Nods Turkey

Olympic Patrons Figure Thompson to Be Fight Victor

"Turkey" Thompson, making his first appearance under his new manager, Gayne Norton, was the victim of an unjust decision in the eyes of the majority of boxing fans Tuesday night at the Olympic, when referee Reggie Gilmore awarded the 10-round main event decision to Bobby Seaman.

Thompson weighed 157½ pounds and Seaman 156¾.

There appeared to be some basis for the fans hollering too as "Turkey" had Seaman on the floor for an eight-count in the second round and although he seemed to have tired in the latter stages of the bout his lead had all the earmarks of a fairly comfortable one.

Referee Gilmore, however, disagreed and awarded Seaman five heats, three to Thompson and called two even.

One of the best FIGHTS the Olympic has billed in some time, "Turkey" was at his best in the early rounds constantly swinging looping rights to Seaman's ribs which were mixed with jarring left jabs and right crosses to the head.

Seaman's best round was the fifth when he landed several rights to Thompson's head. Using rushing tactics from then on, Seaman was on top of "Turkey", rendering the latter's potent two-fisted attack null and void.

Having met once previous to Tuesday's battle the two boys appear to have earned the right to meet again. Seaman now holds two decisions over Thompson, the only two of "Turkey's short but meteoric career.

Bernie Miller, 139, of Harlem got referee Beny Whitman's nod over tough Gene Venzuela, 144½ of Watts in the four-round semi-windup. The fans booed the verdict.

Paul Woods, '39 Golden Gloves champion, knocked out substitute Frankie Rodriquez in the first round. Hut Thompson decisioned Marine Sextell in a dull bout. Indian Bert Valesquez, a substitute, clowned his way to a decision over Terry Orchard. In the curtain raiser, Nash Diaz and Johnny Gardea, both substitutes, fought a draw. All the prelims were four-rounders.

With Jackie Wilson billed to meet Tony Chavez Nov. 21, the Olympic is expected to announce next week's main event today.

Bruins Prepare for Santa Clara Broncs in Easy Stages

Drawing a bye this week as a result of the foresight of the schedule makers, UCLA's rampaging Bruins were preparing easily this week for their game here Nov. 18 with Santa Clara's Broncos.

The Bruins rested Monday and went through one-hour of calisthenics and signal drill Tuesday. They began to get down to business yesterday however as news leaks out of the Westwood Hills that Big Bruin is readying a dazzling new array of plays for the Nov. 18 game.

Jackie Robinson, Ned Mathews, Ray Bartlett and the rest of the injured Uclans are reported rapidly rounding into shape.

Kenny Leads Bruins to Grid Win

Turns in All-U. S. Performance as U. C. Bears Lose, 20-7

By J. Cullen Fentress

Without the services of one of his greatest threats last Saturday, Joe Bruin of UCLA scored a convincing 20 to 7 victory over the University of California ears at the Memorial Coliseum before 55,000 spectators as Kenny Washington (The General) accumed the offensive burden and turned in an All-American performance.

Jackie Robinson, the other Bruin ace, was hurt in scrimmage a few days prior to the game Saturday and was kept on the sidelines by Coach Babe Horrell. Robinson suffered a leg injury when tackled by two Bruin "Goofs" and the UCLA coaching staff didn't want to risk losing the star ball carrier's services for the rest of the season, by using him in the game Saturday.

But by all means, let's get to the point, which happens to be "The General". Every Saturday, Washington turns in a grand performance but Saturday he seemed to overdo himself. He was responsible for all the Bruin touchdowns.

Following a Bear touchdown in the first three minutes of the game by left halfback Tony Firpo from the one-yard line, Washington took the ball from California's 35 yard stripe and boomed over the Bear Goal line with as neat a bit of open field running as has been seen on the Coliseum turf.

Co-Captain John Frawley kicked goal and the score was tied up.

When Bear fullback John Mcuary deflected a Washington pass intended for Woody Strode in the second period which fell into the arms of Bruin end McPherson, UCLA had its second score. The play was good for a net gain of 36 yards, as McPherson hugged the pigskin to his chest and scampered over the goal line.

STRODE SCORES

In the third period, Joe Bruin chalked up his third and last touchdown on a pass from Washington to Strode who snagged the oval near the side lines, straightarmed a Bear in no uncertain fashion and did a toe dance a la Robinson on the white lines to score standing up.

The all around improvement of Joe Bruin is apparent from a lookee at the statistics of the game. The Bruins, who blocked viciously, rolled up a total of 15 first downs and a gain of 370 yards to nine first downs and 181 yards for the Bears. UCLA completed eight out of 12 attempted passes, for a total gain of 131 yards.

Besides the play of John Frowley and Woody Strode, who played his best game of the season, on the line and Washington in the backfield, Ray Bartlett, filling in for Robinson at right half, was particularly outstanding and showed he is capable of developing into a worthy substitute for Jackie. His regular position is end.

Giant Ace in No-Hit, No-Run Win

'Lefty' Glover became a candidate for the Baseball Hall of Fame (or something) Sunday afternoon when he pitched the Philadelphia Royal Giants to a 4 to 0 victory over abe Herman's White King nine with a sterling no-hit,no-run performance.

The Giants also captured the five-inning abbreviated tilt 3 to 1 and went into a half game lead over Joe Pirrone's All-Stars in the Winter League standings.

Striking out four batters, Glover allowed only three balls to be hit to the outfield. "One-Wing" West, Giant's flashy fielding first baseman made 14 putouts.

White King hurler Lindell allowed but five hits but the Giants bunched these in the first and sixth innings to score four runs, one in the first on a walk to Carter followed by Dunn's single, and three in the sixth.

Harvey of the Royal Giants limited the soap nine to two bingles in the nightcap.

Having won three and tied one of their last four games, the red hot Giants tangle with Walker Roofers Sunday afternoon at Gilmore in a double-header. The first game starts at 1:30.

The Giants will be seeking revenge for their two-game setback at the hands of the Roofers a few weeks ago. The Roofer hurling corps boasts Jerry Priddy, property of the New York Yankees, Johnny Bittner of lywood and Lefty Darrow.

"Y" Wrestling Class Starts

With a turnout of over 10 conscientious boys, the YMCA wrestling class under the leadership of Coach George Brown started with a bang. All boys and young men who have had any experience at all in wrestling are asked to report Tuesday at 5, or Thursday at 6 o'clock and enroll with the group. It is the hope of the Physical Division that an A-1 wrestling team be sent to San Diego next fall to participate in the Southern California Y.M.C.A. Wrestling Championships.

Loyola Plays San Jose Nex

One week from tomorrow at Gilmore Stadium, Loyola University's Lions play the nation's highest scoring eleven—San Jose State. Following their 14 to 7 defeat Sunday at the hands of the University of San Francisco Dons, the Loyolans are preparing to offer plenty of opposition to "Pop" Warner-Bud DeGroot coached team.

"Y" BASKETBALL PRACTICE SLATED

First call has been issued to candidates and members for the coming 1939-40 YMCA basketball championship series, which will open in December! A huge turnout is expected with such stars as Leonard McClain, Amby Jackson, Bob Scott, Joe Brewer, Al Goodlow and Bill Spiller.

Colon Therapy Explained By Dr. Frank G. Zetar, D. C.

Colon is a scientific name for the large intestines which is divided into the following divisions, the ascending, transverse, descending and sigmoid. The large intestine measures about 5 feet. Colon Therapy is a branch of physical therapy and is a valuable aid to chiropractic treatments.

In considering the functions of the colon, it is well to remember that in its the final steps of digestion and absorption takes place and that it is a reservoir for waste material. When we say a reservoir for waste material, we do not mean that the material should be reserved for weeks or months as the case may be in some subjects, but only during such time as is required by nature to prepare it for evacuation from the body, which should be about 48 hours. One might ask what has all of this to do with colon therapy.

Well, the proper cleansing of the colon, either by nature(the natural way) or by colon irrigation will prevent or eliminate the following conditions: constipation, gas, bloating, which causes the abdomen to portrude forward, sluggishness, fatigue and impactions. Appendicitis is more or less always due to impactions in the colon, also prolapse of the large intestine, the latter causing pressure and interfering with the functions of the genital organs.

The health authorities agree that constitpation causes autointoxication (self-poisoning), and the auto-intoxication sets up a favorable medium for other disease to invade the body.

One can readily see that with nerve impingements in the spinal region and sluggish colon, clogging up a portion of the alimentary canal that disease is bound to follow.

For Chiropractic Service and Foot Correction Treatments, see Dr. Frank G. Zetar, 4803 S. Central avenue, CE-27621.

Next week: Electro-Therapy.

Liberty Building Loan Gives Key to Success and Security

The security and success of a person, as he advances in age, depends upon the amount of his investments. In order to have a sufficient amount of capital to insure your life against poverty, it is necessary to start saving when you are young and continue to save as long as you have an income.

In choosing the institution at which you are going to save your money, there are several very important factors to consider. First, you must select a place where your original investment is safe; second, your money must yield a liberal income so that your account automatically grows; third, your money should be available to you.

The Liberty Building-Loan Association satisfies all of these requirements. Your money placed with us is safe, because each of our accounts are insured up to and Loan Insurance Corporation, $5000.000 by the Federal Savings an instrumentality of the Federal Government. Your savings placed with us yield a liberal income, because our current interest rate it 4%. Your money placed with us is available to you because of our liquidity.

You can't start too early to accumulate the capital which is to be the foundation of your social and economic life.

Remember that it is not every savings institution that satisfies the three requirements of a good savings account, safety, earning capacity, availability, but that the Liberty Building-Loan Association is one which does! So, come into our office at 2512 S. Central avenue, and let us help you gain a security which will bring happiness with it.

• ON THE SIDEWALK

ment: In America, is the Black Man preaching addition and practicing division?"

Two weeks ago we suggested that there should not be enmity between the Jewish and Negro group. We reiterate that statement now. For many years, the California EAGLE and its editors have urged Negroes enter into the different fields of business by pooling their capital to the end that they may compete with others who preceeded them. At the same time that we suggested the cementing of friendship between the groups, we contended that Jews in this nation had opened the door of opportunity for Negroes to learn business methods and modern technique.

Just this summer while visiting in Richmond, Virginia, I saw five motion picture theatres in what is called the Negro section which amply illustrate this point. One of them, incidentally, occupies property originally owned by John Mitchell, America's first Negro banker. These five theatres, owned by Jews, are managed by five young Negroes, each with a crew of not less than five colored helpers, including ticket sellers, ushers and janitors. I questioned the young manager at the "Maggie Walker Theatre" as to how far his opportunity for learning the business extended, and he informed me that he had not been cramped at all in his position and felt that he was prepared to operate for himself, when the time comes. I also discovered that hotels of any size and capacity from New York to Los Angeles classified as "colored" are owned by Jews, but operated by Negroes.

It goes without saying that it is not due to any special affection on the part of Jews for Negroes that prompts them to open and operate businesses in Negro sections. The Jew early discovered that the Negro consuming market was ever on the increase, but apparently had not considered itself very important, since few Negroes took advantage of the golden merchandising opportunities that lay before them. For instance, less than thirty years ago there was nothing more than a corner grocery with a small meat market on Central Ave. Most of these were family affairs.

Many of the early Negro settlers came with a little capital, which they promptly deposited in the banks. The banks paid the depositors 2 percent and invested the money at 6 and 7 percent. Two or three ventures in the grocery business were made by Negroes, but all went the way of the wind, "because" complained the Negro proprietors, "they failed to get the support of colored buyers." Now that Jews have come into the Central Avenue district with large department stores and general markets and Negroes for the first time in the history of this city are getting even a modest proportion of the clerkship jobs, what's the howl? Negroes should seek entrance into the business world by competing fairly and squarely with others. No other racial group goes into business with the feeling success depends upon the support of its particular kind or group, rather than upon solid foundations of merchandising skill. Those Negro firms which have embarked upon the business world on the firm basis of commercial fairplay have found success. Among these we may point with pride to the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Liberty Building and Loan Association, the Hotels Clark and Dunbar, Angelus Funeral Home, and Conner-Johnson Funeral Company, along with several competent drug firms. Such organizations blaze the trail for Negroes to the promised land of economic freedom.

Annual Hi School Football, Band Carnival Date Set

The 7th Annual Tenth District High School Football and Band Carnival will be staged in the Coliseum, Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 22.

Proceeds from the spectacular event will go to carry out the great welfare program conducted by Tenth District.

The amount raised by last year's carnival was $10, 367.07, of which $1,000 was returned to the schools for the purchase of athletic equipment.

65,000 attended last year's carnival—a really enormous crowd. However, the Coliseum accomodates a much greater crowd, and Tenth District can certainly use to advantage the extra proceeds raised by an increased attendance.

Each added ticket sold means more milk, lunches and clothing for the underprivileged children attending our city schools.

UNIQUE SPECTACLE

As a spectacle, the carnival is unique.

Twelve representative teams, the pick of the city's high school football leagues, will participate.

The teams will be divided into two section, North and South, with six teams in each. Six 20-minute periods will be played with no time out. The ball will be put into play from the spot where the previous division left

Socialists Plan Armistice Day Meeting

A mass meeting, entitled "Armistice Day-1939—The Negro Faces the Second World War," will be held under the auspices of the Socialist Workers' Party and the Young Peoples' Socialist League, (Fourth International) on the evening of Armistice Day, Saturday, at 8:00 p. m in the hall of the Young Men's Advancement League, 4418¾ S. Central avenue.

The speakers will be S. Roberts, active trade unionist of the Socialist Workers Party, and Gordon Bailey, member of the Los Angeles Council of the Young Peoples' Socialist League. The meeting will deal with the nature and causes of the European war, the role of the United States in the war, the meaning of the Stalin-Hitler pact, the treatment received by the Negro in the last war and why, and a program for fighting against war.

A dramatic presentation entitled "America, America" and labor songs will be rendered, by members of the Young People's Socialist League.

The Great Physician Speaks

By CAR LELLIOT YARGER

Their wedding last June was a lavish affair—the church resplendent with roses, orchids and orange blossoms—the auditorium packed with dignataries and friends. Laura, radiant in her bridal veil and white satin gown—Jack beaming in immaculate evening attire—marching solemnly down the silver covered aisle to the stately strains of Lohengrin. With throbbing hearts they had met before the alter and there had promised to love and cherish until death.

Now, after four months, Laura feels that Jack's love is cooling. She writes, "I don't want our marriage to become dull and hum drum like most of the other marriages I see around me. Has the Great Physician a remedy that can keep the fires of our romance burning?

Wise little girl, of course he has. For no one has ever understood the inner nature of love and romance like the Great Physician. He knew that love is a flame that must constantly be fed. Neglected or handled unskillfully, it will flicker and die. Like the manna in the wilderness its fuel must be gathered each day.

Laura is wise because she seeks expert advice before her romance had a chance to actually die. She recognizes Jack's waning interest as a symptom of a sick marriage, and she knows enough to know that she lacks the scientific training to cope adequately with the situation.

LIKEN TO ILL HEALTH

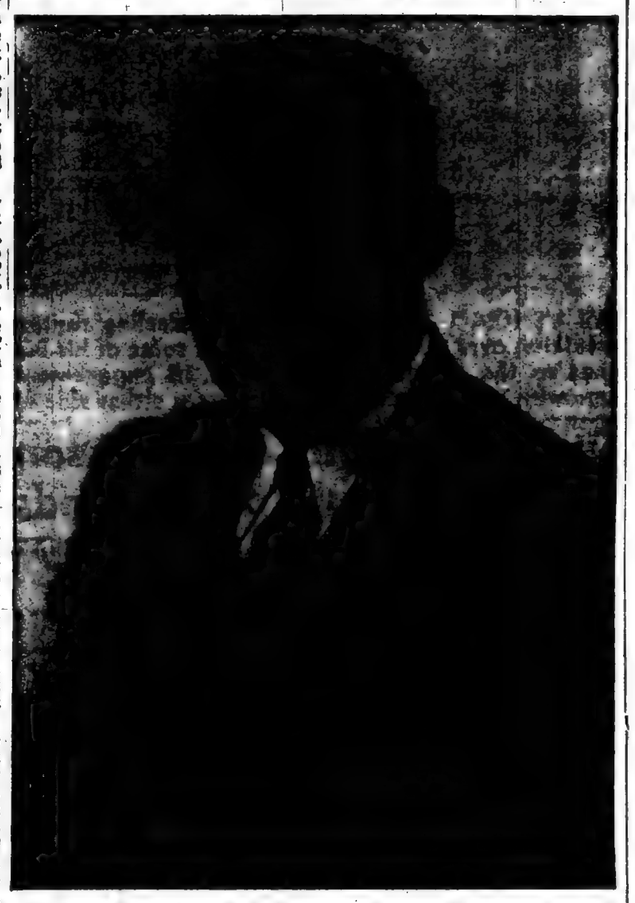
Too many people treat their sick marriages like a certain foolish man did his sick body. He had suffered for years with backaches. Lacking medical training, he failed to recognize these pains as symptoms of a serious internal ailment. So with the conceit born of medical ignorance, he tried to doctor himself—until too late.

To many people fail to recognize the symptoms of their sick marriages—That waning interest, that lost zest, those eyes that no longer shine with the light of love, the kisses that no longer thrill, the little quarrels that become more frequent—these are only a few of the symptoms of marital sickness. Disregard them at your peril!

Then too, Laura is wise because she refuses to trust blindly to Providence. She knows that God helps those who help themselves. She also knows that there is neither virtue nor wisdom in a faith that is blind.

Whether she realizes it or not, her actions here are in harmony with the teachings of the Great Physician. For He believed in an intelligent, honest and immediate attempt to solve problems. "Agree with thy adversary quickly." was His doctrine. Translated in modern language, "Whatever your difficulty, seek an immediate solution before it has a chance to grow worse."

Finally, Laura is wise because she is teachable. She knows that she wants her romance to grow sweeter thru the coming years. She also knows that she doesn't know how to deal with the delicate and intricate problems of adjusting conflicting personalities and ideas in this rapidly changing social order in which we live. Therefore, she has opened her mind to receive truths that to her are new.



It is to hearts like these that the Great Physician speaks His words of cheer. It is to lives like these that He brings His blessings.

Yes, Laura, the Great Physician will prescribe for your ailing romance. In the next mail you will receive your Marriage Analysis Chart. When you return it I will give it my personal attention. From it I will make a scientific diagnosis of the biological, psychological and social aspects of your problem. Then the Great Physician will be consulted and His remedy prescribed!

You too may receive the benefits of this service simply by addressing a letter to the Great Physician, The California Eagle, 4075 S. Central avenue, Los Angeles, California. In this letter enclose a dime and a stamped self addressed envelope. Your chart with full instructions will be mailed to you immediately.

Leaders of two of the largest bodies in California fraternal circles are shown above. Mrs. Ida Mae Robertson was recently elected Grand Worthy Matron of Golden State Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, after filling out the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Pauline Dupee. Roscoe H. Broyles, prominent Santa Monican, was elected at the last convention Most Worthy Grand Master, Free and Accepted Masons. He succeeded F. A. Moss of San Jose, for many years Masonic head.

WIDOWS CLUB TO HOLD BANQUET

The Los Angeles Widows club will hold its First Annual Turkey Banquet Thursday, Nov. 16 at Wesley Community Center, 1029 E. Vernon avenue. A special invitation is issued to widows, widowers and bachelors, and the general public is invited. Dinner will be served at 50c per plate.

Suffering Women May Only Need 'Build-Up'

A simple method is saving many women much pain and discomfort! It is based on the knowledge that women's headaches, nervousness, and cramp-like pain often are symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to a weak, run-down, undernourished condition. That so many women find relief from these painful symptoms through the CARDUI "build-up" is easy to explain. By improving the appetite, assisting digestion and assimilation, CARDUI helps to build physical resistance against periodic pain. Thousands of women also report that CARDUI taken just before and during "the time", lessens periodic pain.

* Like any other member of the community, the Edison Company pays taxes for the support of local, state and federal governments. Edison taxes for 1938 were $7,593,939—nearly double those paid ten years ago. Yet, while taxes, and all other operating expenses, have increased, Edison electric rates have steadily decreased. Edison rates are now among the lowest in the nation.

GOOD HEALTH

By Dr. Ruth Temple

Good health never comes by accident it is the result of wise planning and careful execution of the fundamental laws. In no field do results follow cause or reaction so surely as in the health field. On may abuse his or her body for many years and see no apparent harm, but as the tiny termite works silently and unnoticed to accomplish its utter destruction so do all of our unhealthful habits work surely to destroy our bodies, and to have sound health we must positively leave off habits which can harm us.

But merely leaving off unhealthful habits is not enough. Good health comes only by definite hard work to procure it.

We work self sacrificingly for gold, for fame but how many of us honestly work for health? Gold, fame and no other earthly blessing is worth any thing to you or to me without this greatest of all earthly blessings—that of good health.

What are you doing to bring the best posible health to yourself? When did you last have a complete health examination? Don't slip up here because you "feel" well. Often the most serious forms of disease lurk behind a screen of "feeling alright". So you are safe only when you go to your doctor or to a good clinic for a complete periodic health examination.

DO YOU HELP

Next, what are you doing to help the worthwhile health movement in your community such as the East Area Health Program by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association or the building of a rest home by the Outdoor Life and Health Association? What are you doing to aid the efforts being put forth by the Community Health Association to help all citizens of our communities to take three (3) steps up to health by first having a blood test and secondly, being examined for social diseases or other communicable diseases now and once each six months thereafter by their private physician, if they can afford this, by a private community clinic if they can pay part fees or by the Los Angeles City Health Department if they can pay no fees whatever. What, I ask ,are you doing to actively assist in these fine pieces of health work here in your own community?

Remember that your active health interest and work is a direct measure of your intelligence and of your progressive interest in your own welfare and in that of your community, city, state, and nation. It is easier to guard and to keep good health than it is to regain it.

Your announcer Ruth Temple M. D. is signing off from station KWA, and until this time next week do your very best to KEEP WELL ALWAYS.

'YW' Will Hold Fellowship Service Sunday

Miss Manila Smith, member of the Religious Education committee of the Twelfth street Branch YWCA, will be in charge of the World Fellowship Vesper service of the YWCA which will take place Sunday afternoon. Members and friends of the YWCA are invited to participate in the worship service similar to that held in different parts of the world where there is YWCA work.

Miss Millicent Wylly, formerly of New York City, is instructing members of the Industrial Club of the YWCA in their class in Christmas Gift making each Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Joan Johnson Willis, president of the Business and Professional Girls' League, is major of one of the Community Chest teams in the South Central area and is being assisted by members of the club.

Misses Carmelita White, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Mattie Laws and Marion Brown of the Business and Professional Girls' League, Mrs. Isabel Clifton and Miss Dorothy C. Guinn, branch executive of the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA, attended the Planning Committee of the Business and Professional Club of the YWCA in Southern California held recently in Pasadena.

Mrs. Isabelle Clifton has recently returned from New York City where she attended the meeting of the National Council of Business Girls' clubs of which she is a member and representative from California.

The 12th Street Branch Business, Professional and Industrial girls clubs travel though they stay at home. Eva Olson Marcus, member of the Board of Directors of the Los Angeles YWCA, recently a delegate from the YWCA to the Youth Christian conference held in Amcterdam, Holland, provided the journey for them with a most inspiring and interesting report. A social hour was enjoyed at the end of the journey.

The Girl Reserve Clubs of the Branch are observing the World's Week of Prayer beginning on Sunday to Nov. 17. Church visitation through the city will be stressed on Nov. 12 and many events are planned for the remainder of the week.

If you are the mother of a Girl Reserve of interested in Youth today come out and participate in Girl Reserve Mother Council which will meet at the Branch on Thursday. Mrs. A. R. Mosley is the able advisor for the group.

The Delightful Side

By BILL SMALLWOOD

Cuff-note: Alpha's landed gentry the country over, once they're successfully gotten together (that, me hearties, is something to do, what's more), go on being little short of superb hosts, come to reflect.

Be that as it may, betwixt our local Alpha brethren and the pigskin carryin's-on our village greens fairly twinkled oe'r weekend last. . . Corners of folk trooped in town from upstate an dtouched tall glasses with us both before, after and way after the game. Fun. A hasty bit of rending a chop with a cup of tea before hand, etc. About a million youngies there all bib-and-tucker-ed. The Cobbsy Abbotts, in town from Denver, were there (they have their kit bags at his sister's).

Back, also, for the latchstrings and such was our old chum from up Oakland way, TobyCarroll. He'll be barging about. . . After the game, to a buffet set-up, all of which was taken up by social eclat, and the atmosphere was redolent of silver fox, gardenias, Matchabelli's Duchess of York and old sherry. They and the rest of the folk within a 100-mile radius ranked 3 deep at the bar, pushing one another aside and screaming for highballs in the most approved "400" manner.

About the Alpha jamboree: Continual source of confusion to me is the decidely complex treatment, here, of the to-dress-or-not-to-dress proposition. Far be it fromme , male of the specii, to dictate to the debbies and matrons what to wear, but—er—well, you get the idea. Or do you. . . We all but hung off the rafters, the din was terrific and everybody had a perfectly heluva time; Alice West, dripping gardenias, there with her hubby-to-be, and quite happy about the whole thing. She's given up her Washington, D. C. business, and will live here in a spiffy place. Of the wedding, more anon. Nice, too, again seeing the Paul Hickmans, both of them looking great-guns. And hilarious reunion with fun-loving Bee Vaughn, the last time I saw her she was heel-kicking in Harlem. Reunion with Dot Brown and tidings from her beloved Boston.

Ho wVERY muc halike are Catherine Wilson and Mrs. Ernest Weaver. Gosh, lan' sakes! (Catherine may go to Honolulu in July with La Ellington). Handsome couple, the Maurice McGaviskis. Regal Lela Walsh, in white brocade. Hullo with the Ed Strongs. Busy Riddel Scott. Best of all, unexpected but lusty backslapping with Harlemite Gordon Croques, here to hobnob a year or so and take unto himself a bride. THAT will beelectrifying news for the lads back on the Main Stem, Gordon. Good luck.

A chap there from San Diego who favors Alec Peeples tremendously. Rather startling, in fact. . And, so, into chronicling about the final wind-up for the de Lavallade bride-to-be. Henrietta Wiley all but filled, and smartly so, a good portion of the Blue Room Sunday for her Debbies an dmatrons eddying around in tremendously chic fashion were: Thelma Hardon, Lois Hamilton, Betty Griffith, Charlotte Hudson, Edwina Hithe, LaVelle Jones, Bobbee Black, Vera Clark, Ernestine Myers, Rena Griffith, Alphia Jackson, Martha Morris, Isabel Harris, Harriet Taylor, Irma Burt, Bernice Bynum and Jovelle Bryant.

Sunday coming, Bobbee Black will pour coffee for Angelique. Her guests will be Laura Fowler, Clara Webb, Helen Davis, Carmelita Lomax, Dorothy Rencher, Lucille Davis, Nan Lee, Lolita Edwards, Ruby Terry and Flo Rucker. About the wedding: Rev. Beane will officiate, Juanita Terry will play, the bride's elder brother will give her away, she'll wear her Mother's wedding lace and ring (for the ceremony), she swears she knows not where they will honeymoon and the guest list keeps on a-growin' and a-growin'.

Dra-Mu-Lit, a gathering of idealistic colonists, will play hosts Sunday next at Kay and Nettie McDonald's as a sort of how-dee-do gesture. Sounds like the beginning, the middle and the end of a goodtime . . . Thursday eve, Gilbert Allen will be presented at Independent church in recital. Which event should bring the colony out in its entirety. . . That'so n the sixteenth.

Phoned word says Marva is coming to town, but I, for one, doubt it. Who DID come tearing into town from Detroit was perky Lil Coleman-Davis, wrapped in well-silvered fox (and mink to boot), saying she does not lose heart any more when a man tells her that he's not thinking of marrying. She remembers that no man ever gets into a marrying soodunti l he's gotten 'way past THINKING.

After gafesting with Lil (it's amazing how the gal always looks so swish!) into the fine old art of bar-lining with the Bunny Austins (Seattle) in a glinty, mirrored Hollywood bar. Bun reports the sweeping into town fro N'Orleanso f Valerie Carter, bundled in a veritable regiment ofcostly pelts. Also that Grace Minto Myrick is at this moment rsring across the Pacific en route to NY for some brightening up. Grace won't tarry but I shall certainly march myself down to the docks and perch there til she comes ashore for an hour.

Eula Henderson, who was to come to town via the Iron Horse, won't after all. Her medico b. f. in NY changed her mind for her. Eula's crony betwixt Philly and N Yis Jessmer Booth Brown, who keeps right on being very chi-chi as only Jessmer can. She wants to return here for a visit, too. Indeed, who doesn't?

(Echo: Ya said, it brother.)

Aida Bearden Johnson, who visited here during the summer, has parted from her hubby back in NY, did I tell you?

That being that . . .period.

Legion Post at Phillips on Armistice

Ben Bowie Ladies Auxiliary Services Planned for Sunday

Twenty-one years ago the Armistice was signed by the warring nations of the world, immediately there sprang into existence the American Legion, then the very necessary unit known as the Auxiliary composed of wives of the Veterans. Each year there has been a religious ceremony on the Sunday nearest the date of the signing of the Armistice.

This year the local unit known as the Ben Bowie Post and the Auxiliary of ladies will celebrate the signing of the Armistice at Phillips Temple at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, Nov. 12. A fitting program has been arranged for this occasion.

The pastor of Phillips Temple CME church, Rev. Lane C. Cleaves, a member himself of AEF, will deliver the sermon. Mr. Arthur F. Walker will be guest soloist for the morning service. One of the Los Angeles' merchants will deliver his maiden sermon in the afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the person of Mr. John W. King, licentiate minister. He preaches for the Utility club led by Mrs. J. Lois Brown, president. At night, the Paul Quinn Quartette will deliver a sacred program for the Missionary Society.

Thursday, the Annual Union Thanksgiving service will be at Philips Temple on the 23rd. Dr. S. M. Beane, popular pastor of Hamilton will deliver the sermon. The choirs of Hamilton, Wesley and Philips Temple will sing at that service.

CLUBS

Are you a friendly Indian? That is the question being asked at the YMCA especially if you happen to be one of those fellows 9-12 years old. One tribe has been organized and in a few days we may have to organize another to take care of all the Indians. The Mohawk Tribe meets each Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Chief of the tribe is Maurice Willis, Tom Tom Beater, Ronald Wong, Indian Runner, Bobby Romero, Medicine Man, Henderson Pratt and Wampum Bearer, Reginald Gray. Other members of the tribe are, James Bailey, John Smith and Artiste Hubbard.

The Vikings are here again. Many will no doubt remember the old club and we believe we have another club which will be just as great as the old one. President is James Higgins, other members are: Leonard Beavers, Tyree Brown, John Clark, Joseph Johnson, Reynold Kaufman, Samuel Lewis, Robert Luck, Anderson Phillips, Mercedell Seils, Raymond Williams and Richard Wilson. New members added to the club are Clarence Wilson, Namon Sanders and Arthur Spencer.

The Jefferson, Poly, Riis, Dorsey and Los Angeles Hi-Y clubs are meeting regularly each week. At the beginning of the term, membership in all groups was the main topic, but at the present time, most of the groups have brought their membership up to near normal.

Showing a splendid spirit of cooperation, the two Hi-Y clubs at Jefferson High school have united for the purpose of serving their school, by endeavoring to improve conduct of the entire student body on the school campus.

Of interest to many will be the Los Angeles Hi-Y Church program on Sunday, Nov. 12, at 3:45 p. m. Appearing on the program will be Mrs. Fay Allen and Mr. Floyd C. Covington in addition to an array of musical talent.

The Calyx Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Susie Hays. The meeting was called to order by the president. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Two new members Misses Conna Innis and Doris Allen. The club enjoyed a surprise birthday party given in honor of H. J. Jackson. 36 guests at the residence of Mrs. Freddie Mays. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bertha Miller. Mrs. Robbie Sneed, reporter.

The Half and Half Social club met with Essie and Al Moless in a business meeting which included plans for the club's welfare and voting in of Archie and Hazel Randle as members.

MRS. ZELLA THOMAS, secretary to the Criterion Study club, has just returned home from a much needed vacation. While on her tour, she visited New York and Chicago.

Wealthy Miss. Politician Shot, Killed from Ambush two in the neck, one in the temple, three near the heart and two in the hips.

Both officers, supported by Booze's testimony, were absolved of blame in a preliminary hearing which followed the murder.

A mass meeting in which 500 residents of Mound Bayou protested the verdict and denounced the politician, was held Oct. 20. Demands were voiced that Booze be tarred, feathered and run out of town. Methods by which he came into possession of the property were labeled "unfair".

Mound Bayou officials, led by Mayor B. A. Green, first baby to be born in the city, were outspoken in their denunciation of the murder of Miss Montgomery.

"It makes no difference whether they shot in self-defense or not, the fact is, those officers had no business here", the Mayor told the massed protesters.

Booze was one of the wealthiest Negroes in Mississippi and one of the most politically influential.

Miss Montgomery, one of the three daughters of Mound Bayou's founder, was the divorced wife of the late Capt. J. H. Kent, pioneer St. Louis businessman.

Homecoming Dance Guests at Biltmore

Three proud young ladies were guests of three of the stars of the UCLA football team at the UCLA Homecoming Dance at the Biltmore Bowl Saturday night, following UCLA's victory over California.

The lucky young ladies were Misses Lois Evans, June Bradley and Bessie Renfro, guests of Woodrow Strode, Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson, respectively.

Miss Evans, a chiropodist, is the daughter of Mrs. Lulu B. Evans of the Westside; Miss Bradley, the daughter of the William Bradley's of Long Beach and Miss Renfro a resident of Pasadena.

Wendell Hopkins Gets Surprise on Birthday

Wendell Hopkins was feted at a surprise birthday party recently given at the Golden Rod cafe by his wife. Guests were Messrs and Mesdames Elliott Myers, Titus Chandler, Alphius D. Lemon, Roy Branch, Jimmy Estus, John Lewis, Otto Johnson, Mattie Lee Roberts, Thirkell Hopkin, Ophelia Eavens, Alfred Young.

SAVE ½ the Cost at DR. COWEN'S Your Friendly Credit Dentist

Now! the Amazing New and Different Transparent MATERIAL DENTAL PLATES ...at... 50% reduction

Special offer for limited time only!

Think what this means to you . . . Now you can obtain Dental Plates made from the New Sensational Transparent Material for just one-half Dr. Cowen's usual Low Prices. If you are in need of dentures, certainly you cannot afford to overlook such a Great Saving, but you will have to ACT NOW, because this offer is positively limited for a short time only. Why not take advantage of this opportunity to exchange your old-fashioned, ill-fitting dental plates for those made from the Beautiful, New Transparent Material? Come in and see the beautiful samples.

NO CASH DOWN
Don't pay one penny until you have worn your dental plates for 30 days . . . by taking advantage of Dr. Cowen's Liberal No Down Payment Plan.

NEVER BEFORE a Dental Plate so "Natural in Appearance"

New it can truly be said that fear of detection is needless, because Dental Plates made from the New Transparent Material reflect the Beautiful, Pink Color of your natural gums. They are probably the lightest in weight, yet are virtually unbreakable, and durable enough to serve the hardest biters.

Dr. Cowen specializes painstaking care when fitting your plates to plump out hollow cheeks, remove the tell-tale lines of old age, and in many other ways improve your facial features.

Come in NOW and buy Dental Plates made from the New Transparent Material for one-half Dr. Cowen's usual Low Prices.

DON'T PAY One Penny EXTRA for Credit DENTISTRY

Central Ave. District Realty Board

We have come a long way in our search for the secret of building good will for Real Estate. I hope it is less of a secret than it was before. The one thought above all other, that I should like to leave with you this afternoon, is a very cheerful one. It embodies the kernal of everything I have said. In this days' generation, service pays; the more you do for your customers, the more you will do for yourself, for of necessity, if you render service, you will put your business on a scientific and a truly professional basis, you will render more service and you will have more good will. And good will is the asset of your business that brings the greatest total profit and the highest price in case of a sale.

These are the sentiments and requirements of the following members of the Central Ave. District Realty Board.

Members as follows:
Walter L. Gordon, President, 4065 S. Central Ave., ADams 3193.
Geo. W. City, Vice-President, 816 E. 40th Pl., ADams 13702.
Elijah Cooper, Treasurer, 3804 S. Central Ave., ADams 9085.
Seth B. Ray, Secretary, 2302 Griffith Ave., PRospect 5861.
William Mells Watson, Director of Publicity, 4824 S. Central Avenue, CEntury 28294.
Mrs. Mattie Elizabeth Watson, 4801 Hooper Ave., ADams 12082.
